

Sororities End Silence Period With Formal Pledging Today

Rushes To Report To Mrs. Stacy To Receive Bids

Following a two-day period of absolute silence between sorority girls and rushes, bids will be issued today to approximately 65 coeds by the Alpha Delta Pi, Pi Beta Phi, and Chi Omega sororities. Girls who have bids have been notified by Dean of Women Mrs. Marvin H. Stacy and will report to her office between 8:30 and 1 o'clock today.

All girls will list the sororities in order of preference and will submit the list to the dean. Mrs. Stacy will then see if the first sorority listed by a girl has issued that girl a bid. If so, the girl will receive that bid and no other. If the girl does not have a bid from her first choice but has one from her second choice, she is given that one. If she has no bid to either her first or second choice she will be given one from her third choice.

No girls will actually receive more than one bid. If a coed wishes to accept her bid, she is expected to visit the house of the sorority she intends to pledge between 5 and 6 o'clock this afternoon.

Dorsett, Joe Felmet, Irving Alperin, Harry Hamilton, Edwin Mashburn, Gregory Perky, William Hancock, Charles Woodson, Billy Woodson, Joe Davis, John Busby, N. C. Browder, and Joe Blickman. Former chess champion of all New York schools and last summer's victor in the summer session tournament, Feldstein has an impressive record to fall back on. He has indicated that he will make an unmerciful assault on his opponents and will finish them in short order. Bob Magill has made preparations in the lounge so that all spectators may get a good view of the evening's proceedings. The tables will be spread out across the room, forming a long, narrow battle line. Dr. Glen Hayden, reputed to be (Continued on page 4, column 2)

Largest Southern Herbarium Operated By The University

Dr. W. C. Coker Is Director Of Plant, Shrub Collection Located In Davie Hall

The largest herbarium in the South is located at the University, under the direction of Dr. W. C. Coker of the botany department. The collection, consisting of dried flowering plants and shrubs and fungi, is located in Davie hall, where new specimens are constantly being identified and catalogued. Plants have been sent here from all parts of the world to be identified.

Dr. Coker, a Kenan professor, was instrumental in developing the herbarium. When he came to the University in 1902 he found a small collection left by Ash, which he used as the foundation for his collection. The botany and zoology departments were separated in 1902, which facilitated the growth of the herbarium. The private collection of Harbison was added a few years ago, and the collection now numbers roughly 85,000 specimens. An original method of protecting (Continued on page 2, column 3)

STEWART, ROBERTS LEAD DISCUSSIONS FOR YMCA GROUPS

Junior-Senior Cabinet Accepts WCUNC Invitation

"Are We Justified in Not Going to War?" a discussion led by Mike Roberts, was the basis for the program at the Junior-Senior YMCA cabinet meeting last night, while the Sophomore cabinet participated in a discussion led by Dr. Don Stewart on "Living in Accord with God's Will."

Roberts broke the main discussion into two parts, the first of which was, "Should We Stay Out of the War." After prolonged debate, an affirmative decision was clinched by the statement of Bill McKee, YMCA Secretary; "Stay out—someone must keep a calm, clear head in order that a just peace be reached."

PREVENTION "What Can We Do to Prevent the U. S. from Going to War?" was the second division of the problem. The consensus was that the abatement of pernicious propaganda and the avoidance of entanglements would do more than any other course to keep America out of war.

All of the Junior-Senior cabinet members from Carolina and State college will meet in Greensboro Oct. 22, which is the first day of the Religious Emphasis week being sponsored there, for supper and a platform meeting with the Women's college YWCA. The invitation was accepted and the social committee, composed of Syd Alexander and Jack Vincent, was put in charge of arrangements for the trip.

President Alex Bonner, of the Sophomore cabinet, opened the meeting with scripture reading and prayer, after which plans for the social to be held jointly with the YWCA cabinet Monday, October 23, were presented.

Dr. Stewart in opening pointed out the distinction between the scientific and the spiritual approach to God. The discussion completed a series of four studies of the subject, "God," taken from a book of that title by W. M. Horton. Next week, the cabinet, led by Dr. Stewart, will review this series and complete the plans for the social.

Only a few days will be allowed this year for such corrections so each student is urged to respond promptly to this request.

All freshmen wishing to join fraternities are requested to make complete pledging arrangements with Dean Bradshaw's office in South building.

Department Heads Asked To Submit Summer Programs

Guy B. Phillips, secretary of the summer session, has requested the heads of all departments of schools of the University to submit the programs they intend to offer for the summer school session of 1940.

The budget for the next summer session will be the same as it was during the past session, but changes in courses are invited and encouraged. It is believed that some of the courses which were offered last summer, and which did not have a very large enrollment, could be supplanted by new courses for which there is great demand. The estimate of the new courses must be turned in by November 1, as preliminary announcements are going to be published before Christmas. Catalogue material will not be required at this time, however, but at a later date.

