

Complete Blackout Ordered By Army Tonight McKinnon Wins Tar an' Feathers Post With 2-1 Majority

UP's Gleicher Defeated 480-233 In Runoff Ballot

By Bob Hoke

Ben McKinnon, last Thursday's amazing darkhorse independent, withstood the runoff test yesterday by copping the Tar an' Feathers editorship from Stud Gleicher with a landslide 480 to 233 vote.

Appearing on a lone ticket, McKinnon went against the big guns of the University and Student parties twice successfully in an independent coup d'etat likened to Curry Jones' amazing march behind Aycock dorm supporters to the Cheerleading post last year.

Carries All Precincts

McKinnon carried all precincts with an easy margin except McIver dorm—center of the coed vote—where he tied with Gleicher on a 43 vote par.

In "the political hotbed of the campus," Stacy dorm, the darkhorse polled 166 to Gleicher's 38; at the YMCA, he polled 171 to the UP candidate's even 100; at Graham Memorial, the Town voters gave him a 70 to 42 edge; and at the infirmary, which included the traveling baseball team, he polled 30 to Gleicher's 10.

In the main spring elections last Thursday, McKinnon ended up as high man of the original contending trio for the humor Mag editor's chair. He gained a 64-vote lead over Gleicher with a total vote 754. Gleicher polled 690.

Charlie Colby, third member of the triumvirate and Student Party nominee for the problematical post was dropped from the race following last week's tabulations. He garnered 522 total votes.

Concluding act of the annual spring elections, yesterday's victory for McKinnon places him as boss of the campus humor mag, Tar an' Feathers, which is daily being bombarded by "combinationists." Legislative action on the combination proposal is anticipated in the near future by student leaders. In the event of a combination of the Carolina Mag with the Tar an' Feathers, it is indicated that choice of editors or co-editors would be brought up and decided in an extra campus balloting.

IRC Officials Hold War Forums

Under the direction of University Extension Division and the OSCD, three IRC officials, including President Grady Morgan, participated in two war forums yesterday in Clinton.

Morgan, Paul Rubenstein and Tom Gibian spoke as a panel at Clinton high school at 3 o'clock. They were guests of the Clinton Rotary club at 7 o'clock and an hour later the IRC contingent engaged in a community public forum.

The three students returned to Chapel Hill late last night, according to Ralph MacDonald, Extension division head.

Blackout

May Frolics Open Tonight Under Wartime Restrictions

May Frolics felt the joy-quenching hand of modern war again yesterday when a total blackout and two-hour alert forced the traditional spring dances to be postponed until 11 o'clock tonight.

Operating under the legislature wartime measure of a $750 expense ceiling, the annual Frolics were originally scheduled to open tonight at 9 o'clock and end at 1 o'clock. Last-minute arrangements completed late last night changed the hours to 11 to 2 o'clock.

Chairman Sam Means announced that coeds will have their regular two-hours late permission after the dance tonight. They will be required to be in their dorms at 4 o'clock, if they have signed out for the dance—two hours after the dance closes.

Walsh Invited for Navy Commissioning

Alumni Elect McLendon To Presidency

Major L. P. McLendon, of Greensboro, has been elected president of the University Alumni association, it was announced yesterday by J. Marvon Saunders, alumni secretary, following a tally of mail ballots cast by members of the association. Major McLendon, who will succeed W. A. Dees, of Goldsboro, defeated Associate Justice J. Wallace Winborne in a close election. The two men were named for the position by the annual alumni assembly here on March 13.

Other association officers named included Brent S. Drane, of Washington, first vice-president; and Emerson P. (Sandy) Dameron, Marion attorney, second vice-president. Drane was named over H. Plant Osborne, of Jacksonville, Fla., and Dameron won over Alan A. Marshall, of Wilmington.

Alumni Representative

Thomas A. DeVane, Fayetteville lumberman, was named an alumni representative on the athletic council, for a two-year term, succeeding Bowman Gray, of Winston-Salem. DeVane won over Caesar Cone, of Greensboro, and George D. Thompson, of Raleigh.

Dr. Foy Roberson, of Durham, long identified with athletics at the University, was elected to succeed himself for a term of three years.

Deadline Called On Civil Service Assistant Posts

Applications for the post of Junior Professional Assistant with the salary of $2,000 a year must be mailed in order to reach the Civil Service commission not later than Tuesday morning, G. J. Kruger, of the personnel division of the Department of Agriculture stated yesterday.

Kruger, following a conference with administrative leaders emphasized the "excellent opportunities for both men and women in their final quarter of college" doing administrative work in the Department of Agriculture.

Seniors interested should obtain application blanks immediately from the Post Office or from the Bureau of Vocational and Military Information, 207 South building. The examination for the work will be held in Chapel Hill soon after the deadline, Tuesday.

"Every senior should take it," Kruger stressed, referring to those students deferred in the draft or eliminated from the draft because of physical defects. He also made reference to the fact that it gave a permanent Civil Service classification of possible use after the war. Information may be obtained at 207 South.

