

WAR PSYCHOLOGY SUBJECT OF TALK BEFORE CABINETS

"No Evidence That Man Is Predisposed to War by His Environment," Says Bagby.

"CONTROL PROPAGANDA"
Dr. English Bagby of the psychology department spoke to the combined sophomore and junior-senior Y. M. C. A. cabinets last night on "The Psychology of War."

"There is not one shred of evidence that man is predisposed to war by his environment," stated Dr. Bagby. "But training and experience through many years send men into armed conflicts," he said.

Propaganda

Speaking about the influences of propaganda in forcing people into war, Bagby stated that the movies, the press, and orators produce emotional attitudes which cause individuals to enter into conflicts.

"If the movies could be brought under control, peace would be made safe for the world," the psychology professor suggested along with other methods to combat falsehoods set forth by governments to influence citizens to fight.

Dr. Bagby's introductory remarks were followed by a discussion among members of the group of the topic.

The subject was the first of a series of fall quarter programs on the causes and consequences of war.

At the next session of the cabinets, Dr. R. B. Vance, sociology professor, is scheduled to aid in the consideration of "Capitalism and War" in the junior-senior group. The sophomore cabinet discussion will be introduced by George MacFarland.

Offers Turned Down

The producers of "Heaven Bound" have received offers to perform in New York, at the Chicago world fair, and at other northern and western cities. These offers have all been turned down because the actors, who are teachers, preachers, cooks, and chauffeurs around Shelby, feel unable to give up their jobs long enough to go on tour.

Violet Thomas, who is supervisor of the Cleveland county Negro schools, is the director of the pageant and the author of the version of "Heaven Bound" used by her troupe.
