

ROBERT B. DOWNS NAMED LIBRARIAN FOR UNIVERSITY

Succeeds Dr. Wilson; Appointment Confirmed by Executive Committee of Trustees.

Appointment of Robert Bingham Downs, a native of Lenoir, as librarian of the University to succeed Dr. Louis Round Wilson, was announced here yesterday by President Frank P. Graham.

The executive committee of the trustees confirmed the appointment at their meeting here yesterday morning.

Incidentally Lenoir was also the birthplace of Dr. Wilson, who was librarian from 1901-32.

Downs, who is only 30 years of age, has been connected with the University for the last 11 years. During his undergraduate days he was a student assistant. He grew up in Asheville and came to the University as a student in 1922. He graduated with the class of 1926, receiving the A.B. degree.

The beginning of his library career coincides with his University connection. After serving as assistant until graduation, he entered the Columbia University school of library science and received the degree of B.S. in 1927 and an M.S. in 1929.

During the year 1926-27, Downs was an assistant in the Columbia University library and was employed in the reference division of the central building till 1929.

In the summer of 1929 he became librarian of Colby College at Waterville, Maine, and remained in that position until 1931.

When the school of library science was organized at the University in 1931, he was brought back to the library as assistant

REV. POTEAT TO OPPOSE REPEAL IN SPEECH HERE

Raleigh Pastor Will Give Views On Liquor Question at Assembly Tomorrow.

The Rev. Eugene M. Poteat, Jr., pastor of the Pullen Memorial Baptist church in Raleigh, will address an assembly of freshmen and sophomores tomorrow in assembly, speaking against the repeal of the 18th Amendment, it was announced yesterday by Dean F. F. Bradshaw.

Dr. Poteat is widely known throughout the country for his leadership and liberal views on the solutions of social and economic problems. He is known all over the state for his great ability as a public speaker.

Studies Question

Recently Dr. Poteat has given a great deal of his time to the study of the liquor question in the United States. He takes a firm stand against the repeal of the 18th Amendment, and gives strong points to back his views on the question.

Dean Bradshaw stated yesterday that he especially wished Dr. Poteat to address the University students, so that they could get both sides of the repeal question.

The sophomore class unani-

One Of Georgia's Big Train En Route Yesterday

This remarkable action picture of yesterday's massacre in Kenan stadium shows Marion Gaston (27) off on a jaunt over Carolina's right tackle. Note especially the superb blocking afforded Gaston by the entire Georgia team. One back has spilled George Brandt, who is seen doing beautiful swan dive in the right hand corner of the picture. Another back has made an unsuccessful attempt at cutting down George Barclay (99) as he charged in while Homer Key (11) has nailed a perfect block on Bill Moore, Tar Heel pivot. Babe Daniels, who evidently just missed Gaston is sprawled on the ground beneath Barclay. Jim Tatum, tackle, and Gene Barwick, end can be seen just behind Moore. Edie Kahn, Carolina's right guard was evidently halted when he tried a submarine on his opponent. Note how completely he has been blocked out of the play by Ludwig and Gunnels, Bulldog linemen. Tom Perkinson (23) Georgia center is on his way for the Carolina secondary. The sleeveless Georgian to the extreme left is Sam Brown, halfback, who ran wild for Georgia all day. This picture shows the usual position of Barclay in yesterday's game. George played the greatest game of his career at guard for Carolina.

KOCH WILL READ HAMLET TONIGHT

Shakespearean Selection, to be Produced in Spring, Inaugurates Monthly Readings.

Professor F. H. Koch will present a reading of "Hamlet" at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the Playmakers' theatre, following a tradition of initiating the Playmakers series of monthly readings with a Shakespearean selection.

Professor Koch has chosen the play because it will probably be presented in the spring as the Forest theatre production, and because a production of "Hamlet" during his senior year in high school was the first play Koch ever attended.

Koch has for years produced Shakespeare in the University's Forest theatre, but has acted in only two of these performances. His production last year of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" is recalled as a typical and a very successful Playmaker presentation.

The readings, one of which will be given each month of the school year, are extremely promising this year, with Paul Green's scheduled for November. Koch extends a cordial invitation to everyone to attend, especially those interested in trying out for the spring production of "Hamlet."

