

Carolina-Wake Forest Contest Takes Grid Spotlight Saturday

Tar Heels to Enter Contest as Favorites, but Deacons Noted For Fine Defensive Play.

SECOND TEAM SCRIMMAGES

Scrubs Nose Out Yearlings by Lone Touchdown in Close Practice Game.

With the Blue Devils and the Wolfpack on the road this weekend, the Carolina-Wake Forest contest will steal the headlines for grid play in the commonwealth. The Heels are carded to meet the Demon Deacons Saturday in Kenan stadium at 2:00 o'clock.

Carolina Favored

By virtue of their sensational mid-season play against both Georgia Tech and N. C. State, powerful Dixie elevens, the Carolina club will have the edge as favorites when the two teams clash Saturday. But the Demon Deacons are well known for the surperb defensive play and may be counted on to give the Collinsmen a real fight.

If Carolina should count an impressive victory over the Baptists, they will have set a real background for the annual gridiron struggle with Duke. The Blue Devils, of course, will have a heavy newspaper rating, but the scribes' doping means little when the intensive rivalry between the two institutions is renewed.

Scrubs Scrimmage

But back to the preparation for the Wake Forest game, Carolina took a heavy workout yesterday afternoon prepping themselves for their Saturday struggle. The second team scrimmaged the best the frosh could offer and had a hard time nosing out the yearlings in a regulation contest.

Acee McDonald and Jim McCachren led the varsity offense while Childers came in for some nice runs. Eddie Kahn, Gene Barwick, and Elmer "Jumbo" Barrett stood out in the line for the victors because of their sterling defensive play.

The scrimmage was given mainly to limber up those men who did not see much or any action against the Wolfpack last Saturday. The first stringers were given light limbering up exercises and were then ordered to their showers.

The Baptists will be headed in their invasion by a trio of fine backs, Martin, Russell, and Wilson. In the line, Wake Forest will offer Chetty, Swan and Hardee as their defensive bulwarks.

Girls' Tennis Tourney Will Start Tomorrow

The girl's tennis tournament will begin tomorrow and will end sometime next week. The first rounds must be played by Thursday night.

The first round matches may be played either tomorrow or Thursday, according to the scholastic schedule of the competitors. The semi-finals must be completed by Saturday night, and the finals by next Tuesday.

In each pairing the girl who wins five games out of nine will win the match. The winners of the matches are asked to post their names on the bulletin board in South building.

The pairings for the first round are as follows: Erika Zimmerman and Evelyn Page, Ruth Covington and Elsie Lawrence, Barbara Henderson and Doris Strange, Alice Erickson and Eileen Smith, Ida Winstead and Nancy Gordon, Barbara Holbrook and Betsy Wright, Margaret McCauley and Mary Williams.

ACT IN BEHALF OF HONOR SYSTEM

AROUND the FIELD

CAROLINA HAS THREE MORE games on its schedule which must be entered on the win side of the ledger. Wake Forest, Duke, and Virginia in that order are the remaining foes. The Deacons are always a tough nut and will offer stiff opposition this week. Duke is undefeated and rates with the elite this year. Virginia has a mystery club. Good against Columbia and the Navy and poor against Ohio State, V. M. I. and Maryland. Any Cavalier club can be counted on to play its best against Carolina though. Remember last year.

LOTS OF THINGS CAN HAPPEN in these next three games which can make this season a complete success. The team must continue to improve. Their spirit must increase and their determination to win must come along as it has since the opening whistle of the Georgia Tech game. But with the team, the students have got to reach new heights in their enthusiastic support. Our cheering and pep was one hundred per cent better last week than at any time in the last four years. It can be still better and I am confident that it will. Good cheering can do as much to win these next three games as anything else. As Coach Bob said, "That team needs you." I know they do and I am for them every one.

THE FUNNIEST REMARK OF the State game goes to one of Carolina's colored followers who had stowed away on the special. Between the halves as Barclay was leaving the field, one hilarious rooster stood up in his seat and yelled, "Ray, Captain Barclay." About ten rows behind him another happy Indian retorted, "Captain hell, that's the Governor."

