

Student Legislature Tables Bill On New Constitution

EDITORIALS:
NYA Funds
It's Here

The Daily Tar Heel

WEATHER:
Cloudy and warmer

THE ONLY COLLEGE DAILY IN THE SOUTHEAST

VOLUME XLVIII

Business: 9887; Circulation: 9886

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1940

Editorial: 4356; News: 4351; Night: 6906

NUMBER 100

Join The Fun! Student-Faculty Day Is Here!

Changes Made In Membership; Daily Tar Heel Editor Added

Sherman Smith

Marjorie Johnston

... our king and queen ...

Teachers, Pupils To Celebrate Sixth Annual Holiday Affair

SMITH, JOHNSTON TO BE CROWNED AT CORONATION

Crowning, Jamboree Scheduled For 7:30 At Memorial Hall

Sherman Smith and Marjorie Johnston will be crowned king and queen of Student-Faculty day at a combined jamboree and coronation tonight beginning at 7:30 in Memorial hall.

The coronation, scheduled at the end of the first act of a two-act program titled "Pass In Revue," will be all-musical. It will introduce an original ballad, "You're the Queen of My Heart," with music by Jack Page and Jim Byrd and lyrics by Sanford Stein. A trio, composed of Gene Turner, Ralph Bowman and Roger Matthews, will sing portions of the ballad and will hum in the background while Mr. Smith sings.

DIRECTOR MCGAUGHEY

Carroll McGaughey, DAILY TAR HEEL news editor, will be director for the entire revue and has written many of the skits and lyrics. His assistants will be Sanford Stein, Olivia Rhodes, Morris Rosenberg, and Mary Wood.

The jamboree will open with a musical prologue and the first skit will be "Three Publicity Hounds," presenting the campus' three greatest publicity professors, whose identity has been kept a strict secret. Jack Page and Jim Byrd wrote music for the skit and Director McGaughey wrote the lyrics.

A Grail dance ballet will be presented next, carrying satirically through an entire Grail dance evening. Olivia Rhodes will be the heroine and McGaughey the hero.

"The Trial of the Buccaneer," a short skit by Morris Rosenberg, will follow and will directly precede the coronation.

WOOD BROADCASTS

The second act will open with a half-hour variety broadcast by the University radio studio, featuring the music of Charlie Wood and his orchestra.

Fred Calligan and Vivian Gillespie will then present a tap-dancing duet, and Jane Rumsey will lead a chorus of coeds in a novelty song, "Gentlemen, The Carolina Coed," with music by Jack Page and Jim Byrd and lyrics by Sanford Stein.

A satirical presentation of Coach Ray Wolf and members of the football team will follow, entitled "Pinafore—and Aft." The Captain's song in Pinafore will be used as the melody.

The revue will close with a special skit written by McGaughey, "Groan with the Wind," and a grand finale.

'Information Please' Begins Gala Events In Memorial Hall

Students and Faculty members will today present the sixth annual Student-Faculty day festivities, featuring pop quizzes, a "Song-Title" Ball, dorm and fraternity receptions, a carnival, and a gigantic jamboree in Memorial hall this evening.

Activities will get off to a flying start at 10:30 this morning when a self-styled "Information Please" program, such as the one presented over the National Broadcasting system every Tuesday evening, will feature seven of the University's sharpest wits. With student-submitted questions on hand, the "pop quiz" program will test the depth of the knowledge contained in writer-mathematician Archibald Henderson, Ph. D.; "Harmonica-heaving" Dean R. B. House; B. F. Swalin, traveller-violinist extraordinary; Howard Odum, authority on milking cows and other farm products; Rex Winslow, pride of economics students and quick-trigger-man; Coach Ray Wolf, of gridiron fame and noted pep-rally speaker; and E. E. Ericson, upholder of American democracy and literary scholar.

