

Budge Says He'll Win Grand Prize

By Ben McKinnon

Don Budge sat on the raised platform behind the green tennis court stretched in Woollen gymnasium Wednesday afternoon and watched Deidre Budge play Al Ennis, the publicity man for the tour.

The tall, red-haired Californian was dressed in a brown tweed suit. The smiling Budge watching a tennis game presents a direct contrast to the grim Budge playing a game.

"Tennis has been my life up to now," Don said, always ready to talk about his favorite game. By "up to now" he may have meant that his life would now be divided into two parts. One of them for tennis and the other for Deidre, his beautiful brunette bride of eight months.

"I think I have a very good chance of winning the $36,000 grand prize on this tour," Budge mused speculatively. "I'm ahead so far and most tennis players in the past have been consistent. I have won a majority of games in the past and see no reason why I should not in the future. But, even if I don't win, you may know that I'll be playing my hardest every night."

Don, who seemed more willing to talk about the other members of the troupe than about himself, says that the funniest thing that has happened on the current tour took place in Philadelphia. Frankie Kovacs was going to appear on a local radio station and urged Riggs to walk to the studio with him. Bobby did so, and took a comfortable seat in the audience. Once on the stage, Frankie told the announcer that Bobby Riggs was in the audience and that he should be asked to speak. Bobby refused to do so whereupon the clown Kovacs held his nose and imitating Riggs in a high-pitched, squeaky voice, proceeded to tell listeners that it was Bobby Riggs talking. "Bobby was certainly burned up," Don laughed.

relay. The old pool record—held by last year's freshman team of Hammond, Shumate and Eshelman—was 1:35.3. Denny Hammond, Bob Ousley and George Coxhead formed the Carolina team which led from the beginning of the race.

The three best events of the afternoon-long program of 15 races were the 200-meter freestyle, the 150-meter backstroke and the 200-meter breaststroke. The 200-meter freestyle relay, in which a Carolina team set a new pool record, was also exciting for the 400 spectators who attended.

In winning the 150-meter backstroke, Denny Hammond, holder of the national intercollegiate 150-yard backstroke title, was hard-pressed by Bill Tullidge, Virginia Tech freshman, who dogged Hammond's heels up until the last 25 meters. The Carolina man led all the way in the race, but his lead wasn't the 15 or 20 yards as it has been in the past against lesser-experienced swimmers.

At the 100-meter mark Hammond had put only three yards between him and Tullidge, but at the finish of the race he was in front by a good seven yards. His time—1:54.5—set a new pool record, breaking his former mark of 1:54.6 by one-tenth of a second.

Ousley Beaten

Bill Thompson, also a Virginia Tech freshman, bested Carolina's Bob Ousley, Southern conference record-holder in the 200-meter breaststroke, in the dorsal race by two-tenths of a second. Ousley and Thompson took an early lead and stayed together for almost the entire race. In the final 35 meters Thompson started a fast sprint and Ousley fell two feet behind him. He made up some of the distance but Thompson beat him to the bank by inches.

Pitchers, Catchers to Start Baseball Practice Tomorrow

Coach Bunn Hearn Faces Big Task in Building Nine

By Earle Hellen

Varsity baseball practice is slated to get underway tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock on the Emerson field diamond.

The first week's drills will be only for the pitchers and catchers who have been requested to report in advance of the rest of the squad. The following pitchers are expected to report tomorrow: Red Benton, Monk Whiteheart, Charlie Moore, Bill Look, Ed Antolini, Don Nicholson, Jack Hussey, Bobby Gersten, and Fred Stallings. Catchers requested to come out are Co-captain Chubby Myers, Hal Pope, Dave Barksdale, Clay Croom, and Pat Patterson.

Big Task Ahead
Coach Bunn Hearn, who is expected to arrive in Chapel Hill today, has a big task ahead of him this spring. Only four lettermen are returning from last year's Southern conference and Big Five champions. Co-captains Chubby Myers and Bo Reynolds, Johnny Hearn and Red Benton are the returning lettermen.

Only Benton, the red-headed curve-ball artist, is back from the crack pitching staff. Lefty Cheshire and Big Hank Feimster went into pro ball after the close of the season last year. Coach Hearn will have a big task to build up a capable pitching staff to replace this trio. Monk Whiteheart, a sophomore who starred on last year's frosh team, Charlie Moore, a reserve, Jack Hussey, a soph, and Bobby Gersten, a transformed infielder, are the leading prospects.