Seven Girls Pledged By Local Chi Omega

Epsilon Beta of Chi Omega announced yesterday the pledging of seven girls at the end of the co-ed rushing season. They are as follows:

Betty Hansen of Asheville; Jane Ross of Charlotte; Catherine Hodges of Chapel Hill; Margaret McCauley of Baltimore; Harriot Taylor of Port Washington, Long Island; Dot Insley of North East, Maryland; and Sarah Seawell of Chapel Hill.

RESEARCH FELLOWSHIP OFFERED MED STUDENTS

Notice has been sent to the medical school that a research fellowship in experimental surgery at Crown Heights hospital in Brooklyn, N. Y., paying $2,000, is open to any qualified student. The applicant must be a graduate in medicine and well grounded in physiology.

Pair Of Austere Carolina Deans Once Mainstays Of Baseball Team

A. W. Hobbs Forsook Big League Honors for Intellectual Pursuits After Starring at Guilford; D. D. Carroll Served As Pilot of College Diamond Club.

A tall, hefty looking young man was warming up along the third base line at the playing field at the University of North Carolina. He was the ace pitcher of the Guilford College Quakers, and the easy pitching motion bespoke complete confidence in himself and his mates.

A smaller, black-haired young fellow with bushy eyebrows, one manager Carroll, turned away from the manager of the Carolina team and walked out to the umpire. After listening to him for a short time, the official walked to the plate, held up his hand for silence, and doffed his cap.

Batter Up!

"Ladeez and gentlemen, battery for Guilford will be the Hobbs brothers; A. W. Hobbs will pitch, and L. L. Hobbs will catch; for Carolina, . . ."

But the last of that announcement was drowned in the noisy demonstration of cheering and applauding by the small but enthusiastic body of Guilford supporters. Their confidence in their pitcher was unbounded, and the mere mention of his name was as the well-known spark in the equally famous powder-keg.

That day this pitcher toiled for 15 innings, putting his heart into every pitch. At the end of the fifteenth inning the umpire called the game because of darkness, the result going on the score books as a tie game.

This A. W. Hobbs now occupies the chair of dean of the A.B. school at the University, after a varied and colorful career as a ball player. He was the number one pitcher for Guilford College in 1905, '06, and '07. During this time his brother, L. L. Hobbs, later a catcher for Carolina, caught him, and this Hobbs battery was known and respected by all their opponents.

After graduation Hobbs was bought by the New York Yankees, and immediately farmed out to Montreal of the old Eastern league. While on this team he injured his arm, and subsequently played first base and outfield for various clubs throughout the south.

However he soon retired from this because of increasing intellectual interest, an interest which has gained for him a high place in education in this vicinity.

The erstwhile manager Carroll, now known as Dean Dudley D. Carroll of the school of commerce, smilingly admitted that Hobbs was "one of the steadiest pitchers I ever saw, as well as one of the most unemotional. He was a nice hitter, too, hitting up around .500 in his college days."

Other Faculty Athletes

In addition to Dean Hobbs, other ex-ball players are represented in the Carolina faculty. R. J. M. Hobbs of the commerce school, another brother of A. W., was also a pitcher of considerable ability at Guilford and with Petersburg in the Virginia league. "Doc" Lawson, the present physical director of the University and called by many the greatest pitcher Carolina has ever had, pitched for some time in big time baseball.

Possibly the best all-round athlete on the faculty is Dr. Charles S. Mangum, recently appointed dean of the medical school. While a student at Carolina he was a member of the track team, and an end on the football team, being awarded in his junior year a trophy given to the best all-round athlete in the University.

PLEDGES ANNOUNCED

Charles Sam Carty, pledging Chi Phi fraternity, and Earl Carlton Van Horn, pledging Sigma Delta, were the additional pledges announced yesterday by the office of the dean of students.

FEATURE BOARD MEETS

The feature board will gather for its regular weekly meeting with the chairman in the offices of the publication tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock. Upperclassmen interested in trying out for the board are invited to attend.

Ehringhaus Says Graham Not To Take NRA Offer

Many Georgia Alumni Attend Annual Luncheon

At the luncheon of Georgia alumni held yesterday in connection with the Georgia-Carolina game at 12:30 o'clock in 214 Graham Memorial, Dr. W. O. Payne, faculty representative, Head Coach Stegeman, Director of Athletics Charles Martin, and Sports Editor Camp of the Atlanta Constitution made short speeches.