ROOM CONTEST

Receptions and open house in the dormitories will follow the quiz program at 11:30. A contest for a "Dream man's" room will be conducted by a

(Continued on page 4, column 2)

DORMS AND FRATS COMPLETE PLANS

Profs To Begin Rounds At 11:30

With all skeletons safely stowed away in the closets, fraternities, sororities and men's dormitories will hold receptions for the faculty today—the sixth annual Student-Faculty Day.

Professors and instructors will begin their rounds this morning at 11:30 when they will visit the dorms. They will be received by coeds chosen by each dorm to act as hostesses. Refreshments will be served in rooms especially decorated for the purpose.

At the same time a committee of coeds will be judging the contest for the "Dream Man's" room. Each dormitory will have one room for entry in the contest. A free moving picture has been promised by theater-manager E. C. Smith to the men of the winning building. Judges will be Doris Goerch, Stacy Crockett, Ruth Ashburn, Judy Duke and Jo Martin.

Faculty members will be taken to lunch at 12:30 by organized dormitory groups.

Similar receptions at fraternity and

(Continued on page 4, column 3)

News Briefs

By United Press

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 5 — Scandinavian newspaper says Russian division wiped out with nearly 18,000 dead north of Lake Norgoda.

WASHINGTON — Democratic national committee by one vote margin decides to hold this year's nominating convention in Chicago, first place of the New Deal and scene of President Roosevelt's nomination in 1932; James A. Farley authorized to fix the date.

HELSINKI—Finnish hospital ship anchored in unidentified port bombed and machine-gunned by Russian plane.

HYDE PARK—President Roosevelt writes statistics to support claim New Deal heading national economy toward complete recovery and a balanced budget, challenges opponent to prove that the country is "going thus" under his administration.

LONDON—British and French aid to Finland may be increased and sped up as a result of allied supreme war council division in Paris.

NEW DELHI — Conferences between Gandhi and the British viceroy of India collapse, apparently when the two men could find no common meeting ground on India's demand for immediate dominion status.

PARIS—Allied supreme war council sees possibility of "real war" in the spring.

ROME—Government indicates Mussolini will withhold any new activity on a Balkan security block until Balkan nations "transfer their express intentions into reality."

MIAMI — AFL served New Deal pressing "deliberate nation-wide drive" to bring organized labor under its thumb.

WASHINGTON — Stormy house committee investigation of NLRB Chairman J. Warren Madden engaged in "black listing."

WASHINGTON — Supreme court formally inducts newest member, Associate Justice Frank Murphy, agrees

(Continued on page 4, column 1)

Motion Tabled Because Of Low Attendance

By PHILIP CARDEN

The bill to present a new student government constitution for a vote of the student body was tabled until next Monday by the Student Legislature last night after an hour and a half of discussion and minor revision.

Principle change made last night in the proposed constitution was in membership of the legislature. As proposed by the constitutional committee headed by Phil Ellis the document provided for 48 representatives, and the body changed this number to 50.

The two additional members included were the editor of the DAILY TAR HEEL and an extra town students' representative, giving town students six instead of five legislature members.

Decision to add the TAR HEEL editor as a member of the legislature came in spite of opposition of Martin Harmon, this year's editor, who gave as his reason for opposition that the editor would look at legislative problems from a legislator's viewpoint instead of an editor's and would be likely to use his extra influence to advance his own ideas.

During discussion and revision of the bill, Representative Mitchell Britt proposed that the section entitled "Powers" be sent to the Ways and

(Continued on page 2, column 4)

Today's Events

- 10:30—"Pop Quiz" at Memorial hall.
- 11:30—Receptions and open house in dormitories.
- 12:30—Faculty members to be taken to lunch.
- 2:00—Carnival in Tin Can.
- 4:30—Reception and open house in fraternities.
- 7:30—Coronation of King and Queen at Memorial hall.
- Jamboree at Memorial hall.
- 10:30—"Song Title" Ball.

Page, Byrd Begin Campaign To Popularize Composers

Song Writing Team Seems To Draw Melodies Out Of Air; Put First Efforts On Trial

Two small, blonde-headed freshmen will put on public trial tonight their first efforts in a campaign to make the University as famous for its composers as for its band leaders.

