

DEYO IS ELECTED NEW PRESIDENT OF GLEE CLUB

Other Officers Include Brown, Martin, And Hatch

George Deyo, of Fairfield, Conn., has been elected president of the University Men's Glee club for next year, succeeding Frank Turner.

A rising senior, Deyo is one of the outstanding members of the club. He is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

Other officers elected were: Raymond Brown, of Lumberton, vice-president; Raymond Martin, also of Lumberton, business manager, and Hurst Hatch, of Raleigh, librarian.

All of the new officers have taken a leading part in Glee club work for the past year. Brown has acted as librarian and bass soloist; Martin has served as special accompanist and temporary business manager, and Hatch has participated in various activities.

Grateful Alumnus Repays Scholarship Money Double

MADISON, WIS.—(ACP)—Good deeds have a way of rewarding both the offerer and the recipient.

Back in 1899, when a nickel was worth almost a dime, a young University of Wisconsin coed, temporarily in financial difficulty was given two $60 scholarships.

Today this alumna lives in California, has never married, but for 41 years has benefited greatly by her university training.

In the Wisconsin Alumni Association quarterly recently there was an item asking for aid from alumni for the university's needy students of today. Remembering the aid she had once received; she wrote the Alumni association:

"Ask your economics department how much $120 in 1899 is worth today; I'll give that to repay what the university once did for me."

Hillel Cabinet Meets Tonight At 7:30

Plans for the election of new officers will be discussed at the Hillel cabinet meeting tonight at 7:30 in the Grail room at Graham Memorial. All members urged to be present.

Levey Announces Two-Week Campaign For IRC Membership

A two-week membership drive was opened yesterday by the International Relations club, announced Manfred Levey, newly-installed president of the group.

The active membership of the club will be limited to 40 students, under a new policy recently instituted. Those applicants who qualify for membership after the quota is filled will be made associate members and will have precedence when vacancies occur in the regular membership. Associate members will attend all meetings but will not have the power to vote.

Membership blanks can be secured either at the YMCA office or from the membership committee, composed of Manfred Levey, Lyman Collins, Mary Lewis, Wimpy Lewis and Vivian Gillespie. Students who wish to join the club are urged to apply immediately because precedence as well as qualifications will be taken into account when applicants are considered.

SPRING PROGRAM

A program dealing with some phase of international relations, as yet undecided, will be held in the large lounge of Graham Memorial on April 22, it was announced at last night's meeting of the club. Programs to be held in conjunction with WCUNC, State college, and Duke are tentatively planned for this quarter. A student-faculty quiz on international affairs is also planned. Committees were appointed and policies for the rest of the quarter were outlined at the meeting.

A large crowd took part in a heated discussion of recent events of the war in Scandinavia at the open meeting held last night.

Henderson Captures

while Rider beat another Carolina man, Bill Rood, in '39.

At the baseball game yesterday, Archie admitted he had to play "about the best tennis I ever have" to set Rider down.

In the fifth and deciding doubles set, Henderson and Guerry led in games 5-4. "I lost on my serve," Archie said, "and from then on Everett and Buxby got the points."

The former Carolina varsity man brought home a gold, engraved wrist-watch for his trophy. Runner-up Rider was presented with a silver plate. Everett and Buxby received leather travelling bags, while Henderson, along with Guerry, got an Elgin travelling clock.

Donald Budge, following his exhibition match with Henderson last Thursday, predicted the local lad would "go far" in tournament circles, if "he continues to hit 'em the way he did today."

If present plans work out, Archie will tour the circuit this summer, meeting the country's top-rankers in several big Eastern tournaments. He wants to start with the Southern tourney in Charlotte June 10, where he gained the semi-finals in 1938 and won the doubles, together with Ted Burwell. From there, it's on to Spring Lake, Seabright, Southampton, Newport, and the Nationals at Forest Hills.

While he was playing the No. 1 and 2 spots for John Kenfield in 1936 and 1937, Archie won the North Carolina Open three out of four times to retire the Bowl trophy. He went to the finals at Spring Lake by beating Wilmer Allison, but lost to Frankie Parker. At Longwood, Henderson came within two points of victory but lost to Bobby Riggs.

RUNNER-UP BOYD

Hudson Boyd was the runner-up performer for the Carolina contingent. He scored a mediocre 80-80-160. Frosty Snow, 81-82-163, and Paul Severin, 82-85-167 rounded out the local foursome.

Chuck Erickson is keeping close check on activities at Hillandale during the next few days in hopes of considerably improving the performances of his dependables. Some of the lesser-lights will be watched too, for a surprise linksman could do much to help the general anemic condition of the divoteers.

Charles Mix To Meet Life Saving Group This Afternoon At 5

Charles A. Mix, having served as life guard at Daytona Beach, Florida, for several years before joining the American Red Cross, will meet members of a life saving group here at 5 o'clock this afternoon to begin the second half of the course now being given.

