

Dr. Muste, Outstanding Pacifist, Speaks Tonight

CPU Address To Be Held In Hill Hall

Dr. A. J. Muste, director of the Fellowship of Reconciliation and a leader in the pacifist movement, will speak tonight at 8:30 in Hill hall under the auspices of the Carolina Political Union.

The subject of Dr. Muste's address will be "The Pacifists' Alternative to War." Bill Joslin, chairman of the CPU, commented on the views which the speaker is expected to express, saying that, "Though we do not necessarily agree with Dr. Muste's beliefs here in Chapel Hill, we still give him the right to speak from our platform."

Wrote Pamphlet

Dr. Muste, recently caused much interest in Northern circles when he remarked in his pamphlet, "Total War or Total Pacifism. This program of preparedness for impregnability will not deliver us from militarism and fascism: it is a program of capitulation to militarism and fascism; it is defeatism, a counsel of despair. This program will not save us from war."

He has firmly stated on many occasions that the United States should renounce war preparation and war. Going still further he has claimed that this country should offer to use some of the money it will "otherwise squander" on war for the economic rehabilitation of Europe and Asia. He remarks that the U. S. A. should offer to participate actively in building a "federal world government."

Debates War Question

Dr. Muste has declared that the "preparedness for impregnability" is not a way out of war nor a defense against involvement in war. He has claimed that it is an "admission that we lack the initiative and intelligence to find a way out of."

Muste's "friendly hecklers" have often remarked that his program won't work because all men of all races, with negligible exceptions, are beasts. (Continued on page 4, column 1)

460 Tar Heels Show Symptoms Of Tuberculosis

Dr. E. M. Hedgpeth, assistant University physician, reported yesterday that of all new students, each of whom was given a tuberculin test, 460 showed positive reactions and were X-rayed for symptoms of tuberculosis.

Of this number 24 had definite primary tuberculosis, three were suspicious, four showed reinfection with the disease, and one had a moderately active case. All the rest were negative.

The last mentioned student was required to leave school to receive sanatorium treatment.

Dr. Hedgpeth stressed the fact that all students who showed any tuberculin symptoms at all have been notified, called by the infirmary offices, and advised as to treatment.

"Any who have not been notified to come by the office are to consider themselves all right," he said. Those of the 460 students who were X-rayed and showed negative should repeat the test next year, the doctor continued.

University Places Pre-Med Students

Having successfully placed in four-year schools, for the completion of their training, all of the second-year class of 1940, the pre-med department of the University can afford to sit back and take a bow. Pre-Medics, who are now undergraduates, may prudently take their first two years of work here.

The colleges and universities which have accepted the 42 UNC transfers are both widely ranged and excellent in quality. Chicago university has accepted 3, University of Cincinnati 1, Columbia university 1, Cornell 1, George Washington 2, Harvard 2, Johns Hopkins 1, Jefferson 6, Long Island 3, Louisville 1, Maryland 2, McGill 1, New York university 2, Northwestern 1, Pennsylvania 3, Temple 1, Tulane 1, Vanderbilt 2, Medical College of Virginia 1, Washington university 4, and the Woman's College of Pennsylvania 1.

PU Board Acts On New Mag

Jones Appointed Business Manager

The Publications Union board met yesterday to act on the new humor magazine which was created last Monday by the student legislature.

Harry Jones, senior from Winston-Salem, was authorized by the board to hold the position of business manager on the new publication. The editorship will be filled from applications of students, and its name will be chosen in a contest sponsored by the board, with a prize of $5 offered to the person suggesting the best title.

Former Buc Manager

Leonard Lobred, chairman of the board, stated that Jones was given the position of business manager because he had been appointed last spring to serve in the same capacity on the now-extinct Buccaneer and had worked during the summer and this fall negotiating advertising contracts for the Buc. These contracts will now apply to the first issue of the new magazine which will come out during November, as required by the bill passed by the legislature.

