

Frosh Swim Blue Imps Today

No doubt the Duke freshman swimming team remembers a 54-12 pasting it received from the Baby Dolphins February 6 and isn't entertaining any hopes of licking Ralph Casey's frosh tank team this afternoon when it invades Durham.

Duke frosh, stronger than they were in the last Tar Baby-Imp meet, still hasn't developed enough strength to whip the Carolina frosh this afternoon.

Having swam all its meets except one in a long course pool, the Carolina frosh team will get another chance today to go after records in a short course pool.

George Whitner, Percy "Horace" Mallison and Co. probably will receive nothing more than a good hard workout in the meet, the last of the year. In the first Duke-Imp meet Mallison betted the National freshman long course 200-meter record and set one new pool mark, and Whitner established a new pool record in leading the Baby Dolphins to a victory.

Carolina's lineup will probably be: 150-yard medley—Johnson, Whitner, Herr. 220-yard freestyle—Rothchild, Little. 50-yard freestyle—Mallison, Montague. Diving—Crone, Erle. 100-yard freestyle—Mallison, Herr. 100-yard backstroke—Johnson, Arky. 100-yard breaststroke—Whitner, Sokoloff. 200-yard relay—Erle, Montague, Herr, Mallison.

Carolina-Duke Swim Contest To Be Here

After an almost two-month period of silence on the site of the Carolina-Duke swimming meet, Coach Dick Jamerson announced yesterday that officials of the two schools had agreed to hold the meet in Bowman Gray memorial pool March 3.

The Duke contest will close out the dual meet season for Carolina and will decide the Southern conference champion. The Tar Heels will be heavy favorites. Two days after the meet the annual conference swimming tournament will be held in Bowman Gray pool in which individual conference champions will be decided.

Jamerson had words of praise yesterday for the performances of every member of the varsity team in the meet with Washington and Lee Saturday, and single out Arthur Henderson, Henry Ortlund, Billy Stone, Bob Schwartz, Don Nicholson and Johnny Feuchtenberger.

Henderson recorded his fastest time ever for 100 meters in swimming one leg of the freestyle relay. Ortlund did 3:13.3 in the 200-meter breaststroke for his best time this year, and Bill Stone set a new University record of 5:35.4 for the 400-meter freestyle. Schwartz did his best time in the breaststroke.

Lettermen to Meet For Y-Y Photo Today

Monogram club members will assemble on the steps of Manning hall at 10:30 this morning for Yackety-Yack photographs, Charles Tillett, Yackety-Yack editor, stated last night.

Tillett has requested all members to wear monogram sweaters.

GEORGE PAINE, left, and Reid Suggs, right, were leaders for the White Phantoms on their northern trip last week-end. Paine was the star in the Maryland win when he scored nine points and tallied the winning goal in the final three minutes. Suggs tallied 10 points against Navy Saturday. These two men will be in the starting lineup when the Phantoms meet Richmond here tonight.

Fencers Meet Virginia In Hard Tilt Today

After three weeks of ironing out its few earlier meet weaknesses, the Carolina fencing team meets the University of Virginia swordsmen today at 3:30 in the Tin Can in its third meet of the season, and the first to be held in Chapel Hill.

Probable foilsmen today will be Co-captain Tom Deering, Otto Neuhaus, Howie Imbrey, Stan Ribak, Tom Easterling, Bob Moore, Frank Albea, Joe Greenberg, and Campbell. Harry Vinokur, Sam Wallace, and Phil Clegg will make up the epee team, and the sabre-wielders will be Co-captain Larry Hutton, Manager Bob Talmach, Morton Cantor, and Imbrey.

The Tar Heels have beaten the Virginia team in meets of the past three years 20-7, 16-11, and 20-7, but today's meet promises to be a hard-fought one since the Virginia team is supposed to have added many new men. Coach Harrington, however, expects the slashing attacks he has been stressing to bear victorious fruit.

Record-Breaking Entry List Is Seen for Indoor Games

Indications Point To Larger Group Than Last Year

By Bill Woestendiek
With more than 300 athletes and 30 teams having already filed entries for the 13th annual Southern conference indoor track and field games to be held in Woollen gym Saturday afternoon and evening, indications are that last year's record-breaking entry list of 476 athletes and 59 teams may be surpassed this year.

Many institutions are still to be heard from and the entry list is about the same present as it was at a corresponding time last winter. The entries and divisions to date include the following:

Southern conference—North Carolina, defending champion; Duke South Carolina, Clemson, Maryland, Davidson, Richmond, VMI and VPI.

Non-conference—Navy, defending champion; Catholic university, Tennessee and Virginia.

Freshman—North Carolina, defending champion; Duke, Catholic university, Virginia, Richmond and Maryland.

