

SECOND PROGRAM OF SERIES GIVEN HERE TOMORROW

Harold Loring, Authority on Indians, Presented Tomorrow in Memorial Hall.

Harold Loring, pianist and lecturer, will appear in Memorial hall tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock in the second of the series of student entertainments.

His program will present a picture of the real Indian as few people know him, will be interesting, entertaining, and full of action.

Loring will analyze the part each song played in the tribal life of the Indian. He makes no effort to idealize the songs of the red race, but seeks rather to present them in all their crudity, exactly as the Indians themselves feel and sing them. In addition to his own piano transcriptions, he will tell of the various ceremonial dances and their meaning in the lives of the Indian.

Loring has spent many years on the Northwest Indian reservation, recording melodies of the race, their stories, and legends.

Loring is a capable concert pianist, having appeared with great success before schools all over the country and having broadcast over national networks. He is recognized as an authority on the American Indian and his music. He speaks the Sioux tongue and will demonstrate the sign language.

SHAWN COMPANY OFFERS PROGRAM

Dancing Group Composed Entirely of Men Will Perform in Memorial Hall.

Ted Shawn, one of America's greatest dancers, will present in Memorial hall, November 27, a program executed by a company composed entirely of men.

Shawn, in his previous tours, found that the featured male dancers pleased his audiences most, and this fact gave him the idea of a program featuring men exclusively. This is the first tour on which he has actually made the departure from custom.

His theory represented in his newly formed company will do much toward overcoming the prejudice of the American people against male dancing, and against the belief that male dancers are effeminate. Already many people have been converted, much of this being due to the virility and stamina exhibited by his performers.

Dancing Is Art

"The dance," Shawn avers, "cannot reach its complete fulfillment until it becomes an art and career for men as well as women, men of brain as well as brawn! capable of making great lawyers, great merchants, great statesmen, but who see in the dance a wider field of usefulness to humanity."

The Carolina Playmakers, who have brought to this campus performances in many different fields, now present to the University the opportunity of seeing one of the few southern performances of America's first group of all male dancers, whose tour has won for Shawn, the pioneer, far greater acclaim than any of his previous achievements.

Negress Is Killed By Walking Into Trailer

At 7:15 o'clock last evening Texana Nevils, negress, was killed almost instantly when she walked into the side of a truck trailer which was going west on West Franklin street.

The accident occurred in front of the colored Baptist church. The truck was one of the Austin Ogburn Cotton company and was driven by Ed Nixon, colored, from Smithfield.

Mrs. Nevils was forty years of age and is survived by two daughters and a son.

The inquest was held last evening, but no information was obtained.

MAJOR McLENDON SPEAKS TONIGHT

Well-Known Durham Lawyer to Address Phi Assembly in New East at 7:15.

Major L. P. McLendon, Durham lawyer, campaign manager for Gov. J. C. B. Ehringhaus and prominently mentioned for United States senator or state governor, will speak to the members of the Phi assembly at 7:15 o'clock tonight in New East building.

Major McLendon graduated from N. C. State in 1910 and in 1912 from the University law school. While a student here he was an active member of the debating team, served one term as mayor of Chapel Hill, and in 1912-13 was graduate manager of athletics.

He has often identified himself with the educational forces in North Carolina, presiding over the mass meeting of 4,000 citizens who gathered in Raleigh last winter to discuss the educational problems facing the recent session of the general assembly. He has just announced that he will move to Greensboro on November 1 to practice law as a member of the firm of Brooks, McLendon, and Holderness.

The public is invited to hear Major McLendon tonight in the Phi assembly hall.

ANDREWS PLEADS FOR COOPERATION OF TARDY POSERS

Yackety Yack Editor Warns Students Of Picture Deadline and Results Of Failure to Cooperate.

A special plea was made yesterday by Alex Andrews, editor of the Yackety Yack, asking that all students who have not had their pictures taken on schedule act immediately.

Andrews pointed out that November 1 is the absolute deadline. Failure to co-operate will mean a loss of $3.00 to juniors and $4.50 to seniors.

A booth is being kept in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A. during chapel period and from 2:00 until 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon in order that upperclassmen may make their Yackety Yack appointments.

