Students Plan Investigation Of Food Prices

Merchants Lifting Of Prices Studied

A group of student leaders will convene in special session tonight to take definite and far-reaching action on the general rise in food prices in Chapel Hill eating establishments arising since the closing of the University Dining Hall Tuesday, Bert Bennett, president of the student body, announced late last night.

Reports that restaurants on Franklin Street have raised food prices as much as 20% overnight will be thoroughly investigated by the representative group and methods of instituting immediate recriminatory action against the profiteers will be formulated at the meeting.

The special session is slated for 7:30 tonight and will be held in the Student Council room in Graham Memorial, Bennett stated.

The eating problem has become a critical one in recent weeks for the students inasmuch as the influx of Naval cadets has overtaxed the facilities of Lenoir Dining Hall, forcing University action last Tuesday in closing the whole building for student use.

Frosh Council Schedules Dance Tomorrow Night

Continuing their "social-a-week" program, the Freshman Friendship Council is holding its first dance of the summer in Graham Memorial tomorrow night from 8:30 until 11:30. Only members of the council and their dates will be admitted and music will be on records.

For the past six weeks the council has been organizing and is now planning a social every week and programs at all meetings. The social following the dance will be a hayride, the date of which will be announced later. Meeting programs will consist of speakers, and varied talent drawn from the membership.

Every Thursday afternoon the officers and committee chairman of the council meet with Mr. Harry Comer, YMCA director, for luncheon and to discuss plans for the coming week.

'Tar Heel' Aspirants To Apply Sunday

Students interested in working on the staff of the TAR HEEL are requested to meet in the news offices, 206 Graham Memorial, between 3 and 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

There are several vacancies on the reporting and advertising staffs that will be filled following tryouts.

Organizations having news items for the paper are requested to have the material in the TAR HEEL offices by 12 o'clock on Monday and Thursday mornings. Full coverage of all campus offices cannot be assured by the editors until the staff vacancies created at the end of the first session have been filled.

Coeds Select New Officers

Honor Council Holds First Meet Tonight

Officers for the second session of summer school of the Woman's Government Association will be elected tonight, it was announced.

The incoming officers will replace Mary Lib Nash, president; Ditzie Buice, vice-president; and Ardis Kipp, secretary. The new officers will be elected from the candidates put up in the women's dormitories last night.

The Honor Council functions during the summer as the Woman's Government Association by determining the punishment for violations of the campus, honor, and interfraternity codes.

Regular meetings will be held each Monday at 5 o'clock in the WGA room of Graham Memorial, and emergency meetings may be called at any time. Mrs. M. H. Stacy is the official adviser for the group. Only major cases will be tried, with the Hall Councils dealing with minor ones. The Council will consider the Interfraternity agreement to allow co-eds in the frat houses this session.

The social chairmen elected will cooperate with the director of the summer activities to plan social functions for the quarter.

'Tar Heel' Issued Twice Weekly Here

During the second summer session the TAR HEEL again will be issued late Tuesday and Friday afternoons.

Students who do not receive their TAR HEELS regularly are instructed to telephone the summer activities office, 6761, and to leave their names and addresses.

Navy To Have Joint Use With Students

Full construction details of the outdoor swimming pool being built directly behind Woollen gymnasium were revealed yesterday by Administrative authorities.

Only a few feet smaller than the University's famed Bowman Gray Memorial pool housed in Woollen gymnasium, the pool is being built for the joint use of Navy cadets and students. Construction is expected to be completed for use this year.

Measuring 150 feet by 49 feet, the pool will be deeper than the indoor pool, which is one of the largest in the South, and will hold 2,000 gallons more water. The specially treated water will be constantly changed by a filter plant.

A 15-foot deck will edge the pool and will be bordered with a flagstone promenade.

Construction of the pool was begun over two weeks ago by R. L. Stewart Company of High Point and excavation has almost been completed.

Locker facilities of Woollen gymnasium will be used for the outdoor pool and the two units will be connected by a flagstone walk.

Addition of the outdoor pool to the athletic plant of the University is expected to turn swimming into a major item on Carolina's sports calendar and make Chapel Hill the seat of famous Intercollegiate and National aquatic tournaments.

Person Gallery Offers Modern Art Exhibition

"Modern Architecture in North Carolina" as seen in photographs and studies is on view in Person Hall Art Gallery through the end of the month. What lies behind the new forms and shapes, a review of the history of the development, and further examples of the contemporary architecture are displayed on the browsing table, arranged in connection with the exhibition.