Freshmen, Sophomores Meet Advisers Today

Freshmen and sophomores in the General College will meet with their advisers this morning at 10:30 to arrange mid-term conferences, Dean C. P. Spruill announced.

The advisers and meeting places are: Mr. Edmister, Venable 304; Mr. Hill, Memorial hall; Mr. Johnson, Venable 206; Mr. Hardre, Murphy 111; Mr. Klaiss, Bingham 103; Mr. Perry, Peabody 202; and Mr. Spruill, Memorial hall. Mr. Howell and Mr. Kattsoff will not meet their groups at this time but will make announcements at a later date as to conferences.

Grail Signs Brown Band

Lieut. Stanley Brown's "big name" band from Fort Bragg has been signed for the Grail dance of the Commerce dance set next weekend, May 1-2, George Coxhead, exchequer of the Grail announced yesterday.

The service band is made up of soldiers "stationed at Fort Bragg who were with "big name" bands before their induction into the army.

Commerce Dance

The dance, climax festivity of the event-packed weekend, will be held in the Tin Can from 9 until 12 o'clock. Admission will be $1.10 at the door. Delta Sigma Pi, honorary commerce fraternity and co-sponsor of the weekend will present the Commerce dance Friday night with Hurst Hatch and his fast-rising orchestra.

All commerce students will be extended bids to the Friday night dance from 9:30 until 1 o'clock in the Tin Can. Both dances of the set will be informal.

Bids for the commerce dance will be given out to commerce students next Tuesday and Wednesday in Bingham hall at 10:30. Attached to the bids will be tickets to the Grail dance Saturday night which the commerce students may purchase for $1.00. The Friday night bids are free to commerce students.

Brown's band of khaki-clad musicians has gained wide repute throughout the state since its formation last year. Ex-members of the nationally famous bands of Tony Pastor, Hal Kemp, Buddy Clark, Bobby Hackett, Tommy Reynolds, Harry James and Freddy Martin compose it.

Drive Emphasizes Cancer Control

Doctors throughout the United States have set aside April as Cancer Control Month and the University Medical department, headed by Dr. W. R. Berryhill and Dr. R. L. Holman, will swing along in step in informing all students about cancer, its danger and its control.

"Public killer number two," Holman declared, "has been responsible for over 160,000 deaths in the US in the past year. This disease can be stopped and will be stopped if only the public will awaken to its imminent danger."

Holman pointed out that great improvements have taken place both in the use of the X-ray and radium, and that these improvements greatly facilitate the cure of cancer. Burns from X-ray and radium treatment have practically disappeared.

In warning students of the danger of cancer Holman said, "Beware of three things, abnormal lumps, chronic sores, and abnormal bleeding. Any of these should be regarded as cancer until proven otherwise by a competent physician."

Religious Council

The Religious Council will meet at 10:30 this morning in Mr. Comer's office of the YMCA, it was announced yesterday. New officers will be elected.

Senate Naval Affairs Chairman Opens Pre-Flight School May 23

By Bob Levin

Senator David I. Walsh, Chairman of the Senate's Naval Affairs Committee, has been invited to deliver the principal address at the formal exercises commissioning Carolina's Naval Pre-Flight Training school May 23, it was announced today by Lt. John P. Graff, USN, (ret.), executive officer.

Highlight of the afternoon ceremonies in Kenan stadium will be the acceptance of the Commandant post by Commander O. O. Kessing, USN, who will be in complete charge of the extensive preparedness program.

State Officials

State officials present at the launching of Carolina's Annapolis of the Air will be Governor J. M. Broughton, who has already accepted the Naval invitation, and Josephus Daniels, editor and publisher, former ambassador to Mexico and Secretary of the Navy during World War I, is expected to attend.

Representatives from the Bureau of Aeronautics, the Navy Department and the Naval Academy in Annapolis will also be invited.

The University's NROTC unit, under the direction of Captain William S. Popham, USN, and Duke's NROTC, headed by Captain A. T. Clay, USN, together with the CVTC will participate in the commissioning.

Cadet Vanguard

Five days later a vanguard of 242 cadets will arrive and begin classes immediately. Other contingents of varying numbers will arrive every two weeks until the full strength of 1875 has been reached.

Plans for the event are being formulated by Lt. W. B. Davis, USNR, and an interesting and appropriate program is being planned. Lt. Davis is working in close collaboration with University authorities in arranging the program.

The ceremony will be open to the public and invitations have already been extended to the North Carolina American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

May Frolics Postponed Until After Blackout

By Hayden Carruth

The annual May Frolic dance, scheduled tonight for 9 o'clock, will be postponed until 11, after the termination of the two-hour alert period called by the First Army Interceptor Command for a 27-county North Carolina blackout. The dance will last until 2 o'clock.

The arrangement was made through the cooperation of the Dean of Students' office and the Frolic committee, after several alternatives had been under consideration.

The test-blackout will last one half hour, will be called by the army sometime tonight between 9 and 11 o'clock, Dean R. H. Wettach, Chief Air Raid Warden, said yesterday. An alert period will be called throughout the 2 hours, when all air raid wardens must be prepared for the total blackout.

