

Tar Babies Clash With State Freshmen Today

Cloudbusters 'B' Gridders Battle Camp Davis Here Today

Sport Sidelines

By Bill Woestendiek

Ever since the present football campaign got under way, we have been inclined to think that Carolina's amazing grid team would run aground against Tulane's powerful eleven. Of late, however, we have changed our opinion.

Main factor responsible for the above decision has been the magnificent spirit and determination shown by the Tar Heels in their workouts here prior to leaving for New Orleans. All of the men have displayed a tremendous amount of punch and power in scrimmages against Coach Bill Lange's excellent freshman aggregation.

Tulane gave the Tar Heels an awful lacing last fall and Coach Jim Tatum's present edition of Carolina football talent is determined to pay the Green Wave with interest.

Tulane resembled anything but a tidal wave last Saturday in bowing to Georgia, 40-0. Many people take this as a bad omen, for the Greensies always look weak on alternate Saturdays. Today, according to schedule, Tulane should be a great team again and despite the fact that Carolina is generally favored—for the first time this year, a lot of fans have their fingers crossed.

All of these factors add up to an ominous storm warning for Carolina, but the Greensies are said to have taken an awful physical beating from Sinkwich, Inc., and may not be in top shape this afternoon. We'll pit the Tar Heel spirit and will-to-win against Tulane's single-wing T formation regardless. The Tar Heels can play football—they've proved that in four big games.

Statistics released Thursday by the Associated Press reveal that Carolina ranks third in the nation in the matter of punting. The Tar Heel kickers have an average of 40.81 yards and are right behind Tulsa and Tennessee in the booting aspect of the game.

These figures belie those numerous experts who had been moaning the blues over the loss of Harry Dunkle, Dunkle was a great kicker—make no mistake about that, but Mike Cooke and Bill Sigler have been doing a Herculean job of filling the long-range kicking shoes of last year's co-captain. Sigler's tremendous 76-yard boot against Duquesne—the longest these eyes have ever seen in the short time they've been watching football games—is responsible in no small part for the high Carolina punting average.

Sport Shorts—Dave Barksdale, captain elect of this year's Carolina eleven prior to his entrance into Annapolis, has taken over the first string blocking-back spot on the Navy eleven and is playing great football. . . Big Five teams really hit the road this week-end, what with Carolina traveling to New Orleans, Duke heading for Pittsburgh, State going up to Massachusetts to play Holy Cross, and Wake Forest running up against Boston College in Boston. . . The surprising Tulsa team not only leads the nation's colleges in punting, but is also on top in total defense, second in passing and third in total offense.

The Yogi is still beaming this week. He's riding high thus far, but he's riding for a fall. He pulled one out of the well-known hat last week by picking Notre Dame to upset the Iowa Navy eleven. All in all, he named nine winners and had three losers out of the fifteen games selected. Forgetting the ties for the moment, his season's record is now 37 right and 14 wrong for a percentage of .725. His masterminding for today follows:

CAROLINA over Tulane—this is the Tar Heels' big obstacle.

STATE over Holy Cross—the Wolfpack gets a chance to howl.

DUKE over Pittsburgh—the Devils are hitting their stride again.

WILLIAM & MARY over George Washington—the Indians stay undefeated.

BOSTON COLLEGE over Wake Forest—the Eagles are the pride of the East, but it won't be any pushover.

ARMY over Harvard—the West

Harriers Open Campaign Against Middies Today

Druitt Picks Duke, State Favors Tar Heels To Topple Tulane

By Bob Druitt

Last week 95 of our selections came through to win as against 17 errors and 10 ties to give us our best percentage so far this season. When all of the scores had come in they balanced up to give us an 84.8% average. Our upset picks of California over UCLA, Great Lakes over Wisconsin, and Holy Cross over Syracuse failed to materialize, but they were compensated for when Duke, Mississippi, State, Carolina, Dartmouth, Detroit, Indiana, Illinois, VMI, Arizona, and St. Mary's turned in victories. In the minor leagues we came out good with Ohio Wesleyan over Akron, Milligan over Centre, Colorado Mines over Greeley, Western Michigan over Iowa State Teachers, and North Dakota over South Dakota State.

