

Grail Initiates 13 Men Today, Gives Annual Awards Saturday

Order Gives Medals For Scholarship

Given to the most outstanding scholastic lettermen in each sport, Grail athletic awards will be presented Saturday night at the last Grail dance of the year, President Paul Thompson announced yesterday. The medals are usually given Award night.

In the past the Grail has presented only major sport lettermen with the awards, giving one to the letterman in the minor sports who had made the best scholastic record.

Also to be given at the dance is a cup to the freshman athlete who has attained the highest record in scholarship. The most outstanding intramural athletes in both the dormitory and fraternity leagues will be awarded cups.

The Grail Interdormitory plaque, given each year to the dormitory with the best intramural and conduct record, will be awarded by the Interdormitory council.

The awards will be presented by the Delegates of the Grail and persons receiving them will be admitted to the dance free of charge.

Awards will be made in the following sports: football, baseball, basketball, track, cross country, tennis, swimming, wrestling, boxing, and golf.

New Men to Appear In Annual Parade

University students, townspeople and various other individuals who might be loitering in the streets at the time, will get their annual round of abdominal guffaws this afternoon when the 13 new men to be taken into the Order of the Grail are paraded through the campus dressed in costumes which range from the ridiculous to the ridiculous.

The 13 neophytes will gather at the court in front of Women's dormitory No. 3. They have been previously notified of the costumes they are to wear.

When the parade line has assembled, the neophytes will proceed to Cameron avenue, up Cameron to Columbia street, and on to East Franklin street. The procession will stop near the Confederate soldier's statue on the north campus and there a short skit will be presented.

At a later time the secret part of the initiation will be held, after which the new men will be full-fledged members of the Grail. They will be entertained at a banquet at the Carolina inn Friday night and will be honored at a dance Saturday night.

The 13 neophytes have been chosen from the rising junior and senior

Comedy Director

Carroll McGaughey is director of the "Sound and Fury" musical comedy "One More Spring," which opened last night in Memorial hall. The production will be presented again tonight at 8 o'clock. Tickets for reserved seats are still available at Memorial hall and at Ledbetter-Pickard.

LETTERMEN LIST 1941 OBJECTIVES

Club Aims to Take Lead on Campus

Raising the Monogram club from dormancy to a position as one of the leading campus organizations is the aim of the lettermen in 1940-41 as explained in the program announced yesterday by Sid Sadoff, president, and the executive committee.

The Monogram men will attempt a program of promotion and education in the state as well as on the campus, creating good-will toward the club. First of six aims is the promotion of a better spirit at athletic contests. The lettermen intend to stop hissing and booing, and whistling at coeds and other women.

The club will sponsor entertainments with stage productions such as "Football Follies" here and in the state, where well-known Carolina athletes will speak at high school affairs and Monogram club banquets. A 15-minute radio program, to be transmitted through the campus studio, is also desired. A man-on-the-street program would be used on the radio.

University Band Elects Henderson New President

Hubert Henderson succeeded Robert Simmons as president of the University band in the annual elections held last Sunday in Hill hall. At the same meeting keys were awarded to all band members of three years' standing.

Warren Simpson was chosen vice-president; Brooker Griffin, secretary-treasurer; Don Wilson, business manager; Ed Keator, assistant business manager; Oscar Zimmerman, publicity manager; Bob Bird, librarian; and Boston Lackey, editor of the organization publication, Band Notes.

Band keys were awarded to Conrad Schingle, Peter Simone, Emmett Brown, Arthur Sweet, Leroy Sharping, Hubert Henderson, Fred Wood, and Joe Nixon.

BRONSON TO GIVE SENIOR RECITAL

Contralto Soloist Sings Tomorrow

Miss Mary Jean Bronson, contralto, will be presented by the University music department in her senior recital tomorrow at 8:30 in Hill Music hall.

Miss Bronson, of Durham, has been prominent in musical activities at the University. She appeared as contralto soloist with the Chapel Hill choral club at Christmas in two Bach cantatas. During her junior year Miss Bronson had a leading role in the annual Gilbert and Sullivan opera, and this year has been president of the University Women's Glee club.

