

CP, UP Select Merrill For Yackety Yack

Pan-American Club Symposium To Be Presented Tonight At 8

Pierson, Leavitt, Orr, Flatow Speak In Gerrard Hall

Celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the Pan-American union, the University Pan-American club will present a symposium on inter-American affairs tonight at 8 o'clock in Gerrard hall.

Dean W. W. Pierson, of the graduate school, S. E. Leavitt, of the Spanish department, Mark Taylor Orr, secretary of the Southern council on international relations, and Bernard Flatow, president of the local Pan-American club, will present ten minute speeches. An unlimited forum will follow the last speech.

Dr. Frank P. Graham was scheduled to present the opening speech, but he was unable to be present. However, at the meeting a message from him will be read consisting of the introduction of the report of a committee to investigate the possibilities for an inter-American university.

DICTATORSHIPS
Pierson's topic will be "The Political Situation in Latin-America," in which he will contrast the "so-called" Latin-American dictatorships with those of Europe.

S. E. Leavitt will outline a "Program of Closer Intellectual Cooperation with Latin-America" through scholarship, art, music, journalism, and sports.

Orr will describe the "Commercial Situation in the Western Hemisphere," emphasizing reciprocal trade treaties, and discussing the barter systems used by Germany and Japan.

Flatow will outline the history of Pan-American relations and recent work toward more friendly relations in answering the question, "What Is Pan-Americanism?"

News Briefs

By United Press

AMSTERDAM — (Thursday)
Five German transports loaded with troops and four German warships were reported to have been sunk in a violent battle with British warships within sight of the Swedish coast last night, while bombing and machine-gunning Nazi planes attacked the northeast British coast in successive waves.

The British naval action in the inner Skagerrak off Sweden's west coast and south of Oslo coincided with a reported threat of the British to shell the Norwegian capital unless the Germans release it from their "protective" grip by noon today.

Oslo was being evacuated in scenes approaching panic after planes battled over the city and bombs were dropped in the outskirts killing three persons. The British reported that at least six and perhaps nine of the German bombers which raided northeast Britain were brought down after turning machine gun fire on two towns, the Scapa Flow naval base, and a convoy off the coast.

In the Skagerrak naval battle, which began at 3 p. m. yesterday and lasted until after midnight when the fighting had extended down into the Kattegat strait between Sweden and Denmark, unconfirmed reports described the sinking of four German cruisers and five troop-laden German transports.

Another battle was reported by Swedish radio to be raging at sea in the Oslo fjord after the supposed ultimatum calling for German abandonment of the

(Continued on page 2, column 1)

Marriage Conference Is Held At Duke Today; Dr. W. P. Few Gives Welcome This Morning

Durham Professors Will Participate On Today's Program

Today's sessions of the sixth annual Conference on Conservation of Marriage and the Family will be moved from the Carolina Inn to Duke university where four members of the Duke faculty will speak.

Following a welcome by Dr. W. P. Few, president of Duke, at 10 o'clock this morning, John S. Bradway, professor in the Duke law school, will lead a discussion on "Recent Trends in Domestic Law." Another discussion on "Pregnancy and Prenatal Care" will be begun at 11:30 by Dr. Richard L. Pearse of the medical school.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The afternoon session will be opened at 3 o'clock by Dr. E. C. Hamblen, also of the medical school, who will discuss "Endocrinology and Adolescence."

Dr. Bayard Carter of the Duke medical school, and one of the instructors of the course in medicine included in the Duke-Carolina graduate course for teachers of marriage and the family, will deliver the address of the evening at 7:30 on "The Venereal Diseases with Emphasis upon Those Less Known than Syphilis and Gonorrhea."

BILL BROADFOOT ANNOUNCES Y-Y PLATFORM

Plans To Give Complete Picture Of Carolina Life

By PHILIP CARDEN
Bill Broadfoot, Student party nominee and one of two men endorsed by the staff for editor of the Yackety Yack, yesterday released his campaign platform, the keynote of which was, "I want to give to the campus a yearbook which is a true and complete picture of life at Carolina during the year 1940-41."

Main provisions included in his three-point program were substitution of an "outstanding students" section for the usual "outstanding seniors" section, limitation of the beauty section to girls who are at least known at Carolina, and shorter and more interestingly written articles.

Broadfoot, who has been a member of some yearbook staff for the past 10 years, has been editor of the snapshot pages for three years, editor of the senior section last year, and the photography section this year for the Yackety Yack.