Scholastic—Thomas Jefferson high

(Richmond, Va.), defending champion; Morristown high (Tennessee); Eastern high (Washington, D. C.); Newport News high (Va.); Montgomery-Blair high (Silver Springs, Md.); Hampton high (Va.); Charlotte high, Goldsboro high, Granite Falls high and Chapel Hill high school.

Many individual champions are also returning to defend their titles. Among the defending titleholders who will participate Saturday are such stars as Steve Lach, conference champ and record holder in the shot put and Werner Brown, 440-yard run winner last year—both of Duke; Carolina's Mike Mangum in the 70-yard high hurdles and the Carolina mile relay team; Clemson's Ralph Fennell in the pole vault; Ned Campbell, 60-yard dash ace from Virginia and Cavalier high hurdler Tom Todd; and Catholic university's one-mile relay squad.

With several teams and individual greats due to be heard from, it is hoped that this year's indoor classic will be bigger and better than ever—a large order, but one that is annually filled.

Teams and athletes from the states of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Virginia, Tennessee, Maryland and Pennsylvania were all represented here last year when Carolina's Tar Heels were returned the victors in as thrilling a meet as the indoor event has ever produced.

Mural Foul Shooting To Continue Today

The intramural foul shooting tournament will be continued today in Woollen gym from 4 to 6 o'clock. The tourney will run until Thursday.

Each entrant makes 50 throws. The five highest scores in each organization will constitute the team score for that organization. The dorm and fraternity team champion will be decided on this basis. Foul shooting is a minor activity in murals.

Brown to Head UNC Delegation

Dr. Roy M. Brown of the School of Public Welfare will head a University delegation planning to attend the North Carolina Mental Hygiene Society meeting in Raleigh Friday afternoon at the Sir Walter Hotel.

The rathskeller of the University of Wisconsin Memorial union, long "for men only" has recently been opened to women students.

Carolina's White Phantoms Close Successful Home Stay Against Richmond Tonight

By Ben Snyder

Carolina's White Phantoms, now assured of a place in the conference tourney on the strength of Friday night's win over Maryland's Old Liners, will seek to improve their standing in the league race tonight when they take on Richmond's Spiders in Woollen gym at 8:30 o'clock.

It will be the Tar Heels' last home appearance this season after a series of successful stands on the local court. All told, Lange's crew have won six out of the seven games played at Woollen this year and stand a better than even chance of winning over Richmond tonight.

Phi Kap Sigs, Phi Alpha Win Mural Games

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS BASKETBALL

Phi Alpha No. 1, 26; Phi Gamma Delta No. 2, 22.

Phi Kappa Sigma No. 2, 37; Sigma Nu No. 2, 15.

Phi Alpha No. 1 tripped Phi Gamma Delta No. 2, 26-22 in a hotly contested ball game yesterday afternoon. Goldfarb led the way for the winners with seven points. Don Nicholson, Phi Gam forward, was high scorer of the game with 10 points. His teammate, Parsley, was next with eight. However, the Phi Alpha team was clicking from all five positions, and it maintained the lead throughout.

Guy Byerly once more capped individual scoring honors, looping in 15 points, while he and his Phi Kappa Sigma No. 2 teammates went on to down a scrappy Sigma Nu No. 2 quintet, 37-15. Mallory scored 12 points for the winners and turned in a fine floor game. McNaughton and Kittrell were best for the Snakes.

Ed Antolini of Sigma Chi took an early lead in the foul shooting contest. He dropped in 38 out of a possible 50 yesterday afternoon. Charlie Simpson scored 34 and Hal Garrity 30 for the same team. Frank Murray and Charley Johnson dropped in 36 and 35 respectively for Old West to give it the lead in the race for the dormitory crown. Other leaders in the contest were: Irwin Mack (Town), 36; Paul Yuder (Phi Alpha), 35; Frank Levy (Lambda Phi), 32; Don Nicholson (Phi Gamma Delta), 30; Harry Lewis (Old East), 30; Ed Jabine (DKE), 31.

Tar Heel Wrestlers Prepare For Conference Tournament

Coeds May Swim Goldsboro Team Here Saturday

The coed swimming team has a tentative meet scheduled with the Goldsboro swimming association here Saturday afternoon, Charles Stapleton, coach of the Goldsboro team, announced yesterday.

This will be the second dual meet of the year for the Carolina coeds who lost to William and Mary, 35-31, here Saturday.

In the recent Carolinas AAU meet held in Chapel Hill the Goldsboro team walked off with first place in the women's event. The coeds were second.