Hard games to call this week are: Princeton-Brown, Cornell-Syracuse, Georgetown-Detroit, Duke-Pitt, Auburn-Villanova, Notre Dame-Illinois, Indiana-Iowa, Michigan-Minnesota, Georgia Navy-LSU, North Carolina-Tulane, Oregon State-Washington State, and Santa Clara-UCLA. Although Cornell has been our Nemesis all season, we will take them to upset Syracuse. In addition, we will choose Detroit to knock Georgetown from the undefeated ranks, Duke to edge out Pitt in one of the best games of the day, and Carolina to avenge last season's drubbing at the hands of Tulane. It has been many years since mighty Minnesota has lost three games in one season, but look for Michigan to show the Gophers the way to go home.

Van Wagoner Leads Runners in Opener

ANNAPOLIS, October 23.—Coach Dale Ranson's latest Carolina cross-country team will be officially unveiled here tomorrow afternoon when his Tar Heel harriers swing into action against Navy.

Leading the Blue and White runners into their initial test will be Captain Rich Van Wagoner, the flying Dutchman who broke the tape against the Middies a year ago. Frank Hardy and Tom Jewett, both of whom played a role in last year's 23-32 triumph, are also ready to go and should earn valuable places.

This trio will be aided by a quintet of top-notch hill-and-dalers—George Lewis, Hall Patrick, Howard Ennis, Sim Nathan and Dick Hollander. Lewis, a sophomore, has been leading the varsity home intrials all fall, and Tar Heel hopes rest heavily on his ability to come through tomorrow. Patrick, a junior who starred as a freshman but who was out all last year with injuries, appears in the best shape of his career. Ennis, intramural find who has been showing up extremely well in practice, will get his baptism of fire tomorrow, while Nathan and Hollander are both veteran letterman with considerable experience.

Four-mile Course

The meet will be run over a four-mile course, which although not as hilly as the local route, is, nevertheless, more difficult, because of the unusual footing. The Ransonites may encounter trouble running on the grass and oyster shell road of the Annapolis course after working out all fall on firm clay.

Coach Ranson refused to commit himself by venturing a prediction on the outcome of today's encounter. The strength of the Navy team is comparatively unknown, while the Tar Heels themselves have turned in no performances this fall which accurately measure their ability.

Service Clubs Will Struggle On Kenan Field

A hefty Army football squad from the anti-aircraft school at Camp Davis, N. C., tackles the Navy's "B" team here today in North Carolina's major gridiron engagement of the weekend.

What the visitors have learned in repelling aerial bombardments may come in handy because Lieut. (jg) Nat Pierce, the Navy mentor, has indicated his Cloudbusters may take to the air for the majority of their ground-gaining. The Army line, averaging 190 pounds, may be too strong for the light Navy backs but the secondary may be too slow in slapping down Cloudbuster flips.

The Navy band and the 1,500 cadets will march before the game and a collegiate atmosphere will be supplied by the University students. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock.

Speedy Quartet

Behind his heavy line, Capt. H. A. Johnson, the Army coach, has a speedy, hard running quartet of former college stars—Ed Holloway of Temple, Al Schneider of Miami, Lem Fitzgerald of Richmond, and Jerry Bisceglia of Georgetown, the fullback who tips 210 pounds. This backfield averages 178 pounds, three pounds per man more than Lieut. Pierce's starting corps of Santin, Emerson, Franks and Keuffel.

