

Editorials

- Finale For Efficiency
- No Bricks Without Straw
- Just One Gripe

The Daily Tar Heel

News

- Tar Heels Meet Deacs
- Convocation Address
- New Pipeline

VOLUME LI

Editorial: F-3141, News: F-3146, F-3147

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1942

Business and Circulation: 8641

NUMBER 4

Tar Heels Face Strong Deacon Team In Opener Graham Calls University 'Strategic Center Of Total War'

President Calls For Total Effort To Gain Victory

By Billy Webb

"The University of the people is a strategic center of total war," President Frank Porter Graham, forceful yet subdued, stated yesterday in an address in Memorial hall which formally opened the 149th University year.

In an address in which Graham looked "down the centuries and back to this, the world's darkest hour," he declared that "the impact of this war is focused everywhere, in countryside, town, and village, and in no village in America more than in the little village of Chapel Hill. The University and the Pre-Flight School are both training for the military and naval services America's fittest young men who already are carrying the fight for freedom to all the seas, lands, and skies of the globe."

Student Adjustment

President Graham asked that every student adjust his "total self, stripped of fat, laziness, luxury, softness of body, flabbiness of mind and will" to the requirements that a tough war will demand of him. Establishing a personal martial note, he declared it the right and duty of all students to live clean and work with concentration.

Reviewing rapidly the cardinal points in the University's wartime program, he brought out that "America has just begun, the University has just begun, and the individual student here begins to go all out for war." Graham made no statement as to future Carolina war plans, however.

War Center

"The University of the people is an outpost against the counter-revolution (of Nazism), a focus of civilization, and a chief stake of this revolutionary, total global war," Graham stated as he drew an outline of the University as the strategic center of total

See GRAHAM, page 4

Frat Managers Reorganize Setup At First Session

After two years of relative inactivity, the Fraternity House Managers association held its first meeting of the year Thursday night. It confined its activities largely to the problems of organization.

Bucky Osborne, president of the Interfraternity council, appointed H. D. Webb as temporary chairman of an executive committee consisting of the following men: Rich Van Wagoner, Phi Gamma Delta; Wade Weatherford, Phi Delta Theta; Vincent Wyche, Kappa Alpha; Ben Taylor, Delta Psi; Bill Wade Wood, SAE; Bill Soyars, Beta Theta Pi; Bob Lippman, Phi Alpha; Morty Golby, Pi Lambda Phi; and Dick Pollock, Chi Psi.

Harry Kear, head of the Student Activities fund office, was present and discussed the new and enlarged accounting system now being used in connection with all accounts of fraternity members of the Student Activities fund. It was strongly urged that all fraternities who have not already done so, join the fund to insure accurate handling of their finances.

After rush week, the group will undertake to make an organized attempt to fight rising prices caused by the war. A permanent chairman and committee will also be elected.

Satterfield Orchestra to Play for Grail's Football Frolic at Woollen Gym Tonight

The fall program of the Order of the Grail begins with a Football Frolic to be held in Woollen gym from 9 to 12 o'clock tonight, it was announced by Sam Gambill, exchequer of the Grail.

Cleared through the new social committee set up by Hobart McKeever and Bert Bennett, student body president, the dance will be held through the cooperation of Naval officials and the University administration.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by Johnny Satterfield's orchestra.

Water System to Have New $60,000 Pipeline

By Bob Levin

After a wartime summer of night and day pumping, Carolina's 15-year-old water system is to be supplemented by a $60,000 pipe line and pump. The capacity of the new pumping system will be doubled from 1,000,000 to 2,000,000 gallons when the 12-inch concrete and asbestos pipe is laid sometime in December. Water department heads reported that in June of this year Chapel Hill and the University were within 20 minutes of an acute water shortage when the 300,000 gallon tank and 150,000 gallon reserve tank were almost dry.

Wells Picked For Horner On PU Board

Editor to Be Chosen For Yackety Yack

Professor William S. Wells, associate professor in English, has been appointed to the Publications Union board this fall replacing George F. Horner, Ben Snyder, board president, announced last night.

Before coming to Carolina in 1935, Wells taught in Stanford university and got his PhD there in 1935. He received his AB in 1929 and his MA in 1930 at the University of Southern California and also studied at Harvard. For five years Wells was an adviser in the general college.

Horner, who was an assistant professor in English, had served two years on the PU board before leaving for Camp Lee in Virginia. He is working with other former Carolina teachers in revising and writing textbooks for the Quartermaster Corps. In 1921 he got his AB and in 1924 his MA, both at Pennsylvania State college; he received his PhD at Carolina in 1938.

The PU board will begin to make their selection of the Yackety Yack editor Monday afternoon. However, the board might also have to select a new YY business manager. Bahnsen Gray, present business manager, may resign. He is in the Army Reserve and is taking the special pre-induction course started this year.

Thus far three candidates have made applications to Snyder, and several others are expected before the Monday deadline.