Duke Game Tickets On Sale at Gym

Three hundred tickets to the Duke-Carolina basketball game in Durham Friday night are on sale in the ticket office in Woollen gymnasium to students for $1.00, it was announced yesterday.

DTH Staff Members To Meet Today

All members of the Daily Tar Heel sports, news and editorial staffs will meet at 3 o'clock this afternoon for mass Yackety Yack photographs.

Still the Virginia team shouldn't be underrated. They have been erratic all season, winning but four of 11 conference tests, but when they were on form their play approached championship caliber. Against VMI, in their last start, they played exceptional basketball to down the Keydets, 43-29.

Pitt, Erickson Lead Spiders

The Spiders will be led by Captain Mac Pitt and feature a fast-breaking attack with Swede Erickson and Dick Thislethwaite at the forward positions. Erickson is familiar to Carolina athletes, for it is he who caught one of the two passes that beat the Tar Heels in football, 14-13, in Richmond two seasons ago.

Returning from Annapolis on Saturday night, the touring Bantams stopped in on the George Washington-Duke contest, in which the Colonials stopped the Devils for their first conference loss. The Bantams were loud in their praise of the winners and the consensus of opinion seems to be that this will throw the conference tournament wide open with the possibility that one of the clubs farther down the ladder may slip into the final round.

Naturally the return game with Duke on Friday night in Durham will be of importance in figuring out the final seeded positions in the tournament. There is a feeling that if Carolina can get the Devils while they are still reeling from their initial set-back, they may throw Cameron's team off for good.

Coach Bill Lange will probably start Bobby Gersten and Reid Suggs at guards tonight with Captain Bob Rose at center and two of the regular trio of Julian Smith, George Paine and Don Wilson at forwards. Paine, who dropped out of the starting line-up for a time when the Wilson-Smith combine became increasingly effective, seems to be back in form and was a great factor in contributing to the Carolina victory over Maryland.

Repercussions over the Navy's 42-39 win over the Tar Heels on Saturday afternoon, seem to indicate that had not Bob Rose and George Paine fouled out in the final minutes of the ball game, Carolina might have notched a victory over the midshipmen. Holding on to a comfortable nine-point advantage when Rose left the floor with five minutes left to play, the Tar Heels succumbed to a last-ditch Navy rally that almost won the game in the regulation time.

Hugh Morson Five Plays Tar Babies

By Earle Hellen

Coach Doc Siewert's freshman basketball team goes after its 12th victory of the season tonight when it meets the Hugh Morson high five from Raleigh tonight at 7 o'clock in Woollen gym.

The reserves are slated to see much action in tonight's contest. The Hugh Morson five has been finding the going tough this winter and won't offer the first five of the frosh much competition. The boys who have spent most of the time on the bench pulling splinters will likely get their big chance against the Raleigh team.

Frosh Run Up High Score

The Tar Babies snapped out of their recent slump last Friday walloping the strong Lees-McRae outfit, 78-54, in the wildest scoring game played in Woollen this year. The frosh employed a fast break which completely riddled the defense of the junior collegians.

The performance of two boys, Hartley and James stood out. Dick Hartley, who scored 10 field goals and two foul shots for 22 points, played his best game since early January. The scrappy little forward who was the sparkplug of the Tar Babies in the first games of the season was injured in the State game and was never able to return to his early season form until last Friday. It was the second time this year that Hartley had tallied over 20 points and he is the only frosh player to top that mark yet although Altemose had 19 one game.

James Shines at Center

The other bright spot of the Lees-McRae game was the playing of Larry James, who went in at center for Altemose when he fouled out early in the game. See FROSH CAGERS, page 4

Red All-Stars Defeat Blues By 29-23 Score

In the first of a three game series, the Red league All-Stars downed the Blue league team, 29-23, yesterday in coed basketball.

Mary Jane Lloyd and Betsy Ross Howe, who scored all her points in the second half, led the winners with 12 points each. Umstead was high scorer for the Blue team with seven.

Kennedy was the defensive star for the Red team, while Hart was the top guard for the losers.

The Red team held a 13-6 lead at the half, but the Blues closed the margin in the final period although never coming within four points of the Reds.

From this series the mythical all-Carolina coed first and second teams will be chosen. The same clubs will play a basketball game at the play day which will be held here March 7 with teams from the Raleigh colleges and Duke.

The second game of the series will be played tomorrow.

Lineups:

Red	Blue
F Hall, 5	J. Hood, 2
F Lloyd, 12	Martin, 6
F Howe, 12	Kelly, 4
G Brawley	Hartt
G Kennedy	Munroe
G Buice	Davis

Substitutes—Red: Rosenbaum, forward; McCormic, guard. Blue: Umstead 7, Warren 4, forwards; McCaskill, Lippincott, guards.
