Fleece Taps Megson, Creedy, Fairley, Gilmore, Barnett, Hobbs, Craige, Worley, Davis

Honorary Society Selects Nine In Impressive Rites

Ed Megson, John Creedy, Francis Fairley, "Fish" Worley, Dewitt Barnett, Sam Hobbs, Ernest Craige, Voit Gilmore, and Jim Davis were last Sunday evening tapped into the Order of the Golden Fleece in impressive ceremonies at Memorial hall. As Jim Joyner, the Jason of the society, pointed out, the men were selected on a basis of their excellence in character, qualities of leadership, and service to the University, regardless of the degree of their campus popularity.

The new Fleece men represent a large section of campus life, both in extra-curricular activity and in scholastic ability. Four of the new men are rising seniors, three are graduating next month, and two are already in the graduate school.

RECORDS

Megson, rising senior, was recently elected as the member-at-large for the PU board. Last week he was tapped by the Order of the Grail, and has written several articles for the Carolina magazine, besides playing on the football team and writing for the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Creedy, a senior, was the editor of the Carolina Magazine during the past year, receiving wide-spread mention for his publications on present-day problems.

Francis Fairley, vice-president of the 1935-36 student body, attended Columbia university law school for two years, but returned to the campus this year to finish his legal preparation. Besides his active participation in campus affairs as an undergraduate, Fairley has served this year in the capacity of assistant to Harry Comer, secretary of the YMCA.

Robson, Godfrey, Sitterson And Orr Will Be Speakers

The panel will be opened by Mr. Sitterson who will give a short survey of current legislation on neutrality. The speakers who follow have indicated that they will each present a different aspect of the situation. Following the remarks by the panel members, the meeting will be open to questions and discussion from the floor.

Mr. Orr of the Southern Relations Council, who has done special work for the council in the field of neutrality legislation, is expected to discuss neutrality from the point of view of its particular relation and effect upon the South.

YEARBOOK MAKES FIRST APPEARANCE THIS AFTERNOON

900 Copies Ready For Distribution In Small Lounge

In its earliest appearance in four years, the 1939 edition of the Yackety-Yack will be distributed today from 4 to 7 o'clock in the small lounge of Graham Memorial. Only 900 copies will be on hand this afternoon, necessitating, as Editor Rutherford Yeates put it, "first come, first serve."

After tomorrow's distribution, copies will be handed out every afternoon thereafter from 4 to 6 until the supply is exhausted. A shipment of 1000 copies is to be received on Saturday, while another carload of 1000 will arrive next Wednesday.

Editor Yeates yesterday expressed his gratitude to those whom he worked with. He stated: "The comparatively early date of distribution has been due to the aggressive co-operation of the Jan Ollier Engraving Company of Chicago and the Lassiter Press, Inc., of Charlotte. Both of these companies have done a fine job."

THANKS

"I want to thank the members of campus organizations for their co-operation in connection with their pages. My thanks are also extended to Miss Virginia Giddens, Carl Pugh, John Creedy, and Sanford Stein for contributions although they were not full-time members of the staff. I would like to thank the staff, relatively small this year, who worked themselves to the bone.

"The biggest sore-spot in the book is the lack of individual pictures of freshmen and sophomores. The faculty section has not the personal touch that the students might appreciate, but it's a good catalogue for the operations of the different schools. It would be of interest, however, to those students who do not see it in daily operation."

Publications Staffs: You Can Come, Too

Staff members of all publications, Buccaneer, Carolina Magazine, Yackety-Yack and DAILY TAR HEEL are invited to attend the publications sessions of the Student Government conference. Today's session will be held in 211 Graham Memorial at 2:30.

COMMITTEE PLANS DRIVE TOMORROW FOR SIX REFUGEES

Advance Donations To German Students Already Total $335

Planning to personally contact every student and faculty member on the campus, the local German refugee committee will sponsor a one-day campaign tomorrow for funds to put six German refugees through school here next year.