BABE DANIEL ESTABLISHED himself as one of the outstanding centers in the south with his performance in the Georgia Tech game and he added to that record against State. Babe was in there on every play tackling and piling up the interference. His knee injury does little to slow him down and he stays in there at defensive guard with Barclay backing up the line. Sabol, State's center, is considered one of the best pivot men in the state, though it is his first year at the job, and to me Babe was the better man in that game Saturday. Some people wonder what happened at Florida when the 'Gator center broke up the punts. The Florida center, Ferrazi, would stay out of the line until Babe bent down to pass and then hop in and go up the center. Daniel couldn't locate him and wouldn't know which way to block. Not finding anyone ahead Babe would go on down under the kick. If Babe can turn in good games against Wake Forest and Duke he should have that all-state job sewed up.

NO DOUBLES MATCHES ARE PLAYED IN MEET

No matches were played yesterday in any round of Carolina's doubles tourney because of the inability of the various contestants to appear on the courts.

Most of the varsity players, however, engaged in a light workout. Coach Kenfield teamed with John McClinn battled against "Ike" Minor and Walter Levitan who are due to encounter "Ricky" Willis and Syd Sobol today.

12-EVENT TRACK MEET SCHEDULED

Big Open Field Tournament Will Be Run Off Friday, November 24.

A 12-event handicap track meet, open to all comers, will be held Friday afternoon, November 24, track coaches announced yesterday.

This meet will be open to all new men. All members of the varsity track squad who are not active members of the cross country and football squads are to enter this competition.

The following events are to be run off: 100 and 220 dashes, 440 and 880 runs, high and low hurdles, pole vault, high and broad jumps, shot putt, and discus and javelin throws.

Practice will be held daily for all the men who are going to compete in this handicap meet. Group practices are to begin at 3:15 and at 4:15. All members of the track squad are requested to report at one of these periods.

This handicap track meet is held not only to find and develop new material, but also to keep the old track men in spirit and in condition. In track, practice makes perfect. A man putting in nine months of practice within nine consecutive months is far better than a man putting in nine months' practice by three months for each of three years. All old men and also all new comers are urged to start practice for the meet.

Snakes Lick Z. B. T. To Top Frats

Lytle Scores Twice as Losers Fight Gamely; Phi Kappa Sigs Beat A. T. O.

Sigma Nu yesterday took the lead in the fraternity loop of intramural grid play by defeating Zeta Beta Tau 19-0.

The winners counted their first touchdown late in the second quarter when Griffith hurled a long pass to Glace who in turn tossed a lateral to Long for the score.

Lytle crossed the Z. B. T. goal line on a short pass from Griffith and then intercepted a pass to scamper 35 yards for the final tally. Griffith, Glace, and Lytle were the shining lights in the Sigma Nu attack while Lindeman and Sims starred for Zeta Beta Tau.

Zeta Psi Wins

Zeta Psi looked impressive in trimming Sigma Phi Epsilon 18-0. Zeta Psi registered its first touchdown when Hanff passed 35 yards to Harrison. Carlyle tallied in the second quarter on a 25 yard heave from Hanff.

Edgerton was on the receiving end of a long pass from Laxton for the final touchdown. Hanff, Harrison, and Edgerton were outstanding for Zeta Psi while Kimrey, Cline and Frazier shared the spotlight for the losers.

Phi Kappa Sigs Win

Phi Kappa Sigma counted its fourth win by handing A. T. O. its second loss of the season. Dossenbach and Queen bore the brunt of the winners' passing attack. Reid was credited with the first marker on a pass from J. Queen.

Queen ran 20 yards after receiving a pass from Dossenbach for the second six pointer and Queen passed to Reid standing uncovered over the goal for the last touchdown. J. Queen, Dossenbach and Reid featured for Phi Kappa Sigma while Blanton and Stimpson stood out for A. T. O.

Sectional Schedule Might Hurt Duke's Grid Hopes

Princeton's Chances Are Also Questioned Because of Sectional Gridiron Schedule; Six Undeclared Eastern Leaders Fall Last Saturday; Devils May Come Through.

Favored elevens, contending for the national football title, dwindled to a mere handful when the result of last weekend's gridiron activities were made known. This group is now headed by Georgia and Duke in Dixie; Army, Princeton, and Duquesne in the east, Michigan and Nebraska in the midwest; Oregon, Oregon State, and Southern California in the far west.

