

Swimmers Retain Conference Title By Beating State, 38-37

Roger Weil, Sam Gregory Co-Captain 1942 Matmen

Both Juniors Lost Only One Match In 1941 Competition

Breaking precedence by selecting the leaders for the next season at a meeting following the conference tournament, lettermen chose Sam Gregory of Halifax and Roger Weil of New York City as co-captains of the 1942 wrestling team.

The two captain-elects compiled the best records on the mat team in the recently completed season, both being undefeated in Southern conference dual meet competition, and each having suffered only one loss during the regular season, both at the hands of Navy grapplers. Weil, seeded number one in the 155-pound class of the tournament, lost in the finals to Carter Beamer of VMI, to take second place in that division. Gregory captured a third place in the 165 pound weight by conquering Canup of N. C. State.

Weil, who saw competition in every dual meet of the season, compiled six victories in seven starts, holds decisions over Davidson, Duke, VMI, Virginia Tech, State, and Washington and Lee, bowing only to Bennett of Navy. The Tar Heel 155-pounder, who prepped at Choate, came into prominence only this year, after a rather mediocre season in 1940. Conspicuous parts of Weil's grappling paraphernalia were bandages and plaster, which he wore in most of his matches, due to mat burns, bruises, and boils, which bothered him all year. A steadfast proponent of leg holds, Weil was an aggressive fighter, and his main weapon was a punishing figure-four, which he used to good advantage to tire his opponents.

Although not as aggressive and flashy as Weil, Gregory was a steady performer all year, and turned in five victories in six times out, missing only the Virginia Tech meet because of illness. Gregory held decisions over Duke, Davidson, VMI, State, and

Baseball Slate Lists 23 Games

Carolina's varsity baseball team will meet Cornell, Navy and Springfield, crack Eastern teams, and Michigan's fine club from the Mid-West in feature contests of a 23-game schedule, announced yesterday by Assistant Athletic Director Bo Shepard. Springfield, Cornell and Michigan all come to Chapel Hill for games with the Tar Heels. Carolina will play Navy in the Middies' stronghold.

