KYSER'S NEW TAR HEEL BATTLE SONGS TO BE PLAYED TODAY

Football Team Send-Off Scheduled 9:20 Tonight

Pep Rally For Tar Heel Gridders Will Be Held at Swain.

The Carolina football team, which meets Vanderbilt in its first intersectional game of the year Saturday, will be given a rousing send-off in front of Swain hall tonight at 9:20 o'clock. The team is to leave Chapel Hill by bus for Greensboro immediately after.

J. Maryon Saunders, secretary of the Alumni association, will speak briefly to the students and offer encouragement to the team.

Cheerleaders to Attend

Chief Cheerleader Ernest Hunt will be in charge of the festivities, assisted by members of the cheer-leading staff and other student leaders.

The University band will furnish music for the occasion.

Cheerleader Hunt stated last night that, in view of the enthusiastic turnout for the pep meeting prior to the Davidson game, he was expecting a large attendance tonight.

The meeting is being sponsored by the University club.

OCTOBER NUMBER OF 'REVIEW' OUT

Issue Features University Day, Registration, and Carolina-Davidson Game.

The October issue of the Alumni Review, edited by J. Maryon Saunders, was released yesterday.

Appearing in this first issue of the year are special features in the new changes in the University faculty, University Day, registration, and the Carolina-Davidson football game. A special section is given over to the faculty and alumni.

Featuring in the first article on the faculty changes is the appointment of T. Smith McCorkle as head of the music department, Dr. W. Reece Berryhill as head of the infirmary, and William J. Miller as acting dean of the Engineering school.

A section is given over to the student union and the act of making the General Alumni association members of the union.

The defeat of Davidson by the Carolina football team is taken up in detail in the sport section of the number and considerable detail is given to Carolina's future in the state football race. Coach C. C. Collins writes an article in these pages, telling about the game from the coach's bench.

Considerable space is given over in the book to the University alumni, telling of their recent accomplishments in the state and world, and several pages in the first of the issue tell of the happenings around the campus.

Husbands Have Son

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Husbands announce the birth of a son, Herman Hamilton, at Duke University hospital last Friday. Husbands is a member of the staff of Registrar Thomas J. Wilson, Jr.

GROUPS TO FORM CHEERIO SECTION

University Club, Thirteen Club, Sheiks And Minotaurs to Meet Together Tuesday.

The regular meeting of the University club will not take place tonight, but is scheduled to take place in conjunction with the joint meeting next Tuesday night of the Sheiks, Minotaurs, and the Thirteen club, sophomore social orders.

The purpose of the joint session will be to make plans for the formation of a special cheerio section for the promotion of cheering among upperclassmen at the Georgia-Carolina football game October 14.

As expressed at its inauguration last May, the University club's basic purpose is to foster a greater spirit of loyalty to the University. The attempt to form a cheering section is included.

SCHOOLS SPONSOR PUBLIC LECTURES ON RECOVERY ACT

Murchison Begins Series With Talk Tonight on "The Nature Of the Emergency."

A series of public lectures on the National Recovery Program for the student body and the Chapel Hill community is being sponsored by the department of economics and commerce with the cooperation of the sociology department and the law school.

The first lecture will be this evening at 8:00 o'clock in the Bingham hall auditorium. Prof. C. T. Murchison will speak on "The Nature of the Emergency." The lectures will be limited to one hour or less.

All the lecturers will be faculty members except Dr. G. W. Forster of N. C. State College, who has been included because of his unusual qualifications to discuss the agricultural relief measures. He has been serving the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in working out codes for the tobacco sales and other industries.

Lecture Schedule

The lectures will continue after tomorrow on successive Thursdays at the same time and place. The schedule of lectures after tomorrow is as follows: October 12, "The Industrial Recovery Act," Prof. H. D. Wolf; October 19, "Agricultural Relief," Prof. G. W. Forster; October 26, "Monetary and Banking Reform and Inflation," Prof. C. T. Murchison; November 2, "International Aspects of the Problem," Prof. E. R. Zimmerman; November 9, "The Tennessee Valley Development," Prof. T. T. Woolfer; November 16, "The Constitutional and Legal Questions Involved in the Program," Prof. R. H. Wettach; November 23, "Philosophy and an Appraisal of the Program," Dean D. D. Carroll.

Contributors to the Carolina Buccaneer must have their copy in by tonight at 8:00 o'clock.

A Song Of Our Own

—AN EDITORIAL—

Every student in the University, every member of the faculty and administrative forces, and all those connected with the athletic department should make it a point to be present with the athletic department in Memorial hall this morning at 10:30.

The long awaited Carolina song is to be presented to the student body in an effort to ascertain its reaction to the work as written by Kay Kyser, the University's greatest cheerleader. Kyser has presented two tunes for the University's approval and a capacity audience is urged in order that some opinion can be reached.

Last year much was said about the song committee which met frequently and accomplished nothing. The net result of the group's work was to give inspiration to THE DAILY TAR HEEL to see that something definite was done. The newspaper has corresponded with Kyser regularly and the two contributions to be offered this morning are the outcome.

Carolina needs a good battle song and one which would be original. "Hark the Sound" is our anthem now, but Vanderbilt, Cornell, and others can claim the same tune. Now we have an opportunity to hear and pass judgment on something that would be our own. Anyone with the interests of the University at heart can not allow anything to keep him from Memorial hall this morning.

STUDENTS BADLY INJURED TUESDAY IN CAR TURNOVER

Carolina Freshmen in Duke Hospital Following Accident Near Hope Valley Club.

