Truman Charges Companies Take Heavy Fees, Profits

Senator Accuses Standard Oil Of 'Selfish Gain'

By Paul Komisaruk
Senator Harry S. Truman last night bluntly charged companies and individuals with making exorbitant fees and profits on defense contracts at the expense of fellow citizens, and declared "their greed knows no limits. They have taken advantage of America in America's hour of need."

Specifically, the Missouri Democrat named the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and the Aluminum Company of America as groups which have exploited the productive efforts for "selfish gains."

Truman, who addressed a Carolina Political union audience in Memorial hall, was vigorously applauded as he explained Standard Oil's deal with the German I. G. Farben company. "They came as near treason as is possible to come," Truman declared.

Cracking down on these practices, the Senator asserted that "the American people will make sacrifices and will spend billions of dollars for war supplies, but they will continue to demand that not one cent shall be lost through waste, inefficiency or personal greed."

Truman explained that Standard Oil had entered into an agreement with the German Farben Company in 1929. Referring to the agreement, Truman stated that Standard Oil was to receive a monopoly in the oil industry while Farben was to have complete control of patents in the chemical field. "In September 1939, they and the I. G. Farben Company modified their agreement," Truman said.

Alonzo Squires To Entertain At Charity Ball

Alonzo Squires, Carolina student who has won wide acclaim as an amateur impersonator, will provide the entertainment for the Charity Ball which is being given Saturday night, May 2, at Lenoir hall by the Junior Service League.

Squires appeared during the past year on Fred Allen's radio program. He will appear during the intermission of the ball Saturday night.

Grail-Commerce Dance Set Opens in Tin Can Tonight

By Bob Hoke

Campus honoraries join hands tonight as the first Grail-Commerce Dance set in the history of the University is launched in the Tin Can.

The dance weekend is jointly sponsored by the Order of the Grail, campus honorary organization, and Delta Sigma Pi, honorary commerce fraternity.

Hurst Hatch and his popular campus orchestra mount the bandstand of the Tin Can tonight to play for the Commerce formal from 9:30 until 1 o'clock. The initial event of the weekend is free to all students registered in the Commerce school.

Second-Lieut. Stanley Brown and his Fort Bragg band of former members of "big name" bands will take over tomorrow night for the Grail dance to be held in the Tin Can from 9 until 12 o'clock. The informal dance is open to the general campus with a door ad-

Arts Awards Will Climax CWC Festival

Final day of the Carolina Workshop council's Spring Festival will present reviews of all previous CWC presentations this week, reading of literary papers and awarding of seven keys to the outstanding students in the art fields.

The concluding Workshop session will be held tonight in Graham Memorial at 8 o'clock.

Walter Spearman, journalism department instructor, will preside. Bob Finehout will review Tuesday night's experimental bill, Ann Seeley will describe Wednesday's music concert, Dorothy Jackson will criticize last night's dance recital, Betty Perry will review this week's CWC art exhibit, St. Clair Pugh will go over last night's radio play and William Davey will criticize the Person hall photo display.

Richard Adler, CWC chairman, will award CWC keys to the seven students voted most outstanding this year in art, dance, radio, drama, music, photography and literary fields.

"Something new in radio drama" certainly was the right way to sound off last night's "Stormbred," a new radio play by Frank Brink, presented at Playmakers theatre for the CWC Festival.

Coed Senate to Hold Session Today

The coed senate will meet today at 1:30 in Caldwell hall. Both old and new members are requested to attend for discussion of an agreement with the commerce fraternities.

Bids for the commerce dance tonight will be given out to Commerce students for the last time this morning at 10:30 in 103 Bingham hall and at the Y, Dean Williams, chairman of the commerce dance committee, stated yesterday.

Playing "both a 1942 brand of solid swing arrangements plus a smooth style of ballads, a la style of Tommy Dorsey," the Brown band of draftees has gained prominence throughout the state.

