

THE LATEST THING in motion picture theaters is shown in the view of the new Carolina Theatre main auditorium (above). The beautiful and luxurious furnishings are revealed (right) in the glimpse of one corner of the lounge foyer. The theater will open tonight, it was announced by E. Carrington Smith, manager.

New Theater Opens Here With Dedication Tonight

Dignitaries to Attend Ceremonies at 8:30; Smith's Playhouse To Be "Latest and Best"

Chapel Hill's new Carolina Theatre will open its doors for official dedication ceremonies tonight at 8:30.

Robert Madry, mayor of Chapel Hill and director of the University news bureau, will be among dignitaries officiating at the affair. H. F. Kinsey, general manager of North Carolina Theatres, Inc.; M. S. Hill, divisional manager; Earl Slocum of the music department; Controller W. D. Carmichael, and Dean of Administration R. B. House will speak.

House will be master of ceremonies, E. Carrington Smith, local manager, said yesterday. "The Major and the Minor," new Ginger Rogers hit, and a cartoon feature will begin the theater's regular five-a-day shows.

Admission price will be a constant 33 cents. Box office will open at 12:45 daily for 1 o'clock shows.

The new building, "all that money can buy," boasts "the latest and the best in every respect." Dual-unit all-year air conditioning, two of the biggest and latest projectors, men's and women's lounges, offices, 1,141 staggered spring seats, indirect lighting, complete fireproofing, special exit doors and lavish furnishings are among features of the town's newest playhouse.

Eight hard-of-hearing and two over-size seats have been installed in the auditorium, Smith said.

Carmichael will describe the story of the theater's architecture and designing at tonight's ceremonies. Slocum will end the program by directing the audience in a stanza of "America."

Smith expressed anxiety yesterday over the treatment some students may give the new theater's furnishings. Soiled upholstery and panels smeared with lip rouge promise to be a continuous headache, Smith said.

The Navy will begin operation of the Village theater Saturday for educational and entertainment purposes. The Pick will not alter its schedule or equipment.

Faculty Standards Must Be Kept Up, Carmichael Says

The University request for a 15 percent salary increase was explained by Controller W. D. Carmichael yesterday when he stated that "to maintain a first-rate University we must retain a first-rate faculty."

In order not to lower the long-standing University accredited rating we must keep the quality of the teaching staff high even though we are positive that another sharp decrease is expected. To keep our staff we must raise salaries to keep up with the rising cost of living.

This issue of a 15 percent salary increase will be one of the most important features of the budget discussion scheduled for the legislative docket in March. Before the bill is passed on by the legislature it must be discussed by a joint finance committee of the house and senate.

A summary of the budget asked for by Carolina is as follows: Required:

German Club Sets Dances

Fall Dances Set For November 13-14

The German Club will present its annual set of Fall dances on November 13 and 14, it was announced yesterday by Bill Vail, chairman of the club.

Plans for the dances, which are usually the biggest social event of the fall, are incomplete as yet. Vail said that an effort was being made to secure Lieut. Stanley Brown and his orchestra from Fort Bragg for the set.

Lieut. Brown's band played here on several occasions last year and was well received by the student body. The band is made up of former name band musicians who are now stationed at the Field Artillery replacement center.

The German Club presents three sets of dances a year, Fall Germans, Mid-Winters, and Finals. Admission is to club members only.

German Club officers are Jack Markham, president; Hunt Hobbs, vice-president; Bill Vail, chairman; Joe Conger, treasurer; and Howard Hodges, secretary. The initiation fee is $5.00 and there are no membership dues beyond the price of bids.

Present at the meeting will be student body president Bert Bennett, who will discuss the bill, W. J. Smith, speaker of the legislature, and members of the Debate Council, Student Entertainment committee, Student Union, and the Publications Union board.

The bill will be discussed with an effort made to ascertain how the fees money can be better distributed for wider campus use. A survey of student expenditures for the past 30 years will also be presented.

For students living in fraternities and dormitories: old irons, lawn mowers, radiators, ash cans, pails, pipe, old tools, wash boards, jar tops, metal cabinets, lamp bulbs, metal hangars, note book hinges, kitchen utensils, and trophies.

For the coeds: keys, locks, compact, lockets, fake jewelry, nail files, metal knick knacks, tubes of all kinds, bottle openers, and bottle tops.

If any items are located that cannot be handled easily students may get in touch with the information center at the DAILY TAR HEEL office.

Present at the meeting will be student body president Bert Bennett, who will discuss the bill, W. J. Smith, speaker of the legislature, and members of the Debate Council, Student Entertainment committee, Student Union, and the Publications Union board.

The bill will be discussed with an effort made to ascertain how the fees money can be better distributed for wider campus use. A survey of student expenditures for the past 30 years will also be presented.

