DR. GRAHAM TO PARTICIPATE IN LSU DEDICATION

Speakers Include Representatives From Many Schools

President Frank P. Graham; Dr. Rupert P. Vance, research associate in the Institute for Research in Social Science; and Dr. Nicholson B. Adams, professor of Spanish, will be among the speakers for the dedication ceremonies at Louisiana State university April 6-8 commemorating the increase in educational opportunities since 1930.

President Graham will bring greetings from the nation's state universities at a luncheon for delegates and guests Friday at noon when President James Monroe Smith of L. S. U. will preside and the speakers will include representatives of the colleges and universities of Louisiana and the nation, of endowed and private institutions, of agricultural and mechanical colleges, and of the press.

He will also preside at the conference on problems of adult education Thursday at 3 o'clock, when he will also give one of the principal addresses at the Romance languages conference at La Maison Francaise, when the other speakers will include Dr. Emile Lauvriere of the University of Paris, visiting professor in the L. S. U. languages department, and Dr. Michele Angelo Vaccariello, professor of Italian at Williams college.

Plans for the three-day series of dedication ceremonies include general sessions, formal dedicatory exercises, and conferences and symposia on current problems and trends in the field of education. Eight conferences will be held on agricultural program planning, journalism, legal education, counseling in high schools and colleges, engineering education, adult education, training for recreation, and Romance culture and literature.

Private Property . . . No Trespassing

Participants from all sections of the state and from many sections of the South and the nation will attend.

Four special dedicatory exercises will be held for the Leche Law building, the agricultural center, a group of five women's dormitories, and La Maison Francaise.

Princeton Outpoints Tar Heel Trackmen

 parts of the race, Crockett kept changing the lead with Arthur Gilkes of the Tigers. On the final lap, Crockett stepped away from Gilkes to take the race in a finish straight-away spring.

Beside the two mile triumph, Carolina took but only three other first places. Bill Corpening churned over the 120-yard low hurdles in :14.7 for his record and blue ribbon. Harry March brought the bacon home in the other hurdle, by running the 220-yard lows in :24.7 to tie the meet and field mark. Bill Hendrix brought home the final first place by running a great half mile to finish ahead of Applegate of Princeton in 1:55.4.

Harry March with nine points, gained on a hurdle first, a high-jump second, and a broad-jump third, was high Carolina man. Princeton's one-man track team, Grandin Wise, notched up 13 points on firsts in the high-jump and shot, and a second in the discus.

Title At Stake As Fencers Meet W&M Saturday

Only Two Undefeated Teams In South Will Clash For Unofficial Crown

The only two undefeated major fencing teams in the South will clash Saturday night at Williamsburg, Va., when the Tar Heels oppose William and Mary on the latter's strips.

The winner of this meet will have the leading claim to the Southern Intercollegiate title, which, this season, will unofficially be awarded to the undefeated team in the South.

Co-Ed Fencers: Practice is still going on every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 4. The co-ed exhibition is just around the corner.

Handicap
 The North Carolina swordsmen will meet the Indians with the leading Tar Heel epeeman at Chapel Hill, unable to fence. Bernie Aleskovsky's recent knee injury throwing him out of competition for the remainder of the season may prove to be a decided handicap to the invading Blue and White.

William and Mary, in six starts, has already defeated VPI 14-3, VMI 13-4, Maryland 10-7, and Richmond 13-0, among other matches. North Carolina's sophomore fencers have turned back VPI in the home opener 10-7, and later eked out a 13-11 decision over Maryland. Stacked up, comparative scores will give the Indians a decided edge over Carolina at the beginning of the meet.

However, Coach Coffin's swordsmen seem to thrive as underdogs. In three previous tilts the Carolina men were rated on the short end of the odds and came out ahead.

Co-Ed Elections Scheduled Today

 Louise Greene has been suggested for the post by the same nominating board, but at the meeting Monday nominations from the floor will be in order before the final decision is made.

Town
 The two other council members will be chosen early next fall by their own groups. They will be the town representative and the graduate representative.

The executive officers for next year's Woman's Athletic council were also put forward and accepted by the group. These will become Miss Katherine Fleming as president, Miss Nancy Reid Lyon as secretary, and Miss Adele Austin as treasurer. Minor officers will be appointed next year by Miss Fleming. There are usually about 12 members making up the group, dependent upon the current sports and activities.

The women on the nominating board appointed by Miss Nesbit were Misses Evelyn Barker, Rosalie Haynes, Rachael McLain, Nan Tinsley, Clover Johnson, Dorothy Kelly, Polly Pollock, Margaret Henderson, and Virginia Bower. These nine women were chosen as representative of each of the two sororities and of the non-sorority group.

CELEBRATION TO BE HELD HERE ON MAY 14

Ten Senior Co-Eds On List Of Nominees

Tomorrow is the day set for the election of the queen and her court who will reign over the May Day celebration to be held on our campus May 14. Every student and faculty member has the right to vote this year for the first time since the holiday was established as a custom three years ago.

Individual pictures of each of the candidates are to be put on display today in the YMCA so that all voters may have a chance to see each of the nominees. The pictures were made by Frank Bowne, campus amateur photographer-at-large.

Among the 21 nominees presented by the nominating committee there are 10 seniors, any of whom will be eligible for queen. These are Misses Elizabeth Keeler, Mary Glover, Betty Redfern, Olivia Root, Virginia Lee, Mary Lillian Speck, Phyllis Hawthorne, Loyal Boice, Sarah Dalton, and Frances Roughton.

Each voter will cast one vote from this list of 10 seniors as his choice for queen, and then from the complete list of 22 seniors, juniors and graduate students will check 10 members for the court attendants. The girl on the list of seniors who receives the second highest number of votes for queen will become maid of honor. Ten attendants will be chosen other than the maid of honor.

The group of 22 nominees include Misses Memmie Gary, Elizabeth Keeler, Mary Glover, Olive Cruikshank, Janet Lawrence, Ethel Laidlaw, Mary Taylor Hinnant, Vivian Veech, Maria Tucker, Betty Redfern, Rosalie Haynes, Olivia Root, Jane Hunter, Virginia Lee, Mary Lillian Speck, Miriam Durrett, Phyllis Hawthorne, Gretchen Coker, Eleanor Jackson, Loyal Boice, Sarah Dalton, and Frances Roughton.

Student-Faculty Day Winners Announced

 passes to the Carolina theater as the winner of the prize for the best model room. The passes will be distributed to members of the dormitory at the discretion of the dormitory council. Everett, Old East, Old West, and Battle-Vance-Pettigrew tied for second place in the contest, but no prize had been offered for other than the first place.

Tabulations were not complete yesterday of the voting in the beauty contest sponsored by the dormitories for the prettiest girl's picture in each dormitory, but the results will be announced tomorrow.

The Rocky mountains were first called the "Stony mountains."

 possible establishment of a huge new public works program.
 The new relief program, administrative officials said, would prime industrial pumps in addition to giving direct employment to thousands.
 However, the same officials denied that any decision had been reached.
 In the house today, a showdown on the reorganization plan was put off but an agreement was reached to end general debate at the close of the day's session.
 This procedure will make possible an early test tomorrow.

Grad Grades

Graduate students can get their winter quarter grades in room 207 South, according to an announcement by Central Records Office Director I. C. Griffin, Jr.

None of the eight winners in the recent National Intercollegiate boxing tourney have professed any desire to enter the ring professionally. One 1937 winner, Ray Matulewicz, has turned pro and changed his name to Mat Raymond.
