

STUDENTS MUST REGISTER TODAY FOR SCHOLARSHIP

Applications for Rhodes Awards Must Be Turned in to Dean Hobbs' Office Today.

ELECTIONS IN JANUARY

Applications for the Cecil Rhodes scholarships must be turned in to Dean A. W. Hobbs' office some time today, as they can not be entered later than this date.

Each year four male citizens who have completed at least their sophomore year in college are selected from each of eight sections of the United States by a nation-wide competitive procedure to receive scholarships tenable at the University of Oxford.

The competition will take place in every state in the union. The 48 states are divided into eight districts of six states each. A committee from each state will nominate two men to appear before the district committee, and from these 12 proposed men the district committee will select four candidates to represent their section.

Will Enter Oxford

The elections will take place January 2, 4, and 6, 1934, and the candidates chosen at that time will enter Oxford University in the fall of the year.

Candidates are selected on the basis of character, literary and scholastic attainments, qualities of manhood, and physical vigor. In addition they must have completed their second year in college, must be unmarried, and must be United States citizens, and

(Continued on last page)

ONE-ACT DRAMAS ARE TO BE CAST

Try-outs for Four Experimental Plays Will Be Conducted by Playmakers Today.

Thirty-two parts will be cast at the Playmaker try-outs to be held in the Playmaker theatre at 4:00 and 7:30 o'clock today.

The plays and parts are as follows: "Sing Your Own Song" by Nat Farnworth, one male and two female parts; "Shadows of Industry" by Vermont C. Royster, six male parts; "Everglades and Hickory" by John Alexander, ten male and one female parts; "The Head-Axe of Ingfel" by Ann Walters, 12 male parts.

The first three of these one-act dramas were written this fall in Professor Koch's playwriting course, and the last one was written this summer in Koch's class at the University of Colorado.

These plays will be carefully worked over before they are presented December 7, 8, and 9. Samuel Selden and Harry Davis, who will direct this production, will conduct the try-out for the plays, the scripts of which are on reserve in the library.

FOURTEEN ILL

The following students were confined to the University infirmary yesterday: Sterry Branning, R. L. Barnhardt, Lydia Daniels, C. B. Fletcher, Elizabeth Grant, Vida Miller, Margaret McDonald, H. A. Payne, L. W. Smith, Wilson Shelton, F. X. Stanley, H. W. Scott, J. H. Von Cannon, and J. V. Woodard.

Sponsors Of Pep Demonstration To Urge Attendance Of Co-eds

Janitor Found Dead From Heart Attack

George Burnett, Negro janitor of Phillips hall, was found dead this morning at 8:20 o'clock in room 355 Phillips.

It could not be ascertained when Burnett died. He apparently had a heart attack while cleaning the room. He had been an employee of the University for a number of years.

Burnett is survived by his wife and his brother, who is janitor of Steele dormitory.

FAMED ORGANIST WILL PLAY HERE

Shure Gives Program Wednesday Including His Composition "Through Palestine."

Ralph Deane Shure, American composer and organist, who will play here Wednesday evening, November 15, has received wide acclaim for the composition he will play, "Through Palestine." The concert has been reported to be tremendously effective by music critics throughout the country.

A critical discussion and praise of Shure's music appeared in the February issue of "The American Organist." The music is played at the same time that a narrator reads the passages that inspired the music.

Expresses Songs

Shure, a modernist and an impressionist, chooses not to write songs but to express the songs through the organ music. With the organist concealed as well as the narrator, the lights dim, the music, mystical in quality and impressionistic in vein, has been said to create literally a new sensation in emotional effect.

The music fraternity, Phi Mu Alpha, is bringing Shure to the University in a concert that represents the first venture of this group in an effort to sponsor well established American composers and musicians. The proceeds of this concert will go to the benefit of the University Glee club.

HART WILL SPEAK BEFORE CABINETS

Dr. John R. Hart of the University of Pennsylvania will speak at a combined meeting of the University Y. M. C. A. cabinets in Gerrard hall next Monday at 7:15 o'clock. His subject will be "The Place and Function of Religion in Modern College Life."

The cabinets will also discuss the proposed amendment to the "Y" constitution that the membership of the organization be enlarged to include all students of the University.

