

Americans Repulse Japs In Buna Area

Allied Take Lead In Tunisia Battle
 GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HDQ'S., AUSTRALIA, Nov. 29.—(UP)—A new Japanese counter-attack in the Buna area of New Guinea has been repulsed and fighting continues, a communique said today.

British Navy Sinks Nine Supply Ships

LONDON, Nov. 29.—(UP)—The Allied Tunisia drive has pushed the Axis forces generally on the defensive, an Allied general headquarters communique reported today, while the Admiralty announced the sinking of nine enemy supply ships bound for Tunisia and Tripolitania.

American Airmen Blast Jap Airdrome to Smithers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—(UP)—American bombers on Guadalcanal have smashed the Jap supply base on the Solomons, literally blasting a major enemy airdrome, the Navy announced today.

French Sub Bolsters Hope That Others Are On Way

LONDON, Nov. 29.—(UP)—Arrival at Barcelona of a French sub from Toulon bolstered hope today that more submarines and perhaps service units have escaped the scuttling of the French fleet and may join Allied naval forces in North Africa.

United States Bombers Raid Tunisia Railroad

Nov. 29.—(UP)—(At an advanced eighth air force base in North Africa.) Slick American medium bombers led by a veteran of last April's raid on Tokyo blasted Ssax-an important point and railway center on the East coast of Tunisia in a lightning attack.

Churchill Speaks Today Over International Wave

LONDON, Nov. 29.—(UP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill will deliver an international broadcast at 9 p. m. tomorrow or 4 p. m. Sunday eastern war time, it was announced today.

Reds Slaughter 10,000 In Central Front Push

MOSCOW, Nov. 29.—(UP)—The Red Army, which has been forging an iron ring around the Germans attacking Stalingrad, has opened a central front offensive in which 10,000 Nazi troops has been killed, a special communique reported tonight.

The Daily Tar Heel

VOLUME LI

Business and Circulation: 8641

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1942.

Editorial: F-3141, News: F-3146, F-3147

NUMBER 59.

INSIDE Acres lie in waste ... war chest collapses ... education and society. —On Page Two.

Neglect Stalls Vital Airport Program

Gym Addition Open to Coeds On Thursday

Installation Work Rushed to Close
 The new $82,000 completely fireproofed Woollen gymnasium addition for coeds will be available for the wartime physical education program next Thursday, according to W. D. Carmichael, University controller.

Four months in construction, the gymnasium will open its two classrooms tomorrow while the final installation work is being completed in the shower and locker rooms.

The model physical education plant features a 60 by 80 foot gym floor with 200 lockers and in creased individual shower space. Additional play rooms will be constructed in the basement shortly after the completion of the filler units for the outdoor pool.

The first floor is taken up by classrooms and two offices with the court floor on the second. A new basket-shower-locker room with a direct entrance to the Bowman Gray pool is located on the third floor and the basement holds the massive filters for the outdoor pool.

The boys wing is being rushed to completion and will open jointly Thursday so that the congested locker situation can be relieved. The blue-prints call for 500 new lockers which will be ap-

See GYM, Page 4

Debate Council To Hold Tryouts For Dixie Meet

Tuesday night's regular Debate council meeting at 9:15 in the Graill room of Graham Memorial will be turned over to tryouts for the coming Dixie Forensic tournament.

All those interested in representing Carolina at the debates, to be held in Charlotte, December 3, 4, 5, will be given this opportunity to try for debate team berths.

Subject on which contestants for team positions should be pre-

See DEBATE, Page 4

BIRD'S EYE view of what was once the nation's number one college airport before administration inaction led to the advanced pilot training program being shifted to Raleigh. With the shift also went the majority of the planes because "protection was inadequate."

Coeds Vote Tuesday For Representatives

Ten candidates have been placed on the ballot for the coed elections Tuesday, from whom five woman representatives to the student governing bodies will be elected at polls to be set up in the YMCA between 10 a. m. and 5 p. m.

Results of the election will place two junior representatives on the woman's honor council, two junior representatives in the coed senate and a woman's representative-at-large in the student legislature. Emphasis was placed on the fact that all coeds are to vote for the student legislature representative; only juniors will cast votes for the other offices.

Candidates for honor council representatives are: Anne Galbreath, Frances Ferrier, Spencer; Kay Roper, Spencer, and Beth Chappell, Spencer.

Running for senate representatives are: Janet James, Spencer; Kitty Flanagan, Spencer; Margaret Moseley, McIver, and Elaine Mendes, Spencer.

Nominees for Student legislature are Mary Lou Truson, Spencer and Sara Yokely, Alderman. Miss Galbreath, of Clarksville, Mo., a transfer from Southern Seminary in Buena Vista, Va., was active on her junior college

See VOTE, Page 4

The course which will continue through December 26 is designed to acquaint the new officers with Navy customs and traditions, train them in the elements of military drill and work them into top physical condition for their jobs ahead.

Several more indoctrination courses for V-5 instructors will follow this one since the expansion of the physical training program for Naval aviators makes it necessary to obtain additional personnel to man the new stations and to increase the number of officers at the stations which are being enlarged. Four similar indoctrination programs were carried out at the U. S. Naval Academy between last March and July, with a number of the top coaches and athletic instructors of the nation taking part.

