

JELLY LEFTWICH WILL PLAY FOR SOPHOMORE HOP

Duke Maestro Will Also Furnish Music for Grail Dance Scheduled for Following Day.

The dance committee of the sophomore class completed its arrangements for the music of the sophomore hop yesterday. It was announced that Jelly Leftwich and his orchestra had been procured for the occasion next Friday evening, October 27.

The sophomore class is co-operating with the Order of the Grail in completing the social events of the homecoming weekend. The Grail will give its third dance of the season the following night, with the same orchestra playing.

This dance will be the first appearance of Leftwich and his orchestra on the campus since the early part of last year. His typical collegiate music is well-known throughout the south.

Successful Summer

The orchestra spent a successful summer at Wrightsville Beach and will spend several months in Pittsburgh, Pa., where they will broadcast over KDKA, after filling their winter engagements in the south.

The executive committee has decided to operate their concessions for refreshments and checking, rather than let the Athletic association handle them as has been the custom. Self-help students from the sophomore class will be hired.

NO TUBERCULAR CASES REVEALED

Dr. McCain of State Sanitarium Expresses Satisfaction Over Pleasant Results.

A report from the University infirmary reveals that of the 934 people to take the tuberculin test no one was found to have an active case, although the percentage for the number of positive results was rather high.

Of 866 students who submitted to the test, 172 were found to be positive, a percentage of 22.8. From the 48 faculty members, 22 or 60 per cent had positive results. There were only 20 Negroes connected with the University to take the test. Of these 14 were positive, a percentage of 70.

A positive case merely means that at sometime in the past tuberculin germs were present in the body. There were 180 of this type whose lungs were X-rayed and it was found that 44 gave evidence of healed tuberculosis. Dr. Berryhill expects a more complete report of each individual case within the next few days.

Dr. P. P. McCain of the state sanitarium writes that, "we are very much pleased that none of the students, faculty, or employees were found to have active tuberculosis. In our opinion none of them will need to change or modify his or her course of study." He also stated that, "it would be wise for all who are classified as positive to have an X-ray every year so as to be on the safe side."

Announce Pledging

Phi Kappa Sigma announced yesterday the pledging of Thomas Sharpe of Reidsville.

Purified Buccaneer Condemned By Students; Upheld By Faculty

Majority of Undergraduates Seem Opposed to Clean-up of Comic Monthly and Predict Loss in Popularity; Faculty Members Hail New Policy as Forward Step.

"The Buccaneer won't be worth a damn without its smut!"

This candid statement by one student seems to indicate perfectly the typical attitude of the undergraduate student body toward the "comiclean" policy recently enunciated and adopted by the campus comic monthly.

However, the earnest slaves who Monday offer the first Buccaneer of the season can take solace in the fact that faculty members in general are in support of their new attitude toward filth.

Students Against Change

Yet, an impartial survey of the reading public reveals overwhelming sentiment in favor of the high, wide, and handsome, foot-loose policy of former Buccaneers. For example, Hugh Mills, a serious-minded scholar if ever there was one, believes that half the appeal of the publication lies in its semi-smuttiness.

Crittenden Comments

Supporting these student views is the opinion of C. C. Crittenden, who has earned a certain fame for his stout opposition to movements Puritanical. The history professor states: "I do not like to see the Buccaneer try to make an impression chiefly by the device of shocking its readers. But on the other hand, I don't see why all the material which might offend to the slightest a prim aged maiden should be categorically barred."

"In the past few years the

STATE REQUESTS FEDERAL LOANS

Amounts for Public Work Programs Throughout State Total $5,000,000.

A sum totalling approximately $5,000,000 has already been requested by North Carolina from the federal public works administration, it was revealed yesterday when Dr. Herman G. Baity, state engineer, announced several additional applications.

The largest amounts applied for this week were from Old Fort, which requested a combined loan and grant of $500,000 for a community cotton mill; Lexington, which asked $450,000 for a power plant; and Charlotte, which requested $347,000 for municipal projects. All three requested the usual 30 per cent grant and government loans for the difference.

Charlotte Projects

The Charlotte projects that make up the total of its $347,000 application are listed as sewers, $89,000; fire hydrants, $37,000; storm sewers, $130,000; and a fire alarm system, $31,000.

The Swan Quarter Canal company, a private corporation, applied for a $2500 loan to build a canal.

Dr. Baity said that to date North Carolina has made applications for 41 projects involving a total estimated cost of $4,668,993, and that all applications have been passed on to Washington.

Fraternity Pledges For Year Total 209

M. J. Liebfried, pledging Lambda Chi Alpha, was the only additional pledge announced yesterday from the office of the dean of students. This makes the number of pledges this year total 209.

Up to October 21 last fall a total of 226 University students pledged fraternities as compared to the 209 pledged so far this year. Of the 226 last fall, 206 were pledged on pledge day and the rest signed up later. One hundred ninety-five pledged on pledge day this year, and 14 additional joiners have been announced at later dates.

FRATERNITY TEAM IS DEFEATED AT CONTRACT BRIDGE

Lovill and Hardin, Michie House, Score Win Over Hudson and Jones of Chi Phi.

R. Lovill and J. Hardin, Michie house, won the $30 first prize award in the Stetson "D" contract bridge tournament yesterday when they defeated J. Hudson and C. Jones, Chi Phi, in the finals, 10,163 points to 5,143 points.

The Chi Phi team, however, received $10 for second place. Chi Phi fraternity will receive a silver loving cup donated by the tournament committee for the fraternity entering the winning team in that division.

The Michie house team was the favorite in the betting. They played exceptionally well, but the match was close almost to the end. They made several hands that were doubled and redoubled, and seemed less effected by tension than their opponents. There were four small slams bid and made, but no grand slams were bid.