Summer activities in the art gallery have not stopped with the end of the first session of summer school. Although no formal courses will be taught, an open sketch class meeting Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 2 to 5 o'clock is already functioning. Those who attend will share expenses of the model each time they come. This is the only cost involved. It is especially hoped that the wives of the Navy instructors will be interested in joining the class.

Gallery hours are from 10-5 o'clock daily and from 12-5 o'clock Sundays.

New Record Registration Reaches 1,116

Enrollment Closes Monday for Session

Half-completed second session enrollment clicked to a 1,116 total late yesterday, exceeding by over a hundred the total registration for the second session of last summer. The total for last summer's second term was 998.

Registration officials expect the totals to jump another 200 before tally lines close at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon—making the 1942 summer session a record breaker in enrollment. Tabulations for the first session bested by 178 the enrollment for the same period last summer. A total of 1,966 were enrolled for last term.

Explanation for the increased campus population was laid to the University's wartime speedup which has turned the summer session into a "fourth quarter." An increasing number of regular session students have returned for the summer in order to complete their college education early.

The registration machinery will be in operation for new students throughout Monday. Students enrolled in the last session may be registered now but are required to pay a $2.00 late registration fee.

Throughout the remainder of the registration period students may enroll with their Deans or advisers from 8:30 to 4:30 daily with the exception of Saturday when offices will close at 1 o'clock. There will be no registration on Sunday.

Students not enrolled in the General College or in the Department of Education will consult their departmental advisers prior to final registration with their Deans. General college students, which include all freshmen and sophomores, will go directly to their advisers. Graduates and undergraduates in Education will report to 127 Peabody hall.

All students must check out through the tally line located on the second floor lobby of Memorial hall as the final step in the registration process.

Civil Service Announce Changes

United States Civil Service commission has announced its first attorney examination and modified requirements for positions in the Navy department and Maritime commission.

Attorney positions paying from $2,000 to $3,000 a year are open to members of the bar. No experience is required for the $2,000 positions. Senior law students and graduates not admitted to the bar are eligible to apply for positions as law clerk, trainee, at $1,800 a year. Applicants will be given a written and oral examination. The deadline for applications is August 21.

Salaries for naval architects and marine engineers range from $2,600 to $5,600 a year. No written test will be given, but applicants must have completed a four-year course, or had four years of comparable experience. Experience is required for most positions. No closing date has been set for applications.

Application forms and full information concerning these positions may be obtained from the post office.

Frosh To Discuss Extra Curriculas

Student body president, Bert Bennett, announced yesterday that next Wednesday night from 7 until 8 o'clock, a meeting of summer freshmen will be held in order to acquaint the newer students with campus activities and how to get into them. Bennett said that many of the students would like to participate on the TAR HEEL, the Yackety Yack, and other campus activities but "did not know how to go about getting into them."

"There is something for every one to do," said Bennett, "and we want to help you find the spot in which you would like to be." He invited anyone to come up to see him and discuss the possibilities of getting into some outside work.

Delivery Delay Caused by Mistake

Complete reprinting of the TAR HEEL was made last night by the editors to correct misinformation that had occurred in one story on the front page.

Delivery of the papers has been necessarily delayed until this morning, but editors assure the campus that the delay will not happen again.

For the rest of the second session, the TAR HEEL will be distributed as scheduled on Tuesday and Friday afternoons.

Osborne Gives Rushing Rules

Coeds Prohibited In Frat Houses

Bucky Osborne, president of the Interfraternity council, yesterday reiterated that summer rushing rules will continue throughout the second summer term.

It was also announced that coeds will be prohibited from entering fraternity houses until further notice. Coed honor council and fraternity officials are negotiating to establish new regulations, expected to be similar to those of the first summer session.

Apply to New Men

The rushing regulations apply to freshmen and transfers who have entered the University for the first time this summer and who have had no previous fraternity affiliations. These freshmen and transfers are known as new men.

1. New men can not leave the city of Chapel Hill with fraternity men for any purpose without the permission of the Interfraternity council, nor can they ride in automobiles with fraternity men whether riding in or out of the city limits.

2. No fraternity men can spend any money on new men.

3. Fraternity men and new men can not eat or drink together or sit at the same table in any public place or any private home.