Mix has been here to conduct life saving courses for the past three years, and many University students have received life saving certificates following his instruction. He has been guard at Daytona Beach since 1925.

WONDERFUL RECORD

He has an enviable record in work performed in connection with his duties along the beachers. He has more than 200 swimming rescues under varying conditions to his credit, as well as the handling of hundreds of first aid cases, many of them of a major type. He has also to his credit the recovery of 15 bodies from the water and 30 resuscitation cases.

Mix is a member of the National Aquatic school held annually at Camp Carolina in Brevard, and brings to his present connection as a first aid and life saving field representative a rich background of practical experience and professional training.

Murals

Tony Sloboda, Edmund Erickson, Seyton Stone, Dante Berini, and Pat Patterson. However, we have a host of fine players ready to make their debut this year.

We have made a splendid record this winter, let's keep it up this spring and this can only come about by each one taking pride in their work and keeping in the best physical condition possible. An occasional beer or cigarette is all right, but don't do either to excess; and by all means keep the relationship with the opposite sex on the up and up.

In order to play baseball with Lewis it is imperative to pass 15 hours work with half C's.

REAL RESULTS

The result was that most of the players rounded into shape under Bowman's watchful eyes during the spring vacation. At the conclusion of spring drills Bowman divided the boys into two teams which he felt were capable of defeating anything in the league. The strongest of the two is formed around the nucleus of Erickson, Sloboda, Jones, Stone and Brantley while the other is paced by Canady, Weadbee, Denning Asche and Cuneo.

With the return to school Bowman claimed that his first team was set for the year and that although it was somewhat weakened by the loss of Pat Patterson and Steve Maronic it would win the dormitory crown. At the time he did not realize that the other dormitory teams might be stronger than usual.

In the opening game against Ruffin No. 2 he found it out and was lucky to win 3-2 as the Ruffin boys played their hearts out in trying to down the favored team. Moreover, there are better teams in the league than Ruffin, and of these "K," "H," Mangum, Med School, Everett, Aycock, Manly and Lewis No. 2 are the strongest while Graham, Grimes, Town No. 1 and BVP loom as the dark horses of the race.

"K" with three victories under its belt has taken the lead in the race and is throwing a big scare in the Lewis team, for if "K" wins the gap separating the two teams will be greatly reduced. The other teams, other than the dark horses, are now in a tie with Lewis for second place and are set for a bitter fight before dropping out of the race.

Old East again came into the spotlight of the dormitory race last week as it won its first game, with the exception of a forfeit, since 1937 when it won the title under the leadership of Pete Mullis. The victory came over Town No. 2 by a 4-1 score with Barber and Moody as the stars of one of the hardest hitting teams on the campus.

Tennis

but it was even worse, and Cornell took three matches to lose 6-3, which is generally considered a moral victory.

The entire tennis team, plus approximately 30 unattached local players, has been participating in the North-South tournament at Pinehurst.

Duke, whose noted Don Buffington was beaten by Ham Anthony at Pinehurst, hasn't lost a match, this season either, but the odds are still in Carolina's favor.

Debating Squad Meets Tonight To Discuss Spring Program

Tonight at 8:45 in the Grail room, the debate squad will meet to discuss the debates for the rest of the spring quarter.

The next definitely scheduled debate is with a team from Randolph-Macon on April 26. Carolina will have the negative of the Pi Kappa Delta question, "Resolved that the United States shall pursue a policy of strict economic and military isolation toward all countries outside the western hemisphere engaged in armed civil or international conflict."

At the meeting tonight, informal discussion of the subject will take place, and tryouts planned.

On The Cuff

more pitchers than any other team in the league owns. The Reds also have Ivan-the-Terrible Goodman, Frank McCormick and two gaping cavities in the outfield. Bill McKechnie is considering using Mike McCormick, no double talk please, but an honest-to-goodness rookie, and Vince DiMaggio of the San Francisco DiMaggio's as hole-pluggers. McCormick was a first baseman in the minors while DiMaggio, both in the majors and minors, has shown an alarming tendency of swinging around lustily on the third strike without any more serious effects than a severe disturbance of the equilibrium of the atmosphere and his manager.

Awhile back everyone was positive the Cards would dethrone the Reds. That was before they looked at the Red Bird infield. If you got technical, you might even say, what infield? Johnny Mize is at first base. Johnny Mize is at first base. Johnny Mize is at first base.

The Cardinal outfield has Joe Medwack, Terry Moore, Enos Slaughter and some green grass as long as the temperature stays under 120 degrees in the St. Louis shade.

The Cardinals are embarrassed further when someone wishes to mention the pitching staff. Curt Davis worked every day last year and is liable to break down some sunny afternoon in the not-too-distant future. If Lonnie Warneke is getting any younger, some enterprising citizen must have recently discovered a fountain of youth in Arkansas. There is no assurance that Bob Bowman, Mort Cooper, Bill McGee and Tom Sunkel will pitch as they did last summer.