CAMPUS BOOK

His platform continued, "I want it to be a campus book instead of a senior book. This is true already in a measure, but there are sections which overemphasize seniors at the expense of the other classes and to the detriment of the book as a campus publication. For instance, I would substitute

(Continued on page 2, column 6)

Education Men Go To Atlanta

Three representatives of the University are in Atlanta to attend sessions this week of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

They are: Registrar T. J. Wilson, Jr., and Profs. Edgar W. Knight and Guy B. Phillips of the Education department.

Dr. Wilson is a member of a number of committees on accrediting colleges, and other institutions of higher learning, and Professor Phillips is a member of the Secondary Schools Commission which will act on accrediting secondary schools.

Dean Ray V. Sowers Discusses "Student Counselling" Here

"The schools and churches alike have been so busy teaching subjects and prompting activities for groups that the emotional and social attitudes, habits and conduct of the individual have been almost completely ignored," Dean Ray V. Sowers of Florida Southern college, declared yesterday before 175 delegates attending the sixth annual Conference on Conservation of Marriage and the Family in session at the University.

"The purpose and the mood of counselling is not to over-bear or dominate the will of the learner, but to help him understand the situation in which he finds himself, analyze it and choose the course of action which will yield the most satisfactory outcome both for himself and for society," Dean Sowers said.

OTHER SPEAKERS

Other speakers on yesterday's program included Dr. Robert L. Dickinson, internationally famous gynecologist and author on marriage and the family, who spoke last night on "Marriage Maladjustments, Their Causes and Treatment," and Prof. Mason Crum of Duke University school of religion; Dr. John H. Merion of the Durham Presbyterian Church; and Prof. Donald Klais, assistant to Dr. Ernest R. Groves here at the University. Prof. John A. Reimers, Ohio State university; and Dr. R. L. Dickinson of New York.

Professor Crum said that merely teaching students the facts of life is not all that is necessary in marriage courses. "A youth may know all the facts and still be unwise, ungracious and unlovely. . . . I believe students

(Continued on page 2, column 3)

Hubert B. Haywood To Speak On Vocation Series Tonight

Graham Memorial Sponsors Speech In Lounge At 7:30

"Medicine as a Profession" will be the subject of a talk to be given by Dr. Hubert B. Haywood, Raleigh practitioner, tonight at 7:30 in the main lounge of Graham Memorial. Tonight's program will be the second in the student union's "Vocations for Today" series.

A graduate of the University in 1905, Dr. Haywood has been prominent in state medical circles for the past three decades. He received his PhD from the University, and finished his medical preparation at the University of Pennsylvania. After he was given his M. D., he returned to Raleigh to practice.

HOLDS OFFICE

At present he holds many offices in state medical associations and serves in an advisory capacity to several hospitals and medical schools. He is a fellow in the American College of Physicians, professor of clinical medicine at Wake Forest school of medicine, and is a member of the North Carolina Board of Health. As recognition for his outstanding work, he was recently elected president of the Medical Society of North Carolina.

In his speech tonight, Dr. Haywood will point out to prospective medical students the advantages and new openings in the field. The purpose of the entire series is to give students who are undecided about future work an opportunity to see the merits of different vocations. Among the fields that have been reviewed since the program was instituted last quarter are: journalism, law, women's occupations, and many others.

McLEMORE SAYS BUC DOES NOT NEED REFORMING

Legislature Men Also Released; Damon Enters Race

By DICK YOUNG

Byrd Merrill, co-staff nominee for editor of the Yackety Yack, will run on the Carolina party ticket for that office, it was announced last night by Bob McLemore, chairman of the CP. Merrill has also been nominated for that post by the University party.

McLemore also announced that the Carolina party would not nominate a candidate for the office of editor of the Buccaneer, declaring, "We make this action because the Carolina party is essentially a reform party and we feel that, since there is no need for reform of the Buccaneer, we should not run a candidate for editor of the humor magazine."

The CP slate of candidates for representatives to the student legislature from the rising junior class was also released last night, along with the announcement of Wilton Damon as the third candidate for student legislature from the rising sophomore class, filling out the hitherto unfinished slate of sophomore candidates.

Junior class nominees for legislature are Manfred Levy, of Richmond, Va.; Gwynn Nowell of Raleigh; and Joe Demeri, of New York City.

Levy, during his two years at Carolina, has been a member of the freshman friendship council, freshman tennis team, sophomore executive committee, Dialectic senate (now sergeant-at-arms of that body), and the Cosmopolitan club. He was recently elected president of the International Relations club, and will serve in that office next year. His scholastic average is well over 90. During his high school

(Continued on page 2, column 4)

Senior Invitations

Commencement invitations will be on sale from 3 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon in the lobby of the Book Exchange for only nine more days, Pres Nisbet and Buddy Nordan, co-chairmen of the Senior Invitations committee, announced yesterday.

