Probable Winners In Indoor Games

and Irwin of Duke, and W. Remine and G. Remine of Richmond.

440-yard run—(8:32)—A. Miller of Maryland lowered the conference record one second to .51 last year and placed outdoors. W. Brown of Duke was unbeaten last spring as a freshman. Curl of W&L won this event in 1938. Others are Rockwood of VMI, Warfield of Maryland, and Hoffman, Groves and Haigh of Carolina.

FIELDS, Md.

880-yard run—(9:25)—Kehoe of Maryland set the present mark of 1:56.8 in winning last year and bettered that already this winter when he was second in the Millrose games to John Woodruff, whose time was the fastest ever run in Madison Square garden. Kehoe's time was about 1:53.9. The field is Kehoe—the only sure winner. Wise of Carolina was alternate on the Millrose two-mile relay team as a sophomore. Cason of W&M has been running half-miles a long time. Others are Muller of W&L, Cronin of Maryland, Jones of Duke, and French of Carolina. Davis of Carolina and Chronister of Maryland should place if they run.

One-mile run for the Lionel Weil trophy—(8:25)—Chronister of Maryland is defending champion, having won over Davis in 1939 in 4:16 on a last lap sprint. Davis turned tables last spring and beat the Old Liner in 4:14.2 for a new conference record, and at Baltimore two weeks ago Davis beat Chronister by eight yards while running second to Archie San Romani in the Governor's mile. Davis was ranked sixth best collegiate miler in the country last year. Others are Murray of W&L, Vawter, Branch and Allen of Carolina, Jones Profenius and Beeson of Duke, and Gwathmy of Richmond.

Two-mile run—(9:30)—Crockett of Carolina won the outdoor two-mile last spring in the record time of 9:40.4 and Hardy of Carolina was second, also bettering the old mark. They were first and third in cross country. Fields of Maryland won this event as a sophomore last winter and was unbeaten in cross country dual meets last fall. Crocker of W&L is another harrier star. Others are Brett of Duke, Herring of Richmond, Kellogg of Davidson, and Vawter of Carolina.

One-mile relay—(10:10)—Maryland won last year in record time, and all but one of the four relayists is back. Strong contenders always are Carolina, Duke, W&L and W&M.

Broad jump—The first event, beginning at 1:30 in the Tin Can. Corpening and March of Carolina placed one-two last winter and were second and fourth outdoors in the spring meet. Little of South Carolina was third behind them last year and won outdoors. Morris of Maryland and McAfee of Duke are other leading jumpers. Others are Glick of W&M, Thompson of State, Vail of Duke, Mengel, Vogler and Gardiner of Carolina, and W. Remine of Richmond.

High jump—(2:30)—Corpening of Carolina won in six feet one and one-sixteenth for a conference indoor record in 1939 in an all-Carolina high jump finish. March and Patterson of Carolina tied for second. Willmott and Moyer of Duke have also hit six feet. Others are Peek of Richmond, Mengel of Carolina, and Gwyn of W&L.

Pole vault—(7:30)—Many contestants have cleared 12 feet and should make this event better than last year. Montfort of Duke won the conference last winter and again in the spring, reaching 12' 7 1/2" outdoors. Chambers of Duke cleared 12 feet as a freshman. Raul of W&M was second twice to Montfort. Hanff of State placed outdoors. McLeod of Carolina was good last spring as a freshman and has improved greatly. Gilbert of W&L placed last winter. Others are Fyles of Duke, C. Moore of Richmond, and Davis of South Carolina.

MONTFORT, Duke

Shot put—(1:30)—Competitors here are about even. Lach of Duke was unbeaten last year as a freshman, bettering varsity distances. Nania of Duke, former Metropolitan discus champion, placed last spring. McVay of Richmond has matched Nania's distance of 44' 5". Others are Slagle and White of Carolina, Boisseau of W&L, and Sinar of Duke.

Non-Conference Slants

60-yard dash—(7:40)—Chabot of Navy won last year and starred in the sprints outdoors. Maas of Virginia is also good.