FLATBUSH HOPES

Brooklyn has a lot of hopes and the best infield in the National league. If Luke Hamlin can grab himself 20 victories again... if Whit Wyatt can get over his knee-injury and continue pitching as he did at the start of last season... if Hugh Casey wasn't a first year flash... if the name is not Kipling.

The Dodger infield is flashy. Brooklyn has a complete new outfield, complete with white side-wall tires and heater including Joe Vosmick, Charlie Gilbert and Roy Cullenbine—recently of Detroit and one of the young men Judge Landis remembered for Christ-mas.

There is a great disposition to sell the Giants short. But Bill Terry is an astute citizen around the baseball field. He is probably plotting to dynamite the rest of the National league—and he can do it. Don't be amazed if the Giants are first or near there along about August—just give a thought to this corner stuck-away in some convenient poor-house, employment conditions being what they are. Hubbell probably won't come back but Gumbert, Lohman, Melton and Schumacher will. Those Jints are likely to be extremely warm and don't say you weren't warned.

Having paid respects to Sweet Wilyam Terry, it can be safely said the rest of the National league will have a quiet summer.

OH—SOME NOISE

That is if Pittsburgh will not mind Frankie Frisch's bellowing every time the Pirates lose and the good natives around Chicago do not get too annoyed as Gabby Hartnett and Dizzy Dean conduct public debates on the state of the nation and why the Cubs aren't winning. The answer to that last one can be expressed in four short, simple words—they ain't got it. Don't mind it. Just a service of the management. No tipping please. Getting back to the Yankees, only why mention such a nasty word in the public prints?

His single to left tallied Heely in the third and he dropped a short fly to left in the fifth, registering Carney.

It was lucky for the Cadets that their catcher, a Mr. Jones, had his equipment tied down—else it might have been stolen. Carolina had six stolen bases. If second-base was somewhere in centerfield, the fellow would have done very well.

It took Benton time to warm up to his freshman strike-out form, but once he got going there wasn't much the VMI battlers could do except wonder at the inevitability of it all. Red fanned five men the last four innings.

Popeye Jones threatened to set all kinds of hitting records. He had four for five a week ago Saturday and hit safely his first two times out in the fifth, sacrificing to push Mathes and Stirnweiss up a base.

Mathes started in left-field chiefly because George Radman had a lab and couldn't make the game. So Al proceeded to bang out four hits and add further to Hearn's worries. Bunn has five competent outfielders.

Carolina plays again Friday, meeting Davidson at Emerson field. Then to Wake Forest Saturday to engage the Duke killers. It will be a pleasant week-end. Topkins will probably be ready for the Deacon game. He'll miss the Davidson contest.

last year and one of the best frosh basketball players, is reported to be holding down a berth on the Cadet team.

STARTING PITCHERS

Joe Nelson or Howard Hodges will probably start for the Tar Babies this afternoon. Nelson was still suffering from a sore arm yesterday afternoon and Tatum wasn't sure whether he would start or not. If he doesn't begin the game, Hodges who has hurled good ball during his short periods on the mound, will get the call.

The catching problem, which has been worrying the coaches since the first day of practice, isn't settled yet, and at the most three receivers will see some action this afternoon. Steve O'Hedy, who has shown remarkable improvement since he reported for the team, will more than likely start, but will be relieved by Joe Wolf and he in turn by Dave Barksdale.

The Oak Ridge game is the first of two games for the yearlings who have won two tilts in two starts. Two of the four scheduled games have been rained out. The team meets the State frosh here Saturday afternoon.

Carolina's probable starting lineup; Hearn, ss; Oswald, 2b; Roberts, rf; Saunders, 1b; Honan, 3b; Miller, lf; Barrier, cf; O'Hedy, c; and Nelson or Hodges, p.

and Welcome. A general meeting of the debaters and other visitors is scheduled for 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon when Professor George McKie of the University English department will extend a welcome. The debaters will draw for sections and pairs in the first preliminary which will be held at 7 o'clock that evening.

The second preliminary is scheduled for 8:30 o'clock Friday morning, and the final debate will be held at 8 o'clock that evening in Memorial hall, with Dean R. B. House presiding. Dean of Students F. F. Bradshaw will present the Aycock Cup to the winning team.

At 9:30 o'clock on Friday evening a reception will be tendered to all visitors in the Student Union building. The reception will be given by Graham Memorial, the University Club, and the Dialectic Senate.

Other features of the 28th annual High School week at the University will be the 28th annual interscholastic track meet and the 25th annual interscholastic tennis tournament on Thursday and Friday.

Altogether approximately one thousand visitors are expected in Chapel Hill for the various activities of High School week.

fourth place for the Babies, was the other racket-wielder to come close. This match ended at 6-2, 2-6, 7-5, with Markham on top.

In the doubles it was the Tar Babies again. The Carolina netmen made the score a perfect 9-0, when they overcame the Imps in six consecutive sets. The score all the way through was 6-2, 6-3.
