Polls Open For Coed, May Queen Elections

Dr. Graham Leads UNC Religion-Life Convocation

Conference to End Tomorrow; Graham Slaps Poll Tax Laws

President Extolls Hope of Progress Motif in Speech

Dr. Frank Graham hit the poll tax system in southern states and told of man's everpresent hope toward progress in his spring convocation yesterday as part of the Religion-in-Life conference now in session on the campus.

"Ptolemy," said Dr. Graham, "had the Earth as the center of the universe, Copernicus, the sun. Astronomers today go beyond the Earth, beyond the sun, beyond even the Milky Way. Man is restless, everreaching to become something higher than himself."

"He is struggling for something nobler in society. He may meet struggle, frustration, and defeat but he always has inspiration." "Today we see an evolution in the conception of God himself, and a new conception of society. . . . We feel a moral sovereignty running through the universe, a moral sovereignty running through the human being."

OSCD to Conduct First Aid Class For All Students

First aid classes, the prerequisite for all air raid warden work, will begin tomorrow for all students who are interested and for sophomore and junior campus wardens, Office of Student Defense head Louis Harris announced yesterday.

A group of present air raid wardens have been selected to receive primary consideration in the establishment of these new courses, so that they may continue their air raid training next year.

Any student, however, may apply for entrance in these classes by calling the OSCD offices today from 4:15 to 5:30 and all afternoon tomorrow. All air raid wardens who have been selected to attend should also get in touch with the office, Harris explained.

The courses will be conducted by qualified instructors. All the following air raid wardens will be given preference in the choosing of the enrollment, but any students who are interested will be accepted as long as there is room.

Town Students Meet For Nominations

Town students will assemble at 8 o'clock tonight to nominate six Student legislature representatives.

All town students are urgently requested to attend by Ditz Buice and Dan Martin, Town Girls and Town Boys associations presidents, because the nominations must be made for Thursday's elections. The meeting will be in Gerrard hall at 8 o'clock.

OSCAR LUBOW, UP's candidate for sophomore class representative in the Student legislature.

Reverend Cowan To Conclude Meet With Address

Religion-in-Life conference, sponsored by the YW-YMCA, with cooperation of the Administration, local churches, and the Religious Council, will continue through tomorrow night, ending with a speech by Rev. T. B. "Scotty" Cowan.

Cowan Speaks

Rev. Cowan, the conference's leading speaker, will present two speeches in Memorial hall tonight at 7:30 on "Faith for Living," and tomorrow night at 8 o'clock "The Moral and Spiritual Bugle Call." Immediately following Rev. Cowan's address tomorrow night, Leon Henderson will speak.

The conference is sponsoring a book and literature exhibit in the lobby of Memorial hall. It furnishes answers to and further material on the numerous questions being discussed in the meetings and forums.

The program for today is as follows: 4 o'clock—Faculty forum in Gerrard hall with Rev. Cowan leader, on "Religion on Southern Campuses." Tonight: 7:30—Memorial hall, Rev. Cowan speaker on "Faith for Living;" 9 o'clock—house forums in fraternities and women's dorms for men and women.

Tomorrow: 4 o'clock—public panel in Memorial hall with four speakers discussing "Making Religion Practical Today." Tomorrow night: 7 o'clock—fraternity forums with a guest leader for each, on "Religious Implications in Our Fraternity Ritual;" 8 o'clock—closing meeting in Memorial hall, Rev. Cowan speaking on "The Moral and Spiritual Bugle Call."

Dormitory, Fraternity Prexies, DTH Staffmen Preview GWSH Comedy

Special invitations have been issued to presidents of men's dormitories, fraternities and staff members of the Daily Tar Heel and their dates to attend dress rehearsal tonight of "George Washington Slept Here," Kaufman-Hart comedy which opens tomorrow night at 8:30 in the Playmaker theatre.

Centering around the farcical plights of a city family migrated to the country, "George Washington Slept Here," is laden with the traditional wit and humor of its authors.

Better seats are available for the Wednesday and Thursday night showings since the house is almost full for the last two nights, Director Earl Wynn announced yesterday.

Interdorm Council To Meet Tonight

The Interdormitory council will meet tonight at 7 o'clock to elect new officers and to begin work on definite plans for next year in regard to council membership.

