

LOANS WILL NOT BE MADE TO PAY FRATERNITY FEES

Dean Bradshaw States Money Will Be Loaned Only to Absolutely Needy Students.

The fact that student loans may not be used for luxuries and for paying fraternity dues was brought out by Dean Bradshaw yesterday at a meeting in Gerard hall of students who have borrowed from the student loan funds.

"The last of the reserve funds from the last drive is being used this year," Dean Bradshaw stated. "Because of the increase in demands for loans and the decrease in the amount of funds available this year, the student loan fund department has been forced to adopt new policies to make the present funds be of service as long as possible. The University will not lend a student money this year unless that student's budget has been cut down to the lowest possible point and unless he needs a loan to stay in school. In general, then, loans will not be granted to members of fraternities."

The dean of students then went on to say that the University was not prejudiced against fraternities, but that because of the scarcity of funds the loans could not be used to help out the fraternities.

Dean Bradshaw stated that there are enough funds in sight to last for the first two quarters. He said that although on the average $28,000 is collected from previous loans each year, unless something happens this year there will be little money left over for next year. He said that the last of the $35,000 reserve funds was in use already.

RUSHING SEASON CLOSES TONIGHT

Lists of Freshmen to Be Extended Bids Must Be Turned In by 9:00 Tomorrow.

The 1933 rushing season, which opened September 25, will come to a close at midnight, when the second period of silence will take effect.

This interval of silence will extend until 6:00 o'clock Monday evening, and during this time communication between fraternity and non-fraternity men is prohibited.

The deadline for the submitting of lists of freshmen to whom fraternities wish to extend bids has been set for tomorrow morning at 9:00 o'clock. The lists must be turned in either to Irvin Boyle or Will Sadler.

Freshmen who receive from fraternities invitations to join will be asked to report to Dr. Francis F. Bradshaw, dean of students, at Memorial hall, Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, at which time they will express their first three choices of fraternities. Following this, they will be given a bid from the fraternity of their highest choice.

In keeping with a precedent set last pledge day, freshmen who are given invitations will be assessed a fee of one dollar at the time they receive the bids. This fee was decided upon last year by the Inter-fraternity council.

NEW STUDENT DIRECTORY PREPARED FOR RELEASE

Harry F. Comer states that the Y. M. C. A. directory has just gone to press and that it will be in the hands of the students at an early date.

The directory, which the Y. M. C. A. has been compiling since registration, contains the names, school and home addresses, class in school, and religious denomination of all members of the student body and similar information concerning the faculty. The directories will be distributed to the students as gifts of the Y. M. C. A.

CAMERON CHOSEN GRADUATE HEAD

Short Talks Delivered at Meeting of Graduate Students Last Night.

Ed Cameron was elected president; Waldo Williams, vice-president; Miss Sadie Jenkins, secretary; and Elwood C. Hunter, treasurer, of the Edwin Greenlaw graduate club at a meeting last night in Smith building. W. W. Pierson, J. M. Bell, H. W. Odum, and G. R. Coffman delivered short talks to the group.

Elwood C. Hunter, vice-president of the group last year, presided over the meeting, after which refreshments were served. Both graduate students and faculty members were present.

Hunter Opens Session

The session was opened with a short talk by Elwood C. Hunter in which he explained the purpose of the Graduate association. Following him, the chairman of the nominating committee announced the following recommendations of the committee for officers: president, Ed Cameron; vice-president, Waldo Williams; secretary, E. C. Hunter. All the recommended officers were put into office without opposition, except the treasurer. Wells was nominated from the floor for treasurer, but his opponent, Hunter, was elected.

George R. Coffman, the first speaker of the evening, spoke on the relation of languages and literature to civilization. Howard W. Odum talked about the social sciences, saying that the social sciences must be coordinated with the natural sciences for the best type of civilization. The natural science study in the University was represented by Dean J. M. Bell. In closing Dean W. W. Pierson welcomed the students, gave a short report of the graduate enrollment, and then talked on the future of the graduates in modern civilization.

PH.D. EXAMINATION

The final oral examination of Miss Viola Chittenden White for the degree of doctor of philosophy in the department of English will be held this morning at 9:00 o'clock in 112 Saunders hall. All members of the graduate faculty in this division of languages and literature are invited to attend.

WILSON GOES VISITING

Thomas J. Wilson, Jr., University registrar, has left for Flushing, New York, with his wife to visit his son. He will be gone about a week.

"First Impression" Themes Complain of Emphasis on Tradition.