The applications for editor are to be sent to Leonard Lobred, in care of the DAILY TAR HEEL, and should be presented before 4 o'clock Monday afternoon so that the applicants may appear before a meeting of the PU Board at that time and be interviewed by the members.

The contest sponsored by the board to find a name for the humor mag also concludes at 4 o'clock Monday. Students may submit as many entries as they please to Lobred. The only restriction is that the names must not (Continued on page 4, column 2)

Erickson Speaks To ASU Tonight

Professor E. E. Erickson will address the American Student Union tonight at 7:30 in Graham Memorial on the subject of the Teachers' Union.

He will discuss the objectives of the Union, the convention which it held recently, and possibilities of cooperation between the Union and student organizations.

Other business at the meeting will be the election of an executive secretary to serve the remainder of the quarter, since the regular secretary, Moe Malkin, is confined at Duke hospital with a broken pelvis.

Members of the ASU are asked to arrive at the meeting promptly to enable adjournment at 8:25 because of the CPU address.

Seniors Must Report By Hobbs' Office

All seniors who plan to graduate in June from the college of arts and sciences and whose last names begin with C, D or E should report by Dean A. W. Hobbs' office at 203 South building today to apply for their degrees.

Carolina Caravan Starts Leaving For Fordham Game at 1:15 Today

Students who plan to leave for New York by bus today are asked to gather in front of the Y today at 1 o'clock, it was announced last night by Jimmy Howard and Al Hughes, co-workers in charge of transportation.

The bus, which is the first of several that will leave for New York carrying Carolina students to the Fordham-Carolina game, will leave promptly at 1:15 o'clock.

With Kay Kyser scheduled to lead a gigantic parade and pep rally from New York on Saturday morning over a coast-to-coast network, more Carolina students than have ever followed a Carolina team in the past to New York are expected to be on hand.

Howard stated that he expected fully 1,000 Carolina students to go from here.

"Tickets for transportation on the train, which will leave late Friday, are being sold at a fast pace," Howard added. "It seems that about half the student body wants to attend the game, and we would like to see them follow the team and cheer it to victory."

Students who plan to attend the game and travel by train have until 5 o'clock Friday afternoon to buy their tickets. Either Howard or Hughes will be at the Y today and tomorrow at the chapel hour and from 2 until 5 in the afternoon to sell tickets and give out any additional information needed.

Howard urged all those who plan to go to buy their tickets as early as possible to avoid last-minute confusion.

It was also pointed out that many ceds are going up on the train. "This should induce many more to go," Howard said.

Greek Submission Hinted Unless British Aid Mounts

FDR Wants More Help for Britain

By Everitt R. Holles

(United Press Cable Editor)

Unless Great Britain makes some sort of an effective show of aid in defense of Greece within a day or two, the Greeks may give up and come to terms with Benito Mussolini on his own conditions, Balkan dispatches implied Wednesday night.

The reports of an impending "deal" between Rome and Athens to end the three-day-old conflict may well be Axis propaganda intended to disrupt Greek morale, but it seemed evident that strong pressure was being brought to bear on Greece by Germany and Italy, and perhaps even Greece's still-neutral neighbors.

Rome hinted that undercover negotiations already are under way with "fifth columnists" among the Greeks, and that pro-Axis Crown Prince Paul of Greece may be thrown upon the throne in the familiar Axis manner to head the nation under its Italian military and naval occupation.

King George II whose British sympathies have been subject of complaint even among his own people in the past then would be driven into British exile for the second time in sixteen years.

No intimation of submission came through the Greek military and po-

CAA Secures New Planes

Also Buys Eight More Parachutes

Piloted by University student Bill Krusen, the first of three new Piper Cubs to be used by Carolina's unit of the Civilian Pilots Training program will arrive about noon today at the Chapel Hill airport from Loch Haven, Pennsylvania.

The second of the three new planes will be delivered next week, but the purchase of the third must await an auction within the next month of two of the old 50-horsepower ships now in use. This addition will bring the University's air force to five planes.