For students living in fraternities and dormitories: old irons, lawn mowers, radiators, ash cans, pails, pipe, old tools, wash boards, jar tops, metal cabinets, lamp bulbs, metal hangars, note book hinges, kitchen utensils, and trophies.

For the coeds: keys, locks, compact, lockets, fake jewelry, nail files, metal knick knacks, tubes of all kinds, bottle openers, and bottle tops.

If any items are located that cannot be handled easily students may get in touch with the information center at the DAILY TAR HEEL office.

Vote Again Fails To Reach Goal Giant Rally Slated For Duquesne Game

Hammond Plans 'Biggest Yet' For Homecoming

By Bob C. Harris

To help bolster the Carolina football team for their tussle with the strong Iron Dukes of Duquesne University in Kenan stadium on Saturday, a pep rally will be held on Friday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock in Memorial Hall, Denny Hammond, president of the University club as announced.

The rally will be preceded by a parade which will march in reverse order from the first three parades that have been staged for rallies thus far this year. It will form in front of the YMCA at 5:10 o'clock and march down by the coed dorms, up through town, and down by the fraternity row. The parade will be led by the University band. It will pause momentarily in front of the coed quadrangle and fraternity row in order to give yells which will be lead by the cheerleaders.

At the rally, the principal speaker will be end coach Andy Bershak, former all-American end at Carolina. Also speaking will be two members of the football squad.

A new yell song will be introduced to the students by Tiny Hutton and Charlie Nelson. Song sheets will be provided for everyone and the song will be taught to the student body by the cheerleaders.

In conjunction with the rally, everyone is asked to bring scrap metal which will be thrown in a pile in front of Memorial Hall and later transferred to the scrap metal pile at the Old Well.

"It is the hope of the University club," Hammond said, "that everyone will turn out for the rally although it is being held earlier. It is being staged at 5:30 o'clock because of the fact that the Navy will be using Memorial Hall during the regular time for the rally. The bell in South building will be rung as a signal for the rally to begin."

Hammond also called attention to the fact that prizes will be given for the best decorations put on by the fraternities and dormitories for the homecoming weekend.

These exhibitions must be set up by the organizations not later than 11 o'clock Saturday morning. Judges for the contest will be announced later in the week.

The cup which has been given each year to the fraternity having the best display was retired last year by Sigma Nu, who won it for three years. Another prize will be offered this year, but as yet it has not been determined.

The expense limit on decorations for this affair are limited to $5.00 and no organization may spend any more.

Campus Groups Meet Tonight Over Fees Bill

A special meeting of all campus organizations directly affected by the student fees bill is called for 8 o'clock tonight in the Grail room, announced Roy Strowd, chairman of the finance committee.

Present at the meeting will be student body president Bert Bennett, who will discuss the bill, W. J. Smith, speaker of the legislature, and members of the Debate Council, Student Entertainment committee, Student Union, and the Publications Union board.

The bill will be discussed with an effort made to ascertain how the fees money can be better distributed for wider campus use. A survey of student expenditures for the past 30 years will also be presented.

DTH News Staff Will Convene Today

Staff members of the DAILY TAR HEEL news department are to meet in the publication offices on the second floor of Graham Memorial this afternoon at 2 o'clock. It is imperative that all members, both old and new, report.

In case of class or meeting conflicts, arrangements must be made to meet as close to the appointed time as possible.

Dr. Perry Will Clarify Proposed Draft Measure In Chapel Period Today

In an effort to relieve draft dazed University students who packed the Dean of Men's office and the campus military adviser's office all day yesterday, Dr. W. D. Perry will present a short statement today at 10 o'clock in Hill hall on the expected passage of the 18-19 year old draft bill.

Freshmen are expected to attend the meeting which will be part of the regular chapel session and all other University students within that age bracket are urged to attend.

Coed Senate Debates Over Curfew Bill

Frat Agreement Also Draws Hot Debate

"I'd rather have the coeds criticize me than have the whole state criticize the Carolina coeds!" said senator Frances Bedell, speaking in behalf of the shortened Friday night for coeds before a meeting of the coed senate last night.

With an interested group of spectators attending the meeting, a heated debate culminated in the passage of a motion to sponsor discussion of the issue at all women's dormitories and sororities Friday, Monday and Tuesday nights at house meetings. The bill will come to a final vote Wednesday at a call meeting of the senate.

A letter from President Frank Graham addressed to speaker of the senate Ditzzi Buice, commending general reaction of campus leaders in regard to the proposal and urging the senate's compliance, was read during the discussion. Speaker Buice emphasized that of greater importance than the issue itself was the fact that Carolina coeds now have an opportunity to display their willingness to cooperate in all programs for national defense, however small, and that reflection would be upon the entire coed student body in the event that it refused cooperation.

