

STUDENTS OFFER ORIGINAL DRAMA PROGRAMS TODAY

Playmakers to Present Second Bill of Experimentals in Two Performances.

SEVEN PLAYS SCHEDULED

The Carolina Playmakers will present their second bill of experimental plays to an invited audience today at 4:00 and 7:30 o'clock in the Playmakers theatre.

Seven plays, written in Professor Koch's playwriting course, will comprise the program. James Thompson has written a satiric comedy, "Grand Slam." The cast is: Mrs. London, Margaret Siceloff; Frank London, Carl Thompson; Virginia, Kathleen Krahenbuhl; William, Nat Farnworth; Patsy, Virginia Dean.

"Copper Penny"

The cast of "Copper Penny" by Robert Hume is as follows: Laura, Patsy McMullen; Mrs. Peters, Margaret Gaines; Jim Bentley, Howard Hoyt; Teddy Rogers, Robert Leeper.

"Bought with the Vittles" by Alton Williams is a dude ranch comedy. The cast is: Mrs. Riley, Joyce Killingsworth; Slim, John Walker; Babe, Sybille Berwanger; Larry, Nat Farnworth; Bruce Wilson, Jimmy Thompson; Betty Wilson, Virginia Dean.

The cast of "Opposite Poles" by Margaret Siceloff is as follows: Virginia Burnham, Margaret Siceloff.

(Continued on last page)

STATE BAR HEAD WILL TALK HERE

First President of New State Bar to Address Law Students Here Today.

I. M. Bailey of Raleigh, president of the incorporated state bar, will speak in the first year classroom of Manning hall at 12:00 o'clock tomorrow. His subject will be "The Plans of the New State Bar."

Bailey, who for several years was counsel for the corporation commission and is now engaged in private practice, was chairman of the special committee of the North Carolina Bar association whose efforts led to the enactment by the 1933 general assembly of the law incorporating the state bar.

Is First President

His election last October as the first president of the new incorporated state bar reflects his leadership in the movement.

Under the statute of incorporation the lawyers of the state become a self-governing group. The power to prescribe educational qualifications for admission to the bar and to give state bar examinations is transferred from the Supreme court to the new state bar.

Likewise, the appropriate committees of the new state bar are now to have charge of disbarment proceedings.

It is expected that Bailey's address will relate particularly to the plans which the council has worked out since it was set up in October, and should be of special interest to law students for the bar examinations to be given next January will be the first to be conducted by this new agency.

UPPER CLASSMEN REGISTER TODAY

Juniors, Seniors and Graduates Whose Names Begin with L Through Z to Enroll.

Juniors, seniors, and graduate students whose names begin with L through Z will register for the winter quarter today in the offices of the deans of the various schools, along with pharmacy students, and seniors in the schools of chemical engineering, civil engineering, electrical engineers, and mechanical engineers.

Pharmacy students who did not register yesterday must do so today. Seniors in chemical engineering register with Dr. White any time today in Venable hall; civil engineers, any time today with Professor Trimble in Phillips hall; electrical engineers, any time today with Professor Lear in Phillips hall; and mechanical engineers, any time today with Professor Hofer in Phillips hall.

Permits to Register

All students must secure a permit to register from the office of the University registrar in South building before attempting to sign up for courses for the winter. Juniors and

(Continued on page three)

Man Chisels A.T.O. House Out Of Meal

A new racket has made its appearance at the Hill. An unknown German showed up the other day at the A. T. O. house, and on the strength of his nerve chiseled a meal out of the unsuspecting brethren.

It seems that he just walked in the door, sat down at the table, and started to eat his fill, keeping up an animated conversation during the course of the meal. No one knew where he was from, or who he was. None of the unsuspecting brothers said anything, because they were all under the assumption that he was invited by one of their number.

After the meal, he coolly bummed a cigarette and went on his way.

STUDENT COUNCIL CHASTISES FOUR

Favors Proposal for Change in P. U. Board Membership.

At a meeting of the council Monday night, the seven members present voted in favor of upholding the proposal of President Bill Eddleman of the Publications Union board advocating the rotation of faculty members of the board and the appointment of two new faculty representatives by President Frank Graham.

Several cases were brought before the council. Three students were put on conduct probation for throwing milk bottles in Steele dormitory. Another student was also placed on conduct probation for disturbance in New Dorms.

