Student Legislature Abolishes Buccaneer, 34-6

Sororities Rush Today; Frats Begin Sunday

Rushing Period Lasts Ten Days, Excluding Oct. 12

By an order of the Inter-Fraternity Council, invitations issued by the various fraternities to the freshmen they desire to rush must be in the office of Graham Memorial by midnight tonight. They will be distributed by that office tomorrow.

Annual freshman rushing will begin at 2 o'clock on Sunday at which time the new men will begin making

Each freshman must visit each fraternity from which he has received an invitation, if only for a short time. Failure to do so will automatically make that man ineligible to join any house on the campus for a period of one year.

From Sunday until the period of silence, fraternities are at liberty to make dates with freshmen, but more than one date on the opening day is not to be allowed.

the rounds of all the fraternity houses from which they have received invitations.

The rushing period will cover a period of 10 days—from Sunday until 9 o'clock Wednesday evening, October 16th. There will be no rushing permitted on October 12th due to the grid game here with Texas Christian.

From October 16th until 2 o'clock Friday, October 18th, a period of silence will be enforced by the Council. At this time the various houses will submit lists of those they desire to bid to the faculty advisers on fraternities, who will confer with those receiving bids as to their choice of fraternities.

The regulations emphasize that any pledging during the first week of rushing is not binding on the freshman.

Pan-Hellenic Honors New Girls This Afternoon

Sorority rushing will get under way this afternoon, when the Woman's Pan-Hellenic association honors all new girls with an informal tea, to be held in dormitory No. 1 from 4 to 6 o'clock.

In the receiving line will be Mrs. Jane Cobb, hostess of No. 1, Dorothy Pratt, president of Pan Hellenic, and the housemothers of the three sororities, Mrs. A. A. Klutz, Mrs. George Bason, and Mrs. Ledalia Gold.

The tea will be followed by a Round Robin to be given Saturday at 3 o'clock. All new girls interested in any sorority at all will meet at Gerrard Hall at that time, and after a short meeting concerning Pan-Hellenic rushing rules, the girls will be divided into three groups and taken on tours of the sorority houses. They will be served refreshments at the house which they visit last.

On Sunday and Tuesday from 3 to 6 o'clock, all houses will hold receptions, and the girls are invited to attend those in which they are interested. Monday and Wednesday from 3 to 6 are calling hours for the sorority girls, and during that time they will be permitted to enter rusher's rooms.

The only organized parties will be held on Thursday and Friday nights, with all three houses entertaining at the same time. This prevents any one rusher from attending parties given by all three sororities, and simplifies the issuing of final invitations.

Indication parties will be held Sunday night, October 13, and bids will be issued on the following Tuesday.

Except for a greeting, silence rules will be observed between all sorority

Sound-Fury Meets Today

Prospects Invited To Discussion

Carroll McGaughey, president of Sound and Fury, will discuss every phase of the organization's activities in a meeting of all students interested in working with the group this year at two o'clock this afternoon in the banquet hall of Graham Memorial. Arrangements will be made for later applicants in case of schedule conflicts with the first meeting.

Cards have been sent at random over the campus to promising student material, and anyone who would like to share in the singing, dancing, stage-lighting, construction, make-up, technical, or business activities is urged to attend. Coeds are especially welcome.

Sound and Fury is an exclusively campus organization formed last year for the purpose of presenting light musical entertainment produced solely by student talent. Last year's productions included a review and musical comedy, and tentative plans for this year follow the same program. The review will probably be presented in the winter quarter, followed by a musical comedy in the spring.

Everyone is eligible to try out for either of these features at any time during the year, but it is necessary to give unity through limiting the membership to 75 students. These will be chosen by a membership committee later in the term.

Bull's Head Tea Scheduled Today

Mrs. Ingis Fletcher, author of "Raleigh's Eden," a novel of pre-revolutionary North Carolina, will talk at a specially arranged Bull's Head Bookshop tea this afternoon.

For five years Mrs. Fletcher worked on the novel and engaged in research to authenticate the scene and time. Tea will be served at 4 o'clock and Mrs. Fletcher will speak at 4:15. Miss Cornelia Love will pour tea and Mrs. Lyman Cotten will introduce the novelist.

Wednesday, October 3, at 4 o'clock the regular Bull's Head Bookshop teas will begin with Dr. E. W. Zimmerman, guest speaker, talking on Puerto Rico. Everybody is invited. Those interested are asked to note the change of hour from 4:15 to 4 o'clock.

Refund Provisions

Ordinarily no refunds will be permitted for courses dropped after seven days from the first day of registration. However, refunds may be made if recommended by the dean of the school in which the student is registered and if approved by the dean of administration.

Extension Course

Dr. Donald Klais will teach an extension class on "The Family" beginning Monday night at 7 o'clock in 104 Alumni building.

First CPU Poll Returns Give Roosevelt Margin

Students Favor National Program Of Conscription

Official but incomplete returns from the Carolina Political Union's questionnaire poll up to 9:30 last night indicated a final tabulation overwhelmingly favoring President Roosevelt for a third term and a national program of military conscription.

