

Not to Mince Matters

By Harry Hollingsworth

A neatly-lettered sign bearing seven suggestions in which the Blue Dolphins could prepare themselves for defeating the University of Florida swimming team with the words "cancelled at the request of Florida" written across it was the only sign at the swimming pool yesterday afternoon about how the swimmers felt.

But one could be sure that in each heart of every member of the varsity team there was an ache—an ache of disappointment at not being able to swim the 'Gators this year.

When a group of men like those swimmers look forward for six months or more to a certain meet and then have all their hopes dashed to bits in one short minute, there's bound to be some disappointed feelings.

Coach Jamerson told me in his office before he left to go to the pool that announcing the cancellation to the team was one of the hardest things he had to do since he came to the University four years ago. To me, it was also disappointing, for I had kinda shared the team's enthusiasm and had looked forward to seeing the Dolphins gain revenge for a defeat suffered two years ago.

It's almost a calamity to have a team like the Carolina squad and not get a good, strong schedule arranged for it. Scores of all the meets this season have clearly demonstrated that Carolina is out of the class of practically every team in the Southern conference. Duke, whom the Tar Heels haven't met in a dual meet yet, is the only team in the loop which has even an outside chance of licking Carolina. And I feel that chance isn't much.

All the Dolphins have to swim against is a record book. And that's not a very exciting way in which to swim a meet. Swimming is one of the most competitive, as far as individuals are concerned, of any sport except track, which ranks on an equal basis.

Even though the Tar Heels have had only one or two real good, close competitive races all season, they've been doing a swell job of swimming against the record books as can be attested by the number of nationally-recognized records which have fallen to Carolina swimmers.

But that still doesn't take away the sting of not being able to swim Florida this year.

Blue Dolphins Scheduled Meet With Florida Team Cancelled

Carolina Mermen Lose Big Chance To Gain Revenge

By Harry Hollingsworth

The hopes of the varsity swimming team for the past six months crashed and drowned in Bowman Gray pool yesterday afternoon when Coach Dick Jamerson announced that the University of Florida has requested that its meet with the Blue Dolphins February 26 be cancelled.

Florida, the only team in the South to bear the distinction of beating the Dolphins and not being defeated in a return meet, wrote that since the University of Florida athletic officials had decided to curtail some spring athletic contests because of the world conditions, it thought best that the meet be called off. It was assumed that scheduled meets which Florida had with State, Duke, and Virginia were also cancelled.

First Meet in Two Years

This was the first meet the Dolphins had scheduled with Florida since the 'Gators gained a 52-23 victory over Carolina two years ago. And members of the swimming team had been looking forward since last September to meeting the 'Gator tank team again.

According to all scores of meets and individual performances, Carolina would have been a slight favorite in the contest. No doubt one of the strongest teams in the south, the Blue Dolphins will continue measuring their performances against the record books rather than in dual meets with teams of the same calibre.

Three More Tests

Only three more tests remain for the Tar Heels this season and unless something happens to about half the team the Dolphins should have little trouble in dominating the proceedings. They swim Washington and Lee here Saturday, Duke at a still undecided place March 3 and finish the season with the

Tar Heel Club Faces Job Of Halting Ex-Teammate

'Blind Bomber' Stars on Pro Club Composed Of Country's Outstanding College Players

The greatest basketball team ever to set foot on Carolina hardwood takes the floor tonight at 8:30 against Coach Lange's Tar Heels. The great Goodyear Wingfoots will provide the opposition this evening and the club that just recently handed the national professional champions a 53-43 lacing, arrived in Chapel Hill yesterday replete with fanfare, ten former collegiate captains, a national record holder in scoring and the unmatchable George Glamack.

And it will largely be because of George's homecoming that Wollen gym is expected to be jammed to capacity. Tar Heel fans have missed 'Carolina's greatest' this year and it is with a spirit of interest and approval that the campus has greeted news of Glamack's return.

The Goodyear quintet, flashing a most impressive array of basketball talent gathered from the four corners of the collegiate globe, may be hot, cold or indifferent tonight—it makes no difference, for all eyes will be on the

Miller dropped in 13 points for Alexander and was the mainstay of the team. Lewis held a one-point lead, 11-10 at the half, but Alexander went into the lead in the third quarter. The final period was fast and the score was tied several times before Russ Davis broke a 25-25 deadlock when he sank a crisp to put the winners out in front with less than a minute to go. Favored Tar Babies Seek Win Over Kannapolis High

High School Club Is Not Expected To Trouble Frosh

By Earle Hellen

Coach Doc Siewert's freshman basketball team which has been playing in and out ball in the last two games will attempt to regain its top form tonight when it battles the Kannapolis high Little Wonders in Woollen gym at 7 o'clock.

Unimpressive Win

The Tar Babies lost to State freshman last Thursday and followed with an unimpressive 31-29 win over the 36th Field Artillery team of Fort Bragg Friday. Although they played fairly good ball against the Techlets, the Tar Babies performed raggedly against the soldiers.

Little is known of the strength of the Kannapolis high quint, but it is likely that the frosh can win handily tonight. The Little Wonders are coached by Buck McCarn, a former Carolina football land baseball luminary. They rank high in the South Piedmont conference this year. Leading player for the Little Wonders is a lanky center named Dayvault, who was good enough last year to make the all-conference team unanimously.

With four games remaining on the schedule the Tar Babies are out to win all four. If they do, they will go down.

Seniors Obtain Early Lead in Interclass Meet; Wise, Mengel, White, Cathey Star

Trackmen Show Improved Form Over Last Meet

Jumping off to an early lead for the second consecutive time this month in an indoor interclass meet, the senior class—led by Mike Wise, Warren Mengel and Dick White—scored 28 one-half points in the opening day of the indoor meet held in the Tin Can yesterday.

The seniors were followed in second place by the juniors with 16 one-half points, the frosh in third with 12 and once again the hapless sophs got off to a slow start with a total of three points.

As was anticipated by the coaches, performances in this second meet excelled those of the first class battle held two weeks ago. Rich Van Wagoner, Mike Wise, Roy Cathey, Warren Mengel and Bill McKenzie all turned in better showings than previously this year in their respective events.

Van Wagoner once again carried the torch for his third year classmates with an impressive win in the three-quarter mile run. Rich raced to triumph in 3:13.4, crossing the finish line in easy style with a two second lead over Wim-py Lewis, senior, who in turn had a large advantage over soph Jim Perrin, senior Lamarr Wood and freshman runner Marvin Fairchild.

Wise Sets Fast Time

Mike Wise tuned in a blazing :37.1 time in the 330-yard dash to win his heat and take first place in the final. The little speedster literally burned up the Tin Can boards to better Roy Cathey's heat-winning time by three-tenths of a second. Co-captain Cathey took second for the seniors with juniors Jim Kelley, Larry Holzman and Ike Taylor placing third fourth and fifth.

White Wins Shot Put

Co-Captain Dick White gave the seniors another first when he shot-putted 45'2" for top honors. Warren Mengel, senior dependable, took second place with a throw of 37' 11 1/2" to beat junior footballer Bob Heymann by a mere half-inch margin. Freshmen Grimsley Hobbs and Bob Morris took the next two places.

Freshman Bill McKenzie was the big surprise in the high jump when he hurdled over the bar at 5'10" to tie Warren Mengel for first place. Both men narrowly failed to clear 5'11".

The meet continues this afternoon in the Tin Can with four more events. The seniors will be attempting to maintain a hard-pressed advantage throughout the 660-yard run, 60-yard dash, broad jump and pole vault.
