GEOLOGISTS FIND DEPTH OF "BOTTOMLESS WELLS"
 The "Bottomless" Natural Wells of Magnolia have a depth of about 30 feet, reports a party of geologists recently returned from a trip to the North Carolina Coastal Plain.

The depth of these natural wells, which were previously considered bottomless, was determined by letting down a geological hammer on a cord in a number of the deeper parts of the well.

Extensive fossil collections were made from the Miocene at Magnolia, from the Eocene at Castle Hayne, and from the Upper Cretaceous along the Cape Fear river.

Shark's teeth were found in great abundance in a conglomerate in the Castle Hayne formation at the quarry near Castle Hayne. Numerous Echinoids and Bryozoa also occur in the coquina limestone in this quarry.

DAVEY CLARK SAYS . . .

December 17, 1931: "They (J. O. and Loretto Carroll Bailey, authors of "Strike Song") call loyal workers 'scabs,' and do not the professors have a union of their own known as the American Association of University Professors? To them every one who does not join the union and pay dues is a 'scab.'"

Student Accounts

The administration of the University wishes to remind all seniors and other candidates for degrees that before they can receive their diplomas it is necessary that they settle all amounts owed to the University, including accounts with the business office, Swain hall, the library, the laundry, the Book Exchange, Spencer hall, the student loan fund, and all laboratory fees.

In addition each candidate for a degree is reminded that he must pay $5 diploma fee and must make arrangements with the Book Exchange for the rental of a cap and gown.

Youngest N. C. City

Winston-Salem is North Carolina's youngest city. It is just 22 years old, but it was formed by a combination of two of the earliest settlements in the state.

CO-ED MEETING

Jane Ross, president of the Woman's Association, requests all girls to come to an open forum meeting of the Woman's Association at Spencer hall this afternoon at 5 o'clock.

The purpose of the meeting is to promote interest in campus activities and co-operation with the women students. The council will outline a general program for next year, and is anxious for suggestions about matters of interest to all women students.

Insurance Men to Visit University Campus

Jefferson Standard Group Will Lunch Here Tomorrow.

A party of 150 agents and officials of the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company will visit Chapel Hill for a luncheon and a sight-seeing tour about the campus tomorrow.

This group will be part of the annual agency convention of the insurance company being held today, tomorrow and Saturday in Greensboro, bringing together some 600 agents, managers and cashiers from 25 states and Porto Rico.

The sight-seeing party that will visit Chapel Hill will be guests of Duke University on a sight-seeing trip there in the morning and will come to Chapel Hill for luncheon at the Carolina Inn at 1:30. Following the luncheon the group will be shown about the campus.

Toastmaster at the luncheon in Chapel Hill will be C. E. Leak of Greensboro, vice-president of the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company.

Luther T. Bass of Greensboro, is chairman of the sight-seeing committee for the home office of Jefferson Standard, and made the arrangements for the visit to Chapel Hill.

When R. D. W. Connor, former head of the University history department, recently took up his duties as Federal Archivist, he found 4,000,000 cubic feet of public documents weighing thousands of tons, waiting to be dusted, sorted and filed.

Summer French Courses

Contrary to the impression created in yesterday's DAILY TAR HEEL there will be French courses offered in the summer session of the University. The course not being offered is a correspondence course.

The French courses to be offered are as follows: in the first session, French 1, 3, and 21; in the second session, 2, 4 and possibly 22 if there is enough demand for it.

Besides these courses will be those announced for graduates and undergraduates. Spanish as previously announced, will also be offered.

"THEY DON'T GET YOUR WIND"

ATHLETES SAY

So mild, athletes smoke as many as they please—and that's real mildness!

Of course you want mildness in a cigarette. And the athletes—to whom "wind," healthy nerves, "condition" are vitally important—insist on mildness.

Lou Gehrig, baseball's "Iron Man," says: "Camels are so mild they never get my 'wind.'" George Barker, intercollegiate cross-country champion, says: "Camels are so mild, they don't cut my 'wind' in any way." Bobby Walthour, Jr., star of the six-day bike grinds, says: "I've got to have 'wind' in bike racing. For my cigarette I long ago chose Camels."

Tommy Armour, speaking for the golf stars, Bruce Barnes for tennis, and Betty Bailey for the aquatic sports—all agree: "Camels don't get your 'wind.'"

What this mildness means to you!... It means you can smoke as many Camels as you please. Athletes say Camel's costlier tobaccos never disturb your nerves—never tire your taste—never get your "wind."

COSTLIER TOBACCOS!

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.

LOU GEHRIG has played in more than 1500 consecutive big league games. Such an athletic achievement takes "wind"—healthy nerves—"condition." Lou says: "For steady smoking I pick Camels. They're so mild they never get my 'wind' or my nerves."
