Harriers At Annapolis Meet

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1938

PRINT TO FIT . . .

by SHELLEY ROLFE

Mamma dear come over here and see what some folks are aimin' to do these days. It ain't the Lambeth walk, definitely not the big apple, and as for the shag—well that's passe by now. Know what it is, well I'll tell ya. They want to go out—uh, huh take your smelling salts in hand—well, they want to subsidize players. Expected you'd near about swoon. Most right livin' folks do when you mention the naughty word. It's startin' to take rank with the Old Boy himself. But folks still persist in subsidizing. Nothing can be done about it.

They thought they could stop the thing down this way a while back, but look what happened. Virginia withdrew from the conference, and when the other teams started to, the rule against subsidization—they called it the "Graham plan" was hastily and conveniently tossed into the nearest refuse can.

Now everybody 'round these parts is subsidizing head over heels on one another. It's gettin' so bad that an honest mill boy hasn't a moment to himself, what with all the college talent scouts calling on him.

Some of the best people subsidize. You'd be surprised at the list. Princeton had a star three-sport man awhile back whose father happily had a WPA digging job up in Maplewood, New Jersey. Over at Pittsburgh, Dr. John Bain Sutherland, the soured Scotchman who runs the biggest grid factory in the nation, has a minimum wage law . . . All freshmen receive $75 a month . . . Wages probably go up according to a player's ability . . . $5 a tackle . . . $10 a touchdown . . . the thing has limitless possibilities . . . And ya notice Notre Dame always turns out a first 10 team . . . They don't do that on a pure, clean-faced policy.

It looks like you just gotta subsidize to get ahead in the world. That is if you want to get ahead, and seems as if most folks do.

That's the trouble down this way. Seems like the University just isn't in a position to pay a deserving boy's way through school. Conditions around Chapel

HARRIERS REST AFTER LONG TRIP

(Special to the Daily Tar Heel) ANNAPOLIS, MD., November 3.—Having arrived here late yesterday, Carolina's cross country harriers will stay here tonight and tomorrow morning awaiting their dual meet with Navy here tomorrow afternoon.

The Tar Heels arrived in good shape after their long automobile trip from Chapel Hill today. The Middies will be led tomorrow by Barney Oldfield, one of the greatest milers to ever enroll at the Academy. All last spring Oldfield outclassed all Navy competitors in the mile. Last week he copped first place in a quadrangle

INQUIRING RE-SPORTER

Two, three, and four touchdowns, were the margins that three Carolina students picked the Tar Heel eleven over VPI as the Inquiring Re-Sporter questioned them yesterday afternoon concerning this Saturday's football battles.

The Inquiring Re-Sporter barged in on Jack Dillon's afternoon siesta and came out with these scores: Carolina 14, VPI 0; Tulane 14, Alabama 12; Michigan 14, Penn 6; Syracuse 12, Colgate 6; and Manhattan 7, State 0.

Ralph Stephens saw them this way: Carolina 21, VPI 0; Alabama 14, Tulane 13; Michigan 13, Penn 0; Colgate 7, Syracuse 6; and State 7, Manhattan 0.

Here are J. J. Goodwin's scores: Carolina 28, VPI 0; Alabama 12, Tulane 7; Michigan 6, Penn 0; Colgate 13, Syracuse 0; and Manhattan 13, State 0.

Sigma Nu tightened its grip on second place yesterday afternoon by defeating the powerful Phi Gamma Delta's, 13-7. The victorious team tallied all of its points in the first half, and then resorted to holding the hard fighting losers who rallied to push across their lone touchdown in the final period. Coughenour and Lynch accounted for all of the winners scoring, while Hutchinson scored for the losers.

St. Anthony Hall gained its second victory of the season by defeating Chi

AE Pi gained its third consecutive victory as it defeated TEP, 13-0 in an unofficial game. The winners scored both of its touchdowns in the last period. Led by Weber and Topping the winners rolled up two first downs, as compared to one by the TEP's.

In the hardest fought unofficial game of the day Beta Theta Pi defeated SAE by first downs, 4-3. The teams were the most evenly matched seen on the campus this season, and as a result the battle was constantly in a deadlock. Miller, DuBose, and

VPI FRESH FROM STATE VICTORY

Bringing with them a long string of victories over Carolina football teams, the rejuvenated Galloping Gobblers of Virginia Tech arrive in Chapel Hill tomorrow—and at 2 o'clock they march into Kenan stadium to oppose Ray Wolf's twice-beaten varsity. Last week the Gobblers gained a favored spot in the conference when State college fell before them 7-0.

After a week of preparation—preparation that has been exceptionally hard in physical intensity—Wolf's small squad will rest today, with only a light warm-up session scheduled for this afternoon.

THE INJURED

Barely 35 players were on the field yesterday to participate in the final workout. Chuck Slagle was on the sidelines with an injured leg, and Charlie Kline stayed away with contusions about his face which have kept him from heavy duty all week. George Stirnweiss, who developed a charley-horse while kicking in practice Wednesday, seemed rid of the trouble as he ran, kicked, and passed for the first string eleven.

VPI, experienced and toughened by the hammering tactics of such teams as Army and Duke, has improved steadily during the current

TAR HEELS DROP RAMS; TO PLAY PENNSYLVANIA

By SHELLEY ROLFE
Dropping Fordham, adding Pennsylvania, and keeping the eight other teams on this year's schedule, the University of North Carolina's 1939 football program was released to the DAILY TAR HEEL by the athletic association yesterday afternoon. The Quakers are met at Franklin field, Philadelphia, October 28.

The season will open against Wake Forest at Kenan stadium October 30, a week later than this year's opener, and close with the traditional Thanksgiving Day game with Virginia November 30 at the stadium. Two other

After experimenting with a mid-season Duke game this year, the '39 battle with the Blue Devils will be November 18, next to the last game of the season at Duke stadium.

Other battles on enemy territory will be against VPI at Blacksburg October 7, Tulane at New Orleans October 21, Penn at Philadelphia October 28, and Davidson at Davidson November 11.

Ray Wolf will have most of this year's performers back for the '39 season. Steve Maronic, George Watson, Jack Kraynick, Horace Palmer, and Bob Adam, being the only senior first stringers.

Christian Siewers is counted upon to take Maronic's place, Mike Bobbitt is expected to fill Watson's shoes, Sid Sadoff and Tony Cernugle will be around to tackle Kraynick's fullback slot, Jim Mallory and Paul Severin are ready to relieve Palmer at end, and Bob Smith, alternate first string center with Adam this season, is ready to tackle the job exclusively.

In 1940, Carolina will play TCU and Penn at Kenan stadium and Tulane at New Orleans. Other details of the '40 schedule are still in the formative stage.
