

TWO PROFESSORS WILL GIVE TALKS BEFORE CABINETS

Woodhouse to Speak to Sophomore Cabinet; Ericson Will Address Junior-Seniors.

DISCUSSIONS TO FOLLOW

The upper Y. M. C. A. cabinets will hear Dr. Eston Everett Ericson of the English department and Professor E. J. Woodhouse of the government department at their regular meetings tomorrow night, at 7:15 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Ericson will speak before the junior-senior group on the subject of Socialism as a cure for war. He will attempt to show how armed conflicts are caused by economic systems and practices used at the present time.

Professor Woodhouse will discuss the "Danger Points in the World Today Where Wars Might Start" before the sophomore cabinet.

Ericson's First Appearance

The meetings tomorrow night will be Ericson's first and Woodhouse's second appearance on this series of war and peace discussions being sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. this quarter.

Professor Woodhouse aided in a discussion held at a joint meeting of the Y. M. C. A. cabinets last month, at which Dr. Carl H. Pegg of the history department spoke on "Nationalism: Is It The Way Out?"

Dean Elbert Russell of Duke University is scheduled to make an address on the Monday following Armistice Day on "Jesus, the Pacifist." Dr. Russell will try to answer the question: "Should a Christian Support War?"

Dean Russell has spoken on the University campus before, making an address here three years ago in a series of lectures sponsored by the "Y".

Discussions will follow the address by the Duke professor.

Phil Kind, president of the sophomore cabinet, has been asked to speak to the second-year group November 19 on phases of disarmament. Fred Weaver, also a sophomore, will lead a discussion following Kind's talk on some phase of international co-operation.

VILLAGE TO VOTE TUESDAY MORNING

Polls Open at Sunrise for County And State Elections.

Polls will open in the Chapel Hill high school Tin Can at sunrise Tuesday for the selection of Orange county and state officers.

Official markers for both parties will occupy chairs fifty feet from the voting booths and will give aid only at a sign from the voter.

Heading the ballot for state officers are Walter P. Stacy, Carolina alumnus and Democratic nominee, and A. A. White, Republican choice, who will run for chief justice of State Supreme Court.

"This county has always conducted its elections without the slightest intimation of crookedness," said Paul Robertson, who will be in charge of the balloting Tuesday. "We ask the co-operation of all parties in preserving this record."

There are 23 new registrations in the Chapel Hill precinct, bringing the total to 1,700.

COMMITTEE VOTES TO AID STUDENTS

Persons with Composition Conditions to Receive Instruction.

Students who have received a grade of "CC" (composition condition) may receive individual help without cost, the University committee on English composition announced yesterday.

The grade "CC," while not affecting a student's eligibility for continuance in the University, must be removed before final credit will be allowed. When added to the regular grade, it signifies that, although the subject matter may be accepted as satisfactory, the penmanship, punctuation, and other mechanical features are not up to University standards.

The quarterly examination for the removal of composition conditions will be given December 6. Those who plan to take this exam should see Dr. H. K. Russell, secretary of the committee, at 203 Murphey between 10:30 and 1:00 o'clock or 2:00 and 4:00 o'clock Monday or Tuesday.

300 A. & P. STORES TO RE-OPEN SOON

Seven Point Truce, Advanced by National Labor Relations Board, Is Accepted.

Washington, Nov. 3.—(UP)—Substituting co-operation for bitterness, both labor and management in the A. & P. Co. today accepted a seven point truce advanced by the National Labor Relations Board.

The agreement of the A. & P. Co. to open their Cleveland stores ended the labor war which threatened to nullify President Roosevelt's plans for industrial peace.

Their 300-odd Cleveland stores will re-open as soon as orderly movements of produce may be started from grocery chains to the Cleveland warehouse.

"Collective Bargaining"
The truce solidified the "Collective Bargaining" principles embodied in the National Industrial Recovery Act and dimmed the prospect of a nation wide epidemic of labor disorders.

The conditions prior to this truce were very tense throughout the middle west due to threatened strikes in other cities by A. & P. employees and employees in allied industries. Milwaukee seemed to be the most affected of the middle western cities.

This action of re-opening their Cleveland stores by the A. & P. Co. will restore a $60,000 pay roll to their 2,000 employees in that city.

Freshman Chapel

Dean R. B. House, administrative dean of the Chapel Hill unit of the Greater University, will address the freshman assembly in Memorial hall tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock.

