Over 500 Delegates Expected On Hill For Southern Meet

Over 500 delegates from 144 schools in eight states will be in Chapel Hill Thursday through Saturday, March 21-23, for the annual Southeastern Regional International Relations conference.

Dr. Henry F. Grady, assistant secretary of state, will be the principal speaker. Dr. Grady is in charge of the reciprocal trade treaties, cardinal plank in the Roosevelt foreign policy. His address will be given Saturday evening at a banquet for the delegates.

Dr. Warner Moss, professor of international relations at William and Mary college, will address the delegates Friday.

The conference opens Thursday with a general get-together and an informal dance at Graham Memorial. Dr. Moss talks Friday and various seminars on different phases of international relationships will be held. A formal dance will be held Saturday evening after Dr. Grady's address.

SKIPPER BOWLES TO PLAY

Skipper Bowles and his 14-piece orchestra, newest of the campus musical organizations, will play for both dances. It was announced that the conferences will have a date bureau for all students remaining on the campus during spring vacations. Those interested should contact Manfred Levey at H dormitory.

Seniors Win Cage Game

By SYLVAN MEYER

"Victory." Thus panted the collective senior class yesterday afternoon when the fourth-year warriors conquered the game quint from the junior class to the decisive tune of 34 to 21. This was the fifth consecutive sports contest the Seniors have won over the juniors.

A. C. Hall led the seniors to victory with 13 points, the highest scored by a single player during the afternoon's turmoil while Roy Ash totaled 11 tallies for the third-year squad.

Ed Erickson for the juniors, and Hall for the seniors were voted by their fellow basketballers as the outstanding men on the floor.

At the half-way mark in the fracas, the senior mystery team, which up to the moment the squad hit the hardwood kept the names of the players a deep, dark secret, was behind one point, 13, to 12. Then the rally started and the seniors gained rapid supremacy early in the second period to hold their lead until the final gun, or maybe it was a whistle.

Benny Hunter received the acclamation of the squad after the victorious contest. "Gad, Hunter, you really musta prayed."

Local Chapter Sends Three To AED Meet

Led Blount, Byrd Merrill, and Bill Richardson will represent the local chapter of Alpha Epsilon Delta, Honorary pre-medical fraternity, at its national convention at the University of Oklahoma on March 21-23 for its Sixth Biennial conclave.

A. E. D., which was founded at the University of Alabama in 1926, has a membership of 2300 in 29 active chapters. The fraternity became an associated society of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in 1938.

Two More Pilots Make Solo Flights

H. V. Bounds, a junior from Weldon, and David Pearlman, sophomore from Asheville, made their solo flights yesterday under the local Civilian Pilot training program. Instructor Johnny Doster has soloed six students during the past three days. Ernest Spence, Arnold Breckenridge, Bob Frank and Ridsen Lydon soloed Thursday and Friday.

Halperin Sets New Ad Sales Record For Yackety-Yack

Who said college was all theory and no practice or training for making a living?

Bert Halperin, senior, planned to "go into" advertising, so the first suggestion of his freshman advisor was to get all the experience he could on various campus publications.

Halperin not only took the advice but rose to advertising manager of the student daily paper and this year broke all records for ad sales in the Yackety Yack, college annual, as business manager of that publication.

His total, it was announced yesterday by Professor J. M. Lear of the Publications Union board, is 35 per cent up from last year, breaks the five-year-old record formerly held by Agnew Bahnsen, Jr., of Winston-Salem.

How did he do it? Halperin said it was simple. He just made a systematic contracting of every concern that did business with students or the University down to Kay Kyser's band to whom he sold a full page. And the rest was easy, according to the Yackety Yack manager.

ON HIGH SCHOOL PAPER

Halperin also served as business manager of his high school paper and annual at McBurney, a private school in New York, for three years.

