

WINSTON TO TALK OF AYCOCK'S LIFE ON FOUNDERS' DAY

Noted Jurist Will Deliver Address at 140th Anniversary Of University.

Judge Robert W. Winston, well known jurist and author, is to deliver the Founder's Day address at the University October 12, when the oldest of state universities will celebrate its 140th anniversary.

Judge Winston has selected as his subject "Aycock: His People's Genius." Judge Winston has been digging into the life of the great educational governor for the past several months and says he has unearthed many facts that will shed new light on his life and works.

He will endeavor to interpret Aycock as the educational and industrial factor in creating a new state. Judge Winston and the late Governor were classmates at the University and later law partners.

Exercises in celebration of the University's birthday will be held the same day or sometime during that week in many communities throughout this and other states. There will be several gatherings in foreign lands.

The exercises here will begin at 10:30 o'clock in Memorial hall and last one hour. After that class work will be resumed.

All parents of University students are extended invitations urging them to come to the University.

LAW ATTENDANCE BEST IN DECADE

Sons of Many Notables of North Carolina Bar and Bench in Attendance Here.

The attendance in the law school of the University this fall, Dean M. T. Hecke announced at the close of registration on Thursday, is the highest in the last ten years. One hundred and twenty-three law students are enrolled, as compared with 114 at this time last year and the previous high of 120 in the fall of 1929. Fifty-seven are first-year students, 42 are in the second year class, and 24 are seniors. Twelve of the seniors passed the state bar examination in August but have returned to complete their studies and to receive the University law degree.

All of the students in the law school are from North Carolina except eleven, and these come from Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Virginia. More than half of the students in the law school, 67 to be exact, have earned their college degrees.

Among the first-year students are to be found a number of heirs of distinguished members of the North Carolina bench and bar, including M. V. Barnhill, Jr., son of Superior Court Judge M. V. Barnhill, of Rocky Mount; J. B. Clark, Jr., son of Congressman J. Bayard Clark, of Fayetteville; H. G. Connor, Jr., son of "Tobe" Connor, of Wilson; W. C. Harris, Jr., son of Superior Court Judge W. C. Harris, of Raleigh; John Taylor Manning, of Chapel Hill, a

MAGAZINE EDITOR TO BE NOMINATED

Candidates for Magazine Head To Be Nominated in Memorial Hall Tomorrow.

Candidates for the editorship of the "Carolina Magazine" will be nominated tomorrow morning during assembly period in Memorial hall.

At the election last spring there were three candidates for the editorship of the "Magazine" and as no one candidate received a majority, there was a run-off and E. C. Daniel was elected editor. This fall, because he had become during the summer an associate editor of a daily newspaper, Daniel failed to return to the University, leaving the editorship vacant.

Harper Barnes, meeting an unprecedented situation, appointed Bob Barnett acting-editor to handle the first issue because he was editor last year and had experience.

Now that the registration list has been checked, it will be possible to conduct the nominations and elections. If necessary to conduct a special ballot election; that is, if there is more than one nominee, this election will be run off Wednesday with the freshmen being allowed to cast their votes.

Come To Entertain Freshman Y Council

A hot dog roast will be given by the Freshman Friendship council as part of its regular Monday night meeting. The roast will take place at H. F. Comer's residence. The freshmen will transact little business, simply deciding upon the procedure of their election next week, and spending the rest of the time getting acquainted.

The sophomore and the junior-senior councils will devote their time at their Monday night meeting to setting up committees and making a complete organization of members into working committees. Each member will be given his choice of the committee he will serve on, and each member except the secretary will be on some committee.

Harland Sick

Dr. J. P. Harland has been confined to his home on the Pittsboro road for several days because of a badly sprained ankle. Dr. Harland is professor of archaeology in the University.

T. E. P. IS AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP CUP

Prize Is Offered Annually by Inter-Fraternity Council.

Dr. G. K. G. Henry, assistant registrar of the University, announced yesterday that the Tau Epsilon Phi fraternity had been officially awarded the interfraternity scholarship cup for the school year 1932-33.

In bestowing the cup, Dr. Henry commented on the unusualness of the Tau Epsilon Phi fraternity's having won it for the third successive year.