With $335 already collected through advance contributions, the committee hopes to raise over $1400 on the campus to carry through a project which is being paralleled at 170 colleges and universities over the nation. Two members of each dormitory will be put in charge of collections in their dormitory with the same arrangements planned for the fraternities. Town students may contribute by bringing their contributions by the YMCA. The faculty will be canvassed by faculty members on the committee and townpeople may contribute by sending their

Pharmacy Juniors, Seniors Will Attend Meet In High Point

The third and fourth year classes of the University pharmacy school will attend the annual meeting of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical society which is meeting in High Point today, tomorrow and Thursday. The students in attendance will act as representatives of the student branch of the NCPA.

Joe Tunstall, a senior in the pharmacy school, will present a paper to the assembly on "New Drugs in Pharmacy." Each year one student represents the University by presenting a similar treatise. Tunstall has built his paper around the subject of the development of new discoveries in the field of organic drugs. A. K. Hardee, secretary of the student branch of the Association, will give a report on the activities of the pharmacy school in the last year.

The students of the University will give a display of the minimum drugs and pharmaceutical books that a drug store should carry.

Band Accepts Bid To Play At Ceremony

The University band has accepted an invitation to play for the 1939 Sudan Temple's Spring Shrine Memorial to be held in Rocky Mount Thursday. All band members must report for rehearsal tonight at 7 o'clock.

For Separate Shots

Jack Lynch, newly-elected editor of the Yackety-Yack, who yesterday gave arguments in favor of individual photos for members of next year's sophomore class.

Wood's Orchestra To Play At Class Meeting Tomorrow

With Charley Wood and his band, recent winners of the campus swing contest, and Alonzo Squires, impersonator, on hand, the rising sophomore class will meet in Memorial hall tomorrow morning at 10:30 to decide on individual pictures in next year's Yackety-Yack.

Editor Jack Lynch of the yearbook has favored individual photos in the Yackety-Yack for next year, instead of the group pictures used in the past. He pointed out that the sophomore classes at Wake Forest, Davidson, State college, Duke, and several of the smaller schools in North Carolina take individual photos and that this University is one of the few without them.

He also explained how a much neater yearbook would result with the doing away with the present "make-shift" group pictures. Under the new system, Lynch added, organizations would not have to take group pictures, since an individual photo of each member would be available.

PRECEDENT

The editor predicted that, should the rising sophomore class pass the measure, a precedent will be set for next year's freshmen to follow. Payment for the photos, which would be included in student fees would be made in the following manner: $1.45 the first quarter and $1.50 the second quarter.

Tomorrow morning's program will include several of Charley Wood's latest arrangements of the song hits of the day. Squires, blind rising sophomore

Grade-Your-Prof Polls Used In Spain Over 400 Years Ago

Assembly To Debate Refugee Question At Meeting Tonight

This evening at 7:15, the Phi assembly will debate the question: "Resolved, That the Phi assembly should express its approval of the proposed appropriation of funds to bring German refugees students to the University of North Carolina."

The representatives are awaiting a reply from the Di senate on the vote of the latter on the issue of public utilities. Last week the Phi favored government ownership, and will hold a public debate with the Di should the senators disagree. Word has been received from the dialectics that they have deferred debate on the public ownership issue to next week.

Chairman Joe Dawson of the Ways and Means committee announced yesterday that he wishes to meet his committee this morning in the YMCA at 10:30.

Over 800 Votes Counted In Tar Heel Poll; Results Expected To Be Announced Soon

The method used by Carolina students to grade their professors has been in use for over four hundred years.

The Grade-Your-Prof poll originated in the universities of Spain during the sixteenth century when the students were allowed to elect all salaried men of the universities to office.

According to the statutes of sixteenth century Spanish universities three men were eligible as candidates for professorship each year. The candidates were to deliver a trial-lecture to the students and then await the outcome of the election to know if their positions were permanent.

ONE VOTE

Each student was allowed one vote provided that he had heard the trial-lectures of the candidates.