Candidates

BYRD MERRILL
... for Yackety Yack ...

SIMONS ROOF
... for Carolina Mag ...

UP NAMES ROOF FOR MAG EDITOR IN BLITZKRIEG

Legislature Posts To Be Published Tomorrow Morning

By LOUIS HARRIS

Completing its nominations of publications editors in a two day blitzkrieg, the University party yesterday nominated Byrd Merrill, co-staff choice, for editor of the Yackety Yack and Simons Roof for editor of the Carolina Magazine.

The party began its barrage of announcements yesterday when it named Don Bishop for editor of the DAILY TAR HEEL and endorsed Mack Hobson for editor of the Buccaneer. Bob Sumner, chairman of the UP, said yesterday that action on the student legislature posts would be forthcoming in tomorrow's paper.

ACTIVE ON STAFFS

For the past five years, Merrill has been active in publications, both while he was in Darlington Prep and at the University. At the Georgia military school, he edited the school year book, and worked on several other publications.

While working on the Yackety Yack, Merrill has held numerous positions. In his sophomore year, he was editor of the junior section, and this year he was in charge of all engraving. Besides his activities on publications, he was recently tapped by Alpha Epsilon Delta, honorary pre-medical fraternity, and he has made the honor roll for the last eight quarters. His scholastic average is a 93.2.

ROOF'S RECORD

Roof has been working on the editorial board of the Carolina Magazine since he was a freshman, and has contributed 21 poems or other articles in the three year period. He is also on the Buccaneer staff and was recently appointed to write part of the script for Carroll McGaughey's "Sound and Fury." Last year, he worked on the feature board of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

An honor student in comparative literature, Roof is present chairman of the Carolina Arts group. In his freshman year, he was president of the modern poetry club, and held membership in the Freshman Friendship council. Last year, he was head of the Undergraduate Poetry club, and was president of the Lutheran Student group.

McKINNON URGES CLASS ACTIVITY IN PLATFORM

Junior Presidential Candidate Names Campaign Leaders

By CHARLES BARRETT

Naming Boston Lackey and Sam Means as campaign managers, Bill McKinnon, Student party nominee for president of the rising junior class, yesterday released an election platform which emphasized a class poll on the orchestra for Junior-Senior dances, more active participation in class activities by committees to be selected with increased emphasis on ability and more representation of town students and coeds.

McKinnon, who was elected secretary of the present sophomore class last year by a considerable majority, said last night, "I am fully aware of the excellent records Sam and Boston have, and of their unusual ability. I am glad to have two such competent persons handle the campaign."

Lackey, a member of the University band and symphony, who has a scholastic average of 93.5, and Means, freshman dance committeeman and an assistant manager of the varsity football team, issued this joint comment last night: "Bill McKinnon is one of the most responsible, capable and cooperative men in the class of '42. His executive ability is unquestionable. For these reasons, we are glad to represent him in this coming campaign."

Pledging himself if elected to use the duties of his office as far as possible

(Continued on page 2, column 2)

Business Managers Applications Wanted

Ed Rankin, president of the Publications Union board, announced yesterday that all applications for the business managerships of all publications and the managing editorship of the DAILY TAR HEEL must be turned in before next Wednesday. The PU board will interview all candidates at that time.

PHIL ELLIS, BOB SLOAN TO MANAGE SPIES' CAMPAIGN

Staff Nominee Entered Race Last Tuesday

Adrian Spies, staff choice and Student party nominee for editor of the Carolina Magazine, yesterday announced the selection of Phil Ellis and Bob Sloan to manage his campaign.

Ellis, president of Grimes dormitory, past speaker of the Phi assembly, secretary of the Interdormitory council, legislature member and contributor to the Magazine, said last night, "I know of no one for whom I had rather work than Adrian Spies. I honestly believe he will, if elected, set a pattern for future editors to follow. He is, to put it briefly, a swell fellow with real writing ability. The staff of the Mag has given him a rousing vote of confidence. I'd like to see the campus do the same."

SLOAN SPEAKS

Sloan, speaker of the Phi assembly, member of the senior class executive committee, and president of Chi Phi fraternity, said "I'm glad to lend my active support to Adrian Spies in this campaign. After all, he has done a lot

(Continued on page 2, column 4)

Di Rehearsal Note

The first rehearsal for the Dialectic senate's radio program will be held in the radio studio in Caldwell hall at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon. All senators are requested to attend. Bill Dees, Dave Morrison and Reddy Grubbs please take note.