4. No pre-arranged dates can be made between new men and fraternity men.

5. No new men may visit the grounds or house of any fraternity.

6. New men will not be allowed to room with fraternity men.

7. New men can not visit fraternity

Adequate Facilities Promised

Officials Study Expansion Plans

Official announcement of the closing of the Lenoir Dining Hall cafeteria to student patronage was made late last night (Friday) by W. D. Carmichael, controller of the University, amid conflicting rumors of the complete turning over of the University eating plant to the Navy Pre-Flight unit.

Completely closed to students for the second session, the mammoth dining hall is undergoing repairs and alterations necessary to serve the 1,875 Naval cadets and the normal load of students.

Carmichael emphatically denied the complete allocation of the UDH for Navy use.

Extremely limited at the present time due to the closing of the UDH, campus eating facilities are undergoing a strain that administrative officials assert will be remedied by the opening of the Fall quarter. Expansion of facilities at the UDH and at other University eateries has been intimated but awaits official approval before release.

"We reiterate our statement that adequate and attractive eating facilities will be available to all students by the opening of the Fall quarter," Carmichael stated last night in speaking for the Administration.

Strain was put on the UDH facilities by the unpredicted fact that the Naval cadets eat from two and one-half to three times as much food as the normal student. The University has contracted to feed the cadets and is rearranging and enlarging its facilities to take care of both the cadet corps and the student body.

Officials intimated at several possible sites of expansion of the campus dining halls. One proposal calls for

Ping Pong Tourney Slated by Union; Hutton to Direct

Carolina's first ping pong tournament will be held next week.

Tiny Hutton, Sound and Fury showman and columnist, will conduct the tourney Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at Graham Memorial. A prize of $2.50 in war stamps will go to the tournament winner, and a prize of $1.50 in stamps will be given to the runner-up.

The contest, first in a series to be sponsored by Hutton and Graham Memorial, will be open only to male players. A mixed doubles contest will be staged the following week, and an all-girls ping pong rally will be included in the series. Similar prizes will be awarded from week to week.

Hutton announced yesterday that students who want to enter the tournament must sign their names at the Graham Memorial office before 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Pairings for the contest will be released in Tuesday's TAR HEEL. Graham Memorial ping pong tables will be reserved for tourney players from 1:30 to 6:30 Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Initial Community Sing Of Summer Slated Monday

First community sing of the summer quarter has been scheduled by the summer activities office in its initial second term slate.

Students will assemble at the main steps and lawn of South building Monday night at 7:30 for the community sing. DeArmand Moore, a Carolina med student who has led similar enterprises at Duke University, will conduct the singing.

Tonight free watermelon for all will be given in a mass watermelon slice on the terrace behind Graham Memorial. The activities office will foot the bill while students dig into ripe, red melons with forks and bare hands.

Later tonight there will be a square dance, with the far-famed Chatham County Ramblers to serenade student dancers. The square dance will begin on the YMCA court at 9 o'clock and will continue until midnight.

Graham Memorial will open its doors to students and Naval cadets tomorrow night at 8:30, while an informal dance will be staged at the Y court at the same time.

Mrs. Peggy McIntosh will again teach dancing this term on the terrace behind Bowman Gray pool. Classes for beginners will be held Monday and Wednesday nights from 7:30 to 8:30, and classes for advanced pupils will be held Tuesday and Thursday nights.

Information Center Gains Nationwide Fame

War Data Assembled In Library Feature

By Margaret Morrison
"Come, let us reason together" is the challenge of the War Information Center located in the main lobby of the library. The purpose of this center is to give each person who desires it information about any phase of war, defense, morale, economics, post war planning, air raids, production, and hundreds of other similar topics.

This is accomplished through local circulation of the materials of the Center and through the state-wide mailing system which is a service of the Center.

Since the creation of this Center last December, Mrs. N. B. Adams, director, has accumulated around 500 books and 3,000 pamphlets. Most of the books have been bought with money from the fund set up for this purpose, a few have been contributions from persons interested in the work of the Center, and recently many interesting and pertinent books have been received from the British Minis-

Bradshaw (center) studies some of the material collected and shown to him by Charles E. Rush, librarian (left), and Mrs. N. B. Adams, director. The Center was originally planned as an only temporary agency of about six months duration, but because of its unusual activeness and usefulness it is hoped that the Center may be continued for some time. It is located in the first floor foyer of the library.
