

Carolina Gridders Battle Old Rivals

Nine Players End Careers For Tar Heels

kept inactive by an old knee injury. Either Joe Austin or Clay Croom, neither of whom is in top shape, will have to get the nod at the wingback spot. Mike Cooke, leading candidate for all-conference honors and a brilliant punter, will start at blocking back for the Tar Heels.

Nine Seniors

Nine seniors will be playing their last games for the Tar Heels. Besides Austin and Marshall, Bob Heymann and Joe Wolf, starting tackles, Bill Sigler, starting fullback, Cooke, Pecora, reserve wingback Tony Webb, and reserve tackle Graham are the men wearing Blue and White colors of Carolina on a football field for the last time in intercollegiate competition.

Chan Highsmith, sensational sophomore center and candidate for an all-conference berth, will again lead the Carolina line into action. Highsmith played 59 minutes of football against Duke last week and is expected to see a lot of action this afternoon.

Virginia's small and light squad will have to draw heavily on such 60-minute players as Charlie Cooper, center; Tony Lakin, guard; and Milton Parlow and Bob Seiler, tackles. These four have been forced to play without substitution in recent games because of the Cavalier's lack of reserve linemen. Captain Bill Hill, Eric Schlesinger, and Tom Dudley have been used in rotation as ends in the last two games. Hill, who will probably be the lightest lineman on the field, will be leading the Virginians in their last game.

Carolina has a slight edge in weight, and the Virginians boast more experience. The Cavaliers have won only twice in eight starts this fall, but are always at their best for the Tar Heels. All signs point to a wide-open free-scoring game with the best defensive club likely to come out on top.

Probable Lineups

Varsity Defeats Freshman Squad In Tennis Meet

Capturing five out of seven matches, the varsity tennis squad overcame a strong freshman team yesterday in a meeting between the two squads.

In the number one singles contest, Harold Maass came from behind in both sets to nip Clark Taylor, yearling champion, by a score of 9-7, 8-6. Hunt Hobbs defeated Don Peck in the only three-set clash, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1. Charles Hackney gained the lone singles triumph for the freshmen by defeating the upperclassman turney victor, Adrian Slaughter, 6-1, 6-3. Harold Cohen, taking the place of Milton Cash, trimmed Hank Foreman, 6-4, 6-3, while Bill Lowenstein clinched victory for the varsity by beating Alex Parker, 6-1, 6-2.

Best Battle

In one of the best battles of the afternoon, Taylor and Peck gained revenge in a doubles contest over their singles conquerors, Maass and Hobbs, by gaining a brilliant triumph, 6-3, 6-3. There were many long volleys which were kept alive by some dazzling shots. In the final clash of the day, Moyer Hendrix and Bill Lowenstein set back Charles Hackney and Alex Parker, 6-4, 7-9, 6-2.

HERBERT MUNHALL, 190-pound Virginia back returns to action against Carolina this afternoon, and his presence in the lineup will give the Cavaliers a plunging fullback for the first time this fall.

SOPH TAILBACK Billy Myers is due to see a lot of action in Virginia today. With Shot Cox scheduled to see limited service, Myers will alternate with Johnny Pecora. An accurate passer and runner, Billy will play an important role in this afternoon's game.

Wrestling Meet Starts This Tuesday Entries Due Now For Mural Tourney

By Don Atran

One of the school's most popular intramural features, the annual fraternity and dormitory wrestling tournament, starts on Tuesday, December 1. Never lacking in participation or spectator appeal, the wrestling matches have become one of the most highly regarded events on the fall calendar.

Last year some 260 of the school's strong-arm boys grunted and groaned before huge crowds of cheering partisans who had come to offer verbal assistance to their rugged cohorts.

Entries Accepted

Entries will be accepted in the varsity wrestling room on Monday, November 30, until six p.m. An intramural department representative will be on hand throughout the day to weigh in the contestants. The only requirements are an "A" medical rating. Experience is decidedly not prerequisite.

The intramural department has requested that all athletic managers immediately contact their grapplers and have them start training. Condition is an extremely important factor, especially when there is a lack of some of the more technical aspects of the game.

Coach Chuck Quinlan, varsity wrestling mentor, will act as general supervisor of the tournament, and Lem Gibbons and Hobart McKeever, varsity grapplers, will referee the bouts.