The lineups:

Camp Davis	pos.	Navy "B"
Nessing	le	Lane
Boley	lt	Forbes
Snyder	lg	Gandley
Vannoy	c	Miller
Goldberg	rg	McGahan
Mellus	rt	McAvoy
Sesselman	re	Ellis
Holloway	qb	Emerson
Schneider	lh	Santin
Fitzgerald	rh	Keuffel
Bisceglia	fb	Franks

Coed Hockey Play Continues Today

Today at 12 noon, the undefeated ADPi hockey team will meet the Town-Archer girls in the play off of their match scheduled for Tust Thursday. The game will be held in Kenan stadium.

Yesterday's two matches ended in forfeits. The McIver vs. Kenan game, scheduled for 2 o'clock, was awarded to Kenan because their opponents were unable to rally enough players. Spencer gained a victory over Alderman dorm for the same reason.

Next week's play opens Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Kenan stadium with a game between Town-Archer and Pi Phi.

Volleyball

Coed volleyball among the dormitory teams began yesterday afternoon with a 37 to 36 Alderman victory over McIver, and a 1 to 0, default victory for Spencer over Kenan.

Five More Advance To Quarter-Finals In Tennis Tournery

Almost all of the quarter final berths were filled yesterday in the fall tennis tournament as five more contestants joined the six players that had reached that round previously.

In the most exciting clash of the day and of the freshman tourney thus far, fourth-seeded Hank Foreman came from behind to nip Harvey Jago 8-10, 9-7, 6-4. Both players displayed a good brand of tennis and the match was featured by many long and brilliant volleys. Foreman will now meet Charles Hackney. Ray Morris, ranked first, won from Jerry Amundson by default and will play Bob Tuttle. Other freshmen to reach the quarter final round are second-seeded Clark Taylor and Bob Goldwater.

In the upperclassman tourney, Milton Cash defeated Jerry Drucker 6-2, 6-0, and will next oppose third-ranking Harold Cohen. In the only three-set match of this group, Harry Scully trimmed David Howell 6-4, 0-6, 6-4. Bob Fineburg beat Larry Holzman 6-4, 6-2.

A PAIR OF co-captains who will see a lot of service for their respective teams today are Joe Austin, above, and Walt McDonald, below. Austin scored both Carolina touchdowns last week. McDonald broke the Tulane pass receiving record last fall.

Game Heads Grid Action In Carolina

Raleigh Fans Eye Fullback Blanchard

By Charlie Easter

The Tar Babies-Wolfcub grid classic today in Raleigh will take the limelight in this part of the state when the rookies of State college try to stop the victory-bound freshman squad of Carolina. The eyes of the capitol fans will be centered on the starting backfield for the Tar Babies which formed the main drive in turning back the Davidson Kittens last week.

Doc Blanchard, who has been termed by the Durham sport authorities as something that will be turned loose against the Techlets, will be the center attraction of the freshmen today. Blanchard turned in a great game against Davidson, smashing his 210-pound frame through the Kitten secondary and playing a stellar role on the defense. Running close behind Blanchard comes the trio of Rusty Craver, Jim Culbertson, and Jack Fitch. It was Fitch last Saturday who knotted two markers against the Davidson club, one of them being a 70-yard run on an intercepted pass. Culbertson was outstanding as he loose-hipped his way around the ends, and Craver bore the brunt of the attack from his blocking back post.

Forward Wall

Not to be underrated is the stiff forward wall that the Carolina freshman coaches have built up, and who played well in the contest last week. Dokmanovich will again start at left end, and he should see plenty of offensive action today as the freshman club has been building up on its passing game this week. Taking the place of Wilbur Ellis, right end, who went out of action last Monday because of a broken ankle which he suffered while scrimmaging against the varsity, will be Elliot. Elliot will have a stiff task cut out for himself tomorrow as he is holding down the strong side on the offense, and State runs many of its plays around his end on the defense.

Guard Mainstays

Max Spurlin and Rutkowski will again be the mainstays at the guard positions. Bill Cameron, who starred for Oxford Orphanage, again begins the game at the center slot. Fowle and Slaughter place over 200 pounds apiece at the tackles.