The presidential vote shows 1,239 for Roosevelt and 573 for Republican nominee Wendell Willkie.

The conscription count shows 1,551 affirmative and 334 negative votes.

Other Questions

Other information and questions, yet incomplete, are:

Would you favor our entrance into war if it were necessary to save Britain? Yes, 1,032; no, 799; undecided, 40.

Are you in favor of establishing compulsory military training at Chapel Hill? Yes, 1,039; no, 613; undecided, 202.

Yesterday's balloting is expected to exceed any previous campus polls and elections. Indications pointed to a total of approximately 2,200 votes cast.

Harvard Graduate, Berle Is Authority On Pan-Americana

"The forgotten man of the state department"—that could well be Adolph A. Berle's title. Berle, assistant secretary of state, who will speak in Memorial Hall next Monday night under the sponsorship of the International Relations club, is the unpublicized and little-known member of the state department triumvirate of Cordell Hull, Sumner Welles, and Berle.

Berle's specialty is Pan American affairs, which has, until recently, been overshadowed by events in Europe and Asia. He is the economist of the State department, and deals with the more prosaic side of the department, which is less spectacular for his lack of publicity. While Hull has been making reciprocal trade treaties, and Welles has been trotting around Europe playing the polished diplomat, Berle has been working quietly in Washington on statistical affairs and the South American "little brother."

Degrees From Harvard

Born in Boston, Mass., in 1895, Berle received his bachelor, master, and doctor's degrees from Harvard where he made Phi Beta Kappa. He practiced law with the late Supreme Court Justice Brandis in 1916-1917, and later had his own law firm in conjunction with his brother. He taught at Harvard Business school and Columbia Law school. The War claimed him, and he served as a private in the ranks and rose to a first Lieutenancy before the Armistice.

Library Warns Noise Makers

The staff of the University library served warning yesterday to the effect that if the loud commotion in the downstairs lobby accompanying the 9 p.m. rush for reserve books doesn't cease, the staff will oust the persons responsible.

"Get Some Hosies for Your Tosies," Spies Sang While Working at Concession

(Editor's note: This is the first of a series of articles on interesting experiences of Carolina students.)

By Shirley Hobbs

"Get some hosies for your tosies while the wind blowsies." This is what Adrian Spies, editor of the Carolina Magazine, sang to prospective customers last summer when he worked at a boardwalk concession at Asbury Park, N. J.

It was a nickel a try at Adrian's wheel of chance, and the person who picked the lucky number won a pair of silk stockings. His most successful

Registration Total Passes Estimated 4,000

Four thousand thirty-three was announced yesterday afternoon by the Central Records office as the final total for the University's fall registration.

This bore out the predictions made last week by Associate Registrar Ben Husbands and Central Records office director I. C. Griffin, both of whom estimated that the fall enrollment would approximate 4,000.

Detailed compilation of registration figures is being made in the tabulating department in Swain hall and will be published next week.

Olsen Speaks To FDR Club

Urges Members To Back Roosevelt

Urging the members to get behind the Roosevelt campaign and reelect him to the presidency, Dr. W. A. Olsen, professor of the English department, gave the opening address to the first meeting of the new Roosevelt club last night in Hill Music hall.

The newly-formed organization is under the sponsorship of the campus Young Democrats club and is dedicated to the arousing of student opinion and spirit in favor of the continuation of the Roosevelt administration.

Olsen, in starting the fireworks, stated that he was speaking as a "private citizen" rather than a professor. He began by citing the numerous complaints which he said the Willkie supporters are making about the New Deal and its heads.

He dismissed the opposition to the third term as "irrelevant" since the condition of the world at this time is such that the "best man" for the job of President of the United States is one who has been trained in that capacity.

The Republican complaint that the present administration is inefficient, Olsen pointed out, is "due to the fact that that is easy to say when you are sitting in the back seat and not driving."

Former Wrestling Captain Succumbs

Edward Tankersley, 24, University graduate and captain of the 1938 wrestling team was instantly killed when his training plane crashed at Mickey Field, near Dallas, Texas, Wednesday.

Young Tankersley, a native of Greensboro, had enrolled as a flying cadet at Love Flying school in July. He was stationed with the Army Air Corps detachment there awaiting transfer to San Antonio.

Before his enrollment in the flying school he had been quite successful as a salesman for a Fayetteville firm. His adopted father, Dr. J. W. Tankersley, is one of the most outstanding surgeons in the state, and Edward was very popular as a high school student and a student at the University.

Besides his parents, he leaves no immediate relatives.

Another Mag With New Title To Substitute

Title "Buccaneer" Permanently Banned In Long Session

By Orville Campbell
The Carolina Buccaneer is dead. By an overwhelming vote of 34 to 6 the student legislature last night passed a bill doing away with the campus number one publication problem child.

"It took approximately two hours for the assembled group of student representatives to act on the measure. However, throughout the discussion there was little argument opposing the abolition of the magazine which has caused much trouble throughout its 15 years of existence.

The bill, as passed last night, carried out the recommendations presented to the ways and means committee of the legislature by the 11-man student-faculty committee which met last week with Dr. Frank Graham at the call of student body president Dave Morrison.

