benches. Giant tacklers reached out in futile efforts to tag me, a finger was poked ungently into my eye, and suddenly someone walloped me across the back (that's close enough) with his hand. My knee buckled and down I went, clutching the ball bravely and pleading with my friends the Mongrels to give me a military funeral.

Gentlemen, that was my first and last experience with tag football. Today I am crippled indefinitely, but I am infinitely wiser for the experience. No more of this terrible tag ball for me; the next time I feel the need of light exercise I will just spend an afternoon scrimmaging with Coach Wolf and his varsity boys, or walk into a lion's den with raw steaks tied to my head.

But on with this painful tale of we who suffer.

I went to Doc Robertson, physician who has examined many an injured football player. "Tag football, eh?" he said, "Well, let's take a look at it." Embarrassed, I pulled off my trousers and tried to hide my pink, yellow, and green-striped underwear.

For 30 minutes I was soaked in ice water. Then I was instructed to get a pair of crutches from the infirmary. This I did, but 'twas all to no avail; even the auxiliary wooden legs did not ease the unexpressible pain which I courageously endured. So back to the infirmary for further consultation.

Gravely the doctor examined my swollen knee, which was beginning to look like a baked apple with cream on it. "We will have to see what it looks like on the inside," he said, producing a machete commonly used by Philipinos to chop wood with. I nearly passed out at the sight of the knife, but revived quickly when a brunette nurse ambled in to observe my condition.

"Oh," she asked in a mellow, tinkling voice which sent my temperature to 100, "how did you get hurt?"

Of course I had to tell her. "Well, I was in the quarterback position when I saw the ball coming my way. I grabbed it, and the crowd cheered frantically as I wound my way down the field, slipping past 200-pound guards, 250-pound tacklers, and assorted backfield men. I passed the 50-yard line, the 40, the 30, and was just getting to the 20 when I realized I was running the wrong way. So I wheeled in my tracks and began the long dash toward the opposite goal. I whizzed by the 30, the 40, the 50, the 40, the 30, and was arriving at the 20 when the rival coach sent in another team, which set upon me with ball bats, blackjacks, benches, and other destructive implements. . ."

She was so broken up about the thing I just couldn't go on.

So here I am, virtually a helpless invalid.

Pardon me while I send for the orderly.

day.
DAHLGREN—DOUBLE, HOMER

Babe Dahlgren, a .234 hitter, stole the batting show from DiMaggio, Keller, Dickey, Selkirk & co., with a double and home-run. Babe led off the three-run Yankee third and knocked in the fourth and final New York run the next inning.

Leading off in the third with a double, Babe went to third on Pearson's sacrifice and scored on Frankie Crosetti's single. Red Rolfe singled and Joe DiMaggio double both Crosetti and Rolfe home.

In the fourth Dahlgren hit a home-run.

VPI ON REBOUND

Although admitting that Carolina has probably its best team in four years, Wolf indicated yesterday that his team was set for and expecting a tough fight in the Norfolk stadium. "VPI will be on the rebound this week," the coach said. "They will do everything allowed by the rulebook to keep us from winning."

But however strong the Techs may be, all money is falling on the Carolina side. Those who witnessed the Citadel and Wake Forest encounters in Kenan stadium, granting that the opposition was weak almost to the point of non-resistance, claim that the Tar Heel crew this year has something on the ball other than a center. The offense, balanced between run-

Gaylord cut this lead to 6 by crossing the goal line for Manly. Cohn was also outstanding for the winners while Stone and McGinty starred for the losers.

BVP LEAD

BVP climbed into a tie for top position in the dormitory loop when it took its second contest of the year by defeating Old East, 12-0.

The Old East outfit proved to be one of the gamest to ever play on an intramural field for the first half and held the winners scoreless but in the final period their resistance weakened and BVP tallied two times.

Fuller, by scoring both of the BVP touchdowns again proved to be the star of the game. On one play he intercepted a pass and dashed 60 yards for the score. Bales and Corpening led the losers.

STEELE-LAWYERS CLOSE

By defeating Law School 13-7 yesterday afternoon Steele, under the leadership of Milner and Turner, captured its first contest of the season. Heath scored the touchdowns for the winners, while Cobb and Ravenel paced the losers.

By rallying late in the final half to push across a touchdown Phi Gamma Delta gained a hard-fought 12-8 victory over TEP.

By virtue of a safety and touchdown in the first half TEP held an 8-6 lead over the victors until late in the final half but were unable to withstand the strong offense of the victors. Outstanding men of the game were B. Idol, Hutchinson and Hodges for the winners and Svigals, Eisenberg, Pearlman and Cohen for the losers.

ning and passing, has been brilliant; the defense has allowed but six points to be scored against it—on a bad break at that.