DICK HARTLEY, candidate for the University party for the vice-president of the rising sophomore class.

McKeever Picks Jones As Manager

Curry Jones will manage the political campaign for Hobart McKeever it was announced yesterday.

Jones, who retired from the political arena, in which he was to have campaigned for the post of vice-president of the student body on the Student party ticket, has re-entered the circle of politics to direct the management of the campaign for his former running mate, Hobart McKeever.

"The crisis that faces us all today and that will probably intensify next year demands that the most qualified and experienced man be elected to the highest student office. We must change the present form of static and passive student government to that of dynamic and aggressive student government, and the man to elect is the man who has manifested these qualities throughout his entire college career," said Jones. "That's why I decided to come back and manage Hobie's campaign," he added.

Jones, who recently resigned from his post as manager of the Cooperative Book store, explained that he dropped early from the candidacy for vice-president because "I realized that I should not be able to give my full attention to the job next year because of pressing academic duties. I didn't want to have to pass the buck to others in student government, so I dropped out."

Hexner to Defend Minor Nations In Di Address

Former Czechoslovakian munitions manufacturer Dr. Ervin Hexner, political science department professor, will address Dialectic Senate members and student visitors at tonight's session.

Dr. Hexner, a close friend of Jan Masaryk, Czech Prime Minister and recently an IRC speaker here, will open discussion on the first of three bills: Resolved, that the small countries of Europe should be restored as they were in 1935.

The Di meeting will start at 7:30 in Di hall, third floor New West building. Stands on the small-country bill may be taken by Di members following. See DI SPEAKER, page 4

Candidate's Platforms Must Be Submitted To DTH Tomorrow

An Emergency committee warning to all campus candidates for political offices was issued yesterday, giving final notice to all office-seekers that their platforms must be turned into the Daily Tar Heel editorial offices by 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

All platforms must be written out and based on the twelve point program of the Emergency committee. The Tar Heel will run a tabular condensation of the political scene on the morning of election day, Thursday. All those candidates who have offered no substantial platform will have the words "No Platform" in bold face type appearing after their names on the table.

"This will be the last move of the Emergency committee before the elections to clean up the campus politics and insure students against poor management and administration next year," said Bucky Harward, committee spokesman, yesterday afternoon.

RAF Leaps to Action Against Axis With Raids on Ruhr, France, Italy

WASHINGTON, April 13—(UP)—The besieged Corregidor troops turned on their tormentors today, blasting two enemy tanks and a truck column on Bataan and sinking a medium sized vessel and a number of smaller boats, possibly poised for an "invasion" thrust against the Manila fortress, it was reported today.

It was the first time the big guns of the rock girt citadel were turned upon Bataan since the peninsula's exhausted defenders fell last Thursday.

The avenging salvos roared across the bay after the fortress withstood a school of 10 more Japanese air raids, making a total of 22 within the past 48 hours and stood under the fire of Japanese guns from the north and south shores of the bay.

LONDON, April 13—(UP)—RAF fighters lashed in a strong force against Occupied France this afternoon, only a few hours after the last of the bombers of a great German air raid returned, in a raid that extended all the way from Germany's Ruhr valley to Italy's Mediterranean coast at Genoa.

ERNIE FRANKEL, University party candidate for the junior representative to the Publications Union board.

LARRY JOHNSON, nominated by the Student party for sophomore representative to the Student legislature.

DON HENSEN, Student party nominee for the sophomore representative to the Student council.

Buck Osborne To Sit Out Speaker Race

Buck Osborne, University party candidate for speaker of the legislature, last night announced his withdrawal from the race as UP simultaneously awarded W. J. Smith, Student party candidate, a double nomination.

In declining the candidacy, Osborne stated that "because of an operation which must be undergone and academic work which must be completed in speeding up graduation, I do not feel that I could devote enough time to efficiently perform the duties of speaker if I should win the election."

With party slates being narrowed by an unprecedented number of double nominations, the UP nomination of Smith adds another office to the five already filled by party dual selections. Bucky Harward received both UP and SP nod for editor of the Daily Tar Heel, Hugh Morton for editor of the Y-Y, Dave Barksdale for president of the athletic association, Frank Alspaugh for head cheerleader, and Steve Karres for senior representative to the student council.

