Gals Are Dazzling Sight In "Kiss The Boys Good-Bye"

Irene Smart, Playmakers Assistant Costumer, Designed All Feminine Costumes

If clothes make the woman, then the girls of "Kiss the Boys Good-bye" will be a dazzling sight to see when the curtain goes up in the Carolina Playmakers Theater tomorrow night for the first performance in a four-day run of the popular Clare Boothe play.

Irene Smart, assistant Playmakers costumer, has outdone herself and the Paris fashion marts in dressing the feminine half of the show. She has designed and made all clothes to be worn in the play, spurning the usual custom of assembling a ready-made wardrobe for a modern production.

VARIETY

With a Hollywood movie star, a stage-struck belle and a sophisticated lady to dress, Miss Smart had free rein for her imagination. Her ingenuity will be apparent when Elizabeth Carr appears on the stage in her daring version of what a movie queen wears, or Catherine Mallory trips before the lights as Cindy Lou in a billowing gown of the Sixties.

But the show has plenty besides stylish gowns. There's a talented cast schooled by Director John W. Parker, of the Playmakers staff, the same Parker who shaped up last season's hit production of "Our Town" and this season's "The Highland Call." There's a series of handsome modernistic sets designed by Fred Walsh, of the Playmakers technical staff. And, of course, there's the inimitable Boothe brand of mordant wit that set Broadway by the ears when "Kiss the Boys" played in New York last season.

Tickets for "Kiss the Boys" may be secured from the office of the Playmakers business manager, at 316 South Building, or at Ledbetter-Pickard stationery store.

Di Senate To Elect Officers Tonight For Next Quarter

The Di senate will hold its quarterly executive session to elect officers for the Spring quarter tonight at 7:15 in New West.

The meeting will be closed to non-members, but members absent without an excuse approved by the sergeant-at-arms will be subject to fine. All committee chairmen and executive officers must have quarterly reports ready under penalty of fine for non-feasance.

DEFINITE DATE SET FOR FUTURE COMPREHENSIVES

May 11 Is Set For Spring Quarter Exams This Year

In an attempt to prevent any further conflicts with the dates of comprehensive examinations, the fourth Saturday before the regular examination week in each quarter has been set as the definite date for the exams in the future by the committee on comprehensive examinations.

As a result of this announcement, the date of the exams in the spring quarter has been set as May 11.

The date for comprehensives this quarter was set two or three times and each time it had to be changed because of conflicts with dances and other activities. The committee set this definite date in the hope that it will prevent any such conflicts as were faced by the committee this quarter.

Page To Speak At Duke

Kirby Page, author and lecturer on world affairs, is to speak at Duke university tonight on "How to Keep America Out of War."

Students Pick Neutrality As Leading Problem Today

Collegians Place Unemployment Second In Importance Among Questions Of Nation

Student thought on the college campus, like public opinion elsewhere over the nation, is now turning towards the November elections and the issues that are likely to be involved. The collegians of the country agree with the American voter that the most important problem of the day is how to keep the United States out of war. Unemployment comes next.

Interviewers for the Student Opinion surveys, of which the DAILY TAR HEEL is a member, asked students over the nation "What do you believe is the most important problem facing the United States today?" From every section, New England to the deep South, Middle Atlantic to the Far West, the answer of the greatest number was the same: how to stay out

Phi Beta Kappa May Change Eligibility Rules For Fraternity

DRAMA FESTIVAL TO BE HELD HERE EARLY IN APRIL

Ten Dramatic Groups From Seven Southern States Will Appear

Demonstrating the theme of "Drama in the South," 10 dramatic groups from seven southern states have accepted invitations to present original one-act plays based on native folk material for the Southern Drama festival to be held here April 1-6 in connection with the annual state drama tournament, it was announced yesterday by Dr. Archibald Henderson, chairman of the festival committee.

A full program of plays, addresses by both Southern and New York theatrical figures, round table discussions and theatre exhibits is being planned for the festival, which is to be held in celebration of the twenty-first birthday of the Carolina Playmakers, founded and directed by Dr. Frederick H. Koch.

The one-act plays will be presented on Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons and Thursday evening of the festival. Other sessions will be devoted to a full-length Paul Green play about the South and to addresses and forum discussions.

GUESTS

Guest groups from the greatest distance will be the University of Oklahoma from Norman, Okla., directed by Rupert J. Jones; the Tulane University theatre from New Orleans, directed by Monroe Lippman; and Dillard University players from New Orleans, directed by Playwright Randolph Edmonds.

Three former Carolina Playmakers will bring their drama groups from other states, Alton Williams from the University of Richmond; Wilbur Stour from Mercer university at Macon, Ga.; and Roger Boyle from the University of Virginia at Charlottesville.

Groups will also bring plays from the Dock Street Theatre at Charleston, S. C., directed by Charles Meredith; from Furman University at Greenville, S. C., directed by Arthur Coe Gray; from the Guignol Theatre at the University of Kentucky, directed by Frank Fowler, and from Alabama College for Women at Montevallo, directed by Walter H. Trumbauer.