Unless they, alone, should reach the end of their football campaigns unbeaten and untied, neither Duke which plays an all-southern schedule, nor Princeton, which meets eastern rivals exclusively, will be able to gain national honors and the west coast teams' schedules are so arranged that only one of this leading trio can possibly emerge unscathed.

Eastern Teams Fall

Hardly within the shallow memories of mankind have so many hopes for championships toppled into the dust on a single afternoon as they did Saturday. In the east, six elevens found themselves ousted from the roster of unbeaten grid teams.

St. Mary's Victorious

Carnegie Tech, Holy Cross, and George Washington were dumped in the heap of beaten teams. But the biggest upset, from the eastern standpoint, was Fordham's 13-6 defeat at the hands of the St. Mary's Gaels.

Navy Sets Records

And the eastern supporters came in for their share of sly smiles as Navy downed Notre Dame 7-0. It was a record-breaker, setting up three new records. It was Navy's first win over Notre Dame; it was the first time in Notre Dame gridiron history that one of its fine elevens should go down in defeat three times on successive week-ends; it was the first time that Notre Dame had ever been held scoreless on three consecutive Saturdays.

Georgia, Duke Win

Georgia continued its victory-march by sweeping aside Florida 14-0 while Duke, the other potential Dixie gridiron leader knocked aside Auburn 13-7. But Alabama, Vanderbilt, Louisiana State, and Ole Miss are still mathematical potential leaders for the southern titles.

California and U. C. L. A. both deadlocked to a scoreless tie while Southern California and the other Pacific coast title-contending clubs had the day off.

Hines Is Number Four In 1933 Tennis Ranking

The 1933 rankings of the Intercollegiate Lawn Tennis committee, subject to the ratification of the U. S. L. T., find Wilmer Hines, former Carolina tennis star, ranked as number 4.

The first position was awarded to Jack Tidball of the University of California. It will be recalled by tennis fans that Tidball defeated H. Ellsworth Vines, recent addition to the professional ranks, in the Pacific-southwest tournament, and by that victory won national prominence.

The University of Texas romped off with the honor of having the most men listed in the first twelve ranking stars. The rankings:

1. Jack Tidball, U. C. L. A.
2. Richard T. Murphy, Hamilton College.
3. Karl Kamrath, U. of Texas.
4. Wilmer Hines, U. of N. C.
5. Al Horton, Williams College.
6. Martyn Buxby, U. of Texas.
7. Joseph Coughlin, Stanford.
8. Elliot Loughlin, Navy.
9. William S. Eese, Georgia Tech.
10. Sterling Williams, U. of Texas.
11. Marco Hecht, U. of Pennsylvania.
12. Hal Surface, U. of Texas.

Intramural Wrestling Will Get Under Way

All students who are interested in intramural wrestling are requested to report at the Tin Can and have their names recorded as soon as possible.

This field of intramurals is open to all students except those who have won freshman numerals and those who have taken part in varsity competition. November 22 is the date set for the contest and it has been suggested that all men come out and see what they can do on the mat.

The proper means of loafing will be the object of attainment in a new course of instruction offered this fall at Butler University, Indianapolis. — Pender Exponent.

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM AT WORK FOR DUKE MEET

Varsity Harriers Will Be Seeking Third Consecutive Win in Match with Blue Devils.

With two hops to success already behind them, the varsity cross country men are working hard in preparation for the Southern Conference champion Duke team and also have their eyes set on the conference championship for this year.

To date the harriers have a very enviable record. They have turned back both Florida and N. C. State by over-whelming scores. They scored a perfect run against State this past Saturday over a muddy course. But both of these teams are comparatively easy to the strong Duke crew.

Against Florida both the Sullivans and Curlee tied for first place. At State Louis Sullivan and Williamson tied for first honors. All the rest of the men have done some fine running in these two meets.

Coach Ranson announces that set work-outs will be used from now on. Every man must put everything he has into his work, if the team is to get by the fast Duke team and then clinch the Southern Conference championship.

This Saturday the freshman runners will meet the cross country squad from High Point high school. Coach Ranson announces that he will run two squads or sixteen men in two meets with the High Point boys.