Competition will start each day at 5:30 and continue until 7:15. It is probable that a number of the matches will be held in the evening. The bouts will be handled according to intercollegiate rules, with timers checking the time advantage on each wrestler. Each win counts a single point for the team the victor represents. Last year Zeta Psi took the fraternity championship by winning 48 matches, while 10 wins clinched the dormitory title for Graham.

In the past, the intramural wrestling tournament has produced athletes with enough ability to contend for positions on the varsity team. In fact, last year, two winners, Lem Gibbons and Sam Mordecai, secured first team berths after showing their prowess in the tourney. Mordecai, now a member of the Pre-flight School here, met with amazing success, losing but a single match all season, and taking the 155-pound conference championship.

Coed Archers May Shoot Today

Gay Venable and Dot Brooks, coed managers for the archery tournament, announce that girls who wish to shoot in the tourney this morning will be able to do so between 10 and 12 o'clock. The shooting will take place in Kenan stadium.

Cloudbuster Eleven Plays Undefeated Indians Today

Captain Art Jones Leads Navy Outfit

WILLIAMSBURG, VA., Nov. 20—Unbeaten William and Mary College, gunning for the Southern conference championship, goes outside the league today for what may prove too tough an assignment. The opponent is the U. S. Navy Pre-flight School Cloudbusters from Chapel Hill, N. C., who boast a season's record of seven victories, one tie and defeat to date.

With the Navy squad is a man every football fan in the state of Virginia knows well—Art Jones, deluxe half-back who sparkled for Richmond and then did himself proud with the Pittsburgh Steelers in the National Professional League. Jones has been named captain of the Cloudbusters for tomorrow's clash here and he is expected to put on a great show for the home folk.

The Cloudbusters have taken great delight this season in knocking off unbeaten teams—which should be fair warning to the William and Mary huskies who are harboring visions of a bid to a New Year's bowl game. Last victim of Lieut. Comdr. Jim Crowley's team was the Big Orange of Syracuse who gave the 'Busters a stiff battle but bowed, 9-0, in their first loss of the season.

One undefeated, untied team to face the cadets was Boston College—and the Eagles still have an unblemished record. B. C. Downed the Navy, 7 to 6, thus becoming the only team to hold a decision over the Crowleymen. Last Saturday afternoon, before 10,000 chilled fans in the Polo Grounds, New York, the Cloudbusters had little trouble downing off-beaten Manhattan college, 17 to 0.

Walter Scampers

Walter Zwietynski scampered 43 yards behind flawless interference for the first touchdown in the opening period and in the third stanza End Hayward Sanford booted a 12-yard field goal. In the fourth quarter the Cloudbusters staged a sustained 50-yard drive that ended in a score when Mort Lansberg broke over right guard from four yards out. Sanford added the conversions after each tally.

That William and Mary will give the favored Cadets a busy afternoon is a foregone conclusion. Coach Crowley has indicated he holds today's opponent in high regard and has spent much time this week in preparing for the clash. The W. and M. line will average 210 pounds per man and is active enough to make the going tough on the ground for the visitors. To offset this, Coach Crowley is expected to send his attack to the air with Jones doing a majority of the hurling.

Michigan Plays Ohio State In Today's Grid Feature

Four Big Five teams conclude their schedules this afternoon, with the state championship hinging on the outcome of one of the games.

As the Tar Heels battle the Virginia Cavaliers at Charlottesville, it is expected that for once, they will be rooting for Duke to win. For, in the event of a Duke victory over N. C. State, the Big Five title will be shared by the Tar Heels and the Blue Devils. A triumphant State eleven would gain undisputed control of the crown. Davidson plays Citadel in the other state finale. Wake Forest ends its season next week.

The big feature attraction of the South will be the attempts of Georgia and Georgia Tech to maintain their undefeated records against Auburn and Florida. This would bring the struggle for southern and possibly national supremacy down to the last game of the year, since the two tremendous titans tussle next week.

Other important contests include those between Alabama and Vanderbilt, Tennessee and Kentucky, North Carolina Navy and undefeated William and Mary, and Clemson and Furman.

The top game of the day, and the one that will do most toward determining the Big Ten and Midwest champion, will pit the mighty Michigan Wolverines against once-beaten Ohio State. The largest crowd of the year, 80,000, is expected to attend. The other clash which will determine the conference leader is the Wisconsin-Minnesota battle. All four clubs still have a chance to either win or tie for the title with the Gophers' chances most doubtful. Other midwestern tilts will see Notre Dame oppose Northwestern, Great Lakes battle Illinois, Iowa Navy play Nebraska, and Indians meet Purdue.

