FROSH ALLOWED AT GRAIL DANCE

Last Dance of Quarter Scheduled For Tonight in Bynum Gym; Johnnie Long to Play.

The Order of the Grail has scheduled the fourth and last in its series of dances for the quarter tonight in the Bynum gymnasium. According to Walter Groover, chairman of the Grail dance committee, first-year men will be permitted to attend the dance this evening.

Freshmen were allowed to the first dance of the year, but were banned from the second and third. It has been the custom in past years not to have freshmen at any of the dances given by this organization.

The organization has engaged Johnnie Long and his Duke Collegians to play for the affair. This is the fourth engagement that Long has filled here this year. He has also played for the co-ed dance, the Grail dance following this, and for the Phi Delta Theta pledge dance.

Tickets are on sale at the Book Exchange and at Pritchard-Lloyd's. The dance will last from 9:00 to 12:00 o'clock.

No Date Scheduled For Trial Renewal

The DAILY TAR HEEL was informed yesterday in a letter from Edward Murray, clerk of the North Carolina supreme court, that no information is available on the renewal of the case of Thomas R. Hocutt, Negro, against the University.

Hocutt filed suit against the University last spring in an effort to secure a writ of mandamus compelling the authorities to admit him into the school of pharmacy, but his petition was rejected by the supreme court of Durham county. The program of the North Carolina agency for the Advancement of the Colored Race provides for carrying the case on through the state supreme court.

M'CARTHY SPEAKS TO GEOLOGY FRAT

History of Ancient and Mystery-Shrouded Divining Rod Is Subject of Address.

Dr. G. R. MacCarthy addressed Sigma Gamma Epsilon, geological fraternity, Thursday on "The History and Use of the Divining Rod." He said that from early medieval times this crude instrument, about which so much superstition clings, has been used to locate gold, water, and other hidden deposits.

Dr. MacCarthy demonstrated the use of the implement, simply a forked stick, usually made of peach or hazel wood. It is gripped firmly by these forks and after a time the hands are forced toward the ground. The theory is that when the hands are thus forced down that the particular matter being searched for has been located. In reality the subconscious mind controls the stick, the tension caused by gripping the handles causing the muscles to contract.

The instrument was used by the British during the world war to discover water behind the trenches. Only one time did the rod fail. Dr. MacCarthy voiced the opinion that the reason for this was that it would be hard to dig below the surface in France and fail to strike water.

The scientific world discredits the use of the apparatus, but it is still in use in many parts of the world including the United States.

DUKE GIVES BANQUET TO HONORARY ORDERS

Dr. Foy Robertson States Belief That Tar Heels Will Win Remaining Games.

About 1000 students gathered last night in Memorial hall to cheer the rejuvenated Carolina team into a winning spirit for the Wake Forest game this afternoon.

At 8:00 o'clock the bells in old South building started to ring beckoning the campus to the rally. From that moment on there was hardly a silent moment in Memorial hall until the meeting broke up.

Led by a rabid rooter seated amongst a group of co-eds in the third row, the assemblage gave the team a rousing welcome by singing "Tar Heels on Hand" as it came on the platform. Everybody had caught the spirit of the rally by this time, and Ernest Hunt had them yelling lustily all the way through.

The co-eds came to the meeting in large groups, and helped

Limberger And Peanut Butter Wed In Indigestible Sandwich-Union

Students and Restaurateurs Concoct Stomach-Turning Combinations for Midnight Snacks; Hot Dogs and Dopes Appear to Be Losing in Popularity.

"Shirred eggs. First man to make them spilled them on his shirt, and called them 'shirt' eggs." So saying Ernest of the New Deal Cafe beat a hasty retreat into the culinary sanctum sanctorum.

He emerged later a bit sheepishly and offered in way of atonement for his pun, a description of his favorite sandwich. A four or five decker; one layer ham and lettuce; another bacon and tomato; third layer creamed cheese and olives; and the whole mess drenched in olive oil and Tabasco sauce. He added that a glass of beer is a great help in conducting said gastronomical delicacy down the alimentary canal and into the stomach. The beer will also drown any murmurings of revolt that the stomach may have on receiving such food.

Ugh! Ugh!

Harry "New Deal" gets into the spirit of varied diet with a hopeless sandwich consisting of fried potatoes, onions, ham, eggs lettuce and tomato. Charlie, Harry's diminutive aide-de-camp, won't be bothered with a sandwich. He takes a bowl and pours into it stewed prunes and apples, cake, doughnuts, and

RED CROSS ROLL CALL BEGINS NOW

Annual Drive for Contributions Is Launched Today; Chapel Hill Quota Is 600.

The annual Red Cross roll call begins today and will continue until Thanksgiving.

Last year the Chapel Hill roll call drive obtained 620 members, and $750 in money. Of the money subscribed 50 cents per member, or $310 in all, was sent in to the national organization. From the national headquarters the local chapter got about $14,000 worth of services and supplies. From these figures it can be seen that the Red Cross gives big returns to Chapel Hill for the amount contributed.

Quota Set at 600

This year the Chapel Hill quota is set at 600 members, but the local group hopes to pass this mark by nearly a hundred members. They also hope to better their last year record in money subscribed.

Many young people have been engaged in Red Cross work, especially those skilled in first-aid, domestic science, or social work, and for this reason are urged to contribute not only a part of their money but also a part of their time and energies.

Plan Would Give Full Powers to Council In Honor Cases.

Recommendations that the faculty allow all cases arising under the honor system to be administered by the student council were presented by the faculty executive committee to the president's office, it was announced yesterday. The faculty will consider the matter at a coming faculty meeting.

Notices of the recommendation made by the executive group were sent out by Robert B. House to all the University officials November 9, together with the announcement of the Armistice Day program.

Plan an Experiment

The executive committee suggested that, as an experiment during the coming school year, all cases coming up under the honor system be administered by the student council. The proposed plan was drawn up in order to give unqualified support to student self-government at the University.

The notice quoted from the letter sent to the University faculty is as follows: "The executive committee recommends to the faculty that, as an experiment during the remainder of the year 1933-34, all cases arising under the honor system be administered by the student council. This recommendation is occasioned by the unanimous request of the members of the student council, and is an expression of a desire to give unqualified support to the current undergraduate movement towards effective self-government."