Graduation Bids On Sale This Week

Invitations for graduation exercises will be on sale at the YMCA from 10:30 to noon and from 2 until 5 o'clock throughout this week, according to Ed Hyman, chairman of the invitations committee.

Morgan, Self-Help Sophomore, Elected to IRC Presidency

Grady Morgan, sophomore self-help student, was voted into presidency of the International Relations Club in a three-hour election session last night.

Morgan will immediately succeed retiring president Roger Mann. He won the election over co-candidate Wesley Bagby, this year's vice-president.

Elton Edwards was elected the IRC's vice-president, Mary Jane McCaskill was voted secretary and Denman Hammond was made treasurer.

In his election speech, Morgan called the IRC the "top campus organization" and called a Sunday afternoon executive committee meeting, intimating an IRC "reorganization."

Morgan is from High Point, was editor-in-chief of his high school paper and president of his senior class. Here Morgan is enrolled in the NROTC, co-founder of the Carolina Youth Administration, member of the Student legislature, forum committeeman of the OSCD, and Dialectic Senate senator. He was the IRC's publicity director.

Edwards, junior from Goldsboro, is speaker pro-tem of the Phi Assembly, secretary of Young Democrats club, Red Cross-WSS campaigner, Daily Tar Heel reporter, Debate squad member, Student legislature member. He was the IRC's Gallup poll committee chairman, director of all IRC banquets and member of speaker and executive committees.

Miss McCaskill is a Coed Senate member, intramural athletics participant and was the IRC's Institute Program committee head. She is a junior from Little Rock, Ark.

Independents Face Greeks; Hood, Allison Lead Slates

By Gene Smith

Coed politics draw to a close today as voters swarm to the polls in the Book Exchange to select WGA, WAA and senate representatives. Coincident with the regular coed election is the reelection of May Queen and her court, made necessary by fraud at the ballot boxes last Thursday. Men students will vote in the YMCA.

Organized last fall, the Carolina Independent Coed Association for the first time proposed a slate of nominees with Marsha Hood heading the list of candidates for WGA president. Competing for this position is Frances Allison, Alpha Delta Pi. Miss Hood comes from Kinston and has been elected to various pharmacy fraternities, is a member of the pharmacy senate.

Miss Allison is from Columbia, S. C. In addition to other honors, she was junior representative to the honor council and was elected to the student government committee of the legislature. She is rising vice-president of Pan Hellenic council and is active in defense drives on the campus.

McCormick Unopposed

Named president of the WAA with no opposition last Friday, Mary McCormick, independent, is from Rowland. Catherine Henley, also independent, is rising treasurer of the WAA, nominated with no opposition.

Nominees for secretary of the WGA are Betsy Powell, independent, and Betty Sterchi, Pi Phi. Treasurer of the WGA will be chosen from Pat Henritzy, independent, and Anice Garmany, Alpha Delta Pi.

Nancy Jeffries, Pi Phi, and Alliene Brawley, independent, are nominees for the position of vice-president of the WAA. Named competitors for the position as secretary of WAA were Betsy Ross Howe, independent and Mary Foster Warren, ADPi.

Named with no opposition were the four independent representatives to the senate: Martha Guy, Ditz Buice, Edith Fore, and Betty Etz.

Three sorority representatives to the senate will be chosen from: Grace Hicks, Alpha Delta Pi; Mary Jane McCaskill, Pi Phi; Anne Carpenter, See INDEPENDENTS, page 4

Senate Rules Coed Visit Cut

Softening their decisions with provisions for special permissions and non-appliance to the interfraternity agreement, members of the coed senate ruled yesterday that coeds are not permitted to visit men students in their dwellings. This does not apply to existing agreements with the interfraternity council.

This regulation applies to men in dormitories, co-op houses, apartments, men rooming with townspeople and men living in West House, Acacia cottage and the stone cottage by the Chi Omega house. "Organized parties" held by men students with the approval of the adviser to women are not affected by the agreement.

Coeds may visit townspeople, students living with their parents and faculty members in their homes, but are required to fill out a "visit notice" and present it to her house president on the day of the visit.

The term "visiting" includes entering the parlor of a town house. Special permissions may be discussed and secured in advance from house council members.