Fate Falls Fifteen

The following students were confined to the University infirmary yesterday: W. E. Armstrong, R. L. Bolton, DeWitt Carroll, J. E. Cay, J. A. Farmer, T. A. Hinson, J. S. Johnson, Elsie Lawrence, Jack Lynch, C. C. McDade, Jr., George Malone, Thelma Powers, S. I. Roberts, M. B. Sapp, and Katherine Williams.

TWO NEW SCIENCE COURSES OFFERED WINTER QUARTER

Emory and MacCarthy to Conduct Electives on Geography.

Dr. W. F. Prouty, head of the geology department, announced yesterday that two new courses, "Geography of North America" and "The Why and Wherefore of the Weather," will be offered as general electives in science for the winter quarter.

Professor S. T. Emory will teach "Geography of North America," geology 57. The course was given for the first time during the winter quarter of last year, and met with such success that it is being given again this year. The work deals with the resources and geographical influences that effect the development of the country.

"The Why and Wherefore of the Weather," a course on meteorology listed in the catalogue as geology 45, will be taught by Professor Gerald R. MacCarthy. This will be the third year that this course has been offered.

As its title suggests, it deals with atmospheric conditions, giving an insight into the causes behind every day phenomena in the weather. Knowledge of the sort offered by this study is becoming increasingly important in aerial navigation.

Frosh Mob Meets

There will be a meeting of the freshman executive committee tonight in 214 Graham Memorial at 7:30 o'clock. All of the thirty-four members are urged to be present.

Many Attractive Articles Offered By Shops For Christmas Presents

Eternal Problem of Yuletide Gifts Can Be Solved by Purchasing From Chapel Hill Merchants; Suitable Remembrances For Friends and Family Available.

Archie the cockroach hopped from one typewriter key to another, and succeeded in writing down the story of Mehitabel. It has been rumored that Don Marquis had something to do with the tale; but whoever is responsible for it, the story is an interesting one and is on display at the Bull's Head.

Phillips Russell's new book, "William the Conqueror" is also at the University bookshop, and on request will be autographed by the author. Poetry, novels, biographies and children's books offer a variety for those who wish to give books for Christmas.

Useful and Ornamental

Books are not the only solution to the problem of choosing Christmas presents. Alfred Williams has a wide diversity of articles including jewelry, books, ashtrays, and stationery. There is a large sized globe exhibited in the store, and with a little imagination and a screw-driver it could well be used to double advantage: to teach the children geography; and to shake cocktails in. If the north pole were removed, beverages could readily be poured and shaken up, and if a hole were bored in the side, the finished product might be poured out through the tropic of Cancer.

For mother, sister, or the girlfriend, Pritchard-Lloyd and Eubanks offer cosmetics, perfumes, and candies; and for brother or

LIBRARY ACQUIRES NEW WORKS FROM BRITISH MUSEUM

File from Sprunt Collection Exchanged for New Additions.

In exchange for a file of the James Sprunt Historical Studies the University library has received some interesting books and portfolios of plates from the British museum.

One of these books, a large folio volume, "The Sculptures of the Parthenon," contains descriptive text and approximately one hundred plates showing the east and west pediments, metopes, and friezes. There are also illustrations in the text giving details of the sculptures. Not only the "Elgin Marbles" are included, but all accessible fragments of the Parthenon sculptures.

Two other large portfolios, "Specimens of Etching by German Masters, 1475-1575" containing twenty-five prints by Durer, Hopfer, and others, and "Specimens of Etching by Italian Masters, 1525-1550," by Mazzuoli, Barocci, Reni, and others have been received. The originals of these prints are in the British museum.

Some illustrated catalogues of English porcelain, English pottery, and early Christian, medieval, and later finger rings have been received.

There is also a catalogue of Cypriote and Etruscan sculpture, a four volume "Catalogue of Drawings by British Artists" that is not illustrated, an author and subject "List of Books in the Reading Room of the British Museum."

SENATE CHOOSES BLACKWELL HEAD

Di Elects Law Student President for Winter Quarter; Oettinger for Spring.

The Di senate went through a stormy two hour and a half session last night in the election of officers for the winter quarter.