The scholarship cup is awarded annually by the Interfraternity council to the local of the national fraternity maintaining the highest scholastic average throughout the year. For 1932-33 Tau Epsilon Phi achieved an average of 2.66, two points better than its nearest competitor, S. A. E.

It was the idea of the Interfraternity council that inaugurating the award would improve scholarship on the campus. Time has supported this view, for the general feeling on the campus is now to the effect that Greek letter scholarship is on par with that achieved by non-fraternity men.

KOCH WILL OPEN THEATRE SEASON

Besides Lecture by Playmaker Leader, Scenes of Varied Activities to Be Shown.

Tomorrow evening at 7:30 at the Playmakers Theatre the Playmaker session will be opened by Professor F. H. Koch with a lecture on the subject of "Adventures in Playmaking," in which he will discuss the beginning and growth of the Carolina Playmakers and the plans for Playmaker activities for the coming year. After the lecture there will be a meeting of all the students interested in the drama who would like to take part in Playmaker activities during the coming year.

In his talk Professor Koch will use as illustrations 100 lantern slides of various Playmaker activities. These slides will show Playmaker activities from the first play, which was produced on an improvised stage at the Chapel Hill high school 16 years ago, before the Playmakers had a theatre on the campus, to the more recent activities.

Many Others Shown
Among the Playmaker actors shown in these productions are many who are now engaged in professional acting.

The making of scenery and costumes by Playmakers and the scenes from the Forest Theatre are other interesting features.

Godbold Announces Chess Club Meeting

The Chess club has been scheduled by Albea Godbold to meet tomorrow at the Episcopal parish house at 7:30 o'clock.

All lovers of chess are invited to be present. At the regular meetings of the Chess club there are no lectures, but the members spend the evening playing.

Geometry Deficiencies

Freshmen having a deficiency in plane geometry may make good their deficiency by taking the course offered by the Chapel Hill high school.

TAR HEEL STAFF TO MEET TONIGHT

Changes in Departments Will Be Announced at Gathering.

Members of all departments of the DAILY TAR HEEL editorial staff will gather for a short meeting this evening at 7:00 o'clock in 205 Graham Memorial.

Several changes have been made in the departments, and beginning tomorrow afternoon, members of staff divisions will be given work in the department to which they have been shifted. Nick Powell and Walter Hargett have been transferred to the reportorial staff to the city desk.

A number of candidates have been picked for positions as reporters, and the announcement of these selections will be made tonight. Permanent beats will be assigned to the new men.

Plans for a staff smoker to be held sometime during the week will be discussed. Due to the fact that the holding of such a function would conflict with rushing season, the matter will be put to a vote.

Attendance of all old and new members of the staff at tonight's meeting will be required.

RUSSELL WRITES NEW BIOGRAPHY

Author Has Worked on Life of William the Conqueror Since Return From England.

The new book of Phillips Russell, member of the University faculty, will be a life of William the Conqueror to be published by Charles Scribner and Sons the latter part of this month. The actual title of the biography is still uncertain because Hilaire Belloc, an English writer, has written a biography of the same man.

Russell has been working on this book at intervals since his return from England, where he spent five years collecting this and other material. While living in England, the author seized the opportunity to explore the famous battlefield of Hastings, where the Norman invader defeated Harold of England in 1066. Russell was spurred on in this not only because of the historical interest, but also because his grandmother, Mrs. Charles Phillips, was a member of the Battle family which, according to an old legend, got its name from that of Hastings.

Finds "Senlac" House

Russell said that he "found there in the town which has grown up on the battlefield, a house near Battle Abbey (the first building erected by William to commemorate his victory) which carried a name plate with the word 'Senlac,' which is the name long applied to the home of Dr. K. P. Battle here (now occupied by John M. Booker) and which gives its name to Senlac road."

The writer further stated that although he was unable to obtain more evidence due to the sparseness of the ancient records, he did find his own name on the roll of the conquerors which is kept in the abbey, only it was spelled with one "l" instead of two. This bears out, apparently, a vague tradition in his father's family that the name is of Norman origin. It is interesting to know that this

Magazine Will Make Official Nomination

Members of the Carolina Magazine staff will meet in the editorial office on the second floor of Graham Memorial at 7:00 o'clock tonight to nominate a candidate for the election of the new editor of that publication. This nomination will name the official candidate of the staff.