Dean R. B. House is director of the summer session and Phillips is secretary.

IRC To Broadcast

Cooper Accepts CPU Invitation To Speak

BVP Phone Service Disrupted By Fire During Weekend

Telephone service in BVP dormitories was interrupted over the weekend when, it is alleged, someone set fire to the telephone just outside the Vance store.

Residents milling through Vance early Sunday found the wall badly smoked and the insulation on the wires along the wall burned away. The repairman of the telephone company said that no repairs will be made to the service until an investigation is made to ascertain the prankster.

Unburned wires leading directly from the telephone show that the fire did not originate in the phone itself. Dormitory consensus of opinion holds that paper placed on the pay box was ignited by an unidentified person.

"Please Keep Off The Grass," Ask Campus Groups

Several University organizations, including the Interdormitory council, the Interfraternity council, the Student council, the DAILY TAR HEEL and the buildings department in cooperating in asking the students to keep off grass on the campus. Notices were delivered to all dormitories yesterday asking students to use paths and walks instead of making their own paths on the grass.

UNDER THE PLOW The buildings department will be asked to plow up the paths which have been made on the grass and to plant these plots in grass seed.

This marks the first time that such a concentrated effort has ever been made towards achievement of this purpose and it is hoped that with the cooperation of so many of the campus organizations, the move will be successful.

Friendship Council, Holds Steak Fry, Community Sing

Inaugurating the freshman social season, the Freshman Friendship council last night held a steak fry and community sing at Battle park with over two-thirds of the members attending.

Trucks left the YMCA at 5 o'clock yesterday and transported the stag crowd to the park. Steak was served with the usual trimmings, followed by a community sing and numerous "bull sessions" which rounded out the evening's entertainment.

Sam Williams, chairman of the committee on arrangements, said, "if this is a sample of the way our entertainments are going to be in the future, Oh boy!"

Lyons Says Hitler Can Expect Little Help From Mussolini

Traveler

J. C. Lyons of the Department of Romance languages, who has just returned to the campus from his annual European tour which gave him an opportunity to observe first-hand conditions leading up to the present war.

Panel Discussion To Include Smith, Broughton, Maxwell

Chairman Harry Gatton of the Carolina Political union yesterday announced the acceptance of Tom E. Cooper, mayor of Wilmington, to appear on the panel discussion program to be held in Memorial hall Wednesday, Oct. 18. The program will mark the first time in the history of the state that four prospective candidates for the governorship have appeared on the same platform.

Other unannounced gubernatorial aspirants also slated to speak at that time are A. J. Maxwell, state commissioner of revenue; and J. M. Broughton and Willis Smith, both Raleigh attorneys. The subject which the four men will talk on has not as yet been announced, although it is probable that the text of the speeches will be left to the "candidates' own discretion.

Although none of the four men has officially announced his candidacy, it is generally accepted by citizens of North Carolina that all of them will do so shortly after the first of the year.

VARIED CAREER

Cooper has had a varied career in the state political scene, formerly holding down a legislator's post and serving as the mayor and commissioner of public safety in Wilmington. It is expected that most of his support for governor will come from the eastern part of the state.

Each of the four speakers will make short talks, after which an open forum (Continued on page 4, column 5)

DI TO DISCUSS AID TO CANADA

Induction Of New Members Scheduled

Whether or not the United States should aid Canada in the event of invasion of the Dominion by an outside foe, will be the main topic for discussion when the Di Senate convenes tonight at 7:15 in New West.

Also on the calendar is the bill: Resolved, that President Roosevelt should act as mediator between the belligerent nations now involved in war.

FINAL VOTE Final vote on five new applicants—already passed by the executive committee—for membership in the senate will be taken at the meeting, with initiations of the new men immediately following. If all five are approved, it will bring the total number of initiates to 16, 11 already having been approved by the senate.

Plans for intercollegiate debates with literary societies of nearby colleges, sponsored by the Di, will probably be discussed.

"Italian Soldiers Might Rebel At Any Plan Of Fighting With Germany," Professor Believes

By JO JONES Germans can expect little help from Italy is the conviction of Dr. Corydon Lyons of the department of romance languages who has conducted European tours of collegiate groups every summer for many years and has therefore had an excellent opportunity to observe changing conditions abroad.

Dr. Lyons came back from his last tour recently with the firm belief that Mussolini will hesitate to help Germany because he realizes that, although it is possible for him to order the Army out, the Italian soldiers might rebel at any plan of fighting with Germany.

DISLIKES HITLER "Italians as a mass dislike Hitler," he says. "There has been an attempt at cross-colonization in Italy to promote better relations between the Germans and Italians. At every Italian hotel we stopped in we found several German waiters, but the opposite of the original plan has been the result.

"There was also a persistent rumor afoot that Germans had been placed (Continued on page 4, column 2)