The bill reads: "Whereas all dances will now close at 12:00 on Friday, and midnight shows are no longer held on Friday, the coed senate hereby enacts that the dorm closing hour on Friday night be changed to 1:00."

With the senate's approval of the interfraternity agreement coeds will now be allowed to visit fraternity houses. The agreement gives fraternities the privilege to "entertain women students only in social rooms, halls, porches, and dining halls on the first floors" from 12 noon Mondays through Fridays until the dormitory closing time. No alcoholic beverages may be served in the presence of coed guests.

Nancy Jeffers and Winnie Rosenbaum, were accepted unanimously for the offices of vice-president and secretary respectively of the WAA, which were left open by the failure of Alliene Brawley and Betsy Ross to return this year.

Displaying their earnestness in the See COED SENATE, page 8

Displaying their earnestness in the See FRAT COUNCIL, page 8

Scrap Drive Misses Goal By 5,000 Pounds; Spence Praises New Spirit of Cooperation

Scrap Suggestions

Scrap can be found in many places, but most important however is knowing what to look for. Here are a few suggestions.

For students living in fraternities and dormitories: old irons, lawn mowers, radiators, ash cans, pails, pipe, old tools, wash boards, jar tops, metal cabinets, lamp bulbs, metal hangars, note book hinges, kitchen utensils, and trophies.

For the coeds: keys, locks, compact, lockets, fake jewelry, nail files, metal knick knacks, tubes of all kinds, bottle openers, and bottle tops.

If any items are located that cannot be handled easily students may get in touch with the information center at the DAILY TAR HEEL office.

Polks Stay Open Today From 9 to 5

Amendment Proposal Must Get 50% Tally

Student apathy hit a new high yesterday when after the second day of voting on proposed amendments to the constitution of the Legislature, only about one-third of the student body had voted which means that the polls will have to remain open another day since 50 percent of the student body must vote on the proposal.

Polks will be open at the YMCA from 9 until 5 o'clock today and election officials have urged that all students who have not voted do so at once in order that the unprecedented delay in getting enough votes will not drag on any longer.

Under present laws of the Legislature 50 percent of the student body must vote on the amendment to amend any part of the Constitution, and a simple majority of that number is required to pass the proposed amendment.

The four amendments which have been under vote for the last two days deal with changes in representation to the Legislature and lowering of the percent of students required to vote on new amendments to the constitution, or new laws initiated independently of the Legislature, and with making the power of referendum by students easier to invoke.

Combination Mag Makes Appearance On Campus Today

First issue to emerge from last year's campus-splitting controversy, the Carolina Magazine's October issue will roll from the presses this afternoon and reach readers tomorrow morning.

Combining representative efforts of all types of campus literature between its covers, the new mag "has attempted to increase its popular appeal for everybody on the campus by cutting down on long-hair writing," the editors said.

Among the outstanding features of the new mag are: a pre-publication date-wood-cut from Claire Leighton's new book, "Southern Harvest," the first published work of the Kay Kayser scholarship award winner, Walter Carroll; and a thorough analysis of the food situation in Chapel Hill.

Humor will be represented by several full length humor stories and a page of humorous bits, both prose and verse.

"The policy of the mag this year will be: print the best. More effort will be expended in making the mag readable, less in making it look pretty. Our make-up will be liberal and clear, but our primary aim is to tap the best in campus creative writing and print it," said editor Sylvan Meyer.

Frat Council Moves to Pass Coed Agreement

At a short meeting Tuesday night, the Interfraternity Council removed one more obstacle from the path of the agreement between coeds and fraternities allowing coeds in fraternity houses, by passing and signing the agreement as it stood which means that it will probably go into effect tomorrow.

Although in essence the same as last year's agreement, this year's has been required to pass through several more channels than usual before it may be finally adopted.

A new requirement in the agreement is that each fraternity man agree to and sign it individually. This is done in addition to having an authorized representative from each house sign it in the name of that fraternity. This requirement was added this year in order that violators of the agreement could not fall back on the excuse of "ignorance of the law."

Ditzzi Buice, Woman's Senate, and See FRAT COUNCIL, page 8

Tin Can Advice

Here's the way to doctor up those old tin cans.

First you remove the label from the can, then thoroughly wash and dry. Take a can opener or some other cutting tool and cut away both the bottom and the remainder of the top, then flatten the can out as much as possible in order to save space. Be sure to keep the tops and bottoms and turn them in with the cans.

After preparing the cans, either carry them to the covered collection bin for the town, opposite the city hall or keep the cans inside your room until a truck calls for all the scrap in your house.

It is imperative that the tin cans be kept dry since rusting will lower their value.