

Jim Takes A Shot At Pursuer

Tony Sarg, the famous marionette man, will bring his wooden dolls to the campus today for two performances at 3:30 and 8 o'clock in Playmaker Theater in "Treasure Island." The above scene shows young Hawkins doing his best to avoid being dirked by a pirate.

Town Hall Meeting Tonight; Another To Be Held Tuesday

Liberalism Will Be Theme Of Tuesday Night Gathering

By JIMMY DUMBELL
In conjunction with the series of Town Hall Meetings of the Air programs which have been held here for the past several weeks, it was announced yesterday that the usual weekly meeting will be held tonight at 9:30 to hear the broadcast over the net works of the National Broadcasting company and over station WJZ in New York.

The topic of tonight's discussion will be "How Can We Put the Unemployed Back to Work?" and the speakers will be Ralph E. Flanders, president of Jones and Lamson Machine company and co-author of "Toward Full Employment"; John T. Flynn, author, columnist and former advisor to the Senate Committee on banking; and Leon Henderson, a consulting economist and member of the Works Progress administration since 1937. George V. Denny, Jr., will be Moderator.

IRC TO AID NEW CHAPTER AT WC

Local Club Seeks 15 New Members

The International Relations club will enter into close relationships with the newly organized International Relations club at the Woman's college in Greensboro. In answer to a request sent to Henry Nigrelli, president of the local club, to help the sister club get underway, he will go to Greensboro Monday night for a conference with the president and program director of the sister club. Nigrelli will make an effort to bring the clubs closer by helping them organize and work out a way by which the two clubs can exchange programs, conduct programs together and possibly hold a social function together. He will also investigate the possibility of a joint representation to the William and Mary Conference in April. The girls are very interested and the possibilities of organizing a substantial club at the woman's college are favorable.

The International Relations club application blanks for membership are to be placed in the IRC office, in Graham memorial, the director's office, and the YMCA office today. All those who have been seeking applications are asked to fill out these blanks. Exactly 15 vacancies are now open according to a report of the membership committee. Freshmen are urged to apply. Those who are no longer on the IRC membership roll will be notified by mail. Deadline for applications will be next Tuesday.

Work has begun on the IRC library which will be located in its office. Carnegie has been sending books to (Continued on page two)

ALUMNUS TO LEAD LITTLE SYMPHONY AT HILL TONIGHT

Johnson Conducts Michigan Group Of 15 Soloists

Thor Martin Johnson, an alumnus of the University, will conduct the University of Michigan Little Symphony orchestra in a concert at 8:30 tonight in Hill Music hall. Said by critics to be an excellent group, it is expected that an outstanding program will be presented and a large attendance is expected.

Thor Johnson, the conductor, graduated from Carolina in 1934 after making an outstanding record in the field of music here and went to the University of Michigan where he worked for and received his Masters degree in music. After completing his course at Ann Arbor, he became a member of the music department faculty there and soon organized the Little Symphony orchestra of which he has been conductor since.

ALL SOLOISTS

Although consisting of only 15 members, the Little Symphony orchestra is capable of producing effects not given by the larger symphonies and offers many flexible interpretations not found in the presentations offered by many a larger group. The organization is composed (Continued on last page)

Sarg Will Present Marionettes Today

With the favorite old phrase, "Yo, Ho, and a bottle of rum," as a byword, Tony Sarg's marionettes will present Stevenson's famous classic, "Treasure Island" in two performances today.

Sarg has been working on the production of "Treasure Island" for three years and during that period has devoted much time and interest to the musical instruments and songs of the pirates. As a result every puppeteer engaged for this new play by Sarg has had to be able to play two instruments other than the piano and has had to be able to sing.

WOODEN NOODLES

The marionettes themselves are of unusual interest. Their heads are carved of wood and then painted with proper colors and fitted with wigs of natural hair. The stage settings are carefully constructed to be in right proportion to fit the two-foot characters. The proscenium arch is but six feet above the stage floor.

In order to keep the dolls feet on the floor they are weighted down with lead and sometimes the skirts of the feminine dolls are also weighted down. The marionettes will appear in the Playmaker theater at 3:30 and at 8 o'clock today. All seats will be twenty-five cents.

Group To Settle Hendrix's Request Tonight

Special Meeting Called For 10:30 This Morning To Clear Up Appropriations Situation

State Students Will Hear Graham, House, Rogerson Today

Student representatives of each county of North Carolina will meet at 10:30 this morning in an effort to clear up the confusion which has arisen as a result of conflicting reports concerning the action taken by the joint appropriations committee in Raleigh Tuesday.