VPI was demoralized last Saturday by two quick scoring thrusts instigated by Marshall, and went down 20-0. Chuck Erickson, assistant coach who scouted the game, claims the Techs have a well-rounded team, with a particularly good backfield.

Despite the Gobbler potentialities, NYU, the team which comes to Chapel Hill next Saturday for the first time in three years, holds interest as the first real opposition Wolf's team will meet.

of the Reds?

Well if they want to know real bad, the Yankees went that way.

NEWS DEPT.: "The Reds had more bats in front of their dug-out than the Yanks at the first game of the world series." Well, why inthenameof-hell didn't McKechnie have his boys swing a few over a couple of choice Yankee noggins?

Frankie Frisch, who is the new bossman at Pittsburgh, says he thinks the Reds can go seven games. Somebody should quickly inform McKechnie and the Reds.

Now it is known why the Phillies finished so deep in the cellar. Doc Prothro is an intelligent gentleman and he wasn't taking any chances of getting pushed into any world series with them damn Yankees.

Techmen To Show

Virginia Tech assets into the equation:

Item one—Tech's aerial game should be more potent, now that veteran end John Henderson is ready for his first whirl and Rankin Hudson, ables of Gobbler passers, is again ready to chunk 'em.

Item two—Billy James, the sophomore who showed promise of becoming a first-rate running threat, may also be ready to go.

Item three—All-important reserve strength in the line is boosted by return of tackle Andy Todd and guards if Germany violated us in regards to the international law of the seas, and of 'organizing business to best meet the new war emergency.' Now it so happens, Ed, that I am personally in favor of the lifting of the embargo. But I could see the fingers of these men reaching out to what they stupidly think will be war profit. I could sense the seducing scent of the old story of mens' lives paying off in stock market prices. And I was so sick that I left. When I got to the door a man solemnly handed me a sticker for my alleged automobile. This is what was written in strong square letters of red, white, and blue: 'Keep America's Young Men Out of War.' . . . Amen.

"Later, out in the street, a woman who looked like one of the original DAR girls stared at me and sadly shook her head. I don't think that she appreciated it when I stared back at her and shook mine just as sadly.

"But seriously, Ed. Walking around the streets and sometimes working and always hoping makes you understand the feelings of all of the fellows who are in your boat. Most of them are getting pretty disgusted with

Van Anderson and Joe Smith.

GOBBLER ATTACK

The Gobblers, by the way, expect to have a smart, well-timed attack. Tech believes that its line, which looks to be faster than the forewall that gave Carolina a real battle at Chapel Hill last fall, will acquit itself well on Foreman field in Tidewater Virginia's big game. The line is bigger and more experienced and expects to be at its best—which it must be in order for Tech to have a chance.

a democracy which can't take time out from partisan squabbles to adjust them to something a little closer to decent living. And you can hardly expect fellows like us not to be affected to the emotional promises of the Coughlins and the Kuhns. Fascism breeds in the empty pockets of disillusioned youth and feeds from the full pockets of untempered industry.

"Instead of lamenting our near death with as yet unnecessary tears let them weep for our present without promise. It's taken a horrible war to remind the nation that America has a healthy youth. Now that we've been 'discovered,' let them find a place for us.

"Sincerely,
 "DICK."

1 CAMELS were found to contain more tobacco by weight than the average for the 15 other of the largest-selling brands.

2 Camels burned slower than any other brand tested—25% slower than the average time of the 15 other of the largest-selling brands! By burning 25% slower, on the average, Camels give smokers the equivalent of 5 extra smokes per pack!

3 In the same tests, Camels held their ash far longer than the average time for all the other brands. Yes, those choicer tobaccos for which Camel pays millions more do make a difference! Camels are the quality cigarette every smoker can afford.

"With a cigarette as good as CAMEL, it's swell to get those extra puffs!"

SAYS LLOYD CHILD,
 FAMOUS POWER-DIVE TEST PILOT

LLOYD CHILD at Buffalo Airport, scene of his recent world record power-dive—more than 575 m.p.h. in the Curtiss Hawk 75-A—pauses to give his slant on cigarettes: "I've smoked Camels for about fifteen years. I knew that they were the long-burning cigarette. That means more smoking for my money. On a pack of twenty, as those scientific reports show, it's like getting five extra smokes per pack. It's the right kind of smoking, too—mild and swell, cooler, non-irritating, better for my kind of steady, day-after-day smoking." Don't miss the fun of smoking Camels! Enjoy their matchless blend of choice tobaccos...while enjoying the economy of that long-burning feature that makes Camels "penny for penny your best cigarette buy."