The following were elected: Winfield Blackwell, president for the winter quarter; Elmer Oettinger, president for the spring quarter; Mason Gibbs, president pro-tem; Ernest Hunt, critic; Thomas Crowell, clerk; J. S. Gentry, sergeant-at-arms. In all cases two or more men were proposed for office.

The meeting was prolonged by an attempt on the part of two of the senators to play a practical joke on Bill Eddleman, president of the senate for the fall quarter. Eddleman relinquished the chair early in the meeting to G. B. Gentry. As the meeting progressed, Gentry refused to turn the chair back over to the president. Furious argument ended in the good-natured return of Eddleman's "throne."

At this meeting final reports, all of which were accepted, were made.

Fetzer Will Handle Grid Entertainment

R. A. Fetzer, director of athletics, will have complete charge of the stadium and entertainments at football games in the future, it was announced yesterday by the Athletic council.

Criticism regarding such spectacles as the one which occurred between the halves of the Carolina-Virginia game this fall, when rabbits and other animals were let loose on the playing field and chased by a rabble of Negro boys, caused the action of the council.

It was not foreseen by the student organization in charge of the festivities at the annual classic that unfavorable criticism about the show would result. It was planned as added entertainment for the large holiday crowd that gathered to watch the Tar Heels engage in their last battle of the season.

SOPHS WILL ELECT SECRETARY TODAY

Billy Yandell and Phillips Russell are Opposing Candidates.

The election of a secretary by the sophomore class will take place this morning in Gerrard hall at 10:30 o'clock. The meeting will last only five or ten minutes.

Four men were nominated by the class last week and at the election later no candidate received a majority. However, two nominees, Billy Yandell and Phillips Russell, polled the highest number of votes and will oppose each other in the runoff vote today.

The necessity of electing a secretary was caused by the failure of Vance Young of Charlotte, elected to the position last spring, to return to school.

President Morty Ellisburg yesterday urged all members of the second-year class to attend the meeting this morning. At the previous election, approximately half of the sophomores were present.

BOARD CONVENES TO TAKE ACTION IN AUDIT MATTER

Publications Union Board to Decide This Morning Question Of Entering System.

CONCERNS BANK ACCOUNT

The Publications Union board will meet this morning in Bingham hall at 10:30 o'clock to discuss and take final action on the question of placing the account of the board in the Student Audit system.

Two meetings have been held recently for the discussion of this matter but no definite results have been accomplished. According to Bill Eddleman, president, action will be taken before the holidays.

Further steps were taken yesterday and Monday in the investigation by two members of the board and other publications men conducted in the interest of student representation on the board. Proposals presented by Eddleman and Phil Hammer were discussed by each editor and members of every staff. Both stipulated the appointment of two new faculty members to the board.

Postpone Proposal

It was decided to postpone the presentation of any proposal to President Frank Graham regarding the plans until it has been constructed as agreeable to the various editors. The action began as a result of a general feeling among publications

(Continued on last page)

MAGAZINE MAKES ITS APPEARANCE

Articles Show Wide Range in Issue of the Carolina Magazine Tomorrow.

Featuring a balanced array of articles, fiction, non-fiction, and poetry, the fifth issue of the year of the Carolina Magazine will make its appearance on the campus tomorrow morning.

The lead article, "Turn Back the Pages," by Edith Harbour, is subtitled "A Revelation of Men and Manners," and deals with old days at the University. In the foreword, the author states that "history . . . refutes the generally accepted theory that the college youth of the present day is headed straight for hell."

Woodcut by Dendy

On the front page is featured a woodcut sent from Washington, N. C., by Jack Dendy, who last year was a contributor to the Magazine.

Fiction in the publication includes "Their First Quarrel," by Cecil K. Carmichael; "Four Athletes," by Joe Sugarman; "The Return of Mr. Fewster," by Virgil Lee; and "A Picture Taken from Coffee County, Alabama," by Rachel Crook.

As a part of the series of articles on North Carolina cities, A. T. Dill has written "The Glory That Was," subtitled "The Portrait of a City."

Poetry by A. T. Dill, Richard Chase, and Walter Terry is included in the issue. Two editorials and Joe Sugarman's regular column, "Book Marks," appear on the editorial page. Carl G. Thompson reviews "Over Here," volume five of "Our Times," by Mark Sullivan.