CONSTITUTION

Ratification On Thursday

At the bottom of the front page this morning is an important document.

Last spring the campus voters approved a constitution for a new student government body to be known as the student legislature. After many wrangles and false starts, the legislature got under way this past fall. But an antique, impractical constitution made the organization top-heavy and clumsy, and a committee was put to work to draw up a new constitution that would give the University a balanced, democratic student group to take care of the legislative duties.

The result of the deliberations by the committee and the legislature is shown on page one. The committee submitted their draft to the legislature, and after much criticism, the document printed on the front was passed.

The DAILY TAR HEEL is publishing the constitution out of courtesy to the Student Council and to you—voters will be given a ballot to mark "yes" or "no" on the constitution as printed in TAR HEEL this morning.

Voters, turn your attention to the projected student legislature constitution, and decide whether or not it meets your favor. You will vote on it Thursday.

MR. MAXWELL

Adequacy Undefined

The headline in Saturday's DAILY TAR HEEL read "Maxwell Urges Adequate Support For University."

Mr. Maxwell, addressing the Chapel Hill Rotary club, was throwing out a bit of jelly for the palates of the Rotarians particularly, and University faculty members and voting students generally.

Mr. Maxwell was taking time off from the YDC rally in Statesville, where he seems to have his best organization.

The candidate's statement, while sounding very nice and interesting, especially to those who seek the needed additional funds for upkeep, new equipment, and salary increments, was, of course, nothing more than an empty promise.

There was no dollars and cents promise of an increased appropriation.

Naturally it is political strategy to palm off as many generalizations as possible on an unsuspecting public, to shoot out a statement like "adequate support" and cover it up with some other platform plank.

Mr. Maxwell's speech would have been much more interesting—and a much better vote-getter—if he had defined "adequate."

We daresay each and every one of the ten gubernatorial candidates would declare his support for adequate support of the University.

Candidates were offering such a platform when the annual appropriation was only $5,000.

dormitory men running on all three party tickets. A law student, Britt's long experience qualifies him for chairman of the legislature. I deeply appreciate the privilege of working for a man as worthy of campus support as Mitchell Britt."

During his four years at the University, Britt, who is at present a first year law student, has been prominent in dormitory government life and for the past two years as a member of the legislature. A member of the ways and means committee of the legislature, he has introduced several bills during the course of the year, most notable of which was the bill providing the campus with election precincts.

OTHER ACHIEVEMENTS

Another of his measures, providing for a graduate member on the student council, is slated to be taken up at a legislature meeting in the near future. A floor counselor in Everett dormitory last year, Britt was elected president of his dormitory this year. For the last two years he has been a member of the Interdormitory Council. In his sophomore year, he was chairman of the executive committee and was a member of the Phi Assembly.

In announcing the appointment of Dawson to manage his campaign, Britt said, "I appreciate Joe agreeing to work for me. His past record shows that he has been a leader in campus life. I am glad to have a man of his calibre on my side."

Queens College has added 69 new courses for the second half of the present school year.

Constitution of the Legislature

- shall be filled by a member of the legislature, elected by that body itself. (2) Other officers in the legislature shall be a reading clerk, a sergeant-at-arms, and a parliamentarian, each elected by (and from) the legislature as a whole. It shall be the duty of the reading clerk to keep all the minutes of the meetings, conduct all correspondence, keep all of the legislature's records, and keep an accurate roll, in addition to performing the usual secretarial functions. The sergeant-at-arms shall supervise the conduct of the meetings, and shall have the power to evict any member or spectator for failure to respect the decorum of the legislature. The parliamentarian will be expected to become thoroughly familiar with Robert's "Rules of Order," to correct any member or officer on points of parliamentary law, and to be the final judge of disputes involving parliamentary procedure. (3) The legislature shall have regular bi-weekly meetings, the day and place of these meetings to be set by each legislature. The speaker shall call special meetings at his discretion, or at the request of the student body president, who shall be permitted to address the legislature at the beginning of any meeting, and who shall, at other times, enjoy the privileges of any spectator. (4) No bills shall arise from the floor, but shall be submitted by appropriate standing committees, unless a bill is voted out of committee by a majority of the members present. These standing committees shall include a Finance committee, an Elections committee, a Rules committee, and a Ways and Means committee shall handle all matters not specifically within the province of the other committees. The chairman of these committees shall be elected by the legislature and the speaker shall appoint four additional members for each committee. The speaker shall be empowered to appoint sub-committees at his discretion. (5) The speaker shall formally inform each member of the agenda to be considered two days before each meeting. (6) Any member who has more than two consecutive unexcused absences from regular meetings shall be dropped from the legislature. The Rules committee shall be the sole judges of all excuses offered. Successors to dropped members shall be elected by the organization from which they were originally chosen, except in the case of class representatives, who shall be succeeded by men elected by their respective class executive committees. (7) Final decisions on all bills shall be taken by roll call vote, and any member shall have the privilege of calling for yeas and nays on any issue. The final vote of each member on all bills shall be published in the DAILY TAR HEEL on the day following each meeting. (8) A majority of the members shall constitute a quorum to do business.

POWERS

All legislative powers of the student body shall be vested in the student legislature and shall be unlimited except to the extent that:

- (1) The student body shall have the power of initiative whereby laws may be enacted and constitutional amendments adopted by the students independently of the legislature. This power may be invoked by petition wherein the proposed measure shall be set forth at length. If the petition be for the enactment of a law, it shall be signed by ten per cent of the student body and if the petition be for the amendment of the constitution, the petition therefor shall be signed by 16 per cent of the students. The petition thus signed shall be filed with the student body president who shall in turn submit the measure thus proposed to the student body for consideration not later than 15 days after the date of filing. A favorable majority, with at least 50 per cent of student body voting, shall be necessary for the passage of such petitions. The same measure, either in form or in essential substance, shall not be submitted to the students by initiative petition, either affirmatively or negatively, oftener than twice in one school year. The constitutional limitations as to the scope and subject matter of measures enacted by the legislature shall apply to those enacted by the initiative. (2) The student body shall also have the power of referendum which may be invoked, by petition, against any act or part of an act of the legislature. Petitions invoking the referendum shall be signed by not less than 10 per cent of the student body and filed with the student body president. Such petition shall set out the title of the act against which the referendum is invoked, and in addition thereto, the act or sections thereof involved. When the referendum is thus invoked the president of the student body shall refer the same to the students for approval or rejection not later than 15 days after the date of filing. A favorable majority, with at least 50 per cent of the student body voting, shall be necessary for approval. (3) Each member shall be responsible to his electorate and may be recalled from office at any time, if a favorable vote for his recall is cast by the organization from which he was chosen. (4) Any bill shall be subject to the veto of the student council, provided that the council passes such a veto within 15 days after the bill is enacted by the legislature. A two-thirds vote of the membership shall be required to override the council's veto. The council shall submit to the legislature their reasons for vetoing any acts. (5) The legislature shall annually review and pass the budgets of all campus-wide fee-collecting organizations and shall regulate the procedure to be followed by classes in passing their budgets. The legislature shall also set up and pass the student government budget, and shall allot such funds as shall be necessary for the conduct of the business of the legislature and student council. A two-thirds vote of members present shall be required for the passage of these and any other financial measures. (6) The procedure for all campus and class elections shall be set up by the legislature. (7) To ratify or amend this document, it shall be necessary that proposed amendments be passed by the two-thirds vote of the membership of the legislature and then submitted to the student body. A favorable majority, with at least 50 per cent of the student body voting shall be necessary for the enactment of such amendments. The Student Council shall not have the power to veto over proposed constitutional amendments.
