

Polls Open Today In Front Of YMCA

National, State, Local Questions To Be Voted Upon

University students interested in today's national, congressional and state elections will have a chance to express their opinions in a campus poll today conducted by the Carolina Political Union in the YMCA from 9 until 4 o'clock.

The Carolina Political Union agreed last night to include the following question in their campus poll today: "Will you pay 25 cents to attend the Gridgraph account of the Carolina-Fordham game in Memorial hall Saturday?" Operators of the Gridgraph have been practicing since the Carolina-NYU tilt and promise to give a perfect performance if the student body wishes to attend.

The questions, to be registered on the automatic voting machines, concern the following political races:

1. In this congressional district do you favor Carl Durham, the committee's selection, to Oscar Barker?
2. In North Carolina do you favor Reynolds, D., to Jonas, R., for the senate?
3. In New York do you favor Lehman, D., to Dewey, R., for governor?
4. In Massachusetts do you favor Curley, D., to Saltonstall, R., for governor?
5. In Pennsylvania do you favor Earle, D., to Davis, R., for the senate?
6. In Ohio do you favor Bulkley, D., to Taft, R., for the senate?
7. In Michigan do you favor Murphy, D., to Fitzgerald, R., for governor?
8. Do you favor the use of voting machines in campus elections?
9. In New Jersey do you favor Ely, D., to Barbour, R., for senate?
10. Will you pay 25 cents to attend the Gridgraph account of the Carolina-Fordham game in Memorial hall Saturday?

It Isn't Fair

The fellows down at Mangum dorm got up a pot of money yesterday. Sixty-three chipped in 25 cents and the winner was to receive the pile which was supposed to be a trip to the Fordham game in New York city, Saturday. But someone let Gates Kimball, star tackle on the Carolina squad, add a two-bit piece. Gates' name was drawn last night. But he's not the lucky man that was supposed to result. His expenses are supposed to be paid by the team, and now Mangum residents are wondering if Coach Wolf won't take one of them along in his place.

Soon To Be Movie And Opera—

Sharecropper Play Will Be Staged Here Tomorrow Night

"Tobacco Road" Cast Headed By John Barton In Role Of Jeeter Lester

"Your play will never make a nickel," said Sam H. Grisman, theatrical producer, when Jack Kirkland brought him the script of a play about the sharecroppers in Georgia, "but it's an honest play and I'm going to produce it." That was six years ago. Kirkland was better known as a picture scenario writer. The play was "Tobacco Road."

Now passing its 2075th performance on Broadway, the same play has been presented in 35 states, in London, and soon will be made into an opera and a moving picture. The producer's faith was justified although he was wrong about "Tobacco Road's" lack of general appeal. "Tobacco Road" will be produced on the campus tomorrow evening in Memorial hall.

CHARACTERS IN PLAY

Based on the novel by Erskine Caldwell, the play tells a realistic story of a group of penniless share-

WOODHOUSE ENDS BARKER CAMPAIGN WITH FINAL PLEA

CPU Will Sponsor Poll For Campus; Town Also To Vote

By LAFFITTE HOWARD

With a final plea for democracy and a hint that the House of Representatives might be more responsive to the "moral obligations of voter representation" than the sixth district Democratic committee, Dr. E. J. Woodhouse yesterday closed his write-in campaign for the election of Oscar Barker over Carl T. Durham, committee selection.

All Carolina students will have a chance to make unofficial expression of their opinion of the controversy today in a poll sponsored by Carolina Political Union. Chapel Hill residents will vote at the curb market, North Henderson and Rosemary, and at elementary school gymnasium.

MUST BE WRITTEN-IN

Charging that what he termed "county rings" had become all too important in both elections and administration Dr. Woodhouse yesterday called on "all good Democrats" to write in the name of Oscar G. Barker on their ballots and vote for him instead of Carl T. Durham, local pharmacist.

Text of the political science professor's statement was:

"I consider that one will be proving he is a good Democrat even more by writing in Barker's name under Durham's and putting a cross opposite it and the name of every other candidate for whom he wishes to vote, than by putting an 'X' in the circle at the top of the ballot and thereby voting"

Local Voters Are Limited To 12,000

About 1,200 citizens, only one-half the voters of Chapel Hill, will be entitled to vote in the general election today because of the new registration, which was ordered by the county board of elections this fall.

Residents will vote in two districts, north Chapel Hill and south Chapel Hill. The main thoroughfare, Franklin street, running south from Spenser hall to the Woollen gymnasium and thence to the Raleigh road, will be used as the dividing line.

Those who registered with Paul Robertson, north section, will cast their ballots in the curb market building on the corner of East Rosemary lane and North Henderson streets. Citizens who registered with T. E. Best, south section, will vote at the elementary school gymnasium.

Kyser Feeling Fordham Out

Carolina has an undercover scout in Kay Kyser, celebrated alumnus, orchestra leader and musical professor, who is shown (above) putting the Fordham star, Len Eshmont, through a physical test. His beautiful assistant scouts, in case you're interested boys, are Sylvia McKay of the Midnight Sun restaurant, and Della Carroll of the Paradise.