Lanier Reports Federal Aid Hits $38,325

Government aid to the University's self-help program in the form of NYA funds has been set at $17,280 with an additional $21,045 being allotted under the Federal Loan Fund plan, Ed S. Lanier, director of the self-help office, announced yesterday.

The government NYA allotment has now been completely awarded to eligible students; however, no awards have been made under the Federal Loan Fund.

All students meeting the requirements stipulated by the government for the Loan Fund will be sent letters from the self-help office giving detailed information about the fund. The form letter will be mailed today.

To be eligible for a government loan students must be majoring in physics, chemistry, medicine, or pharmacy and must be within two years of graduation from July 1 of this year. Obtaining a government loan in no way alters a student's standing under the Selective Service Act. The loan will be withdrawn if the student is drafted.

Students having 12 o'clock classes are to report to the office before or after the meeting. Work will be started in order that staff members and recruits may attend the football game.

University engineers realized the need of additional pumping facilities at the close of the spring quarter but decided to chance another summer until definite action could be taken.

Following the completion of the digging and laying of the new system, more storage space will be built, because a 2,000,000 gallon daily pumping capacity is wasted unless the water can be stored for emergencies.

Water from the lake is pumped directly to the University filter plant for purifying. At present total storage is less than half the pipeline capacity which forces the station to discontinue pumping when both tanks are full.

Delivery date of the long planned water facilities is November 15, with William Muirhead of Durham signed as contractor.

Carolina Pep Rally Draws 1,700 Cheering, Bellowing Students

Cheering their hearts out for the dear old blue and white of Carolina, 1,700 students gathered in Memorial hall last night to officially welcome King Football back to the campus and to show the spirit which they will demonstrate when the Wake Forest gridsters invade Kenan stadium today for their annual tussle with the Tar Heels.

The rally began with a parade which formed at Swain hall and marched down Cameron avenue, turned at Columbia street, marched down Franklin, and back up Cameron to Memorial hall. The parade was led by the University band and the cheerleaders.

President Denny Hammond of the University club, the organization which sponsored the rally introduced Chief Cheerleader Frank Alspaugh, who in turn presented his staff of cheerleaders for this year. Numerous yells were given.

A short talk was given by Coach Jim Tatum who expressed his appreciation for the spirit shown by the students. He promised them his team would fight every inch of the way to bring in a victory over the Demon Deacons.

Hammond introduced this year's co- See RALLY, page 4

Entire DTH Staff Must Meet Today

Staff members of the Daily Tar Heel are to meet in the news offices this morning at 12 o'clock. New recruits having made application for work on the paper are to be present also.

Students having 12 o'clock classes are to report to the office before or after the meeting. Work will be started in order that staff members and recruits may attend the football game.

tonight, as in years past, the Grail will present the first of its post-game informal dances. A blanket invitation has been extended to the campus, except for freshmen, who are not permitted to attend because of the rushing week ruling.

TWO TARHEEL LINEMEN who will see a lot of action against Wake Forest this afternoon are Jack Hussey, above, and Ed Michaels, right. Hussey, 203-pound junior from High Point, will start at end for Carolina. Hampered by injuries last fall, he has shown great promise in practice. Michaels, a senior, will be the biggest man on either team, weighing 215 pounds.

Sophomores Hold Key To Carolina Success

By Bill Woestendiek

Making up in fighting spirit what it lacks in experience, a Carolina football team of unknown quality takes the field against a slightly favored Wake Forest eleven in Kenan stadium today in a Southern conference clash that marks the first game of the season for both teams. The kickoff is scheduled for 3 o'clock.

An entirely new, all-alumni coaching staff headed by Jim Tatum has been working long and hard on the Tar Heel club in an effort to get the Blue and White gridders in shape for today's tough opener with the veteran Deacon outfit. With the exception of Bob Heymann, first string tackle, and George Sparger, reserve end, both of whom are sidelined with injuries, the Tar Heels are in the best possible shape.

Several of Carolina's many sophomore prospects figure prominently in today's set-up and the play of these second year men will go a long way towards deciding the outcome. Billy Myers, Chan Highsmith, Joe Wright and Ralph Strayhorn are all likely starters, while Sam Arbes, Anny Kares, Meredith Jones, Walt Pupa, John Tandy and Jim Stringfield should also see action.

Austin At Wingback

Coach Tatum was undecided about his starting backfield selections yesterday with the exception of Co-Captain Joe Austin, who is sure to start at wingback. Either Billy Myers, brilliant sophomore, or Shot Cox will get the nod at tailback. Both men are triple-threat backs from whom a great deal is expected. Johnny Pecora, senior tailback, has been slowed up by a cold and is not likely to see much service.

Clay Croom is the likely choice at fullback, for he has been outstanding this week in practice sessions. His defensive work has improved a great deal and he also looked good on offense. It is possible, however, that Bill Sigler, whose strong forte is kicking, may start. He is sure to see action. Either Joe Wright or Mike Cooke will hold down the blocking back post. Wright has looked impressive in workouts, while Cooke has been moved back from center and is adapting himself quickly to his new role. He is also a capable kicker. Toby Webb will understudy Joe Austin, while soph Walt Pupa is another back likely to see some service.