Dr. Hart will also speak at the freshman assembly Monday and Tuesday. Subjects for his speeches to the freshmen convocations have not been announced.

Smokers Total 500

All of the ten University dormitories have met for smokers in Graham Memorial during the current year with a total attendance of approximately 500. Each has had the use of the game room for an hour after the meeting.

University Club Members to Be Ready to Escort Females To the Rally.

HOWARD, ROBERSON SPEAK

Entire Tar Heel Football Team To Sit on Stage During Festivities.

In a supreme effort to turn out the entire student body for one of the largest pep meetings of the year in Memorial hall tonight at 8:00 o'clock, the sponsors of the rally have made extensive plans to have the co-ed faction in its entirety present to lead the hearty male voices in rousing songs and thundering cheers.

Members of the University club have been delegated to appear before the co-eds at both their noon-day meal and their evening repast to explain the purpose and the vital necessity of their being present at this hilarious convocation. A few minutes before 8:00 o'clock tonight Franklin street in front of the Shack will be lined with automobiles waiting to escort the young ladies personally to the gigantic gathering. It is hoped that a few soprano and contralto notes mingled with the baritones and deep basses will produce an even sweeter melody than before.

Team to Attend

The entire football squad will sit on the stage in a body, and it is rumored that some members will be called upon to say a few words. Dr. Foy Roberson of Durham, one of the most brilliant

(Continued on last page)

New Light Shed On Old Carolina "Kissing Tree" Found In Arboretum

Co-eds Pretend Ignorance of Venerated Trysting Place but Staff Member Discovers That Even Squirrels Have Learned To Use Romantic Setting Effectively.

The Kissing Tree! The spot where new loves have begun and where old loves have been renewed. The tree around which the spirits of other lovers are always hovering to bestow their blessing on each couple who visit the tree.

Yeah—but where is this Kissing Tree? It is not the old Davie Poplar, is it? To be sure, it isn't old Davie or any other tree in the center of the campus. A tree where sweethearts meet and kiss and renew promises would quite properly be in a more secluded spot.

Though many people know nothing of the Kissing Tree, and co-eds slyly deny knowledge of its existence, there is such a tree on the campus. It is a willow which stands in the arboretum just to the rear of Howell hall in a spot which has been the scene of more than one scorching party for two. From the point of view of this willow the word "neck" is certainly a verb and not a noun.

Nature Is Kind

"Neckademically" speaking, the Kissing Tree is most favorably located. It grows beside one of the smaller, less-frequented paths, bordered on one side by thick shrubs and on the other side by a clump of magnolia trees. It so happens that the spot around the Kissing Tree lies out of range of the searchlights which shine from the roof of Spencer hall.

Tradition has it that the spot

SCIENTIFIC GROUP HAS CELEBRATION OF ANNIVERSARY

Elisha Mitchell Society to Have Program Celebrating 50th Birthday November 14.

GRAHAM OPENS PROGRAM

A program celebrating the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Elisha Mitchell Scientific society will be presented in Gerrard hall Tuesday night, November 14, at 8:00 o'clock. This will be the first celebration of its kind to be sponsored by the society since its founding at the University in 1883.

Frank Porter Graham, president of the University, will deliver the opening address. Other speakers on the program will be: Dr. Archibald Henderson, Kenan professor of mathematics; Dr. William C. Coker, Kenan professor of botany; and Dr. Ivey F. Lewis, professor of biology in the University of Virginia.

Dr. Lewis Main Speaker

Dr. Lewis will present the main address of the evening. He is an alumnus of the University having received his A. B. degree here in 1902 and his master's degree in science in 1903. During his career at the University he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, editor of the Carolina Magazine, and the president of the Athletic association. He has taught at the University of Virginia, where he is now head of the biology department, since 1915. A dinner will be given in his honor

(Continued on last page)

University Club Prepares Plans For Wake Forest Rally Tonight

Professor Kennedy To Present Concert

Nelson O. Kennedy of the University department of music will present an organ vesper concert Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock in Hill Music hall.

The recital will be the second in a series of concerts planned for this season by Professor Kennedy. The program for Sunday is as follows: "Suite from Water Music," Handel; "Autumn Sketch," Brewer; and "Second Symphony," Widor.