Other Southern directors who have accepted invitations to report on the activities of their groups include Jack R. Brown from Roanoke college, Salem, Va.; Althea Hunt from William and Mary at Williamsburg, Va.; and Carl Glick at the Town Theatre, Columbia, S. C.

Among the distinguished guests who have been invited and are expected to participate in the festival are: Hallie Flanagan, formerly national director of the Federal Theater; Barrett Clark, director of the

MORRISON NAMES JACK VINCENT AS CAMPAIGN LEADER

Interdorm Head Will Lead Drive Of SP Candidate

By CHARLES BARRETT

Dave Morrison, Student party candidate for president of the student body, yesterday announced the selection of Jack Vincent, president of the interdormitory council and chairman of the new student safety council, as his campaign manager for spring elections.

"The support of a boy I admire as much as Jack is very encouraging," was Morrison's only comment.

Vincent, a senior, is one of the 19 University students listed in the latest collegiate Who's Who. He was president of Grimes dormitory before resigning to become president of the interdorm council, is a member of the Graham Memorial board of directors and the student audit board, and is a past member of the University club and student legislature.

MUTUAL ADMIRATION

"I have admired and respected Dave Morrison for the past three years," he said last night, "and am glad of the opportunity to help try to put such a fine, capable man into office. In my opinion, Dave is one of the most sincere and efficient men to ever represent the University."

"Ever since his entrance here he has entered into scholastic work, student government, and athletics with a vigor and determination to do the best he possibly could. No one can deny that he has succeeded in his many and varied endeavors, and everyone who knows Dave Morrison admires and respects him for his accomplishments."

"As to the coming campaign, I would like to assure both Dave's opposition and the campus at large that there will be no "mud-slinging" or under-handed tricks tried by our organization. We are determined to keep this presidential campaign on a high level, and to observe all the rules of honesty, fairness, and gentlemanly conduct."

REPRESENTATIVE CAREER

Morrison is entering his campaign with one of the most varied and representative records of achievement of any student in several years. He has maintained a scholastic average of over 95, while gaining wide recognition as a track star. Illness has prevented his participation in recent events, but he is expected to be a leading member of the team this spring.

He has received special commendation for his work as chairman of the junior class honor council, and has been junior class representative on the student council. He has been selected into the Grail and University club, and is assistant exchequer of the former and treasurer of the latter.

He has been acting president of the Monogram club this year, and president of Aycock dormitory. He is a freshman adviser, member of the orientation committee and student audit board.

Move Would Delete Requirements Other Than Scholarship

Members of Phi Beta Kappa honorary fraternity will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in Gerrard hall to consider a proposed change in the fraternity by-laws concerning eligibility of juniors, Watts Carr, vice-president, announced yesterday.

The change under consideration is the repeal of provisions written in last year that other things than scholastic average should be taken into account when selecting juniors to the fraternity.

SPIRIT

"A committee of active Phi Beta Kappas, feeling that the new eligibility requirements are not in keeping with the true spirit and ideals of the fraternity, is attempting to return to the old standards, which placed the primary emphasis on scholarship—where it rightfully belongs," the statement by Carr, Jack Fairley and Lynch Murphy said.

The requirements which the committee want taken out are that: not fewer than eight nor more than twelve juniors may be admitted; the following factors about a candidate will be considered: the opinion of all of the members of his major department by whom he has been instructed as to intellect and scholarship; the opinion of his General College adviser; the opinion of each of the faculty members under whom he has studied; and the general difficulty of the curriculum followed.

If the amendment is repealed, junior membership in the fraternity will be unlimited except by the amount of work completed and the grade average attained.

SCOUT LEADERS TO GET SCHOOL

Training Institute Is Planned Here

A training institute for scout leaders throughout region six of the Boy Scouts of America will be sponsored by the University of North Carolina here March 16, 17, 18, it has been announced by R. M. Grumman, director of the University extension division, who, along with Professor Harold D. Meyer, Scout educational director for this region is in charge of local arrangements.

Region six takes in Georgia, Florida, North and South Carolina.

The institute will offer courses to trainers in leadership training organization and extension, advancement, health and safety, camping activities, finance, cubbing, senior scouting, and inter-racial scouting.

Other institutes to be given next month are scheduled at the University of Florida March 1, 2, 3, and at the University of Georgia March 8, 9, 10.

Director of all three is W. A. Dobson, regional executive, and his associates are Herbert Stuckey, deputy regional executive, and Gilbert Bush, special deputy executive.

Members of the national council of the Boy Scouts who are assisting in arranging the institutes at all three institutions are: Harry K. Eby, assistant national director of education and relationships; Thomas J. Keane

Phi To Complete Broadcast Plans At Meet Tonight

The Phi Assembly, at its weekly meeting tonight at 7 o'clock in New East, will make final arrangements for the Phi-sponsored radio program, which will be broadcast over the Tar Heel network next Tuesday night.

Bob Sloan, chairman of the radio committee, will make a short report during the meeting, after which his group will finish the final arrangements and a short rehearsal will be held.

Up for discussion at tonight's session is a bill, "Should the student fees be increased 20 cents per quarter in order that the Buccaneer may use pictures after the fashion of Life Magazine?" This resolution was tabled at last week's meeting.