These Monday morning talks by Dean House are a feature of each week's chapel program.

House in Atlanta

Dean of Administration R. B. House was the principal speaker at the meeting of the Atlanta alumni in Atlanta, Ga., Friday night.

Coach Carl Snavely and J. Maryon Saunders, secretary of the Alumni association, also made talks at the banquet.

NOMINATIONS FOR FROSH OFFICIALS SET FOR TUESDAY

Candidates Will Deliver Campaign Addresses Before Class Wednesday at Chapel.

WILL BALLOT THURSDAY

The freshman assembly period Tuesday morning will be taken up with nominations for the officers of the class of '38.

Nominations for president, vice-president, treasurer, and secretary will be made from the floor. The meeting will be presided over by Virgil Weathers, president of the student body, and the regular parliamentary procedure will be used.

Ballot Thursday

The class will go to the polls Thursday to cast their ballots. Voting, which will be by Australian ballot, will be held at Graham Memorial, and will be under the supervision of the student council. Balloting will last from 9:00 o'clock in the morning until 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

The candidates nominated Tuesday will deliver their campaign speeches at the assembly meeting Wednesday morning. This is in accord with the regular election procedure at the University.

Last year, the "New Deal" party swept all its candidates into office by a large majority, to defeat the "Square Deal" candidates. The officers of last year's freshman class were: Nate Lipscomb, president; Ed Herring, vice-president; Wilborn Davis, secretary; and Joe Grier, treasurer.

MARY PICKFORD, DOUG FAIRBANKS ARE RECONCILED

"We Are Happily Reconciled," Says Miss Pickford.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—(UP)—Marital troubles between Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks appeared to be nearing a happy reconciliation tonight.

Interviewers who boarded Miss Pickford's train at Kansas City reported that she replied to questions: "We are reconciled, happily reconciled." Fairbanks, who is residing at his ranch in California, smiled as he said, "I've nothing to say about it."

Trouble between the two, who were considered the most happily married couple in Hollywood, began last year.

Fairbanks has been in England until recently where he was engaged in making a picture for an English company.

Attempts to reconcile the famous couple during the summer, seemed to be of no avail at that time. The apparent reconciliation of America's most famous married couple was received with great interest.

Friendship Council

The Freshman Friendship council will meet in Gerrard hall at 7:15 o'clock tomorrow night.

With the sophomore "Y" cabinet, they are making plans for a Red Cross campaign next week.

Infirmiry

The following students were confined in the infirmary yesterday: Glenn Rice, Stewart Leake, Dudley Jennings, Jerry Kisner, Gene Barwick, Phillips Brane, and John Munyan.

CAROLINA PLAYS BRING ROYALTIES

Dramas Produced in Ten Different States; Works of Paul Green Not Included.

Plays by Playmaker authors were produced in ten different states during the last six months and brought a total revenue of $115.00 to their authors, announced Professor Frederick H. Koch, director of the Playmakers, yesterday.

The list of authors did not include the name of Paul Green, the Playmakers' ace playwright whose productions are handled directly through Samuel French and Co., New York publishers.

The twelve authors whose plays were produced in various communities throughout the country receive their royalties through Koch's office here.

Educational productions of the plays by high school dramatic groups and little theatres brought in no revenue, because there was no admission fee charged by these producers.

Thirteen Plays

The plays included: "Magnolia's Man" by Gertrude Wilson Coffin of Chapel Hill; "Ever Snitch" by Irene Fessler of Chapel Hill; "Agatha" by Jane Toy of Chapel Hill; "Dogwood Bushes" by Wilbur Stout of Burlington; "Cloey" by Loretta Carroll Bailey, Winston-Salem; "The New Moon" by Telfair Peet, Auburn, Ala.; "The Beaded Buckle" by Frances Gray, Raleigh; "Dod Gast Ye Both" by Herbert Heffner, Maiden; "Gaius," and "Gaius, Jr." by Lucy Cobb, Wake Forest; "Off Nag's Head" by Dougald McMillan, Wilmington; "Peggy" by Harold Williams, Carthage; "Trista" and "When Witches Ride" by Elizabeth Lay of Beaufort. Miss Lay later became the wife of Paul Green.

The states in which these productions were staged during the last six months included: California, Arizona, Missouri, Mississippi, Georgia, Tennessee, Ohio, New York, Virginia and North Carolina.

