

Ambassador William Bullitt To Speak Here

Nippon Envoy, CAA Official Also Asked

Ryan Broadcasts Coast-to-Coast From Here Monday

William C. Bullitt, U. S. Ambassador to France, heads the list of outstanding men who will speak in Chapel Hill during fall quarter under the auspices of the International Relations club of the University, it was announced yesterday by Manfred Rogers, president of the organization.

Other notables who will appear here at the invitation of the IRC are Mori to Morishima, the Japanese envoy to the nation's capital, and the Honorable Oswald Ryan, senior member of the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

Ryan will speak next Monday over a coast-to-coast hook-up of the Mutual Broadcasting company from Memorial hall. Centering his address on the subject of "The Question of Aviation in the National Defense," Mr. Ryan, the man who holds probably the highest administrative position in the development of civilian aeronautics as a national defense measure, will discuss the airplane, not necessarily as a weapon of offensive warfare, but as a primary element of national preparedness.

The Japanese envoy, Mr. Morishima, is to talk here during the second week of November, when he will present the Japanese point of view in the critically strained Sino-American relations and attempt to bring about a better understanding between the two countries.

Ambassador Bullitt has agreed to speak the first week in December. Just returned from France, where

Red Cross Roll Call Begins

Pratt Sets Goal Of Every Student

The 24th annual Red Cross roll call for the year 1941 has begun on the University campus, with the purpose of enrolling every student in this national relief organization.

Col. Joseph H. Pratt, Franklin street, the head of the campaign for the Chapel Hill district, has stated that "Students should feel that this drive is not only by them but for them. Scholarships, hospitalization expenses, and other worthy things are paid out of this fund." This is because of the fact that, out of the money raised from voluntary donations, only fifty cents goes to the headquarters in Washington. The rest remains on the campus and in the community.

Great Need Now

The national headquarters has pointed out that the need for substantial contributions was rarely greater than now due to the conditions which exist in the world today. The Red Cross has sent aid in the form of surgical dressings, garments, medical supplies, and emergency relief funds to England and France to alleviate the suffering of the women and children refugees from the war zones. Though the membership of the organization totaled over 7,000,000 in the last roll call, a still greater membership is desired.

Allcott Lectures On 'Layman's Art'

Art was discussed from the layman's point of view yesterday by John V. Allcott, head of the art department, in his gallery lecture on the collection of Old Masters currently showing at Person hall.

Discussing outstanding pictures in the exhibit, Allcott pointed out some of the techniques used by artists to give color and motion to their work. The differences in methods of painting which were used during various periods and by various masters was revealed, as well as some of the fine points of color harmony.

Included in the collection are landscapes and portraits in the formal style of Flemish, English and French painting of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. Van Dyck, Raeburn, Romney, Sir Thomas Lawrence, Greuze, and Ruysdael included in the collection. The exhibit will be shown through Sunday.

Lynn Gault, Set Designer for Playmaker Show, Is Here on National Theater Fellowship Award

Picturesque Okie Costumes Made by Ora Mae Davis

The sets for "Love's Old Sweet Song" which opened last night in the Playmakers' theater for a four-day run were designed by Lynn Gault, a member of the staff this year through a National Theater Fellowship award. Gault, aided by members of the scenic class, painted and set up both the indoor and outdoor backgrounds.

The interior of Stilianos' home is distinguished by a black marble mantel-piece, set against a Joseph's-coat papered wall. The lawn on which the first act is played is purely Californian in contrast to the numerous Victorian statues and the corner of Ann Hamilton's home that appears in the scenes.

The comical costumes of the Okies and their friends were designed and made by Ora Mae Davis. "We used the material that we had on hand for these simple clothes," she stated.

Tickets and seat reservations for the production are still on sale at the business office in Swain hall, and at Ledbetter-Pickard's in the village. Tickets will also be sold at the box office on performance nights.

For the first time in several years, card displays will be used at the football game. Charlie Nelson and Jane Rumsey, head cheerleaders, have issued a call for 400 students to meet in Memorial hall at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon to receive instructions for the display. Cards have been provided and arrangements have been made to have all members of the card display section to sit on the 40-yard line.

Nelson explained that "every member of the student body must give his cooperation in this attempt to add color to our football games. Ohio State, Minnesota, and Southern California have made a success of it. I'm sure that we can do the same."

All students who wish to support the movement must be present Friday afternoon in order to take part in the display on Saturday.

Carolina Club Plans Study Of State Life

Political, Social, Economic Topics To Be Reported

At the second meeting of the Carolina club, held in Graham Memorial last night, Frank Williams gave the report of the committee chosen at the first meeting of the new group to draw up the organizational structure of the club.

It was decided that the club, which is being formed to study and discuss the economic, political and social aspects of the state of North Carolina and their relation to the club members as citizens of the state, would take different topics pertinent to state activity and committees of club members will study and give their report as a part of the programs for subsequent meetings.

Acting as chairman for the meeting Williams appointed four members of the club to join the structural committee and draft plans for the executive organization of the club. The election of club officials will be held at the next meeting of the club. This meeting was set for Wednesday night, October 30, in Graham Memorial. The newly appointed members of the committee are Maxine Beeson, Charlotte Fittz, Ridley Whitaker and Kenan Williams.