The big power in the East, Boston College, has a breather in its game with its intra-city rival, Boston University. Yale and Harvard tangle to decide the Big Three championship.

Big City Games

Two important contests are being held in New York City, with Columbia meeting Dartmouth and Fordham opposing Missouri. Elsewhere in the East, Army plays Princeton and Penn State tackles Pitt.

The leader of the Southwest conference may be determined today when Rice battles TCU and Baylor plays SMU. The leading game on the West Coast may affect the western representative at the Rose Bowl. UCLA, one of the leading contenders, must defeat Washington to remain in the running. California meets Stanford and Oregon clashes with Oregon State in other top tilts.

Frosh Harriers Defeat Blue Imp Team, 21-38

By Charlie Johnson

The freshman cross-country team ended its season here yesterday with a 21-38 victory over Duke. The Carolina yearlings had previously defeated the Blue Imps at Durham.

Jim Miller set the pace with 11:46 for the two and one-quarter mile course. Bill Palmer of Duke was four seconds behind the Tar Heel ace when the two men hit the track for the final quarter mile test, and Miller held his lead all the way to the tape.

McKenzie Third

Julian McKenzie of Carolina finished third in 12:21 with two team-mates, Briley and Burritt, finishing in a tie for fourth, thirteen seconds behind him. Briley and Burritt had to fight off a spirited stretch by Parker and Graham of Duke, and they finished a bare second in front of Parker.

Boyd, Jacobson, and Bristow, all of Carolina, finished in that order behind Graham. Clisby of Duke was next then Kemp and Sirkis of Carolina, then Waggoner of Duke, followed by Wall of the Tar Babies.

Varsity Trial

Shortly after the freshman meet, a varsity time trial was run. Coach Ranson expressed his disappointment over the outcome of these trials in no uncertain terms. He said that any team member who failed to run the four mile course in 21:50 would not be recommended for an award. He also said that anyone who would like to be timed whether a varsity team member or not, could report to the track any week day afternoon at five o'clock. Anyone who breaks 21:50 on the four mile course will be recommended for an award.

Varsity team members objected, saying that they enjoyed running and staying in good shape but saw little reason for getting into strenuous meet shape when there were no meets.

Frank Hardy

Frank Hardy was the only runner to come in under 21:50 yesterday. He finished in 21:31, and Howard Ennis was the second man in an even 22 minutes for the four mile course. Patrick and Jewett were next. Dick Hollander carried a clock all the way around the course with him and violently protested that there was a discrepancy of forty seconds between the time it took him to run the race and him to run the race and his hedjoes his official time. He claimed that his 23:28 should have been a 22:48. Van-Waggoner and Nathan finished together in 23:44 with Hunt, Campbell, and Gilbert behind them in that order.

Varsity, Frosh Clash in Annual Fish Bowl Today

The annual Fish Bowl meet between varsity and freshman swimmers will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock in Bowman Gray memorial pool with eight events scheduled.

The distances at which the mermen on the two teams will clash are the 50, 100, and 220-meter free-style, 100-meter back stroke, 100-meter breast stroke, 150-meter medley, and 200-meter relay race. Diving competition will also be held. All freshmen interested in diving are requested to come out since there is a lack of yearling divers.

Spectators are invited to witness the meet, which has always produced many excellent swimmers for Coach Dick Jamerson's Blue Dolphin team. The contestants should be at the pool no later than 2:45.

So far, many aquatic stars have come up from the freshman ranks. Snooky Proctor has bettered the Southern conference 440 record, accomplishing the brilliant time of 5:16.5. In the 220-meter, Ben Ward has made 2:21.2, and Proctor has done 2:22. Jesse Greenbaum, who will not appear in the interclass meet due to sickness, has turned in the excellent times of 27.9 for 50 meters, 1:03.2 for 100 meters, and 1:15.5 for the 100-meter backstroke.

Other outstanding mermen for the freshmen include Ed Bond, Allen Kaufman and Joe Algrante in the free-style; Jerry Cooke and Ira Abrahamson in the breaststroke, and Billy Hobbs in the backstroke.