The champion business manager thinks the University's extensive system of publications, which includes a daily student paper and a monthly magazine and comic as well as the yearbook, provides future newspaper and advertising men the best experience to be had.

"Meeting daily deadlines and advertising, quotas is the very next thing to work on a daily paper," he said, (Continued on page 2, column 2)

Until Next Quarter

This is the last issue of the DAILY TAR HEEL to be published this quarter. The first issue of next quarter will appear Wednesday, March 27. All members of the staff are requested to report for work Tuesday afternoon, March 26, at 1:30.

This Week's DTH Poll Shows That The Majority Thinks:

New Parties Will Help Student Government

Students Believe McLemore Is Sincere In Clean-Up Claims

By PHILIP CARDEN

In contrast with the poll taken before the announcement of the Carolina and Rameses parties which showed that 50% of the student body felt there was no place for a third party, a poll taken a week ago showed that 44% felt that the two new parties will help the interests of student government.

This scientific survey of student opinion also showed that a majority of those having an opinion believe Bob McLemore's Carolina party is a sincere effort to clean up politics on the campus. Only 8% gave Bill Stauber credit

CP Nominees Accept Bids To Enter Race

Four Candidates State Approval Of Party Policy

By BUCKY HARWARD

Carolina party nominations were accepted yesterday by Reddy Grubbs for student body president, Ed Hubbard for student body vice-president, Simons Roof for Carolina Magazine editor and Jim Mallory for vice-president of the Athletic association.

"I am proud to accept the nomination for president of the student body tendered me by a group as sincere in purpose as the Carolina party," Grubbs said. "It has always been my greatest hope to see student government at Carolina maintained, strengthened and respected by all."

HONOR SYSTEM

Hubbard asserted: "Endorsing the reform principles of the Carolina party, I gratefully accept its nomination. My platform, which I will announce at a future date, will include plans for stimulating personal allegiance to the honor system."

"The Carolina party has my sincerest appreciation," Roof declared. "Their confidence in my ideas, shown by their early nomination, makes me believe the campus is quite ready for a change in the magazine's editorial policy."

Mallory, who is on the junior class executive committee, has been a star end and centerfielder on the football and baseball first teams ever since his freshman year. His statement yesterday was: "I appreciate the Carolina party's interest in me and am mighty glad to have the nomination for vice-president of the Athletic association. If elected to the office, I would cooperate with my fellow end, Paul Severin, with my best efforts."

Extension Offices Move To Swain Hall

The administrative offices of the University Extension division will be settled in their new location at Swain Hall by tomorrow or Tuesday, it was reported yesterday by R. M. Grumman, director of the University extension work.

The director's office of the Bureau of High School Debating and Athletics, Grumman's office, the Bureau of Correspondence Instruction, and the office of the Playmaker business manager, John W. Parker, began moving last week and are expected to be completely settled the first part of this week.

Remaining in Caldwell hall will be the Bureau of Visual Instruction, directed by Charles F. Milner, and the Radio department and Public Forum offices, directed by Dr. Ralph McDonald.

Who's Got Her Goat?

A posse will leave the Shack this morning at 7 o'clock to look for Jeanne Connell's goat. C. T. Bolick furnished a clue by telephone last night that it was in the neighborhood of Gimghoul. Has anybody got Jeanne's goat?

Baldura Lindemann

... pianist ...

MISS LINDEMANN TO GIVE CONCERT IN UNION TODAY

Program Includes Brahms, Mozart, Bach, Chopin

Miss Baldura Lindemann, Minneapolis pianist, will present a concert this afternoon at 5 o'clock in the main lounge of Graham Memorial.

The program will include "Prelude and Fugue in C Major" by Bach; "Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue," by Bach; "Three Intermezzi, Op. 117," by Brahms; "Sonata in D Major" by Mozart; "Prelude" by Chopin; "Nocturne" by Chopin; "Gavotte" by Prokeff; and "Soiree de Vienne" by Strauss-Gruenfeld.