The three plays by Paul Green that appeared in the Playmakers' book entitled "Carolina Folk Plays" and which are not listed here are: "The Last of the Lowrys," "Fixin's," and "Quare Medicine."

Negro Will Address Presbyterian Group

William S. Nelson, president of Shaw University, Negro institution in Raleigh, will speak tonight at the Union services to be held in the Presbyterian church at 8:00 o'clock.

Nelson, who is one of the foremost Negro educators in the state, will take as his subject "Personal Religion."

The last two Union congregations have heard addresses by a theologian and by a scientist. In continuation of the policy of securing speakers from every walk of life, they will hear a Catholic priest, Jewish rabbi, and a business man on the following successive Sundays.

LIBRARY RECEIVES BABYLONIAN RELIC

A clay cone, over four thousand years old, inscribed with the cuneiform characters of ancient Babylonia, is the newest addition to the Hanes Collection on the History of the Book in the University library.

The cone, which was found at the site of the ancient city, Ur of the Chaldees, bears an inscription of twenty lines from Libit-Ishtar, a Babylonian king of the year 2150 B. C., who reigned shortly before the time of Abraham.

This inscription is very valuable since it mentions the names of most of the Mesopotamian cities of the book of Genesis. The existence of these cities has until recently been doubted.

The inscription, which reads from top to bottom and from right to left, is the best illustration yet discovered of civilized Babylonian writing of the age before Abraham.

Mrs. H. K. Russell Will Give Lecture

Mrs. H. K. Russell, wife of Dr. H. K. Russell of the English department, will be the principal speaker on the Bull's Head lecture program Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Russell will read selected pieces from "Wine from These Grapes," by Edna St. Vincent Millay.

Greatly interested in contemporary poetry, Mrs. Russell is well known as an excellent reader. During her undergraduate days and since her graduation from the University, she has been active in the Carolina Playmakers. She last played the role of Nora in Ibsen's "A Doll's House." Mrs. Russell is actively associated with the Playreaders, a local group devoted to reading plays. Joe Sugarman, editor of the Carolina Magazine, will introduce the speaker.

BACKFIELD SHOWS POWER IN ATTACK

Jackson, Hutchins, Snyder, and Montgomery Perform Well Behind Play of Line.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 3.—With a revamped backfield performing in great style behind a fast and hard charging stonewall line, Carolina's football team made its second successful invasion of Georgia territory, this time whipping Georgia Tech, 26-0, here this afternoon.

As in the game with Georgia three weeks ago the Tar Heels were rated the underdogs and again the visitors rose to great heights, demonstrating for the second time to the southern fans a smooth working backfield behind a near perfect forward wall.

Forced to find a new combination because of the absence of his star runner and kicker, Charlie Shaffer, Coach Carl Snavely sent in the game a backfield consisting of Don Jackson, Harry Montgomery, Hump Snyder, and Jim Hutchins. However, this squad had everything on the attack including some great kicking, passing, and a 50-yard run from Jackson, some consistent ground gaining from Hutchins and Montgomery, and some beautiful blocking, pass receiving, and a couple of important runs from Snyder.

Great Forward Wall
The whole Tar Heel line put on another big show, charging the Tech team off of its feet and mashing up the passing offense almost completely. Time after time the linemen threw the passers for losses as they tried desperately to find an open receiver.

Captain George Barclay was again the mainstay backing up the line in his usual colorful fashion. Besides making tackle after tackle, the all-American candidate intercepted a pass and fell on a fumble when Tech was making its only threat to count.

Carolina opened its point making in the first quarter with 14 points. Don Jackson put the Tar Heels first in position to count as he outpunted the Tornado kickers, Carolina finally getting the ball after several exchanges on its own 48-yard line.

After two plays had failed to gain, Hutchins hit the middle of the line for five yards putting the ball on Tech's 47 with it being fourth down. Here the Carolina signal-caller crossed the Tornado backfield up as he called a pass instead of a punt. Jackson tossed the ball to Snyder who took it on the 40 and dashed to the 30 before being downed.

Hutchins Ploughs Through
Hutchins ploughed through center for six yards, and then skirted his right end, making it a first down on the Tech 15. Hutchins cracked center wide open again for five more yards to the 10. Jackson made only a yard in two tries but Hutchins