Title Abolished

The bill clearly states that at no time in the future shall a humor magazine at Carolina carry the name of "Buccaneer." But it is also stated there is a definite need for a humor magazine on the campus and there will be one of some kind in the future.

Comment from the floor seemed to prove that the Buccaneer in its present state is not wanted by the students. Eight members made brief talks, and each mentioned they had talked with students throughout the campus, all of which felt the Buccaneer was doing harm to the University.

At the call of Bill Cochran, speaker of the legislature, Dave Morrison,

Original Paintings By Old Masters On Display Here

A collection of Old European Masters that have never been shown in the United States outside of the Metropolitan Museum of Art will be displayed at the formal opening of Person Art gallery Sunday, John V. Allcott, head of the art department, announced yesterday.

The exhibition, which includes the original work of Van Dyck, Raeburn, Sir Thomas Lawrence, Greuze, and other seventeenth and eighteenth century masters, is open to the general public from 5 until 9 o'clock.

Loaned for the first time by the Metropolitan Museum of Art of New York, the originals display the solid tradition of European painting which flourished in Belgium, Holland, England, and France in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. Masters whose work will be exhibited are Beerstraeten, Cuyp, Van Dyck, Gael, Van Ceulen, Sir Thomas Lawrence, Van Mieris, Molyn, Netscher, Raeburn, Romney, Ruysdael, Temiers, Wilson, Greuze, Le Clerc, Lepicie, Michel, Nattier, and Van Loo.

An amusing collection of twentieth century American lithographs will be shown in the first gallery. The exhibit will continue for one month.

Sound and Fury Hopefuls Meet

All new students who checked in Sound and Fury productions on their activities sheets will meet with Carroll McGaughey at 2 o'clock in the Banquet Hall of Graham Memorial.

Yackety Yack Pix

Editor Byrd Merrill of the Yackety-Yack announced yesterday that all students who have appointments to have their annual pictures taken should have that done before the time scheduled, if they can because the Wooten-Moulton camera has been turning very slowly of late.

Students who have made no appointment may have their Yackety-Yack photos taken at their earliest convenience.

Threats of U. S. Intervention in War Bring Hitler, Mussolini Together Today

By United Press

ROME, Sept. 4—(Friday)—Threats of U. S. intervention in the war on Britain's side as well as a new winter plan of military strategy are bringing Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini together in conference today at Brenner Pass, according to informed Nazi and Fascist quarters.

The two dictators were reported early today to be en route to their favorite rendezvous at the Alpine pass for a consultation which probably will begin about noon (6 a. m. E.S.T.) with the foreign ministers of both countries participating.

From the conference, it was speculated, may come a decision shifting the main theater of war away from the British Isles to the Mediterranean-North Africa area.

Far-reaching diplomatic consideration also was said to be involved in the meeting of Hitler and Mussolini involving Spain and Russia as well as the two dictators' new military ally, Japan.

Last March 18 in the same sudden manner they met at Brenner Pass and eight weeks later the Nazi blitzkrieg rolled across Holland and Belgium on its way to crush France. At that meeting it has been suggested, the approximate time was set for Italy's entrance into the war.

Fascist quarters indicated early today that the two axis leaders probably will decide what their attitude will be in dealing with the United States' possible intervention in the war especially in view of the new Italo-German-Japanese alliance creating new vital questions in the Far East as well as in Europe.

LONDON—(Friday)—The German air force appeared today to have given bomb-weary London its easiest night in nearly a month.

The all-clear this morning came much earlier than usual. Night after night the raiders have persisted until dawn sent them back across the channel.

Shortly after midnight the lethargic raid warmed up for a short time. Then another lull fell over central London

Talented Freshmen Wanted For Union Amateur Program

Freshmen with a talent for entertaining are urged to stop by the Student Union office in Graham Memorial between now and Tuesday morning, October 8, and sign up to appear on an amateur program to be sponsored by the Union that night in the lounge, Richard Worley, director of Graham Memorial student activities announced yesterday.

Anyone in the freshman class is eligible, and any variety of ability acceptable, he said. Roy Armstrong will act as master of ceremonies. "We should be able to make a big thing out of this if the evidence of our first program is any indication of the future," Worley prophesied. "There seems to be an abundant store of talent in the freshman ranks and we're hoping to see most of it come out on this program."

Carolina Drama Group Meets Here

Approximately 100 directors of high school and college dramatic groups in North Carolina are expected in Chapel Hill tomorrow for the fall conference of the Carolina Dramatic Association.

The conference will open at 9 a.m. with breakfast at the Carolina Inn and will continue through the day with sessions at 11 and 2 o'clock.

Professor Frederick H. Koch, founder and director of The Carolina Playmakers, will begin the morning session at the Playmakers' Theater with a talk on "Playmaking in War-Time Canada."

Following Professor Koch on the program will be Miss Gertrude Carraway, North Carolina feature writer, speaking on "The Development of Historical Drama in North Carolina;" Samuel Selden, associate director of the Playmakers, giving a demonstration in play directing.