Fraternity presidents will be given a list today containing the names of all the students in their lodge who have not had their pictures taken. The presidents are asked by the editor to be personally responsible for every man in his fraternity.

Aspirants for the business staff of the annual will meet in the office this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock.

HOME COMING DAY PLANS DISCUSSED

Group Headed by J. Maryon Saunders Arranges for Largest Event in History.

Plans for sponsoring a larger homecoming day October 28 were made last week when a group of students and townspeople gathered under the direction of J. Maryon Saunders, secretary of the alumni association.

Elaborate plans were presented by E. Carrington Smith, manager of the Carolina theatre, for decorating the streets and houses of Chapel Hill. Competitive activities were suggested to add to the spirit of the occasion.

Bahnson Named Head

Agnew Bahnson, president of the University club, was named chairman of a committee to direct the decorating of fraternity houses and campus structures. Further action on the celebration will be taken this week.

At a meeting of the University club last week, the members unanimously agreed to cooperate in the affair and lend full support to the leaders in preparing the largest homecoming celebration in University history. Details will be discussed by this group Thursday night.

Homecoming day will occur on the date of the annual Georgia Tech-Carolina game in Kenan stadium. The celebration likewise took place on this date last year.

Members of the group which met last week were: J. Maryon Saunders, Harper Barnes, Phil Sasser, Agnew Bahnson, Bo Shepard, Claiborn Carr, E. Carrington Smith, T. S. McCorkle, and Mayne Albright.

HAMLET READING WELL ATTENDED

Over 300 Persons Attend First Playmaker Reading of the Year Sunday Night.

About 300 people heard Professor F. H. Koch's reading of "Hamlet" which initiated the Playmaker's series of monthly readings at the Playmaker's theatre Sunday night.

In introductory remarks, Professor Koch stated that a bronze statue to Queen Gertrude and a grave for Hamlet are material evidences which people have erected to "mere creations of a poet's brain"; for the play, "Hamlet" was a fable of the 11th century. More books have been written about Hamlet, Dr. Koch said, than have been written about any other character in authentic history.

Choosing the scene of the throne room, the ghost scene, and the grave diggers' scene for a portrayal of Hamlet's character, Professor Koch asserted that he had no sympathy with the notion that Hamlet became insane, but he thought Hamlet feigned a derangement of mind in order that he might trick his enemies. Koch gave as his basis for this decision Hamlet's address to the players wherein all the principles of acting were observed and the fact that the court of Denmark was so corrupted with physical and social disorder that Hamlet had to sham madness if he were to make use of the situation.

Hamlet, Koch states, was struggling with a problem that was beyond solution.

THOMPSON PICKED TO EDIT JOURNAL

Official Publication of North Carolina Student Federation To Be Published Here.

Carl G. Thompson, Jr., a junior at the University, was yesterday appointed editor of the Student Journal, official publication of the North Carolina Federation of Students, by Wendell Horne, president of the federation.

Thompson was an associate editor last year under Claiborn Carr's editorship. At the conference held last spring, the executive committee of the federation announced their intention of continuing the publication of the Journal and gave the president power to appoint the editor. Horne deferred the appointment of the editor until this fall.

Three Associates

There will be three associate editors on the staff who have not been named as yet. One of these associates will be from the University and the others will be chosen from one of the other colleges in the state, from either Duke, State, Davidson, or the Woman's College.

The publication aims to inspire interest in the state and national federation and to encourage a greater feeling of friendship with the state. It was through the N. C. F. S. that the idea for the University club was inspired and the Student Journal will encourage the formation of clubs similar to this.

Thompson was editor of the Freshman Handbook for 1933-34, is a member of the TAR HEEL and Carolina Magazine staffs, and was an associate editor of the Journal last year.

Registrar Ignorant Of Plans To Draft Mid-Term Schedule

METTS TO LEAD COUNCIL

John Metts of Raleigh was elected last night to lead the freshman friendship council for this year. Close to 100 freshmen attended the council meeting.

The other officers chosen were: Lewis Skinner, vice-president; Brian Caldwell, secretary; and Philip Singer, treasurer.