Sidney Minor of Danville, Va., and Maurice Hoggard of Lewiston, University freshmen, were seriously injured in an automobile wreck Tuesday night on the private road leading from the Hope Valley Country Club, near Durham.

Minor, driver of the car which belonged to his father, Col. S. W. Minor, was the more seriously injured with a fractured skull. He had not regained consciousness late yesterday afternoon in the Duke hospital, where the patients are staying.

Girls Were Hurt

With the two students were Miss Frances Stephens and Miss Maude Dunn, both of Durham. Miss Stephens received a fractured leg and Miss Dunn was badly bruised and one of her legs thought to be fractured also.

Hoggard received contusions and bad bruises.

The accident occurred about 10:30 o'clock. The party had just left the club house and at the end of the second sharp curve, the car veered off into the golf course, overturning three or four times. It landed right side up.

All were rendered unconscious. Hoggard, the first to recover, stumbled to a nearby farm house and telephoned the hospital for an ambulance.

According to the recovered patients, Minor was driving carefully and fairly slowly, the accident being caused by his unfamiliarity with the dangerous turns.

No Assembly Tomorrow

No assembly program is scheduled for tomorrow morning to allow all students who have borrowed from the loan fund or who expect to borrow from the loan fund to meet in Gerrard hall.

Aycock Meets

An organization meeting of the residents of Aycock dormitory will take place tonight in Graham Memorial at 9:00 o'clock.

Archie Davis' Orchestra To Play Pieces At 10:30

PROCTOR CHOSEN AS I. R. C. LEADER

Unanimously Elected President at First Meeting of Year Last Tuesday Night.

Ben Proctor was elected president of the International Relations club at the first meeting of the year, held Tuesday night.

Proctor has served as temporary chairman of the group. He was unanimously elected president by the small group that was present.

An open discussion on the plans and the program for the coming year took place, and an executive committee was appointed by the new president.

All freshmen and students interested in becoming members of the club are asked to attend the next meeting. This year the group will not only consider international problems but also problems of local interest.

HENDERSON SAYS THERE IS CRYING NEED FOR REFORM

Noted British Speaker Deplores Situation in First Talk Here Yesterday Afternoon.

"The crying need of social reform and Great Britain's effort to supply it," was the theme of Arthur Henderson in his speech in Manning hall yesterday afternoon.

"We have too much of the good things of life," said Henderson. "People are going hungry; we are burning wheat and coffee by the thousands of tons. People are going cold for the want of clothing; yet almost countless pounds of cotton are being destroyed. There are over thirty million unemployed heads of families. With their dependents, they constitute the amazing total of about 100,000,000. Obviously, something must be done."

Making a Mistake

He went on to say that we are making a mistake in not imagining that the unemployed and those on the verge of unemployment are beginning to wonder. "Even in the days of Queen Elizabeth, Great Britain had some sort of poor law legislation, and in 1911 it was still in operation."

The present system of unemployment insurance and workmen's compensation was introduced by England's great Prime Minister, Lloyd George, as a result of a great popular demand for social justice. Henderson explained that on each workman's card, there had to be affixed a stamp for every week's labor. These stamps had to be licked by the workmen, and the fastidious taste of the aristocracy was offended.

Workmen's Compensation

As Henderson explained the operation, workmen must donate a part of their week's wages to unemployment and health insurance, this donation usually about the American equivalent of 40 cents. By this scheme of legislation, if a workman should President Graham Will Be Among Notables Attending Today.

Kay Kyser's two contributions for Carolina's new battle song will be offered this morning in Memorial hall at 10:30 o'clock. Archie Davis and his band will play the songs for the student body in an effort to test the qualities of the tunes.

THE DAILY TAR HEEL received the songs from Kyser Tuesday afternoon and turned them over to John Murphy of Charlotte, University student who orchestrates for Davis' band. Murphy arranged the tunes for Davis and the latter had his band practice all yesterday in order to be able to present the pieces in a peppy, efficient manner.

All the members of the orchestra are very much in favor of the music and those students who heard the songs played last night in the Crescent cafeteria were also favorably impressed.

University Officials

Dean Francis F. Bradshaw will preside over the audition, while President Frank Graham, R. B.

STATE SYMPHONY TO OPEN SEASON

Lamar Stringfield Will Conduct Entire First Program at Duke October 27.

The North Carolina State symphony will present its first program at Page auditorium, Duke university, Friday night, October 27.

Lamar Stringfield will conduct the entire program. The soloist on the program will be John Powell, pianist. Powell is considered by the leading music critics to be one of the outstanding American-born pianists.

He will play the piano solo parts in his own composition, "Rhapsodie Negre," which was composed for a piano solo with orchestral accompaniment.

Sponsored by Charity League

The concert will be sponsored by the Charity league of Durham. A capacity crowd is expected and in view of this, special seats will be reserved for students at reasonable prices.

The members of the orchestra are selected from the professional and more talented amateurs in the state. They will assemble in Chapel Hill three days before the concert for rehearsals.

The program will be: "Marriage of Figaro Overture," W. A. Mozart; "New World Symphony" (in four movements), A. Dvorak; intermission; "Rhapsodie Negre," (composer at the piano), John Powell; and "Marche Slave," Peter Tschai-kowsky.

Graduate Club Meeting

There will be a general meeting of the graduate club Friday evening, October 6, at 8:00 o'clock in the lounge of the graduate club, Smith building. Graduate students and members of the graduate faculty are invited to be present.