Student Blackout Satisfactory

"Because the student management of the campus blackout two weeks ago was entirely satisfactory, the same methods will be employed on the campus this time," said Dean Wettach. One change will be made, however, in the coed dorms. All coeds will report to the second floor when the alarm is sounded, and dates may remain on the first floor. Fraternity men and their dates should retire immediately to the blackout room, which should be prepared so that the lights may be left burning.

In the men's dormitories, students will go to the second floor and remain there until the all clear sounds. Wardens will remain posted on the floors throughout the blackout. Each student shall be held responsible for the lights in his own room.

Air Corps Lists Reserve Plan

Army Air Corps officers of Craig Field, Alabama will appear on the Memorial hall platform Tuesday night at 8 o'clock to explain the new regulations permitting the enlistment of college students on a deferred service basis.

Faculty Air Force advisers of nearby colleges and universities will attend the mass meeting and hold a conference in the afternoon with University officials. Major John S. Snyder and Lieutenant Robert H. Bowling will address the student gathering and explain the new Army Air Corps set up.

The recent release of the March of Time covering Army war activity will be shown at the same mass meeting, it was announced.

The new provision enables college students to complete their college courses and graduate before undertaking active Aviation Cadet training.

No enlistments will be made on the initial visit of the Air Corps officers, it was stated. On May 11, the officers will return with an Aviation Cadet Examination Board to interview and examine applicants.

The new Air Force Enlisted Reserve program is designed so that it may "disrupt the nation's educational system as little as possible considering the fact of war; and will provide the Army Air Force with a great reserve of qualified officer material."

Council Head Announces Complete Program For Five-Day Spring Workshop Festival Here

Coed Scholarship Applications Due; Senate Convenes

Available to any rising senior coed, $150 scholarship from the reserve funds of the Woman's Government Association will be given, probably on Awards Night.

Letters of application, stating need of financial aid, academic standing and interest in coed government, must be filed before May 1 with some member of the committee appointed Tuesday afternoon by the coed senate. Members of the committee are: Jean Hahn, Chi Omega house; Mary Lib Nash, McIver; Frances Bonkemeyer, Alderman; and Mary Jane McCaskill, McIver.

Investigations will be made by committee members and preliminary recommendations made. The final selection will be made by the University Scholarship committee.

WGA reserve funds, accumulated since 1917, and regular coed fees, will enable the coed government to award a similar scholarship each year.

Coed Senate officers, including speaker, speaker pro tem and secretary, will be elected this afternoon at 1:30 in Caldwell hall.

Pan-Hell Scholarship Deadline Set for May 1

Applications for the Pan-Hellenic $200 scholarship should be in as soon as possible, Jennie Wells Newsome, president, stated yesterday. The deadline is May 1.

Information concerning the new award to be given annually to a rising senior coed may be obtained from Miss Newsome throughout this week, it was stated.

Festival Opens Monday; Awards Presentation Climaxes Events Friday

Complete program of next week's first Spring Workshop Festival has been released.

Richard Adler, Carolina Workshop council's chairman, yesterday made public the new organization's five-day schedule of dramatic, musical, artistic, literary, dance and photographic exhibitions, meetings, forums, demonstrations, concerts and recitals starting Monday morning.

Climax of the CWC Festival will be presentation of awards Friday night to students deemed most outstanding in various fine art divisions.

Panel Discussion

According to Adler, the most important event will be Monday night's panel discussion. Paul Green, playwright and interlocutor; Lee Simonson, stage designer; James Boyd, author; Clarence Adler, pianist, and Clare Leighton, woodcut artist will convene in a panel forum to argue "The Artist in War Time." The forum will be held in Graham Memorial lounge at 8 o'clock.

Tuesday night premieres of three special student-written plays will be presented at the Playmaker theatre at 8 o'clock.

Original student music compositions will debut Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock during a Hill Music hall concert by student musicians. Person Hall Art Gallery will open its doors for a post-concert reception.

A new radio play will be given public performance Thursday night. "Stormbred" by Frank Brink will be demonstrated at 8 o'clock in Playmakers theatre and at 8:45 the Modern Dance club will stage a dance recital

Campbell Lists Coed Rules For Weekend

In answer to requests and to prevent misunderstandings during the coming weekend, Lib Campbell, president of the women's Interdormitory Council, yesterday released the following re-statement of coed rules and regulations:

Under the Interfraternity Agreement, coeds may not drink on the premises of, or in, fraternity houses.

Concerning visiting dwellings in town, coeds may visit only faculty members, townspeople, and students living with their own parents; and must fill out a "town visit" notice on their return. This means that coeds may not attend cocktail parties in men's living rooms or dwellings, without special permission from their house council members.

Coeds attending May Frolics are permitted an extra hour after the dance. They must, however, sign up for the privilege; and are not expected to take the extra hour unless they attend the dance.

During the extra hour of late permission, coeds may visit in only those fraternity houses having "organized parties," approved in the adviser to women's office.

Pharmacists Meet

Pharmacy students are required to have conferences with Dean Beard according to the following schedule: First year and transfer students today and tomorrow, second year students tomorrow, third year students Monday and fourth year students Tuesday.