SPEAKER ARGUES FOR PROHIBITION

Poteat Says Prohibition Is Not Contrary to American Tradition.

Dr. Eugene MacNeill Poteat, Jr., of Raleigh, liberal thinker and prohibitionist, spoke on "The Validity of the 18th Amendment" at assembly in Memorial hall yesterday morning.

The speaker presented points for both sides in an attempt to refute two of the main arguments of the anti-prohibitionists. The first argument is that prohibition is a violation of the American tradition of personal liberty, and the second is that enforcement is a failure and a source of much corruption.

"We do believe in law and general prohibition here in the United States—there is prohibition of piracy, polygamy, murder, and so on. The dispute in regard to prohibition as it is generally used today is what is to be prohibited and to how great an extent," Dr. Poteat said.

"There are two principles upon which we test the validity of prohibitory laws. These are social practices and the judgment of scientific investigation, for society has a right to prohibit anything that is actually or potentially harmful to the individual.

"Contrary to ancient custom, the manufacturers of spirituous beverages has passed from the home to the business. The sale of liquor has been stimulated by many means for commercial reasons. Alcohol is a hindrance to social progress," he said.

SEATS ASSIGNED FOR SOPHOMORES IN GERRARD HALL

Committee of Two Second-Year Men To Plan Programs for Year; Attendance Wednesday.

Seats in Gerrard hall have been assigned to the sophomores for sophomore assembly, and letters have been sent out informing them of their places, it was announced yesterday.

Most of the students are seated downstairs, but students whose names begin with R, S, or T have been assigned places in the balcony. The balcony is reached by stairs which open at the back of the building.

A committee composed of Bill Yandell and Francis Fairley has been appointed by the sophomores to meet with Dean Bradshaw to plan programs.

Second-year men are required to attend assembly in Gerrard hall every Wednesday, and to go to assembly in Memorial hall with the freshmen whenever it is announced from the office of the dean of students.

Thomas J. Wilson, Jr., Does Not Think Anything Can Be Done About Present Situation.

STUDENTS DISCONTENTED

"Nothing has been brought to my attention concerning any plan to make out a definite schedule for mid-term examinations," stated Thomas J. Wilson, Jr., University registrar, yesterday. "I don't think anything can be done about making a fixed examination schedule for all the University classes, but of course there is nothing like trying."

Dr. Wilson said that he had heard nothing about the matter this year except what he had seen written in THE DAILY TAR HEEL. The officials in the registrar's office, however, have seen the need for a definite schedule, and have sent out letters to the heads of the various departments, asking them to attempt to make some arrangements to hold mid-term tests on dates most convenient to the students. This plan of sending out letters was inaugurated last year.

All mid-term grades are due to be turned into the office of the registrar by this Friday at the latest. Mid-term grades will be posted in the registrar's office in South building Tuesday, October 24, at which time students may determine their standing.

GROUP SPONSORS BIG FIVE TROPHY

North Carolina Federation of Students Plans Presentation Of Athletic Award.

At a meeting of the North Carolina Federation of Students at Duke University Saturday, the executive committee of the group with the president of the Duke student body and the Duke Women's association formulated plans for the presentation of a Big Five athletic trophy, it was announced yesterday.

Arrangements were made for a meeting within the next few weeks of the presidents of the student bodies at the universities and colleges in the state belonging to the Big Five, Duke, Davidson, Wake Forest, North Carolina State, and North Carolina. At this meeting, definite plans in regard to the trophy will be decided upon and a trophy committee will probably be appointed.

Three Sports Count

Although nothing definite has been decided, it is believed that the trophy will be presented to the school voted the most deserving of it for participation only in sports in which all Big Five teams take part.

Under this code, merit in football, basketball, and baseball will count towards the trophy, but any honors won in boxing or wrestling will receive no credit in the trophy ranking as Davidson has no boxing team, and Wake Forest neither a boxing nor wrestling team.

The executive committee also decided at this meeting to retain Wendell Horne, former president of the Duke student body and now at the University of Georgia, as president of the federation, since the position is principally one of correspondence, and he could do his work just as easily from Georgia.