"The Part North Carolina will play in the National Defense Program" was chosen by the club members as the topic for discussion at the next meeting.

Junior Executive Committee Makes Budget Changes

Donations to the University club and the CPU to be made from the budget were voted upon and passed last night at a meeting of the executive committee of the junior class in Graham Memorial.

According to the new budget, the class will probably make donations somewhat larger than those of last year, since the functions of the two clubs were considered to be of great service to the junior class specifically and to the campus in general.

A vacancy left by the resignation of W. T. Martin from his position of representative to the student legislature was filled by the election of Ferbee Taylor.

Godfrey Asserts Need For Spiritual Values In Democracies Defense

"If there is any weak point in the defense of the democracies today it is in spiritual values," James Godfrey, member of the history department stated yesterday at the bi-monthly Bull's Head Tea. "There is on the other hand a spiritual vitality in Germany that is found nowhere else in Europe today. Men have found something higher than themselves that brings them out of themselves, and this makes it impossible to fight Fascism with arms alone."

Godfrey has with his wife just completed a bulletin for the University Extension Library in which he endeavored to trace and explain the position of the United States in relation to events in Germany, France, England, and Italy in recent years.

"Unless the democracies are able to build up spiritual strength equal to the virility in Germany the events of the war are apt to be temporary," he continued. "Few people think of fascism as a positive thing. Fascism in its essence is just as positive as any philosophy ever was."

Asserting that no one could detest the positive doctrines of Fascism more than he, Godfrey enlarged upon the philosophy.

"The doctrines have brought into

Legislature To Consider Mag Proposal

Body To Discuss Committee Report Next Monday Night

Events moved rapidly yesterday after the announcement that the Student legislature's committee had completed its recommendation for a new humor magazine. Bill Cochran, speaker of the legislature, called a special session, at the request of Dave Morrison, to consider the proposals of the investigating committee.

The legislature will convene in the Phi assembly hall next Monday night at 7:30. The report of the special committee will be presented and discussed.

In one of the earliest sessions it has ever held two weeks after school opening, the legislature abolished the Buccaneer and appointed a committee to draw up plans for a new humor publication. For three weeks the committee debated the problem until a final report was prepared for the legislature.

The legislature may accept the report in full, accept part of the proposals, or discard the suggestions of the committee. It is expected that since the new plan calls for a division of power among a group instead of a few individuals, the legislature will discuss the proposal completely.

Dave Morrison, president of the student body and chairman of the investigating committee, will probably present the plans for the new magazine.

Eversman, from Asheville, has played in a number of the South's largest cities within the past few years. He is an honor graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and has had conspicuous success as a concert violinist.

Dr. U. T. Holmes of the department of romance languages will attend the second annual meeting of the Churchman Scholars to be held at Hobart college in Geneva, N. Y., Saturday and Sunday. It is an organization of 25 eminent Episcopal scholars from all sections of the nation.

The purpose of the society, which is composed of a permanent selected group, is to bring the church and education closer together.

JOHNNY HEARN, sophomore class president, will preside at the second year meeting this morning when the class budget and individual Yackety Yack pictures will be balloted.

Sophomores Vote Today

Charlie Wood Is Featured

The entire sophomore class will assemble this morning at 10:30 in Memorial hall to vote on the proposed sophomore budget for the school year. Charlie Wood and his band will furnish music for the meeting, Class President Johnnie Hearn announced late last night.

The budget to be voted on was approved last week by the sophomore executive committee. "Because this budget contains the item of expense concerning individual sophomore pictures, it is imperative that a majority of sophomores be present," Hearn said. He also stated that the fate of individual sophomore pictures in the Yackety Yack largely depends upon the number of sophomores that are present.

In order to approve the individual pictures and pass on the budget, half of the class will have to be present and of these at least 51 per cent will

New Axis Diplomatic Drive Seen as Hitler, Franco Talk

FDR Charges GOP With Propaganda

By United Press

BERLIN, Oct. 23 — Fuehrer Adolf Hitler and Generalissimo Francisco Franco of Spain today demonstrated their "comradely relations" in a long conference on the French-Spanish frontier attended by the highest military commanders of the two countries and Hitler's chief treaty maker.

The meeting, deemed here of great significance, followed by about 24 hours Hitler's conference outside Paris yesterday with Vice-Premier Pierre Laval of France and apparently is a vital phase of a new Axis diplomatic offensive.

The meeting lasted two hours after which Franco was Hitler's dinner guest. They will confer again tomorrow.

Also participating in the conference were the German and Spanish foreign ministers Von Ribbentrop and Ramon Suner.

Most significant was an appearance at the conference of Dr. Friedrich Gaus, chief of the German foreign office judicial department and chief treaty maker. He has participated in drawing up most of Hitler's important pacts and his presence at Endaye suggested that Franco was about to repay his heavy debt to the Axis by finally coming out openly on the side of Germany and Italy in the war with Britain.

LONDON, Oct. 23—Awaiting only Hitler's command to strike, swarms of heavy Nazi barges equipped to land tanks on the British Isles under a shield of U-boats lie massed along a 2,000-mile "invasion front" from the Arctic to Spain, the air ministry reported tonight.

The RAF shattering attacks have spread ruin and disorder along the