She has often appeared as soloist with church choirs in Durham, and last summer was a member of the selected small chorus of the Duke university chapel choir. She has been re-

CPU to Choose Officers Today

A new chairman for the Carolina Political Union and several other officers will be elected this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Grail room.

Those up for the chairmanship are Bill Joslin of Raleigh, Norman Stockton of Winston-Salem, Ed Kantowitz of Hendersonville, and James Jones of Milwaukee, Wis.

Harry Gattton, chairman, said new members taken into the organization Monday would attend the meeting to watch the procedure of election, but would be ineligible to vote for any of the offices.

Musical Comedy Comes Back

'One More Spring' Will Bring Many More

By Adrian Spies

Playing last night at Memorial hall to what was probably the most receptive audience in Carolina stage history, Carroll McGaughey's "One More Spring" established the "Sound and Fury" group as a regular Carolina entertainment feature.

The musical comedy, chiefly featured by a group of unusually catchy songs by Messrs. Page, Byrd, and Stein, the very talented Virginia Worth and a spirit of stage informality which has been so sadly lacking in local theatrics, was established as an audience hit from the first few seconds—when Jane Rumsey sparkled an appeal that reached even the frigid last seats of mute Memorial hall. With lapses that came from a script which only occasionally dipped into an overdose of the risqué the show moved swiftly and brightly through a series of heavy satire scenes that displayed that side of college life that most of us dreamed about in high school and are still trying to find. We should be indebted to the ladies and gentlemen of the group for at last finding us a very pleasant part of it in their show. From Love to Politics

Laid at a university amazingly similar to this one, the story—never exactly the shining feature of musical comedies—cavorts around from love—requited, unrequited, etc.—to politics and back again to love. The comedy scenes were fortunately short and well done. Paced perhaps by the scene in Frances Gibson's bedroom, when

'K' IS SELECTED BEST DORMITORY, AWARDED PLAQUE

Interdorm Council, Order of Grail Give Annual Prize

"K" dormitory is the recipient of this year's award for the outstanding dormitory on the campus, given by the Grail and the Interdormitory council.

The award is given annually on the basis of the dormitory's development of certain activities such as fellowship among the students of the dorm, maintenance of discipline, athletic participation in intramurals, social functions, and interest in campus activities.

The plaque was presented to "K" at the last meeting of the council Tuesday night. The winner beat Steele out by 3 votes, being considered the leading dormitory on the campus. Points which threw the balance toward the victor were its activities in the field of intramurals, winning two titles, and its acquisition of a social room.

Ott Burton, president of "K" during the last year, received the plaque on which are inscribed the purposes of the award and the names of all winners.

MAG WILL HAVE TWO-COLOR COVER

PU Board Hears Annual to Be Late

Adrian Spies' request that the next issue of the Carolina Magazine be given a two-color cover was granted at a meeting of the Publications union board yesterday afternoon. This will be the first issue of the Mag under Spies' editorship.

The Board also heard Jack Lynch's report that the Yackety Yack would not be released May 15 as had been scheduled but would probably be held up about ten days. Lynch attributed the delay to the difficulty of obtaining certain engravings.

"Deacon" Callahan, foreman of the Orange Printshop, was awarded a Publications union key for his cooperation in printing the different publications.

A motion to change the DAILY TAR HEEL editor's office to the business office was passed. The reason for the change was to give the business department more room. Telephones will be switched and the lettering on the doors will be changed.

Election of circulation manager was postponed until the next meeting.

Dorm Advisership Applications Due

Tomorrow will be the last day that rising juniors and seniors and graduate students may apply at the dean of students' office for the several remaining dormitory adviserships available. This year's advisers who wish to renew their applications must also do so by tomorrow.

DTH to Run Stories On Investigation Of Un-Americanism

Following the recent proposal of the Dies committee to investigate the University for un-Americanism, the Charlotte News has done a little investigating of its own here. Beginning yesterday afternoon a series of five articles on the subject, "Is There a Red Menace at Chapel Hill?" will appear in that paper by Staff Writer T. M. Pridgen, reporter for the News.