The meeting has been called by Puddin Wales, president of the Inter-dormitory council, Elizabeth Malone, president of the Woman's association, and John Clark, president of the Interfraternity council. President Graham, Dean House, and Assistant Controller Rogerson will attempt to explain the work of the committee and will submit to questions from the audience.

APPROPRIATIONS DOWN

Administrative officials yesterday said that the appropriations for the consolidated University for the next biennium will actually be more than $400,000 under the appropriation allotted for the current biennium if the figures tentatively agreed upon by the joint committee are not revised upward.

President Graham stated yesterday that "The newspaper stories and headlines which stated that the University had received a boost in appropriations evidently gave many readers the impression that the University was getting more than the Advisory Budget commission recommended."

"That is true of course," he said, "if you take into consideration that the Budget commission based its recommendations on the assumption that tuition for all students at the three units of the University would be increased by at least $50 to bring in additional revenue of approximately $400,000."

"Since this increase for state students was not adopted, a wide gap was left in the amount the Budget Commission estimated the institutions (Continued on last page)

MANY CAST VOTES IN NEW CPU POLL

Final Results To Be Given Tomorrow

By late afternoon yesterday approximately 450 students and faculty members had expressed their opinions on 10 current questions of campus interest, which are being asked in a Carolina Political Union poll at the YMCA.

The poll, conducted with use of the automatic voting machines now in the CPU's custody, will continue through today and results will be announced in tomorrow's DAILY TAR HEEL.

PURPOSE

The union is sponsoring this poll in order to acquaint the student body with the use of automatic voting machines and also to furnish a representative survey of student opinion on matters important to the University.

The machines will be ready for operation again today at 8:30 and will be in use throughout the day.

Pharmacy Society Will Sponsor Dance

Kappa Epsilon society, composed of coeds in the Pharmacy school, will give its winter quarter dance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ralph Weaver on West Franklin street tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

Since its organization on the campus last spring, the society has sponsored several events to bring students of the Pharmacy school together. The Christmas party was reported to have been a great success.

Those arranging the party are: Miss Margaret Lloyd, Miss Rose Stacy, Miss Elizabeth Weaver, Miss Altajane Holden, Miss Josephine Eldridge, Miss Jessie Lee Smith, Miss Blanche Burrus, Miss Anna Dean Burks, Miss Sara Holt, Miss Lucille Gillespie and Miss Connie Dubose.

LOCAL MEN OPEN DISCUSSION ON BOXING QUESTION

Fetzer, Ronman See No Reason For Abolishment

Some light was shed yesterday afternoon on the proposal which goes before the student legislature tonight in connection with the abolishing of intercollegiate boxing at the University. Two responsible authorities came out in the open with statements. Director of athletics Robert A. Fetzer and boxing coach Michael Z. Ronman spoke for publication, while others in authoritative positions remained in the background or could not be reached last night.

A bill, handled by president of the student body Jim Joyner and senior class president Felix Markham, will be presented to the legislature of 48 members tonight; a necessary 20 percent of the members have already signed a petition making it mandatory that the body convene. The bill, in part, follows:

NEW PROPOSAL

"Inasmuch as intercollegiate boxing has been shown by competent medical authorities to be irreparably harmful both to brain and physique of those students participating, we, the members of the student legislature . . . exercising our duly authorized function as representatives of a student body which has levied an athletic fee upon itself, vote that intercollegiate boxing be abolished and refer this action to the athletic council, instructing our representatives on this body to take appropriate action."

Origin of the proposal has been traced to a recent meeting of the student welfare committee, at which time a letter written to Dean Bradshaw by Dr. W. R. Berryhill was read. Dr. Berryhill, who refused yesterday to make any statement because he was not in a position to do so, submitted his letter after a study of the injuries received in high school and college boxing and touch football. The infirmity head admitted it was based on a study made both on the campus and elsewhere.

The letter itself was not available for publication.

ACTION TAKEN

From The Outside World—

Volume Of Life Histories To Be Published In April

Three Members Added To Group

Co-Chairman Olive Cruikshank and Puddin Wales yesterday announced the selection of three additional members to the Student-Faculty Day committee.