Bradshaw Hits Rumors; Coeds to Remain Here

Dean F. F. Bradshaw said yesterday that there was no foundation in fact whatsoever to the rumor that the coed dormitories would be used next quarter for any other purpose than to house the coeds or that the University would in any way alter its open door policy regarding coeducation.

Advanced Training Shifted to Raleigh

By Madison Wright

The University's $348,000 airport, which was destined to be the finest college field in the nation, is largely inactive at present as a result of apathy on the part of the University itself, investigation by the DAILY TAR HEEL revealed today.

At the very time when there is a critical need for pilots, the advanced training course of the Civilian Pilot Training program has been moved to Raleigh because the facilities at the gantic field are inadequate to service more than a few Cub planes.

Moser Asks 'More Effort'

War Chest Drive Hinges on Dorms

Following yesterday's report of the failure of the two-week $10,000 Carolina War Chest, Bernard Moser, co-chairman, called for "redoubled efforts" on the part of Chest canvassers during the two weeks that the drive has been extended.

At the same time, Harry Comer encouraged all those who wished to contribute now to bring their donations to the YMCA office. "Anyone who does not wish to wait to be reached, is urged to stop in at the YMCA."

Moser again emphasized that final success of the drive depends to a great extent on "what the workers in the men's dormitories, ineffective to date, do. If they get to work and reach every man in their section, I have no doubt that the $10,000 goal can be reached."

Sarah Sutton's girls' division continued to report large donations and "efficient canvassing." Miss Sutton scheduled many War Chest meetings in the coed dormitories and, according to Comer, "sparked the discussions herself."

Bucky Osborne and Lee Levene, fraternity division heads, asked all houses to report donations as soon as possible. To date only one-fifth of the fraternities have reported to Comer. Although all these contributions have been consistently high, Moser and Comer asked for complete tabulations from this section as soon as possible so that they could calculate what part fraternity money will play in reaching the $10,000 goal.

The planes of the basic course, made irreplaceable by the war, are at present housed in a leaking hangar. The hangar, like every other building on the place, is neither weather- or water-tight. The administration building is nothing more than an out-dated shack with insufficient heating and the student pilots will be mostly unprotected this winter from the weather, for there is no provision for heat at the field where they wait between flights.

A comparison of this and other airfields in the state reveals that while the actual runways at the Horace Williams airport are probably the best, the ground installation is probably the worst. From an administrative and operational viewpoint the field ranks near the bottom. The advanced training course attended by about ten students from Duke was operated by the

See NEGLECT, Page 4

College Training Required to Hold SPAR Commission

In order to be a candidate for a commission as an officer in the SPARS, "Semper Paratus-Always Ready," women must be between the ages of 20 and 50, and have a college degree or have passed two years of college work with at least two years of acceptable business or professional experience.

The offices of Naval Officer Procurement will handle the procurement of officers and enlisted women in this women's reserve of the Coast Guard, and not the various Coast Guard reserve

See COLLEGE, Page 4

Bishop Writes, 'Playmaker Show Is Real'

Bragg Soldier Knows Lowdown

By Larry Dale

Don Bishop, former TAR HEEL editor and at present a sergeant at Fort Bragg, said in a recent letter to Prof. F. H. Koch concerning "The Eve of St. Mark" to be produced by the Playmakers this week, "Many of the characters are excellent images of my acquaintances here."

The play was written by Maxwell Anderson from material he gathered at Fort Bragg during his visit there last spring. It will be presented by the Carolina Playmakers here Wednesday through Saturday.

Naming the Fort Bragg soldiers who appear in the play and who accompanied Anderson on an excursion to Chapel Hill last March, Bishop says, "Francis Marion is Private Marion Hargrove, author of the current best seller "See Here, Private Hargrove" who accompanied Mr. See PLAYMAKERS, Page 4

ONE OF THE MOST POIGNANT SCENES from Maxwell Anderson's new play, "The Eve of St. Mark," is when Private Quizz West asks his girl, Janet, to wait for him while he is in the Army. In the above photo Private West is portrayed by Walter Carroll, and his girl by Elaine Mendes.

Everyone Knows Miss Mable But What's Her Last Name?

By Arnold Schulman

"Miss Mable" Mallett, Dean F. F. Bradshaw's secretary has been working on the campus 22 years, yet the chances are that not that many people know her last name.

She began work at the University as secretary to six men of the extension department. She worked there for four years then left only to return again a short time later and begin work as Dean Francis F. Bradshaw's secretary. She has occupied this position for 18 years and hopes to continue that much longer.

Besides doing all the secretarial work for the busy dean, Miss Mable also acts as a one-woman reception committee for Dean Roland Parker and Dr. W. D. Perry. All callers must pass through her office to reach either of the widely sought men.

Whenever she has time she types for Dean Parker. "I hate to see him working so hard," she says, "and he writes so badly". Miss Mable also handles all secretarial work for the student government, and says that she "likes the business-like manner in which everything in this organization is carried on."

Miss Mable was born in England and sailed for America when she was 16 months old. "I want everyone to know that I was naturalized and am now an American," she said. "I do love the country very much, especially North Carolina."

Only her immediate family lives in America, the rest are still in England. Her father is an Episcopal minister, and her sister and four brothers are scattered all over the United States. "We've lived all over the nation and left a child at each

See MISS MABLE, Page 4