CHANGES PLANNED IN Y. M. C. A. CODE

Group May Alter Constitutional Provision and Make Every Student a Member.

Considering proposed changes in constitutional provisions concerning membership, the junior-senior Y.M.C.A. cabinets will meet tomorrow at 7:15 o'clock in the Y.M.C.A. building.

The cabinets will consider the recommendations made by the constitutional committee last year in regard to the addition of an amendment definitely outlining membership in the organization.

If the proposed amendment goes into effect every student enrolled in the University will automatically enjoy all the rights and privileges of active membership.

Now Has Constitution

Following only the broad general principles set down by the national student "Y" association, the University "Y" up to the year 1931 and 1932 had no constitution on definite outline of policy and organization.

During the fall 1931 steps were taken under the direction of the officers and administrators of the local organization, specifically outlining the precise duties of the "Y" officers, committees, and cabinets. The results of the efforts materialized in a constitution, considered and duly adopted the same quarter.

During the spring quarter last year constitutional committees made reports concerning proposed changes in the constitution, which resulted in the rewriting of the article, condensing it and effecting several changes.

George Moore Goes over and Bill Croom Launches Run

In the top picture George Moore (83) is seen after he had plunged across for the Carolina score. Moore ploughed through head down and was not touched. George Barclay (99), who asked that the play go over him, is seen at the left of the picture minus headgear. On Barclay's right is Babe Daniel. The other Tar Heel in the picture is Charlie Woollen (62). Bo Bohannon (52) is the State man who has turned away in shame at the sight. Captain Mope Cumiskey (71) can be seen at the extreme left.

RUSSIAN PAINTER TO EXHIBIT HERE

Price Pierre Troubetzkoy Paintings Will Be Shown in Hill Music Hall This Week.

A collection of portraits by Prince Pierre Troubetzkoy, noted Russian painter, will be hung on exhibition at Hill Music Hall this week from tomorrow until Thursday. The prince will speak at 8:00 o'clock Tuesday evening at the hall.

Born in Milan in 1864, Prince Troubetzkoy determined at an early age to devote himself to the study of art. After enjoying a great deal of success, he went to London at the age of 23, and within a year a picture of his was exhibited at the New English Art club.

The painting received much favorable comment and brought him many orders from distinguished subjects, among whom were the Marquis of Dufferin and Ava and Gladstone.

In 1896 Prince Troubetzkoy came to New York and opened a studio, and in the same year married Amelia Rives, the well-known novelist. Since his marriage he has spent most of his time at Castle Hill, near Charlottesville, Virginia.

Among the portraits of distinguished Americans which he has produced, one of Archer Huntington. Another is that of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

FRENCH CLUB TO BEGIN MEETINGS

First Gathering of Group Will Take Place Tomorrow Night at 7:30 In Episcopal Parish House.

The French club will meet for the first time this year tomorrow night at 7:30 in the Episcopal parish house.

According to W. D. Creech of the French department, the purpose of the club is to give practice in the speaking of French. He said that it is not a professors' club but a student organization, and that the students' own initiative will be the moving factor if the organization is to be a success. Students are not to stay away for fear of making mistakes, because others will make them too and the object is to learn by actual experience in speaking and even by making errors.

Creech especially emphasized the informality for which the club will strive. The meeting Monday will have nothing of the classroom atmosphere, but it is hoped to make it something of a French soiree, with music and other entertainment. Co-eds are invited. Students are not to think of attending as a duty, but are to come for amusement.

Dance Committee to Meet

The University Dance committee will meet tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in 209 Graham Memorial.

BIBLIOGRAPHY ON SOUTH PREPARED

Library Working on Most Extensive Collection of Articles On Southland Lore.

In collaboration with the Southern Historical collection under the direction of Dr. J. G. de R. Hamilton, the University library is preparing an extensive bibliography of southern Americana from every available source such as book dealers' catalogues, library catalogues, printed bibliographies, and personal contacts with dealers.

The library assistants in charge of this work are listing many thousands of items relating to every aspect of southern history and literature. It is hoped to make this the most complete existing record of pamphlets, magazines, newspapers, and other printed material dealing with the south.

75,000 Titles Recorded

Approximately 75,000 titles have been recorded up to the present time. The bibliography, which is in card form is expected to be extremely useful in building up the southern collection and in many kinds of scientific and literary research.

The library has been enabled to undertake this bibliographical project through assistance from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation which has furnished the necessary personnel.

LOCAL MERCHANTS LAUNCH 'BUY NOW' DRIVE TOMORROW

NRA Committee Sponsors Campaign in Conjunction with Nation-Wide Movement.

STUDENT SUPPORT ASKED

A "buy now" campaign is to be begun tomorrow in Chapel Hill as a natural follow-up to the NRA drive, and is intended to help consumption of goods keep up with the increase in production.

The campaign is a nationwide one, but the local NRA committee is a bit late starting the drive here. The movement has been on over the nation since October, and both the national and local drives will last until December 31.

Merchants Cooperating

The merchants of Chapel Hill are co-operating fully in this movement; their shelves are full of merchandise. Also members of the NRA committee report that prices are quite reasonable, in many cases being lower than those in nearby towns.

The NRA committee wishes the co-operation of the students along with that of the townspeople and merchants. This will be necessary in order that the local campaign should be a thorough success.

Woollen, Croom, Barclay And Snyder Are Tar Heels' Main-Stays

Riddick Field, November 4—Carolina today vanquished a highly-touted N. C. State Wolfpack eleven 6-0 before a crowd of 10,000 Homecoming Day fans.

From the outset of the contest, the Tar Heels' superiority was marked. Early in the first quarter, Captain Bill Croom and Halfback Snyder conspired to carry the ball to the Tech 3-yard line where State held. But Carolina was not to be denied their well-earned victory.

Tar Heels Score in Second

Late in the second period the Tar Heels tallied. The march to the touchdown was paved when Jule Frankel rushing McQuade, blocked the kick which was partially recovered by George Barclay who knocked the ball out of bounds on the Wolfpack's 35-yard stripe.

A line play failed to gain, but on the next play, Don Jackson tossed a long pass to "Chuck" Woollen who wormed his way to the Tech's 15. Jackson got about a yard at the line, but Charlie Shaffer broke clear off tackle only to be forced out of bounds on the 3-yard line. After a brace of efforts at the line, George Moore ploughed his way (Continued on page three)