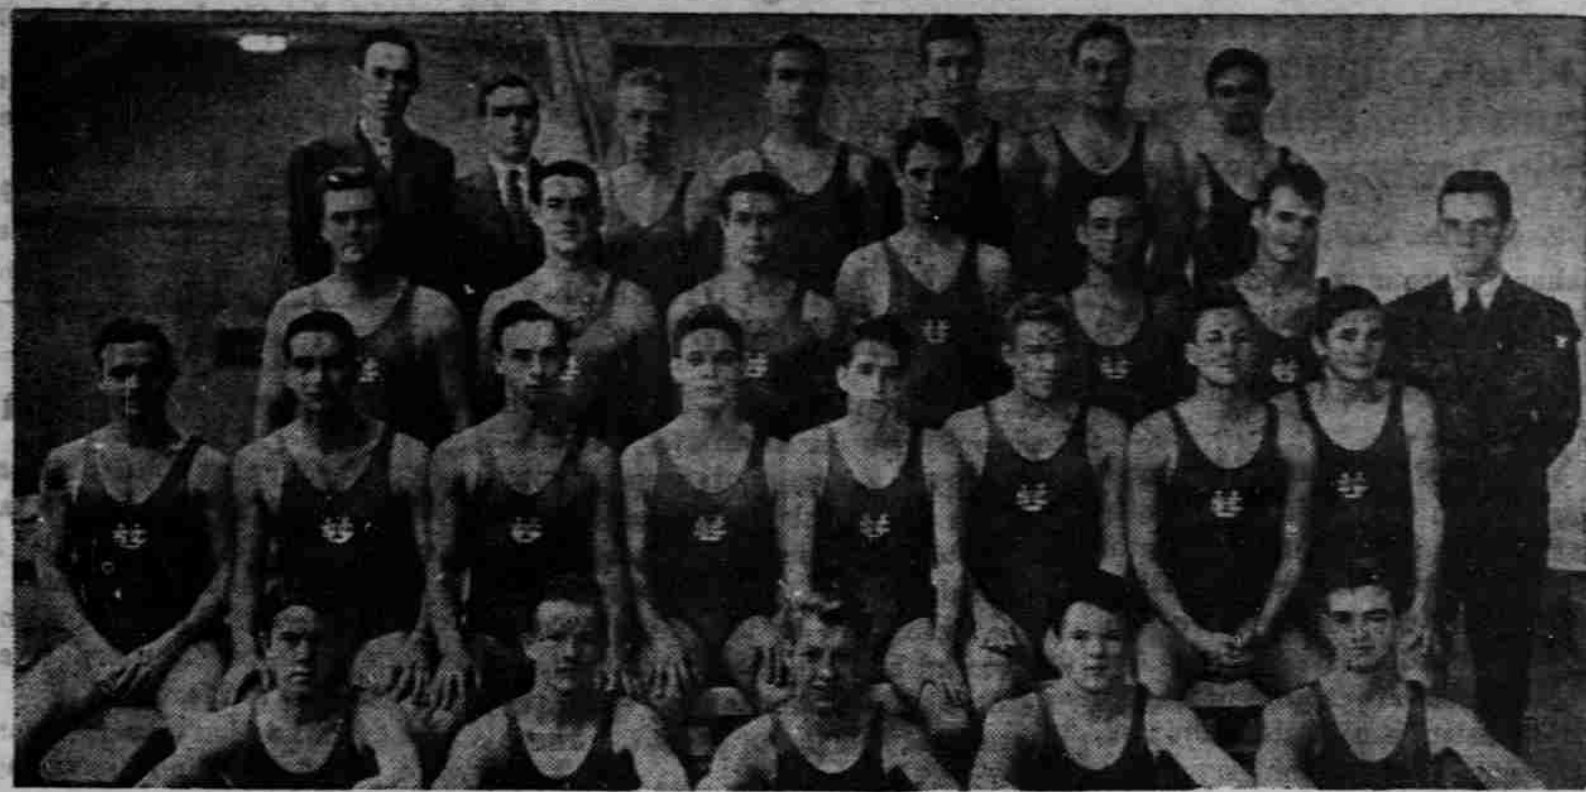

Twenty-one of the 23 contests are with college nines and the collegiate card opens here Wednesday, March 26, with Carolina playing Springfield. Preceding this game are contests with two strong independent teams, May Hosiery and Hanes Hosiery Mills on March 21 and 22.

The annual three-game Carolina-Duke series calls for games at Durham, Chapel Hill, and Greensboro. Carolina will also play eight of the 15 conference teams.

The schedule:

Terrors Give Closest Races Of All Season

By Harry Hollingsworth

Although State captured five first places in the nine events, Carolina's well-balanced swimming team came in with the seconds and thirds yesterday to win a 38-37 victory and its second consecutive Southern conference tank crown.

Although the contest was the most closely contested meet of the year, only two superior times were recorded. Sid Ingram, Southern conference backstroke champion for the last two years, covered the 150-yard backstroke in 1:46.2, but his time didn't compare with previous times. Andy Weiss, swimming to a first place in the 400-meter freestyle, marked up a new University record of 5:35, one second under the old record.

Billy Stone's second in the 400-meter freestyle gave the Tar Heels their last three points, which proved to be the winning margin when the State 400-meter freestyle relay team captured first place and seven points to push the score to 38-37.

Seven dual meet records were broken and one University record was established. State accounted for five of the marks while Carolina was rubbing three off the books.

The feature event of the meet east Roy Gibson and Louis Scheinman against State's Sid Ingram in the 150-yard backstroke. Ingram made an attempt to better the intercollegiate record, but missed it by several seconds. Gibson pushed him for the first 100 yards, but dropped behind at the finish.

Except for Captain Jim Barclay and Billy Stone in the 200-meter freestyle and Don Nicholson and Johnny Feuchtenberger in the diving, State captured first and second in three of the first five events to build up 23 of its 37 points.

The two favorites in the dormitory tournament, Lewis and Law School, took their first games of the cage tourney in fine style. Lewis defeated Aycock, 47-to-22, and Law School overcame Mangum, 53-to-31.

Lewis showed a well-balanced attack in winning its game with comparative ease. They went out into the lead at the beginning and were never headed. Roy Lee Connor used his height to good advantage getting rebounds and took scoring honors with 16 points. Roy Asch with 12 and Charlie Rich with nine points played outstanding games for Lewis. Rodman was best for Aycock with nine points.

Mangum proved no match for the fast-breaking Law School quint and went down, 53-to-31. At the half the winners led, 28-to-12, and increased their lead in the final half. Allen Cobb with 14 and Louis Gaylord with 10 points led the victors' scoring. Ravenel and Stone also played fine games. For the losers Sparrow and Markham with 10 points each led the scoring.

In a hard-fought game K triumphed over Town No. 1, 22-to-20. The K five put on a great defensive game in the second half, holding Town to three points, while they scored eight points. In the final five minutes with Town leading, 20-18, Julian Miller tied the score for K at 20-all and Ralph Crawford dropped in the winning goal with two minutes to go. Miller with eight points was the game's high scorer while Crawford was runner-up with seven markers. For Town, Scully with six points and Marks with five were

Ronman Will Send Gennett, Sanders To Ring Nationals

Boxing Coach Mike Ronman announced yesterday that he is making plans to enter at least two Carolina mittmen in the National Intercollegiate Boxing tournament which will be held March 27-29 at Penn State.

Coach Ronman said that he will definitely enter Co-captains Andy Gennett and Red Sanders in the tourney. On the basis of their splendid performances in the recent conference meet, both men have proved that they can give good accounts of themselves among the nation's best. The two fighters have lost only one bout apiece during the last year and both won individual league crowns at Columbia last weekend.

In the national tourney will be boxers from the country's finest ring teams, including Syracuse, Wisconsin, Army, Idaho and the Southeastern Louisiana Teachers' college. The latter school is undefeated this year, has won its closest match by a score of 5½ to 2½, and recently gained a victory over Idaho, last year's tourney winner.

Arm Infection Keeps Big George Abed in Infirmary

Big George Glamack was confined to the University infirmary last night with a severe infection of left elbow, caused by a bruise, that has been termed "very dangerous" by infirmary physicians.

The infection began last Thursday afternoon, the day of the Southern conference tournament in Raleigh, but George said nothing to anyone about it except the team physician because he didn't want the injury to look like an alibi.

Now that the tourney is over, George remarks that "the swelling and soreness continued to increase all during the game and when it ended my arm was paining me very severely."

He continued that had the White Phantoms won over Duke Thursday night he would not have been able to play Saturday because then his arm had swollen to almost twice its normal size. He still believed it to be only a minor bruise, however, and neglected seeing any medical authority until Monday when he talked with Dr. E. M. Hedgepeth of the University medical staff.

Dr. Hedgepeth confined him to the infirmary and has taken every precaution for the safety of Big George's 458 - point arm in 1940 and 538 in 1941.

An identical injury occurred to Glamack his sophomore year immed- See ARM INFECTION, Page 4