Ex-members of "big name" bands include Joe Broda, on trumpet, formerly of Hal Kemp's band; Louis Columbo, alto sax, of the Bobbie Hackett crew; Marv Frish, piano, and Mike Pistolesi of the Tony Pastor band; Farrell Leonard, drums, ex-bandleader of Long Island; Paul Gray, tenor sax, of Harry James' orchestra; Hal Funt, tenor sax, formerly of Buddy Clarke's band; and Al Aan, bass player, of Meyer Davis.

Hammond Gets University Club Office

Denman Hammond, rising junior from Atlanta, Georgia, was elected president of the University Club at a special meeting of the club Monday night.

Other officers elected at the meeting were John Robinson, a rising junior from Charlotte, to the position of vice-president, Willie Long of Garysburg to the post of treasurer, and Celeste Hamrick, a coed from Shelby, becomes the new secretary.

The new officers were elected after several candidates for each of the positions had been nominated by the new members of the club for next year meeting for the first time. Steve Peck, president of the club this year presided over the meeting.

Hammond, a member of the sophomore executive committee, is treasurer of the International Relations Club, a varsity letterman in swimming, and last winter set a new intercollegiate long course record for the backstroke. He is a member of the NROTC unit.

The new members were selected for outstanding work and interest among their own organizations and in campus affairs, Peck stated. The old club members realized, he stated, that many of the dormitories would be vacated next year but "we felt that many changes could happen between now and next year and the new club could suitably meet these changes as they occurred."

It was also announced that since the number of students living in town has been greatly increased, the number of town representatives would be likewise increased next fall quarter.

The complete list of new University Club members is as follows: Denman Hammond, John Robinson, Wiley Long, See HAMMOND, page 4

Helen McMurray Signed by Union For Sunday Songs

Continuing the regularly scheduled Sunday afternoon programs sponsored by Graham Memorial, Helen Johnson McMurray, soprano will sing in the main lounge next Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock. She will be accompanied by Mildred Little Hendrix of Durham.

Mrs. McMurray is a graduate of Salem college, holding the degrees of bachelor of arts and bachelor of music from that institution. She has studied at the Westminster Choir School, Juilliard school of music in New York City, and at Eastman school of music in Rochester, New York. She has appeared as soloist in a number of cities from Washington, D. C., to Atlanta, Ga., and sung in the choir directed by Dr. Alfred E. Hollins of St. George's West, in Edinburgh, Scotland.

For the past several years she has illustrated the songs of Mrs. Corsey Adams, prominent composer, pianist and author known throughout the nation. Mrs. McMurray appeared at Graham Memorial last year.

Union to Present Baseball Movie Today at 10:30

The American League Baseball movie, "The Ninth Inning," will be shown this morning at 10:30 in the main lounge of Graham Memorial, Bill Cochran, director of the student union, announced last night. The movie is dedicated in memory of Lou Gehrig.

Scheduled to be presented last night as a part of the Twilight Hour, it unavoidably had to be postponed until this morning when a lamp in the projection machine broke down.

SYLVAN MEYER and Ben McKinnon, editors-elect for Carolina Magazine and Tar an' Feathers. The editor-in-chief for the new combination magazine will be appointed by the PU board from these two men.

Coeds Attend Bragg Dance

Ninety-five Carolina coeds, dressed in evening finery, leave tonight at 6:45 from Spencer hall to attend a Service club dance at Fort Bragg. Invitations will be distributed at the buses.

The Interdorm council, which will sponsor the trip, announces that parental permission is not necessary as originally required. Coeds will be chaperoned by: Mrs. Frank Graham, Mrs. M. H. Stacy, Miss Bib Huntley, Miss Barbara Shields, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Humphreys, Mrs. Natalie Gould, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Mackie, and Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Rogerson.

Formal dress is required for the dance, which will last from 8 until 11 o'clock. The girls and their chaperones See COEDS, page 4

Judaism Group Meets Today

The third annual Institute of Judaism, to be sponsored by the Hillel Foundation of the University of North Carolina, will be held today and tomorrow.

A panel of four noted rabbis will discuss "Jews in the Post War World," general theme of the Institute this year. Members of the audience will be invited to participate in the discussion.