HART TO ADDRESS FRESHMAN CLASS

Pennsylvania Professor Will Be First Speaker on Assembly Schedule for Week.

Freshman assembly speakers next week will be Dr. John R. Hart, Dean W. C. Jackson, and W. A. Olsen, it was announced yesterday from the office of the dean of students.

Dr. John R. Hart, from the University of Pennsylvania, will speak to the convocation Monday and Tuesday. He has been brought to Chapel Hill under the auspices of the University Y. M. C. A. The subjects of his two addresses are as yet unannounced.

Wednesday at 10:30 o'clock the freshmen are scheduled to meet with their respective deans.

Jackson Speaks Thursday

Dr. W. C. Jackson, dean of the University school of public administration, will talk Thursday morning. Jackson will be remembered by those who heard his speech last year on "Hobbies and Great Men" as a pleasing and interesting speaker.

On Friday the assemblies for the week will be concluded with a talk by William A. Olsen of the English department.

The following Monday, November 20, the freshman class will start the process of organizing itself by nominating class officers. Tuesday they will hear the freshman candidates for offices expound on their platforms.

BIRTH OF LUTHER TO BE OBSERVED

All Lutheran students and any others interested in taking part in a commemoration of the birth of Martin Luther 450 years ago on November 10 will meet Sunday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock in Gerrard hall. This is a part of the world-wide celebration of the birth of the founder of Protestantism.

At this meeting Dr. E. C. Metzenthin of the German department will speak on Luther as the most influential German. He is well qualified to discuss the famous religious leader, having studied Lutheran theology at the Universities of Leipzig and of Berlin. He has also visited the town of Wittenberg on the Elbe river, where Luther was a professor when Tetzel came through selling indulgences, and where on the doors of the church, he posted his 95 theses starting his reformatory movement.

Dr. Metzenthin was also selected at the University of Pennsylvania to make the feature address for the fourth centenary celebration of the Protestant Reformation.

(Continued on last page)

Demonstration Will Take Place At Memorial Hall at 8:00 O'clock.

GROUP SEEKING 'RAMESES'

Mascot Ram Expected to Figure Prominently in Rally If In the Mood.

Plans for a pep rally tonight for the Wake Forest football game were made at a meeting of the University club in Graham Memorial last night.

In addition, arrangements were made for the entertainment of the Wake Forest team during the time it will be in Chapel Hill. A committee of members of the club was named to entertain the visiting players.

The rally will take place in Memorial hall at 8:00 o'clock tonight. The program is to include brief pep speeches by members of the football team and men connected with University athletics. Also the cheerers will lead cheering and sing with the two Tar Heel battle tunes.

Looking for Ram

In connection with the plans for the rally, the University club is definitely on the trail of a "Rameses" to symbolize the rejuvenated Carolina spirit. If the animal is in the mood, he will figure prominently in the demonstrations.

The club has made special plans for a large attendance of co-eds at the rally tonight. The entire body of co-eds will be escorted in cars from Spencer to Memorial hall by members of the club and volunteers.

Plans were begun also last

(Continued on last page)

LECTURER URGES SUPPORT OF NRA

Dr. Zimmermann Declares That President Should Be Backed In Lowering Costs.

"I feel strongly that the President should be supported in his policy," said Dr. Erich W. Zimmermann last night in speaking on "The International Aspects of the National Recovery Program." This was the fifth lecture in the series on the NRA sponsored by the school of commerce, the law school, and the sociology department.

Dr. Zimmermann stated the belief that the philosophy behind the NRA is the hope that it will eventually lower the cost of production although at present, through higher wages, it is raising the cost of production in order to cause a greater purchasing power.

Must Protect Industry

"If labor in a certain industry is put under certain regulations, then we must protect that industry from competition with an industry in a country where the conditions of labor are entirely different," stated Dr. Zimmermann in regard to the tariff. He also mentioned that he believed the United States will stabilize the dollar when the appropriate time comes.

At the lecture next Thursday night Dr. T. J. Woolter of the sociology department, who has been a member of the staff working on the details of the plan which the Tennessee Valley Authority is to carry out, will speak on the subject, "The Tennessee Valley Project."