A large number of spectators dropped in during the play. Many of the football squad attended while waiting for their bus to convey them to the train.

The play was at duplicate, and lasted six hours. The players thought a long time over their bidding and play, especially during the earlier part. Vic Huggins, manager of Stetson "D," states, "This was the most interesting match of the tournament, and the players must have been under a great strain."

FACULTY MEMBERS WILL MAKE TALKS FOR ACCOUNTANTS

Talks by University faculty will feature the annual convention of the North Carolina association of certified public accountants which will meet here at the University October 25, 26, and 27.

The program of the convention this year is laying stress on the educational side of the profession of accounting. Several members of the University faculty will speak at the session on Friday.

N. S. Veigler, president of the association, and K. S. Theis, secretary, visited here this week with Earl E. Peacock, professor of accounting at the University, who is chairman of the program committee, and made plans for coming sessions.

PHI BETA KAPPA TO MEET FOR FIRST TIME TUESDAY

John T. O'Neil, president of Phi Beta Kappa on the local campus, announced yesterday that the national honorary society for scholarship will meet Tuesday for the first time this quarter.

All members, especially graduates and members of the faculty, are urged to attend the meeting in 214 Graham Memorial at 7:30 o'clock.

POSE FOR PICTURES

Harper Barnes Makes Statement Concerning Student's Expulsion

Psychologist Returns From Inspection Tour

Dr. Harry W. Crane of the psychology department has just returned from a tour to several state institutions. He inspected the State hospital at Morganton and several private hospitals at Asheville. He spoke Tuesday to the Western District Welfare conference at Waynesville on "Children Requiring Special Care."

Next Tuesday he will speak on the new sterilization law before the Northeastern Welfare conference. Wednesday he will visit the Caswell Training School and will inspect the State hospital for Negro insane at Goldsboro.

Frat Neophyte Imitates Antics Of Soph Orders

Sigma Delta Pledge "Outshines" Cuckoos, Sheiks, and Missing Links in Weird Rites.

A new species "shine" bowed, scraped, and kneeled its way over the campus yesterday. Perhaps not exactly new, merely composite was the Sigma Delta initiate whose extraordinary vestments and amazing patter drew more attention than the three dozen cuckoos, missing links, and sheiks now at large.

Armed with minuscule chain, a fruit similar to that carried by the red-ribboned cuckoos, the victim was dressed in a Cecil DeMille version of the garb of the three sophomore orders. An emasculated straw graced his head, the jersey of the missing links covered his torso, and the sash of the sons of the prophet swathed his middle.

A malicious glee greeted him when he produced his sawed-off chain and parroted: "One, two, three, four—I can't count any more." Equally delighted was the campus to see him wallow in the dust, shrieking sarcastically: "Allah is cuckoo."

Long known for their interest in social reform, the Sigma Deltas probably feel that they have killed two birds with one stone.

Holt Re-Issues Volume By Dr. A. M. Jordan

A revised edition of "Educational Psychology," by Dr. A. M. Jordan of the department of education, has been published by Henry Holt and company of New York.

The first edition of this text was used in 110 colleges and universities, and the revised edition is expected to replace those now in use. It contains two additional chapters on "Measurement of Personality Traits" and "Mental Growth."

Buccaneers

Students not rooming in dormitories or fraternity houses must call by the business office of the Daily Tar Heel between 6:30 and 9:30 o'clock Monday for their copies of the Buccaneer. Other students will get their copies at dormitory stores and fraternity houses. All copies distributed must be signed for.

President of Student Body Explains Aspects of Case of Expelled Student.

CASE WAS NOT FIRST OF ITS KIND AT SCHOOL

Council Heartily Endorses Action of Men Reporting Violation of Honor System.

Due to the fact that considerable confusion has arisen on the campus following the expulsion Thursday of a student for cheating on an examination, Harper Barnes, president of the student body, yesterday made the following statement in explanation of several phases of the case:

"Since considerable comment and question has arisen as a result of the stand on the honor system recently taken by a group of Carolina students, I feel that a word of explanation about several aspects of the situation is desirable.

"One belief that seems to have wide credence is that no case of cheating has been reported by a student in many years. This is not true. Though deplorably few, there have been in the past few years a number of cases of cheating reported by students.

"In the present case, these students are attempting to assume no official position. A student accused by them will receive equally as fair a hearing by the council as if he were reported by an individual. Their action was entirely spontaneous; they

SUICIDE ATTEMPT FRUSTRATED HERE

Unidentified Man Consumes an Over-Dose of Paregoric in Sutton's Drug Store.

The attempted suicide of a 23-year-old man who gave his name as Howard Jones was frustrated here yesterday afternoon by the quick application of a pump to remove from his stomach paregoric he had drunk.

The incident occurred in Sutton's drug store at about 4:00 o'clock. Finding the man lying on the floor, Tom Alderman, with the aid of other persons, rushed Jones to Dr. William Abernethy's office, where the drug was pumped from his intestines.

Immediately afterward, police took Jones to Duke hospital, but no report as to his condition could be ascertained.

It was reported that Jones, who is employed on a farm on the Durham highway, came into the store in an intoxicated condition, declaring that he "had troubles." He was placed in a booth, it was said, and soon after he collapsed on the floor.

Other bystanders stated that Jones had drunk four ounces of paregoric which he obtained with prescriptions from several doctors.

University Group Attends Dinner at Winston-Salem

At a dinner for University alumni in Winston-Salem last night, a group of University men appeared for short talks. The group was composed of J. Maryon Saunders, secretary of the General Alumni association, Mayne Albright, director of Graham Memorial, and Claiborn Carr, editor of the DAILY TAR HEEL. A quartet picked from the glee club sang at the dinner.