Eight New Parachutes

Eight new $112 parachutes, designed especially for use in Cub trainers, were received Monday from the Switlick corporation. The old CAA regulation required that they be worn only during acrobatic flying, but a rule announced October 1 made parachutes necessary in all flight training. This will not only reduce flying hazards but will acclimate those in training to parachutes, which they would use in time of war according to army and navy regulations.

Costing $1468, the new Piper Cub has a 65-horsepower Lycoming motor. Like the planes now in use, it is fitted with dual controls for special flight training.

Government Provides Funds

Funds for the purchase and maintenance of the program here at Carolina are provided by the government for the training given.

Krusen, who completed his secondary course at State college this summer, is now acquiring flying hours toward his commercial pilot's license. No (Continued on page 2, column 2)

Coach Wolf Holds Clinic Tonight

Coach Ray "Bear" Wolf will hold another of his weekly football clinics tonight at 7:45 in Gerrard hall under the sponsorship of the Graham Memorial Student Union.

This week's clinic will feature movies of the Carolina-Tulane heart-break of last Saturday, with special attention given to the blocked kick with which the Green Wave triumphed over the fighting Tar Heels.

Wolf will describe and diagram this and other plays which are used to block kicks. Also to be explained are the naked reverse or "Sally Rand" play, mouse-traps, and quarter-back sneaks.

The performances of "Sweet" Jim Lalanne, plunging Sid Sadoff, pass-snatching Paul Severin, and other stars in the Carolina line-up will be highlighted, showing on the screen the way in which they strove to carry the Tar Heels to victory only to lose in the last few minutes of the game.

Lettermen Will Sponsor 2:30 Program

Club Will Charge Twenty-Five Cent Admission Fee

Carolina students who plan to stay on the Hill this weekend will have a chance to follow the Carolina-Fordham game by grid-graph from Memorial hall, it was announced yesterday by Sid Sadoff, president of the Monogram club, who is sponsoring the program, which starts at 2:30. Admission will be 25 cents.

In announcing the grid-graph Sadoff said that numerous students had asked him to get the Monogram Club to work it up. "Members of the club met, and we decided that the student body did want to follow the Tar Heels even if they couldn't be there in person," Sadoff said.

Proved Quite Popular

Sadoff also declared that the cost of sponsoring the grid-graph amounted to a great deal of money and that he hoped the student body would respond by attending. He added that the club would like to present the program to the student body free but the cost would amount to more than the club could stand at this time.

In past years grid-graphs have been held on all big games played away from home and have proved quite popular. Two years ago the Carolina-NYU game was sent back to Chapel Hill by grid-graph. Last year there was a grid-graph of the Tulane-Carolina game.

Williams, Morris Elected Officers Of Carolina Club

Frank Williams was elected president of the Carolina club at the first formal meeting of the newly-formed organization last night. Ernest Morris was elected secretary-treasurer.

A permanent executive committee was elected. Ridley Whitaker, Maxine Beeston, Bill Snider, Harry Lasker and Arthur Dixon were selected as members of this body which will be in charge of arranging programs for future meetings of the club. The president and secretary-treasurer will work with this group.

Last night's program was concerned with the position of North Carolina in the national defense program. Harry Lasker and Julius Berger presented reports they had prepared on the topic. In these reports the part the University as well as the state of North Carolina as a whole is playing in the national defense program was brought out.

A short informal discussion of the subject was held after the reports had been given. Ridley Whitaker was acting chairman for the first part of the meeting. After the election Frank Williams took charge.

It was decided that the club will hold regular meetings every two weeks on Wednesday night. "The State Constitution" was the topic chosen by the club for its next discussion, which will be held November 6.

The club's executive committee will meet before the next session of the organization and draw up plans for future programs during the year. Plans were made at last night's meeting to select a current event committee that will give a short summary of the activities in the state during the interval between club meetings. The selection of members for this group was postponed until the next meeting.