70-yard high hurdles—(8:00)—Fuller of Virginia, a Durham boy, was beaten only once last year in two hurdle races. He won this event last winter. He will be matched against Vasa Cate of Georgia, a protegee of Spec Towns, the former world record-holder, who has predicted a great future for Cate. Fuller and Cate are even in this race, and should break the record set by Towns in 1936.

880-yard run—(8:20)—Fredriksen of Georgia, Healey of Navy and Small of Georgia Tech, all crack distance men, should make this a speedy race. Fredriksen is a 4:20 miler, Healy won this event last year. Small is just as outstanding.

Shot put—(1:30)—McLaughlin of Virginia, Hahnfeldt of Navy and Lambeth of Newberry are about equal. McLaughlin won last year. Hahnfeldt was a prep school and plebe star and may beat McLaughlin. Lambeth barely missed placing in 1939.

avored in the 60-yard dash, since Maryland's Joe Murphy isn't competing. McAfee, if he doesn't break the mark of :6.3, should tie it.

The 70-yard conference low hurdle record of :7.8 will also probably be tied with Harry March and Bill Corpening of Carolina and McAfee of Duke leading the field.

North Carolina, defending champion in the conference, is again favored to take the team title, but will be pushed closely by Maryland. Duke should be strong, especially in the field events. Navy and Virginia should wage a strong battle for the top honors in the non-conference division. Georgetown, winner in the freshman division last year, is not bringing its crack frosh squad, and therefore leaves the field wide-open. A large delegation of high and prep school stars is expected, and competition in those fields will also be close.

The following conference teams are entered:

The triumph gave Carolina 15 and three for the regular season. The team will rest until Monday when the draw for the tournament will be in. The draw will be made Sunday at Raleigh.

Wrestling

Devil 136-pounder.

The only man to be fighting his last bout in a Carolina uniform tomorrow, Captain Blackmer plans murder at least for his 145-pound Blue Devil opponent, and if past performances mean anything those plans will no doubt pan out. In six fights this year, Walt has only dropped one, that being on a decision to Washington and Lee's polished matman, Tommy Fuller.

Another veteran of the sextet of 1940 bouts on the Tar Heel schedule, Roger Weil will take over matters in his regular spot at the 155-pound division. Coach Quinlan will again call on Sam Gregory for the 155-pound honors with veteran Steve Forrest doing the wrestling at 175. Former 175-pounder Don Torrey will tangle with Duke's Bolu Perdue in the unlimited contest.

As for the Tar Babies, Bill Redfern will start matters off in the 121-pound fight, with Co-captain Hobie McKeever out to add another victory to his unscathed record as a frosh 128-pounder. Kent Henderson at 136 pounds will be looking for his of 145-pounders in action. Citadel's Lempesis, who decisioned Ed, licked Evans of VPI, and the re-match should prove interesting.

Bob Farris was the fourth Carolina man to make the semi-finals. Robert decisioned Citadel's Rucker with a left jab and a right loop, bloodying the Cadet's nose and taking all three rounds by a safe margin. Tomorrow Bob meets Lofton of South Carolina, who licked Duke's Morel. Farris drew with Morel last week.

Tar Heel marching continued when first victory since the Davidson slaughter, while 145-pounder Bill Somerville has another unblemished slate to keep clean. Out for two meets because of a bad ear, Somerville came back Wednesday and pinned his man in five minutes. Co-captain Clement with a cracked bone in his chest, will be out of the meet, but Frank Mordecai will replace him in the 155-pound battle. Either Lee Gravelly or Sinclair Jacobs will do the freshman wrestling in the 165, with Johnny Staples back at 175-pounds. Earle Yates will round off the freshman affair for Carolina with his fight in the unlimited class.

Chemical Fraternity Inducts New Members

Alpha Chi Sigma, national professional fraternity, inducted seven new men last Saturday. The new members are B. F. Aycock, C. M. Beavers, E. L. Powell, Q. R. Ranson, A. C. Russell, P. J. Simons, and W. G. Tebbins.

Red Sanders got a bloody decision over Belmore of Virginia Tech. Belmore was tough and willing, but Red rocked him with lefts and a few rights to win easily. Action was slow in starting but Sanders warmed to his task and finished up by nearly getting a TKO. Citadel's Dick Ulrick, beaten once this season by Sanders, tangles with Red in the semi-finals.