The boys are Jack Page and Jim Byrd—a song-writing team that seemed to draw melodies out of the air when Director Carroll McGaughey sorely needed music for his Student-Faculty day jamboree, "Pass In Revue," beginning tonight in Memorial hall at 7:30.

FOUR FOR FOUR

Page and Byrd had written only two songs before in their lives, but in four days produced two novelty songs, a coronation march and ballad, and music for a grand finale. "They ended our worries over music," said McGaughey. "At rehearsals the cast sat around asking 'the little boy to play that song again.'"

It all began last quarter on an Indian summer Saturday afternoon in Hill music hall. The boys were just passing time when Jim sat down and struck a few chords. "You know," said Jack, "that would make a good beginning for a song."

It did make a good beginning for a song, "Love's Gone Wrong," which Jack and Jim have copyrighted and intend to ask Kay Kyser or another prominent band leader to introduce. It also began a song-writing team which is expected to continue activity through four years of studying music at the

(Continued on page 4, column 1)

DANCE IN TIN CAN TO END HOLIDAY JAMBOREE HERE

Prizes To Be Awarded On Basis Of Best Costumes Presented

Irving Berlin, George Gershwin, Bach, and other music notables will attend a dance by proxy tonight when costumes representing song titles will flood the floor and bring sartorial synecopation to Carolina.

The annual Student-Faculty ball has this year as its theme the names of songs—popular and classic. Everyone attending the hop will be dressed to represent a hunk of music and personalized arrangements in sharps and flats will be the order of the evening.

Starting at 10:30 tonight the two featured bands, Jimmie Farr and Freddy Johnson will alternate on the jiving. These two grooved campus organizations will play until 1 o'clock when another stude-prof day will be

(Continued on page 4, column 5)

POP QUIZ SKIT BEGINS PROGRAM AT 10:30 TODAY

Queries Submitted By Townspeople And Students

Beginning Student-Faculty day festivities, the "Pop-Quiz" program, styled after the well-known "Information Please" feature sponsored by Canada Dry, will be presented in Memorial hall this morning at 10:30.

Questions for the "Pop-Quiz" were submitted by students, faculty members and townspeople, with a free ticket to the gala Song-Title ball going to the persons whose queries stump the six University professors.

QUIZ MASTERS

The professors on the board who were chosen for their wit, versatility, and general knowledge are: Dean R. B. House, administrative executive, and harmonica virtuoso; B. F. Swalin, violinist, traveler, English and music major; Howard Odum, expert on sub-Mason-Dixon affairs, Jersey bovines, sociology, and author; Rex Winslow, economic wizard with unmatched wit; Coach Ray Wolf, football and sport authority, one of the country's leading gridiron mentors; and E. E. Ericson, English professor, traveler, authority on the English language and

(Continued on page 4, column 6)

CARNIVAL HEADS AFTERNOON'S BILL

Two Cents Admits You To Big Show

Shades of Phineas T. Barnum! His superlative adjectives are at last made to seem dim and weak. His heretofore unparalleled showmanship has finally been proven amateurish. Men, he was a piker.

All Hollywood, with its superlative superlatives, would be overtaxed to describe the Student-Faculty day carnival which makes its bow to the campus this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

B. J. Johnson, Vance Hobbs and their gang of dorm, frat and coed John Robinsons have done their derndest, and even they admit that it's perty good.

FOUR-CENT LIMIT

For the price of two sticks of chewing gum, two cents, one fifth part of a dime each and every man, woman and child on the campus of the great University of North Carolina will be allowed to step inside the portals of the greatest show of all time. Once inside they will discover that at no booth will they be charged over four cents.

Game concessions such as bingo, spill-the-milk, basketball throw, wheel of chance, shooting gallery, golf range,

(Continued on page 4, column 4)

Jack Page And Jim Byrd

... they wrote the music ...

Student-Faculty Co-Chairmen

TOM STANBACK

BARBARA LISCOMB

... credit where credit is due ...