University Plans Laundry Deposit Collection Change

In an effort to aid the student, plans are being made by the University business department and the student advisory board whereby students will no longer be required to call at the Laundry department office for their laundry when deposits become exhausted, it was announced yesterday by L. B. Rogerson, business manager of the University.

It has been the custom in the past that when students' laundry deposits ran out, they have been required to make a trip to the laundry office down town for their laundry. Rogerson stated that the present system is not only an inconvenience for the student, but it is also complicated and requires extra work for the laundry department and the business office each quarter.

NEW SET-UP

The new set-up now being planned would be simpler and more of a convenience for all parties concerned. Under this system, when the student's (Continued on page 4, column 2)

CANDIDATE GAINS SUPPORT OF TWO POLITICAL PARTIES

Has Been Prominent In Football, Boxing Class Activities

By LOUIS HARRIS

The University party yesterday concluded its slate of student body officers, by endorsing Gates Kimball, president of this year's junior class and star football player and boxer, for the vice-presidency of the student body.

When notified of his nomination, Kimball said, "I appreciate running on the party ticket and the confidence the UP has placed in me." Kimball will be one of the few exceptions in this spring's three-cornered political race, since he will have only one opponent, Ed Hubbard, who was recently named by the Carolina party. The Student party announced the nomination of Kimball early in the year.

ACTIVITIES

During his three years at the University, Kimball has been active in both athletics and student government. For the past two years he has been a regular tackle on the football team, receiving numerous All-State and All-Southern Conference positions last fall. After the season was concluded, he was elected co-captain of the gridirers for the coming year.

This past winter, he went through the regular boxing season undefeated, scoring many knockouts over Southern Conference foes. In the conference tournament in Columbia, he lost a close decision to Warren, Clemson, heavyweight.

In last spring's elections, Kimball was chosen by his classmates to serve as president of his class. In that capacity, he has been a member of the Graham Memorial board of directors, and has directed several inter-class activities. As recognition for his merit in both athletics and student government, the Order of the Grail last year tapped him for membership. He is a member of DKE fraternity.

University Professors Edit Monthly Research Journal

Leavitt, Russell Publish Quarterly Magazine For Southern Universities

By VIVIAN GILLESPIE

Professors are emerging from their dusty dens and giving themselves and their brain-children some much-needed publicity.

Dr. S. E. Leavitt, professor of Spanish at the University, and Dr. H. K. Russell, professor of English, are editor and assistant editor respectively of the "South Atlantic Monthly," a journal which "encourages professional research in the South Atlantic states by publishing information about activities in modern languages."

"The publication is sent free to all presidents and deans of colleges in North Carolina, Georgia, Florida, and Alabama," said Leavitt, "and we hope they'll read it and find what their faculty in modern languages is doing. When a professor is mentioned in an issue, a special marked copy is sent to the president of his college."

BEGUN BY LEAVITT

The magazine started, under Leavitt's direction as a one-page report for the South Atlantic Modern Language association five years ago, and has now grown into a 15-page journal published four times a year. It has a budget of $500 a year, by a small subsidy from the University, a contribution from the Foreign Language association, and advertising.

Leavitt, the editor, is well qualified to manage the publication. He has been at the University since his graduation from Harvard in 1917, and was absent in 1919-20, when he traveled as the Sheldon Scholar from Harvard and visited Peru, Bolivia, Chile, Argentina, and Uruguay. He was a delegate of the United States government to the International Congress on Teaching of Spanish-American (Continued on page 2, column 5)

Two Candidates For Head Cheerleader

'Ghost Writing' Is Favored By 15 Per Cent Of Students

Only 75 Per Cent Disapprove Paying For Themes; 10 Per Cent Indifferent

"Ghost writing," the practice of preparing themes and reports for someone else's class work, gets a thumbs-down expression of opinion from three-fourths of American college students.

What may be more surprising to some, however, is that the other fourth is either indifferent or openly in approval. These are the results of a poll conducted by the Student Opinion Surveys of America, collegiate sampling organization of the undergraduate press, of which the DAILY TAR HEEL is a member.

"What is your opinion of the practice of students paying ghost writers to prepare themes and term papers for them?" was the question presented to a scientific cross-section from coast to coast.

THE FIGURES

Disapproving were 75 per cent; indifferent were 10 per cent; approving were 15 per cent.

Answers to the query were tabulated by the interviewers in five different categories to indicate the intensity of feeling on this issue. These results are given below:

Strongly opposed	54 per cent
Mildly opposed	21 per cent
Indifferent	10 per cent
Mildly in favor	8 per cent
Strongly in favor	7 per cent

ARGUMENTS

Significantly, it may be noticed that a majority of students, 54 per cent, is in the strongly-opposed class. Also, the trend of approval, looking down the preceding row of figures, dwindles down to a mere 7 per cent at a rapid rate.

The chief argument of those who favor ghost writing is that in effect it often helps students by giving them more time to study for more important and pressing courses. On the other hand, the majority of those opposed condemn it as plain scholastic dishonesty.
