OLSEN DISCUSSES DEBATE POLICIES

Meeting of Squad and Interested Students Scheduled for Tonight at 9:00 O'clock.

"We spank sophists, scholastics, and prima donnas as a holy duty," declared William A. Olsen yesterday in a letter to THE DAILY TAR HEEL setting forth the policy of the debate council.

Olsen, executive secretary of the council which is headed by Dan Lacy, senior, went on to explain the purpose of the group.

"We believe in honest discussion and timely subjects," he said. "We urge debaters to seek the facts, and to speak what they really believe. Each debater speaks on one side of a question only."

Freshmen Eligible

Any student, including freshmen, is eligible to compete for positions on the debate team. A meeting of the squad and interested students will take place tonight in Graham Memorial at 9:00 o'clock.

The council regulates and controls all local and intercollegiate debating at the University. Membership is attained through campus elections.

Four in Infirmary

The following students were confined to the infirmary yesterday: R. S. Bunn, Harry Doser, W. S. Singletary, and W. L. McKeithan. R. S. Howard was sent to Watts hospital in Durham for an appendix operation.

KOCH LAUDS ARTS IN SHORT ADDRESS

Art Is Given as One of Two Productive Professions.

Professor Frederick H. Koch, widely-known playwright and director of the Carolina Playmakers, spoke at assembly yesterday on the joy and satisfaction in the arts, and their place in the world.

"There are two productive professions in the world—agriculture and art," began Professor Koch. "The former is designed to feed the body of man; the latter to comfort his spirit. God has imparted some of His own creative powers to man, and it is in art that man must express it."

"The fine arts have practical meaning now," the speaker stated, "since the 'new deal' has brought and shall bring even more leisure time, and man wants something to prove the worth and dignity of life. The main purpose of art is to satisfy one's desire to create. Active participation in one of the arts will give one happiness that not even death can destroy."

NEEDY STUDENTS RECEIVE $22,517 FROM LOAN FUND

323 Students Receive Loans from University According to Figures Released Yesterday.

Three hundred and twenty-three loans totaling $22,517.50 have been extended to University students attending the University this quarter, it was announced yesterday from Dean Bradshaw's office.

Around 400 applications for loans were considered and passed on during the summer by the office of the Dean of students, but many students were unable to attend school even with the help that could be secured from the funds. Actually 323 loans have been negotiated.

The abolishment of free tuition has thrown additional burdens on the student loan fund. While the so-called "state scholarships" provided financial aid of only $75 each year to the recipient, they aided many students who were unable to pay cash for their tuition. Students have had to make applications for loans this quarter, because they could not raise the money to pay for tuition.

The recipients of loans are carefully selected. To receive a loan a student must be making good grades on his studies, must be of good character, and must have responsible security. Loans are granted on the signature of the student and the confirmation of two endorsers. The endorsers of the loan fund notes must be worth the amount of the loan above their legal exemptions, and incumbrances on their property.

All students, who have been granted loans in the past and who are out of school, or who have been able to arrange their finances from other sources, are being asked to repay the amounts that have been loaned.

The Philanthropic Assembly and the Dialectic Senate will convene tonight at 7:15 o'clock on the top floors of New East and New West, respectively.

Speaker Fountain of the Phi will deliver his inaugural address in which he will welcome the freshmen. Freshmen, who have received special invitations to the Phi, will be introduced for membership by Ed Lanier. The following bills will be discussed: "Resolved: That Freshmen should be given representation on the Student Council." "Resolved: That Henry Ford be condemned for not signing the NRA," and "Resolved: That the demands for a parity price by tobacco farmers be met." This meeting will be especially conducted for freshmen.

Bill Eddleman, president of the Di, issued the following announcement yesterday concerning the meeting: "All interested freshmen are cordially invited to attend." The bill, "Resolved: That the P. U. Board should be censured for giving THE TAR HEEL to townspeople cheaper than to students," will be discussed.

Attention will be focused on campus topics in the discussions this quarter and matters directly touching students will be emphasized in both the societies. Members will be appointed to important committees and other committees will give reports.

PLANT DESIGNED TO PURIFY WATER

Engineering School and U.C.S.P. Consider Purification Plant For Sewers Also.

The engineering school of the University, in cooperation with Electric and Water Division of the University Consolidated Service plant, has recently completed the design and building of an experimental water purification plant, and a similar plant for sewage treatment.

The design of the experimental plants, which includes several new features, was carried out by graduate students in sanitary engineering under the supervision of Dr. H. G. Baity and Prof. H. N. Jenks of the engineering school. The units of the plant, though much smaller, are duplicates of the units of full scale water and sewage treatment plants. Due to their size, experiments may be made very economically on the small plants and the results used as a guide to improve treatment in full size plants.