The Tar Heel forward wall will also contain a pair of sophs. Jack Hussey and Craven Turner, both juniors, will be at the end spots. Ed Michaels and Joe Wolf will handle the tackles while Co-Captain Tank Marshall and soph Ralph Strayhorn will start at guard. Chan Highsmith, who has looked good at center, will be the starting pivot man today. The Tar Heel line will be a heavy one, but the Deacons' is still bigger with more experience.

Deacon Line Is Big

The Wake Forest eleven has a veteran line averaging over 200 pounds. The Deacs forward wall has held the Tar Heels scoreless for two years. The middle of the Baptist line is made up entirely of experienced players. Captain Pat Preston and George Owens will be at the guard spots and Tony Rubino and Buck Jones will take in 312 Murphey. See WAKE'S PASSES, page 3

Carolina Begins Shortest Rushing Period Tomorrow

At an unusually early date and for the shortest period in Carolina fraternity history, rushing will begin tomorrow when freshmen who have received invitations will make their initial visits to various fraternity houses.

The "invites" will be distributed today from 9 until 12 o'clock in the Horace Williams lounge of Graham Memorial and all freshmen expecting invitations must call there to receive them between those hours.

No invitations will be delivered individually this year due to the unavailability of a complete list of freshmen addresses. Bucky Osborne, president of the Interfraternity council, has therefore urged that all freshmen expecting bids call for them between the hours mentioned above. Bids will not be distributed at any other place or at any other time.

In previous years rushing has lasted for ten days but due to complaints by the faculty and students that it has seriously interfered with academic work, and because of the new speed-up schedules, it will last only six days this year. Hours for rushing, however, have been extended a half an hour in the evenings Monday through Thursday when it will last from 7:30 until 10:30. On Sunday there will be two periods of rushing, one from 2 until 6 o'clock and the other from 7 until 10 o'clock. Friday rushing will begin at 7:30 and end at midnight.

Due to the shortened period, Osborne has urged all freshmen to cooperate in every way so that there will be as little confusion as possible.

Vocational Books To Be Available At Library

A large collection of vocational books, supervised by Dr. W. D. Perry and Miss Elizabeth Huntley, will be available soon at the college library, Mr. G. E. Shepard announced yesterday.

Collected for the purpose of aiding and advising students who plan to enter various fields, the books will be stacked opposite the general circulation desk on the second floor. All of them will be placed on the oaken shelves for easy procurement.

The group will include books on physics, art, chemistry, medicine, education, and many other subjects dealt with in the college curriculum. From them the student, freshman or senior, will be almost certain to find material of service in the planning of his career. Members of the library staff have supplied biographical examples from the lives of outstanding men in each field.

Certain key reference volumes are obtainable for those especially interested. These give more complete bibliographies covering large numbers of books on specialized subjects under the general headings. Included in these larger collections are novels concerning many of the vocations.

Shepard stressed that this is a working collection.

Fall Enrollment Creeps to 3,276, Griffin Reports

Registration totals crept to 3,276 yesterday as students continued to straggle through late registration tally lines, I. C. Griffin, director of Central Records office announced.

Enrollment is approximately 1,000 students below normal this year as a direct result of the war. Carolina gentlemen are becoming United States soldiers, and the increase in the number of coeds enrolled does not make up for the number of men lost to the armed forces.

Before enrollment began last Monday with the registration of freshmen, it was anticipated that the total number of students registered this year would decrease approximately 500 compared with last year's record total of 4,100. The 1,000 student difference was unexpected, but marks a trend toward lower and lower enrollment until the winning of the war.

Spanish Reading Exam

The reading knowledge examination in Spanish for the School of Commerce will be held this afternoon at 1 o'clock in 312 Murphey.

Koch Playmaker Lecture To Launch 25th Season

Dr. Frederick H. Koch will open the 25th season of the Carolina Playmakers tomorrow at 8:30 in the Playmakers theater by recounting some of his many adventures in playmaking as founder of the Carolina Playmakers and dean of American folk drama.

In his appearance before students and the general public Sunday night, Professor Koch will tell "The Story of the Carolina Playmakers," illustrated with more than a hundred slides, tracing a quarter of a century of the development of folk drama at the University and elsewhere.

During the talk of his pioneering days, "Proff" will call up the names of such distinguished Playmakers as Thomas Wolfe and Paul Green, who were with him in the beginning, and with the aid of slides of their early plays will show what part they played in furthering the cause of native drama.

Scenes will be shown of early plays in which the following notables played: Jonathan Daniels, author of "A Southerner Discovers the South;" Shepperd Strudwick, now known in Hollywood as John Shepperd, star of the recent movie "The Life and Loves of Edgar Allen Poe;" William Wang now William Woods, author of the current best-seller, "The Edge of Darkness," recently sold to the movies; Eugenia Rawls, now in the professional theater and most recently seen on Broadway in the feminine lead of "The Guest In the House," produced this summer in New

See KOCH, page 4