"An openly biased group safely ensconced in the arms of a traditionally warm alma mater; markedly lacking in communal spirit, and usually supremely egotistical. Prone to consider study a martyr's task. The individuals, hypocritically serious in telling of their arduous duties."

Such is a certain freshman's first impression of this University as he described it in an English paper, entitled "First Impressions of Chapel Hill."

Cynicism Rampant

Another freshman, whose outlook on life seems to be a cross between Eugene O'Neill's and Samuel Hoffenstein's, writes, "I was impressed by the solicitous solicitude of the solicitors whose benevolence in chumming with the 'freshies' hid a mercenary purpose but poorly."

There were the usual remarks about the "great old oaks," "the majesty of the old and ivied buildings," and "the beauty of this old campus."

One newcomer seemed to be annoyed at the length to which tradition goes: "Tradition, however, can be carried too far. For instance, I heard that the windows of the dormitories did not

VACANT OFFICES WILL BE FILLED BY SOPHOMORES

Move of Executive Committee For Elections to Be Submitted to Student Council.

Contrary to a former announcement that the vacancies among the sophomore class officers would be filled by appointment, the executive committee of the sophomore class, at its meeting yesterday afternoon, decided that special elections would be run off to fill the positions of president and secretary of the class.

Previously to the meeting, it was expected that succession of Morty Ellisburg to replace Russel Mickle as president of the class, and Harper Barnes' appointment of Barney Keeney to take the office of the vice-president, left vacant by Vance Young's failure to return, would be considered final.

However, the action of the executive committee will have to be submitted to the Student Council for approval. If the council passes on the action of the committee, elections will be held to fill the vacated offices.

In case the action is approved, there will be a special meeting of the sophomore class in Gerard hall during assembly period next Wednesday, at which time the nominating will take place. The secret ballot will be used rather than open voting.

NEW LIGHT PURCHASED

J. L. Caldwell, town manager, has announced that a new stop light has been purchased. The light is to be placed on the Carolina Inn corner. As the cables have not yet arrived, there is a delay in the hoisting of the light, but it is expected to be in place soon.

PARENTS INVITED HERE TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY DAY

Albright Extends Invitations to Mothers and Fathers for Founders' Day.

Parents of all students in the University of North Carolina have been sent invitations to come to Chapel Hill to visit their sons and daughters on October 12, when this, the oldest of state universities, will celebrate its 140th birthday.

This year the occasion has also been designated Parents' Day.

The invitations, which were issued through Mayne Albright, manager of Graham Memorial, invited the parents not only to attend the Founder's Day exercises but to remain here over the week-end, if possible, that they may get a fair picture of University life under normal conditions. Dormitory accommodations will be provided at a nominal fee of fifty cents.

Follow Usual Schedule

Except for the hour set aside for the exercises, from 10:30 to 11:30 o'clock, on October 12, the University will operate on its usual schedule that day.

A large number of local alumni groups are planning to hold their meetings here that day and to take part in the exercises commemorating the laying of the cornerstone of Old East 140

'GHOSTS' COMING HERE ON FRIDAY THE THIRTEENTH

Players Will Present Ibsen's "Ghosts" and "Master Builder" on Auspicious Date.

"Ghosts" is the title of the play to be presented the night of Friday, the thirteenth, as the first number on the Student Entertainment program. That, according to Professor Koch, is a sure sign of good luck.

It is also interesting to know that when the Ibsen Players give their matinee performance for the Playmakers, two members of the troupe will be among familiar surroundings. Marion Tatum and Robert Proctor, last year of the Playmakers, will figure in the presentations of "The Master Builder" and "Ghosts."

Former Playmakers in Cast

Marion Tatum was with the Playmaker Theatre for three years, during which she played many roles, among them Helena in "Midsummer Night's Dream." In the commencement performances last spring she figured quite prominently, writing and acting in "Henna Rinse," a satire on the modern beauty shop. In "Davy Crockett," another Playmaker production, she was Mary, Crockett's wife, and Proctor was Uncle Dick, the tavern-keeper. Robert Proctor was also with the Theatre for three years, during which he was stage manager and did character parts in addition to his other duties. Now he is stage manager for the Ibsen Players and will also do the part of Old Brovik in "The Master Builder."

Marion Tatum is considered by Professor Koch as one of the best character actresses who has ever belonged to the Playmaker Theatre, just as Proctor is admittedly among the best stage managers.

