

The Daily Tar Heel

AP Names Severin To First Team All-American

News BriefsSouth Atlantic Naval Battle Seems Likely*Damaged Battleship Seeks Montevideo Harbor Refuge

By United Press

Another South Atlantic sea battle like the one a year ago which led to the scuttling of the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee seemed a possibility Saturday night as the shell-splashed British auxiliary cruiser Carnarvon Castle limped into Montevideo harbor.

The 30,000-ton Warspite, one of Britain's fastest, most formidable dreadnaughts, was reported racing northward in pursuit of a German Sea-raider which battled the Carnarvon Castle Thursday about 700 miles northeast of Montevideo, Uruguay.

From Montevideo came unconfirmed reports that the Nazi raider was the pocket battleship Admiral Scheer, sister ship of the Graf Spee.

The possibility of a desperate struggle in the South Atlantic involving one of Adolf Hitler's two remaining 10,000-ton pocket battleships overshadowed Saturday night the news from Europe's fighting fronts—the blitz seige of Britain and the drive of Greek forces on Albanian soil.

The flight of the Nazi raider and the Warspite's hot pursuit were not many hundred miles from where President Roosevelt, aboard the U.S.S. Tuscaloosa, is inspecting the America's defense.

When the 20,000-ton Carnarvon Castle reached Montevideo late Saturday with her wounded, she bore the marks of at least ten direct shell hits.

See NEWS BRIEFS, page 2.

Klenz To Give Concert TodayUnion Will Present Well-Known Cellist

William Klenz, cellist, will appear in concert this afternoon at 5 o'clock in the main lounge of Graham Memorial. This is Klenz' only Chapel Hill performance this quarter, and his first appearance here since he returned from the South American tour of the All-American Youth orchestra under the direction of Leopold Stokowski.

Klenz has just returned from the state-wide tour of the North Carolina symphony orchestra, with which he performed the Saint-Saens Concerto in A-minor. During the past two years, he has become widely known as a concert cellist in North Carolina.

A special feature of today's program is the setting for cello and piano by Dr. Jan Philip Schinhan, of the University music school, of the Bach chorale "Komm susser Tod." This is the first public performance of this transcription, which was made expressly

See KLENZ, page 4

PAUL SEVERIN, shown above in a typical day's activity, is Carolina's only two-year All-American. The upper photo shows Paul picking up yardage against Tulane on one of his famous ends-around. Lower left, Paul bids adieu to Lucy Cary Easley, his girl friend, on the steps of Dorm No. 2. Lower right, Severin and Coach Ray Wolf discuss formations to be used in the North-South game in which Paul is to play. — (Photos by Jack Mitchell.)

Recital Tomorrow

The first of this year's public recitals by Music department students will be given tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in Hill hall.

Those taking part will be pianists Margie Keiger, Robert Gordon and Thomas Vail; organists John Page and Christine Dobbins; cellist Peter Farrell; and baritone Frank Hanes.

See KLENZ, page 4

Faculty Approves Retirement Pensions For State EmployeesLear Presents Plan To General Meeting

Members of the general faculty approved on Friday the proposal submitted last week by a special state commission to provide retirement annuities for all state employees.

J. H. Lear, chairman of the faculty committee on retirement annuities, presented the proposal which the commission appointed by Governor Hoey has spent almost two years in drawing up.

Here is a brief synopsis of the plan which will be submitted by the commission as a model bill at the January

See FACULTY, page 4

Registration Preliminaries Start Tomorrow

Preliminaries of the new system of registration for the winter quarter will start tomorrow when all student who fails to register before the procuring their permits to register.

The permits will be secured between 9 and 5 on the second floor lobby of Memorial hall according to the following plan:

Monday: all students whose last names begin with A through G.

Tuesday: those whose names begin with H through O.

Wednesday: those whose names begin with P through Z.

Schedule Warning

All students are warned that not only the above schedule but all other regulations of the new registration must be adhered to. Any eligible student who fails to register before the holidays will be fined $5.00.

Sophomores and freshmen in the General College who have not arranged registration appointments with their advisers should do so immediately at Mrs. Rogers' office at 310 South building.

Union Will Sponsor Symphony Broadcast

The broadcast of the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra will be heard this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the main lounge of Graham Memorial.

Koch To Read 'Carol' TonightPerformance Marks 198th Presentation

Dr. Frederick H. Koch, founder and director of the Carolina Playmakers, will give his 198th reading of Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol" in Memorial hall tonight at 8:30.

For the past 36 years "Proff" has read, each year at Christmas time, the immortal Christmas ghost story to audiences in all parts of the country, from tiny farm villages on the Dakota prairie to New York City. When this Christmas season is over, he will read the "Carol" over two hundred times.

Koch started these public readings when he was a young English instructor at the University of North Dakota. At dinner one night he happened to mention to a group of friends that he had reread "A Christmas Carol" and thought that everyone should read it every Christmas. The idea appealed to his friends, so the next Sunday KOCH, page 4

DR. FREDERICK H. KOCH, founder and director of the Carolina Playmakers, reading Dickens' immortal ghost story. "A merrier Christmas Bob, than I have wished you for this many a year!" says Scrooge and

THESE THREE young ladies were caught in their boudoir by the photographer's camera as they unpacked for their history-making stay in H dormitory. From left to right we see Jane Gillett from WC, lingerie from somewhere, Margaret Hancock from Winthrop college, and Evelyn Adams, WC.—(Photo by Jack Mitchell.)