Panelists are Rabbi Paul Reich, Norfolk, Va.; Rabbi Solomon Cherniak, Director of the Hillel Foundation of the University of Georgia; Rabbi Joseph I. Weiss, Goldsboro, and Rabbi Robert P. Jacobs, Asheville.

The Institute will open Friday night in Gerrard hall at 7:30, and the Saturday session will be held in Battle Park, following a picnic lunch at 12:30. The sessions are open to the interested public.

Alderman Dance Scheduled Tonight

Aldermen will hold its spring formal dance tonight from 9 to one o'clock with Lucille Culbert serving as social chairman.

Each girl will have a date and will be given two stag bids to distribute. Refreshments will be served.

McKinnon to Attempt Referendum Petition

Quiet Session Passes Long-Debated Measure; PU Board to Appoint New Editor-in-Chief

By Hayden Carruth

The Student legislature, meeting for its second major decision of the year last night, swept out of existence both the Carolina Magazine and Tar an' Feathers and created a new magazine, combining the qualities of humor, literature and topics "of campus interest."

Ben McKinnon, recently elected editor of Tar an' Feathers and leader of the opposition camp, declared his intention of seeking a petition for a popular referendum to reverse the legislature's enactment. Desks will be posted at the YMCA and at Lenoir dining hall to register the signatures of petition signers all day today, he announced last night.

One tenth of the enrolled student body must sign the petition before the legislature can consider it a valid basis for the institution of a referendum vote. One half or more of the student body must vote in the referendum for its result to be considered effective.

A subject which long threatened to unleash storms of opinion on the campus, the matter of combination passed the legislature with hardly a flurry. Although leading legislators predicted a pitched battle of parliamentarianism, a quiet meeting with little discussion heard and approved the bill in approximately three quarters of an hour.

The Bill to Establish a New Campus Magazine, introduced by Ways and Means committee chairman Lous Harris, provides for the new publication's entry upon the campus scene at the beginning of the next fall quarter, leaving the status quo for the remainder of this academic year.

Sections three and four of the bill provide for the selection of an editor-in-chief by popular election and the appointment of literary and humor editors by the Publications Union board. Section five, however, provides that the first editor-in-chief shall be appointed by the PU board from the two editors-elect, Sylvan Meyer and Ben McKinnon. The one that does not receive the appointment will automatically become literary or humor editor, as the case may be. The PU board will choose a name for the new publication.

"We must preserve the type of humor necessary to the campus in war times," said McKinnon, who was extended the courtesy of the floor to present the opposition's cause. "The status quo pleases all the students. Hu-

New License Tags Must Be Bought For Student Cars

All student auto owners who have not bought licenses this school year are required to purchase new licenses, as no student car can lawfully be operated on the campus for more than two weeks without a license, it was announced yesterday. Violators are warned that their cars may be sent home for failure to comply with regulations.

Sticker-type student licenses are available in the Director's office of Graham Memorial, in the YMCA secretary's office and in the local police station for those students who do not have a license.

These stickers will take the place of the metal licenses which are now unavailable due to priorities. Both these licenses and the metal ones given out during the school year will be valid until January 1943.

Metal licenses bought previously to this fall, those numbering below 277, are not valid.

Broad to Lead Religious Council

The religious council yesterday elected officers to serve for the coming school year.

Next year's officers are: Carter Broad, president, replacing Betty Dixon; David Arner, vice-president, replacing Wimpy Lewis; and Mike Carr, secretary, replacing Aaron Raisin.

Executive adviser for the coming year is Dr. Charles Jones, who will take the place of Rabbi Samuel Sandmel. There will be one more meeting during May.

Parker to Speak Before Law Group

Judge R. Hunt Parker, Superior Court Judge from Roanoke Rapids, will highlight the annual Law Association banquet tonight at the Carolina Inn with an address on the life of Winston Churchill.

With Parker at the banquet table will be Dean and Mrs. R. B. House and Mrs. A. C. McIntosh, wife of former professor emeritus, Dean A. McIntosh.

Class representatives will speak followed by the presentation of the annual awards by faculty members. Harvey Jonas, outgoing president of the Law Association, will preside at the banquet which will mark the official induction of the newly elected Law Association officers for the next school year.