Going To New York? Stay In Piccadilly

Students desiring to attend the Carolina-Fordham game may stay at the Piccadilly hotel at Times Square and 47th street at reduced rates and be in contact with other Carolina students for the stay in New York, it was announced today by Bob Magill, director of Graham Memorial, which is sponsoring this idea of informal headquarters in New York.

The rates will be $1.75 per person with three in a room with bath. Reserved tickets to the game will be $2.75 and general admission for $1.10 may be had at the gate.

Students wishing to take advantage of this offer must make arrangements with Bob Magill in his office before noon Wednesday.

JAPAN JUSTIFIED, SAY PROFESSORS

Ericson, Buchanan, Robson Use Radio

Three University professors explained Japan's position in regard to the invasion of China, trying to justify this aggression by the actions of the other powers of the world on the University of North Carolina broadcast over WPTF Sunday.

Dr. E. E. Erickson of the English department, Dr. D. H. Buchanan of the Economics department, and Dr. C. B. Robson of the political science department pointed out that Japan's aggression in China is partly in order to keep the European nations out. The western powers have used their "open door policy" as a means of exploiting China, the professors said, and Japan is trying to put a stop to the western powers' usurping China's tariff and

Henderson, Markham To Address Society

The Elisha Mitchell Society will hold its 387th meeting tonight at 7:30 in room 206 Phillips hall.

Featuring the program will be a talk by Dr. Archibald Henderson on "Unfamiliar Methods of Solving the Quartic Equation," and a speech by Dr. E. C. Markham: "The Decomposition of Ammoniumdeuterium Chloride."

Albert Ellis Talks To Organization On Purpose To Campus

Sixteen members of the Inter-Dormitory council were nominated last night at a special meeting for the council's representation in the student legislature, new campus body soon to be inaugurated. Ten will be elected from the sixteen as actual representatives.

APPOINT COMMITTEE

A committee of Bill Hill, chairman, Hank Pessar, and Paul Kuklish, was appointed by President Puddin' Wales to report on developments of the construction of the new dormitories.

Albert Ellis, one of the founders of the Inter-Dormitory council, spoke on the purpose and importance of the organization on the campus.

Every student organization in the University will be represented in the legislature. The council will be allowed a large number because of its relative size and standing on the campus.

Red Cross Call Will Be Made

Bob Williams, chairman of the life saving division of the Red Cross unit at the University, and Arnold Breckendridge, chairman of the emergency highway first aid committee, announced that plans for the current call would be made at a meeting of the dormitory managers in the YMCA tonight at 7 o'clock.

Plans for the dormitories' part in the drive will be discussed at this meeting. Williams pointed out that letters have also been sent to campus fraternities telling of the call. The drive will be made on a competitive basis this year, with the dorms having a separate contest from the fraternities.

TO ENTERTAIN WINNER

The winning dormitory will be entertained at the game room of Graham Memorial as the guest of the student union. The victor will be determined by the percentage of members enlisted in each unit. By dividing the number of members into the total

CAROLINA FROSH PROVE TOO FAST FOR HOLDUP MAN

Students Ask Negro To Bring Them Back So They Can Study

By RUSH HAMRICK

Stanley Leary, Jr., of Ahsokie, and Charles Daniels of Williamston said yesterday that a Negro was unsuccessful in holding them up Sunday evening. Daniels succeeded in taking the bandit's gun and forced him to bring him to his dormitory. Both boys are freshmen and live in Aycock dormitory.

An account of the incident was told as follows by Leary, tackle on the freshman football squad:

NOW IT CAN BE TOLD

"We were standing on a street corner in Raleigh when a Negro, well-dressed and driving a 1938 LaSalle, steered his automobile to the side of the curb and, rolling the window down enough to be heard, asked us where we were going and how many more was with us. After Leary made clear that there was only two, the Negro asked how many guns we had. Somewhat frightened at this, we answered that we did not have any. However, this did not please the man, so we were ordered to turn around.

"Then the door of the car was opened and we were told to get in. Obeying, Daniels sat beside the driver and Leary was next to the door when he drove off at 85 miles an hour.

"Questions were crossed between us."

"Where are you from?" asked

Suggestions Open For Class Gifts

Bill Raney, chairman of the gift committee of the senior class, yesterday asked that all students and members of the faculty, having any suggestions for the class gift get in touch with him at the ATO house before the class meeting Thursday morning. These suggestions will be taken up by the gift committee at once.

The senior class will vote on its budget at the meeting Thursday if a quorum of the members is present. The budget was passed by the executive committee after it was drawn up by Felix Markham, president of the seniors, and the finance committee. At the head of this committee is Bill Cole, with Claire Whitmore and Will Arey acting under him.

The gift committee is composed of Bill Raney, chairman, and Mac Allen.