The Wolfcubs will take the field today coached by Woody Jones, star tackle for State last year, and it will be the initial game of the season both for the coach and the team. It is to be remembered by Coach Bill Lange's charges that it was State last year who came home with the bacon as they turned under the Tar Babies 19-13 in Greensboro as Art Teague romped like a wolf through Carolina territory.

Fall Diamond Workouts End

Fall baseball practice ended yesterday afternoon as Coach Bunn Hearn and his charges discontinued their sessions after four weeks of successful drilling.

Coach Hearn was pleased with the fall turnout of about 22 men and found some good prospects for next year's team. He was able to get a line on many new sophomore players, upon whom the team will bank heavily next season since the squad was hard hit by graduation and the draft. Among the most serious losses to the armed forces was that of co-captain John Hearn, who enlisted in the Navy Air Corps.

Many varsity players were unable to repret for the diamond drills because of football, basketball, or band practice.

The coach announced that all players should turn in their equipment by this afternoon.

Phi Gams, Kappa Sigs, NROTC Clubs Win Mural Grid Battles

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

St. Anthony's 6—Phi Gamma Delta 6 (overtime).

Kappa Sigs 31—ATO 0.

SAE 14—Pika 0.

BB Boys 19—Carr 6.

Whitehead 6—NROTC "A" 6 (Whitehead winner in overtime).

District 2 "A" 8—Steele Barracks 7.

NROTC "B" 27—Delta Sig. Pi 0.

In one of the longest and most exciting games of the year, St. Anthony dropped a close decision to Phi Gamma Delta in an overtime thriller. The game was very closely contested throughout and the issue was always in doubt. The two teams were still tied 6-6 when the final whistle blew, but the Phi Gams rolled up an advantage in overtime to win. Sands scored the touchdown for St. Anthony and Mehaffey retaliated for the Phi Gams.

Kappa Sigs Score

The Kappa Sigs kept their undefeated record intact as they routed ATO 31-0. The Sigs completely overpowered their game opponents who fought desperately but futilely to the end. As usual LeBlanc was the torch bearer for the victors. He was very ably assisted by Wooten and Wells. Long played an excellent game for the losers.

SAE trounced a game, hard-fighting Pika team 14-0. The two teams played at a very rapid pace. Dumph, Peck, Glenn, and Garwes played outstanding for the winners, while Quincy and Capel showed excellent ability for the losers.

BB Boys Win

The "BB" boys took a 19-6 victory over a determined Carr team. The leaders in the BB attack were Jouliff, Phillips, and Gasgoigne. Albright carried the brunt of the load for the Carr boys. The BB boys showed an excellent passing attack. The Carr boys fought hard but could not cope with their more powerful rivals.

Another overtime thriller took place when Whitehead finally scored to take the nod over an NROTC "A" team that fought hard to avert defeat. The regulation time ended in a 6-6 deadlock which made it necessary to play an overtime period. Renolds was the star for the winners while Yelverton looked good for the losers.

Thrilling Game

In a ding-dong game that kept every player so excited that it was hard to keep his hands on the ball, District 2 "A" won a hairline decision over Steele Barracks 8-7. A safety proved to be the winning point. This was one of the most exciting games of the year.

A devastating NROTC "B" team steamrollered its way to a 27-0 victory over an outclassed Delta Sig Pi team. The losers fought hard but to no avail. Pope scored 13 points to set the pace for the victors, while Berluti played well for the outscored but not outgamed losers.

Navy Soccer Team Defeats Duke, 3-0

The Navy's varsity soccer team, 3 to 0 victors over Duke in the first start of the season, meets the hard-running High Point College squad here today at 3:30 o'clock, in a game that looks to be a toss-up.

High Point also holds a 3 to 0 decision over Duke.

Popularity of the song, "I've Got a Gal in Kalamazoo," led men students at Kalamazoo college to choose Sara Woolley, a native of the city, as "the girl in Kalamazoo College."