President Sanford was unable to attend the luncheon. A group of 60 Georgia alumni from the states of Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Virginia were present.

These annual luncheons are sponsored by Dr. Harold D. Meyer, Dr. T. J. Woofler, and Miss Elizabeth Head, all of whom are alumni of Georgia.

SALON ENSEMBLE TO GIVE CONCERT

University Musical Organization Under Direction of Johnson Will Play Next Sunday.

The Carolina Salon Ensemble will present the first in a series of four informal concerts to be given during the year in the lounge room of the Graham Memorial Sunday afternoon, October 22, at 4:00 o'clock. The Salon Ensemble is an organization of seventeen student musicians under the direction of Thor M. Johnson, a senior in the school of music.

This entertainment feature was inaugurated by the director of the student union. The concerts are open to all students and visitors. Next Sunday's concert will feature compositions of student composers and French writers.

Three soloists will appear on the program. Hubert Liverman, of High Point, will play three piano compositions; David Bennet of Asheville will be featured in a group transcribed for flute with string orchestra; John Murphy of Charlotte will play two sketches by Herbert Hazelman for contrabass and piano. Liverman is a freshman in the school of music. Before entering the University he appeared in concert for a number of years. He will present the first performance Sunday of his "Etude in A minor," which has been accepted for publication by Theodore Presser of Philadelphia.

Other members of the ensemble are: John Daniel, concertmeister; Ray Foster, first violin; Alec McLeod, second violin; Thomas Goody, viola; Dan B. Field, cello; Herbert Hazelman, oboe; Claude Sawyer, first clarinet; John Field, second clarinet; Walter King, bassoon; Paul Schallert, first horn; Raymond Brietz, second horn; John Raper, first trumpet; Raymond Fink, second trumpet; and Thomas Leer, piano.

ELEVEN IN INFIRMARY

The following students were confined to the University infirmary yesterday: Murry Adams, Dewitt Carroll, William Dowling, Dexter Freeman, Edwin Miller, J. H. Price, W. H. Rankin, C. T. Rawls, Howard Spain, George Steele, and H. B. Whitmore.

President Will Remain In Chapel Hill As University Head.

Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus announced here yesterday that Dr. Frank Porter Graham will not leave his duties as president of the Greater University and will decline the offer tendered him by Hugh S. Johnson to head a national consumers' educational program for the NRA. As a result of the unanimous vote of the executive committee of trustees of the Greater University, which met in South building yesterday, President Graham will continue his work here.

In reaching his decision, Governor Ehringhaus stated that President Graham had bowed to the unanimous sentiment expressed by the alumni and faculty of State College, the Womans' College, and the Chapel Hill unit of the consolidated University, and that in view of the expressed opinion, Dr. Graham had decided to remain here.

Others in Opposition

In addition to the sentiment expressed by the executive committee yesterday, Dr. E. C. Brooks and the alumni of State College had expressed their views previously, and Dr. J. I. Foust, head of the Womans' College, came here yesterday to express the views of the alumni and faculty of the Greensboro institution.

Meeting here for the express purpose of considering the request of General Hugh S. Johnson that President Graham be released from his duties here, the committee discussed the proposal and adopted the following resolution:

"While appreciating the honor and opportunity of his designation

FROSH 'Y' GROUP ELECTIONS SET FOR TOMORROW

Freshman Cabinet, Slow in Starting, to Organize Under Tom Nesbit's Direction.

Officers of the freshman friendship council for the coming year will be elected at the meeting of the group tomorrow at 7:15 o'clock in Gerrard hall.

All former Hi-Y members are urged to be present to help in the organization, but all students, regardless of whether they have been affiliated with Hi-Y, work or not, are invited to attend.

Several attempts have been made at former freshman meetings to organize the first-year Y. M. C. A. council, and last Monday it was definitely decided by a small number of interested men to elect officers tomorrow.

Tom Nesbit, who was elected by the senior cabinet last Monday to succeed Bill Minor as vice-president of the University Y. M. C. A., will have charge of freshman Y. M. C. A. work this year and will advise the freshman friendship council.

The council had a large membership last year, starting with around 100 men on its roll. Officers of the council last year were: Jesse Parker, president; Marcus Lynch, vice-president; Van Webb, secretary; and Jimmy Craighill, treasurer.