FIRST APPEARANCE

Coming to North Carolina to present several concerts throughout the state, Miss Lindemann will make her first southern appearance here today. During her years of study, she has worked with many of the leading authorities in Europe and America. In the Frankfurt and Leipzig conservatories, she played under Max Bauer, noted expert on Beethoven. Among her other instructors are: Tobias Mathay in London; and at the music schools of University of Minnesota and the University of Iowa. At present, she is studying under Dimitri Mitropoulos, conductor-pianist, who leads the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra.

With today's concert, Graham Memorial closes its winter quarter series of Sunday afternoon concerts. Bob Magill, director of the union, said yesterday that the series would be continued next quarter, with the probable highlight being a concert by the North Carolina Symphony orchestra.

Senator Bridges Will Open Southern Campaign Here

News Briefs

By United Press

STOCKHOLM, March 8—Diplomatic circles take an attitude of Prussia optimism towards negotiations toward an armistice in the war in Finland as Finnish newspapers report that Premier Ryti will participate in peace conference at Moscow; there is a growing belief in informed quarters that a definite decision of peace negotiations will be reached this weekend; reports that Premier Ryti and other Finnish leaders have already gone to Moscow are still unconfirmed.

LONDON—Norwegian and Swedish again refuse to agree to passage of Allied troops across their territory to Finland as the British and French war cabinet speaks to debate their role toward negotiation for peace in Finland; Scandinavian countries contend that any attempt to send troops across their territory will be considered a violation of neutrality.

LONDON—Great Britain announces settlement with the dispute of Italy over the Allied blockade of German coal shipments and indicates a hope for renewal of negotiations with Rome for a general war trade agreement; 13 Italian ships loaded with German coal are released by British government; in return the Italian government agrees that in the future Italian vessels will not be sent to Dutch or Belgian ports to load German coal.

WASHINGTON — Chairman Key Pittman of the Finnish foreign relations committee proposes in radio speech a 30-day armistice in European wars so that neutrals can offer their services in reaching a peaceful settlement.

ROME—Neutral observers believe that German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, arriving tomorrow for conversations with Premier Mussolini will urge general to remain neutral in the present war as well as develop friendlier relations with Russia.

GOP Dark Horse To Speak On CPU Program March 26

Coming out of the bleak New Hampshire hills to stir the Senate with many a fiery, anti-Roosevelt oration, Senator Styles Bridges, New England's hope for the Republican presidential nomination in June, will open his Southern campaign on the CPU platform here Tuesday evening, March 26 at 8:30 in Memorial hall.

Considered a dark horse in the GOP race, Bridges will carry the support of the New England delegation to the Republican convention in Philadelphia next June. Political observers have pointed out that in the event of a deadlock between New York's crime-busting Tom Dewey, Ohio's Senator Robert A. Taft, and Michigan's "I will not campaign" Senator Arthur Vandenberg, a shift towards Bridges would be a likely possibility. The New Hampshire anti-New Dealer has also been mentioned as in the running for the Vice-presidential nomination.

In his speech here, Bridges is expected to answer Senator Taft, who spoke on the union's platform on Washington's Birthday. Chairman Harry Gatton said yesterday that complete state-wide radio facilities had been secured for the address, and that an open forum and reception in Graham Memorial would be held directly after the "liberal" Republican concludes his talk.

REPUBLICAN BULWARK

Although only 42 years old, Bridges, in his four years on the Senate floor has become one of the bulwarks in the Republican bloc, which has continually fought the President's spending program. Opposed to inflation and taxation, the New Hampshire senator favors balancing the budget by less spending.

According to releases from the Republican national headquarters, Bridges is the typical example of a "self-made" man. At the age of nine, upon his father's death, he undertook the responsibility of managing the family farm. Working for 15 cents an hour in the dairy barns of the University of Maine, and rising daily at (Continued on page 4, column 2)