Bob Saunders and Julian Miller, outfielders, and Bill Honan, and Sam Sherman, infielders, and Hal Pope, catcher, are reserves who saw some action last year and who will be back this spring.

Coach Hearn has a bunch of promising sophomores from last year's fine freshman team. Among these are Lew Hayworth, Mac Morris, and Dub Johnson, infielders; Leon McCaskill in the outfield, and Clay Croom, catcher.

Star Dolphin Eshelman Leaves UNC

Jack Eshelman, University record holder of 24.8 in the 50-yard freestyle, has withdrawn from Carolina to enter Franklin-Marshall college in Lancaster, Pa., swimming coach Dick Jamerson announced yesterday.

Eshelman's loss to the Blue Dolphins is a big blow, especially at this time of the year with meets with Duke and Florida and the Southern conference tournament still on the Dolphins' schedule.

"His loss would have been bigger than it is if it hadn't been for the recent excellent improvement of Truman Hobbs, varsity reserve, in the freestyle events," Jamerson said in announcing Eshelman's loss.

Eshelman, a sophomore, entered Franklin-Marshall in order to take a flying course. Technicalities over a birth certificate, it was said, was one of the main reasons for his not being able to take the CAA course here.

Glamack to Show Home Folks He Isn't a Myth

Can Lange Devise Defense to Stop Glamack's Scoring?

Already becoming a legendary figure in Carolina basketball, big George Glamack will return to Woollen gym Wednesday night to prove to the home folk that he is still far from the stage of becoming a myth.

As is often the case with sport greats, they are soon immortalized by contemporary society and left to be revered as something to be associated with the good old days. Although Glamack is but a half year removed from graduation, the sentimentalists have already stigmatized him as 'the grand old man of Carolina basketball.'

Quite fortunately for the Goodyear Wingfoots, Tar Heel Glamack is far from receiving social security consideration. 'George George', as a freshman in professional ranks, has established himself as a great favorite in loop play as well as a leading scorer.

The publicity drums are already beating, proclaiming a 'Damon and Pythias' feud on Wednesday night when Glamack and former side-kick Bob Rose tangle in opposition for the first time. The sparks are bound to fly in friendly rivalry when Carolina's greatest tandem in cage history

BEN STEVENS, one of the 6-foot plus giants who will oppose the White Phantoms Wednesday night in the benefit basketball game for the dormitory social rooms.

Can White Phantoms Do What Other Teams Failed to Accomplish?

splits up to work opposite baskets.

Another fertile field for speculation concerns itself with Coach Bill Lange. Lange, who took over the coaching reins when Glamack was but a junior, labored for two years to build an offense around his huge center and now in three days he must devise a defense to stop his own machine. Paralleling the immortal Frankenstein and the Monster theme, this angle opens up vast ironical possibilities. It will be interesting to note whether Lange will use any of the various defensive systems devised by desperate Phantom foes in the past two seasons. A disquieting thought lies in the fact that none of these carefully laid plans ever worked completely. There was one night in Glamack's career, against Wake Forest in '39, when he was held to five points, but spectators still recall that the Johnstown giant had one of his infrequent off nights.

At any rate the Tar Heels will have their work cut out for them. It may be that a lesser Wingfoot star may steal the show away from the stellar attraction of the evening for all of the visitors are stars in their own right.

The meet which will extend through Thursday consists of 14 events, all of which will be held in the Tin Can. This meet, just as the last one, is for the express purpose of getting the Tar Heel trackmen in top shape for the coming indoor games. The first indoor interclass meet furnished some excellent performances and some startling results that brought exclamations of surprise and joy from the coaches.

Warren Mengel, Mike Wise and Co-captain Roy Cathey led the seniors to victory in the first meet, but had to fight off an inspired junior class team headed by Rich Van Wagoner and Jim Kelly, one of the surprise speed packages of the meet. The third-year men are confident that they can beat out the seniors this time and will be giving their all to do it. The sophomores, donors of a disappointing showing in the first meet, also have high hopes of doing better this time and beating out a frosh team that took third place ahead of them two weeks ago.

It is hoped that the interclass battle, now threatening to become a weekly instead of an annual affair, will provide just the necessary competition to put the team at its peak for the big indoor meet February 28.