The units of the experimental water purification plant have been assembled on a platform behind the University filter plant and are now ready to go into experimental operation.

The primary purpose of the plants is to afford graduate students in sanitary engineering at the University equipment with which to work on fundamental problems in local, as well as national, importance. As work progresses and results are obtained, they will be published for the benefit of those interested in treating water and sewage.

HENDERSON WILL OFFER LECTURES

Noted English Speaker to Lecture Twice on British Affairs Here Tomorrow.

Arthur Henderson, Jr., well-known lecturer and son of Arthur Henderson, now presiding over the World Disarmament conference at Geneva, has accepted an invitation to appear at the University tomorrow, it was announced yesterday through the office of Dean M. T. Van Hecke of the law school.

Negotiations to bring Henderson here were begun last week, and he comes through the work of the Y. M. C. A. and the Debate council.

To Speak Twice

Two lectures have been announced for Henderson's appearance. The first, on "Social Legislation in Great Britain," will be delivered in Manning hall tomorrow afternoon at 4:00 o'clock. "Parties and Personalities in British Politics," his second talk, will be given in Gerard hall at 7:30 in the evening.

Both lectures will be free of charge and open to the public. The first will be presided over by Dean Van Hecke and the second by Dr. W. C. Jackson of the school of public administration.

Henderson was president of the Cambridge University Labor club and secretary of the University Labor federation from 1920 to 1922. He served actively for several years in France during the war, has served two terms in Parliament, and has been standing counsel for the Labor party since 1921.

RELATIONS GROUP GATHERS TONIGHT

International Relations Club to Open Season With First Session in Saunders Hall.

According to Ben C. Proctor, temporary chairman, the International Relations club will hold its first meeting of the current season at 8:30 o'clock tonight in 214 Saunders. A short outline of the program for the year will be given, and a discussion of the German and Cuban situations will take place.

This year the club extends invitations to everyone interested in International Relations.

The International Relations club was organized in 1919 through the persistence of K. C. Frazier, who acted in the capacity of faculty advisor. In 1931 the Carnegie Foundation offered assistance by sending distinguished speakers for the programs, notably Sir Herbert Ames, treasurer general of the League of Nations, who spent a week here, and Dr. Carlos de Villa, former President of Chile.

Later, the Carnegie Foundation for International Education further assisted by sending fortnightly summaries of international events. The same organization contributed important books on foreign affairs, including several volumes on international relations.

The chief purpose of the club is to study countries and nations as units and the relation between them. The plan this year is not only to study international relations but to consider domestic relations also. Domestic problems which affect other nations will also be discussed.

Shoemaker, Sole Nominee, Made Editor Of Carolina Magazine

Brings Troupe Here

Madame Hammer, pictured above, will bring her company of artists to Chapel Hill for a presentation of Ibsen's "Ghosts" and "The Master Builder." In her company are two of last year's Playmakers, Marion Tatum and Bob Proctor.

DRAMAS OF IBSEN TO BE PRESENTED BY NOTED ACTORS

Borgny Hammer and Troupe to Enact 'Ghosts' and 'The Master Builder' October 13.

Few modern dramas have attained the heights of popularity of Henrik Ibsen's "Ghosts" and "The Master Builder", which Borgny Hammer and her company of players will present here during the afternoon and evening of October 13.

Borgny Hammer was born in Bergen, Norway, and made her stage debut at the age of seventeen in the Bergen National Theatre. Her success was immediate, and she was soon engaged to play in the leading theatres of Norway where she acted roles in plays of Strindberg, Zola, Shakespeare and others. After several years of this she came to America to join her husband, Rolf Hammer, in Chicago. Since that time she has toured America on four different occasions. Her present tour will reach from coast to coast.

Critics are almost unanimous in acclaiming the genius of Madame Hammer, and when they compare her, mention names such as Nazimova and Sarah Bernhardt. Especially do they like her sincerity and simplicity in comparison with the shallowness and flippancy of some others.

What makes her presentations of Ibsen so unique is the fact that she does not stress, as some have done, some pseudo-intellectual note, as though Ibsen belonged exclusively to some "brain-trust" among artists, and only happened by accident to write plays with the emotional power which characterizes his writings. Madame Hammer entirely ignores all falseness. To her, the one test for a play is its ability to generate, when capably acted, feelings and emotions that will stir the mind.

"Ghosts" stands alone as a dynamo of emotion. As a "thriller" it is comparable to any production from Hollywood. "The Master Builder" has its own share of moving and stirring scenes, but what distinguishes it