Gridgraph To Show Play-By-Play Account Of Vandy-Carolina Game

A.A.U.W. WILL HAVE FIRST MEETING OF NEW YEAR

The Chapel Hill branch of the American Association of University Women will hold its first meeting of the 1933-34 season on Tuesday afternoon, October 10, at 4:30 o'clock, in the parish-house of the Episcopal church. Tea will be served, followed by a business meeting at which plans for the coming year will be outlined and discussed. All active members of the branch are urged to be present. A cordial invitation to attend the meeting and join the group is extended to all former members.

BARNES APPOINTS ADVISORY BOARD

Weathers, Dill, and Townsend Are Chosen to Advise Buccaneer Staff.

Harper Barnes, president of the student body, announced Thursday the appointment of Vergil Weathers, Lonnie Dill, and Nat Townsend to positions on the advisory committee to the Buccaneer. The committee met Thursday night at 9:00 o'clock with Editor Pete Ivey and other members of the Buccaneer staff, to read copy for the first issue of the publication.

President Barnes made it clear to the appointees that they were not to act in the capacity of censors, but were merely to advise and recommend against obscene or otherwise demoralizing humor being printed in the Buccaneer. According to Barnes, the advisory committee will have no power to delete portions of the publication, that prerogative being left solely to the editor.

Representative Men Chosen

"I have tried to select for members of the committee, men who are not only representative of the campus, but interested in the Buccaneer," stated the president of the student body. "I believe that their good taste can be relied on, not to make of the Buccaneer a holier-than-thou magazine, but a better humorous publication."

The advisory committee came about as a result of a recommendation of the Student Activities committee, which met last year at the request of the faculty to afford a check on what was to be printed in the Buccaneer. The Student Activities committee recommendation stipulated that the advisory committee should be composed preferably of students in their third or fourth years. Both Weathers and Townsend are seniors, while Dill, who is serving as tentative chairman of the committee, is a junior.

CO-ED RUSHING OPENS

The 1933 co-ed rushing season was opened yesterday afternoon with a party honoring the rushees given by Chi Omega and was continued last night with the Pi Beta Phi party. About 90 girls were entertained at the two functions.

SEVEN CONFINED

The following students were confined to the infirmary yesterday: W. J. Casteen, Kenneth Schurtz, M. S. Shockley, Haywood Weeks, P. T. Zeigler, W. L. McKeithan, and Alice Eidson.

Manipulation Will Be Handled By Engineering Students And Faculty Member.

SONGS TO BE PRACTICED

McCorkle to Direct Audience in Practice of New Carolina Songs by Kay Kyser.

A play-by-play account of the Carolina-Vanderbilt game at Nashville will be given the student body this afternoon at Memorial hall over the University gridgraph.

The "broadcast" will begin at 3:30 o'clock, and will be handled by students and a member of the faculty in the engineering school. The apparatus has been set up on the platform, and a good view of the happenings on the gridgraph field can be had. A charge of 25 cents will be made for each admission.

Plans have been made for a rehearsal of the new University "battle" songs which Kay Kyser has written for the school. T. Smith McCorkle, acting head of the music department, will be on hand to direct the audience in a practice of the tunes.

The University club, which is backing the movement to have the songs used at athletic events, is anxious that students cooperate in the rehearsal today.

It is planned that the intermission between halves of the game be given over to the song rehearsal and cheering. Students planning to attend the report this afternoon are urged to take with them copies of the words to the songs. A box carrying the lyrics is printed on the back page of today's issue of THE DAILY TAR HEEL.

Chief Cheerleader Ernest Hunt has announced that a member of the cheerleading squad will be at Memorial hall this afternoon to direct cheering.

N.C. ARCHAEOLOGY SOCIETY TO MEET

Secretary of Newly Organized Group Announces Meeting in Asheville Today.

Guy B. Johnson, secretary of the North Carolina Archaeological society, which was organized last May to attempt to preserve and study in a scientific way the relics and lore of North Carolina Indians, has announced a society program meeting in Asheville today.

Dr. John R. Swanton, of the Bureau of American Ethnology, and Neil M. Judd of the National museum are scheduled to present addresses. Dr. Swanton will address the society at 10:30 a. m. on the subject, "Tribes of the Southeast, with Special Reference to Carolina Tribes." Judd will present a lecture on "Preserving the Heritage of the Past" at 2:00 p. m.

Douglas L. Rights of Winston-Salem, who was last May elected president of the society, will deliver the opening lecture and will discuss "North Carolina as an Archaeological Field."

At this meeting the society intends to adopt a constitution, elect officers for the year beginning, and "get going on a permanent basis," Johnson said. Invitations have been sent out to 100 people who are known to be seriously interested in the work of the organization. The society