The DAILY TAR HEEL has made arrangements to reprint these articles, and the first story will appear in tomorrow's paper. Since Charlotte is the home of David Clark, alleged instigator of the Dies investigation, the articles should have special interest here.

Coeds To Play When Juniors Meet Seniors

For the first time in Carolina's history two romper-clad baseball nines will fight it out on the diamond as coeds of the junior class engage senior class girls in a softball game to end all softball games, preceding a boys' game slated for 4 o'clock next Tuesday.

The announcement was made yesterday by Gates Kimball, junior class president, climaxing a week of challenges and counter-challenges in regard to gridiron battlefields. Benny Hunter recently dared the junior class to attempt a softball game with seniors. Hefty Gates Kimball proceeded to go him one better by including coeds in Abner Doubleday's form of warfare.

Noting that "our juniors are anxious to get a last opportunity to swing at seniors," Kimball urges that senior coeds group together to defeat his lassies.

Accepts Final Opportunity
Formal reply was made to Benny Hunter's stirring challenge to the junior class. The junior class, Kimball replied, gladly accepts this final op-

Since 1904 Golden Fleece Has Tapped 335 Members

Parker Announces Playmaker Award Applications Due

Anyone who anticipates receiving a Carolina Playmakers award this year should make written application to the Playmakers staff not later than tomorrow, John W. Parker, business manager, announced yesterday.

Applications should include a listing of merit points achieved this year or over a period of years. Information concerning credits may be secured at Mr. Parker's office in Swain hall, or at the office of dramatic arts department, 113 Murphy hall.

Mask awards are given each year by the Playmakers to persons who have accumulated eight merit points by participating in the various activities of the Playmakers such as playwriting, acting, staff work, technical work, business management or touring. Awards are not limited to any particular group and will be given to anyone—student, faculty member or towns person—who has acquired as many as eight points.

Chambliss, Williams Receive Scholarships

J. R. Chambliss and T. F. Williams recently received this year's annual Alpha Chi Sigma, professional chemistry fraternity, scholarship award. The two sophomores were picked by a faculty committee as outstanding students in chemistry. The names of these students will be engraved on a plaque donated to the chemistry library by Alpha Chi Sigma.

Albert W. Beaven Is Baccalaureate Preacher June 9

All speakers and the complete program for this year's commencement, which will mark the graduation of the 145th senior class at the University, was announced yesterday by the University administration.

Dr. Albert W. Beaven, president of the consolidated Colgate-Rochester divinity school, New York, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon at the opening exercises Sunday, June 9. The remainder of the day will be given over to musical programs.

Phillips Russell, Journalism Professor, Is Only Charter Member Still on Campus

The Golden Fleece, an honorary society composed of men selected on a basis of their leadership and character, qualities of leadership, and service to the University, has tapped 335 members since it was founded in 1904 with five charter members. Phillips Russell, a professor in the Journalism department, is the only charter member now on the campus.

The Fleece is the oldest honorary campus society at the University and, although several other universities have attempted to establish chapters, it has been successful in keeping the Golden Fleece exclusive for University of North Carolina men.

Several of the faculty members now teaching at the University were elected to the Golden Fleece when they were students. Among these are: Dr. Frank P. Graham, Dean F. F. Bradshaw, Dean R. B. House, H. G. Baity, A. R. Newsome, E. A. Cameron, Horace Williams, J. W. Couch, E. R. Rankin, Dean C. P. Spruill, R. L. Mackie, J. B. Linker, Walter Spearman, E. H. Hartwell, and Albert Coats.

Thirty-sixth Tapping
This year's tapping by the active members will be the thirty-sixth. The active members who will officiate at the tapping Sunday night in Memorial hall are: Jim Davis, Dick Worley, Ed Megson, DeWitt Barnett, Fred Weaver, and Bob Magill.

The tapping ceremony which is one of the most colorful on the campus will be open to the public and will begin at 8 at which time the lights will be dimmed and the doors locked.