John Clark, president of the Interfraternity council, Dr. E. L. Mackie of the math department, and Dr. H. D. Meyer of the sociology department are the new members of the group which will have charge of arrangements for the fifth annual Student-Faculty Day to be held sometime during the later part of April.

The first meeting of the committee will be held the first of next week and work will be begun on plans for the event.

Asks To Be Relieved

Bill Hendrix, vice-president of the student body and star track man, has asked the Student legislature to amend their constitution so that he may be relieved of his duties as president of the body, and yet hold his position as vice-president.

HANDBOOK ISSUED PRIOR TO HUMAN RELATIONS SERIES

Free Booklets To Be Handed Students, Profs Attending

In anticipation of its program to be held March 30 through April 7, the Human Relations institute issued yesterday a "Handbook of Preparation" for students and faculty members who plan to attend the week-long series of lectures and forums.

This booklet is a syllabus treatment of the four major divisions of subject matter to which the institute will address itself. It is designed for individual, group, and classroom use in shaping the thought of this campus toward more effective participation in the institute session.

FOUR DIVISIONS

The institute subject matter as outlined in the handbook has the following divisions: The South, Today and Tomorrow; Human Relations in Business and Industry; International Relations—The World Outlook; and Education for Democratic Participation. During the week a score of guest speakers will discuss the more important topics in these four fields.

In addition to various questions which are asked in the booklet, a bibliography of books which might be referred to for subject study has been provided at the end of each discussion and questionnaire.

HANDBOOK

The handbook is available, free of charge, to all students and University (Continued on last page)

Di Bids

Harry Gatton, treasurer of the Di Senate, announced that Di members may obtain bids for the Friday night Di-Phi dance today at chapel period upon payment of $1.00.

INTERCOLLEGIATE BOXING BILL WILL BE INTRODUCED

Markham Says Ring Petition Merely Called Special Meet

Whether or not the constitution of the Student legislature will be waived to allow Bill Hendrix to resign the chairmanship of that body while retaining his position as student body vice-president, will be decided tonight as the legislature convenes to consider other campus problems.

Jim Joyner, president of the student body, yesterday explained that Hendrix, in submitting his resignation, had asked that the constitution be waived to allow him to leave his post as chairman of the legislature "because of other pressing obligations," but to permit him to fill the remainder of his term as vice-president of the student body.

JOYNER RECOMMENDED

The committee on Organization and Procedure for the legislature has incorporated in its report, which will be submitted tonight, a recommendation that Hendrix' resignation be accepted, and that Jim Joyner act as chairman for the body for the remainder of the administrative year.

Intercollegiate boxing at the University will be brought under fire when the legislature considers a proposal for its abolition as " . . . irreparably harmful both to brain and physique of those students participating."

The bill was included in a petition to the chairman requesting that he call a meeting of the legislative body. Also included in the petition was a bill that, if passed, would set up a committee to investigate the debate fee levy on students to determine the extent of the direct benefits received from the activity by the student body. NOT DISAPPROVAL

On behalf of the 12 petition signers, Felix Markham yesterday stated that those legislators who had attached their names to the petition had not intended to express either their approval or disapproval of the bills included.

"This statement is made," Markham said, "as an explanation of the recent petition submitted to the Vice-President of the Student body, calling for a compulsory meeting of the Student (Continued on last page)

LOCAL GOP CLUB TO ATTEND MEET

Will Also Go To Lincoln Dinner

With a representation of from 30 to 40, the Young Republican club of the University will attend the state Young GOP convention to be held in Greensboro Saturday. At a meeting held yesterday afternoon, the Republicans voted to accept the invitation extended by J. Bennett Riddle, chairman of the North Carolina Young Republican clubs.

Although the organization on the campus has been inactive in the past few months, it is expected that the meeting in Greensboro will add the necessary life to surpass the record it made last fall, when Charles Jonas, then candidate for the United States senate, was a guest speaker. New state officers are to be elected, who will also help formulate plans for the installation of new Young Republican clubs at Duke, and several other state universities.

While in Greensboro, the GOP members will attend a Lincoln Day dinner, at which Representative Duesy Short from Missouri will deliver the principle address. Many prominent state Republican leaders will also speak to the gathering.

At the meeting held yesterday, Ed Hart, vice president, presided in the absence of President Billy Gilliam.

Education Club

The Education club will hold its first meeting of the year tonight at 7 o'clock in Peabody hall. Professor Guy Phillips will summarize for those present the report of the governor's commission on North Carolina education. All Education majors are urged to attend.