Plans for the first issue of the Magazine to appear next Sunday will be discussed briefly and an announcement regarding charms for Magazine work will be made.

Students particularly urged to be present are Joe Sugarman, John T. Alexander, Edith Harbour, Mary Frances Parker, Thomas McKnight, Phillip Goodwin, Bradford White, and Nelson Lansdale.

LABOR ADVOCATE MAY SPEAK HERE

Former Parliament Member and Counsel to British Labor Party Will Lecture.

Negotiations are being completed to bring Arthur Henderson, Jr., younger son of the Hon. Arthur Henderson, former British Foreign Secretary, now presiding over the World Disarmament Conference at Geneva, to speak at Chapel Hill on Wednesday, October 4.

Henderson was president of Cambridge University Labor Club and secretary of the University Labor Federation from 1920 to 1922. He not only saw several years active service in France but was twice a member of Parliament and has been standing counsel to the Labor party since 1921.

World disarmament, youth and politics, the English banking system, world cooperation to prevent war, and the rise of the British Labor party are included in his subjects. He is the author of "Trade Unions and the Law" and co-author of "Industrial Law" and "Housing Law."

Mary Agnes Hamilton former member of Parliament and popular lecturer in America, says of him:

"He is a Cambridge graduate, a good speaker, a member of parliament, a barrister and a young man of attractive personality with more than his name behind him."

Art Classes To Be Resumed This Year

Meeting in their new and larger quarters, Mr. James A. McLean's art classes are resuming activity for their second year on the campus. The classes will meet Tuesday and Thursday evenings from seven to nine in Person Hall, in the room formerly used by the University band.

Mr. McLean, founder of the School of Creative Arts in Raleigh, is offering courses in drawing, painting, block-printing, and modeling. Those wishing to make arrangements for these classes may do so by calling Miss Rebecca Cushman at, telephone 5451.

During both the summer terms a successful class in cartooning, taught by Mr. McLean's assistant, Mr. Kaber, was added to the other courses. Mr. Kaber is at present on the staff of the Baltimore Sun.

HOUSE ADDRESSES ALUMNI OFFICERS AT MEETING HERE

Executive Secretary Commends Spirit Shown by Alumni To University.

Colonel R. B. House, executive secretary of the University, was principal speaker at a luncheon for presidents and secretaries of University alumni clubs throughout the state at 1:00 o'clock yesterday in Graham Memorial. The meeting was chiefly for the purpose of planning for a state-wide alumni celebration on University day, October 12.

Colonel House commended the spirit of cooperation with the University shown by alumni, and emphasized the importance of the celebrations which are to be conducted by alumni clubs in the state in making University day a successful event.

Discussion

Following the talk, discussions were made by the alumni officers present and plans were completed for meetings of the various clubs on October 12 to honor the occasion. Arrangements were made for members of the University faculty, trustees of the University and prominent alumni to speak at the club celebrations.

R. W. Madry, director of the University news bureau, also addressed the group, explaining how widespread interest in the event might be created by publicity and how the necessary publicity can be secured.

OLD MANUSCRIPTS GIVEN TO LIBRARY

Two Arithmetic Manuscripts Added to Collection of University Library.

Recent gifts to the University library include two manuscript arithmetic books. One of them was presented to the library by Jeff Davis Smith of Turkey, N. C. and was written during the time of the American Revolution. It was the property of Mr. Smith's great grandfather.

"Printed arithmetics were scarce and expensive at that time," said Mr. Downs, assistant librarian. "This arithmetic is believed to have been copied by hand from one of the few available printed arithmetics of the time. It may however, be original work. The handwriting is very ornate, but it is beautiful and clear. The old leather binding is in excellent condition."

The other manuscript is the gift of Dr. A. B. Goodman of Lenoir, N. C. It also is in good condition. These two arithmetics have been added to the North Carolina collection in the library. There are about a dozen of these manuscript arithmetics in the collection.

Students in Infirmary

The following students were confined to the infirmary yesterday: William Dalton, N. G. Kelly, W. L. McKeithan, and L. G. Sullivan.

Sophomore Committee

There will be a meeting of the sophomore executive committee in 215 Graham Memorial at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening.
