Dance Cut Referendum Set For Tuesday

Army Reserves Deadline Set December 31

Deferred Status Open to Freshmen
December 31 has been set by the United States Army as the last date that sophomores, juniors, and seniors will be accepted in the Army Enlisted Reserve or the Army Air Force Enlisted Reserve, W. D. Perry announced yesterday.

According to present plans, the University will have no quota for any group except students qualified as freshmen prior to December 31.

In an effort to give as many students as possible an opportunity to enlist in the Air Force Reserve, the office of war information has arranged for a mental and physical examination board to come here Tuesday, December 8. Examinations will begin at 8:30 a. m. in Woollen gymnasium and will also be open to those students who desire to enlist for immediate duty.

Perry cleared up the current rumor that all enlisted reserves would be closed December 14 when he said they were "absolutely false."

"The basis of this rumor," he said, "is probably the announcement by the Army that all voluntary enlistments for immediate duty in specific branches will close on December 14. These enlistments are direct enlistments as a private."

Students who have been completing their papers for enlistment into the Marine Officer Candidate class are asked to call for their parent's permission blanks after noon today. All blanks must be completed this week as the Marines will have an enlistment officer in Raleigh this Monday.

Drafted Barber Leaves Farm, Scissors Behind

By Arnold Schulman
With 15 cows, 5 horses, 13 hogs, a set of heavy farm equipment, complete barbering outfit, and a 600 acre farm to be sold, Mack Snipes, Graham memorial barber for 11 years, will report to Fort Bragg December 12. Snipes was born in neighboring Chatham county in 1905 and began his education in Bynum, a small country school near Pittsboro. He left school in the eighth grade to work on a farm and remained a farmer for two years. He then went to Durham where he learned barbering and after three years he moved to Chapel Hill. This was 1930 and he has been living here since. Although Snipes has continued his barbering, he still owns a 600 acre farm about ten miles in the country and until gas rationing began he worked there every night after he closed the shop. Agriculture constitutes the bulk of his enjoyment and during the summer he works until 10 and 11 o'clock at night. "I have lights on my tractor and it's really a lot of fun," Snipes says. In 11 years of Graham memorial barbering he has made many friends and knows the name of every customer. If he doesn't know it when the person enters, he'll know it before he leaves. Many former patrons, who have graduated, return at regular intervals to see their college barber, and send their friends to the University with implicate instructions as to who shall cut their hair. "I get a big kick out of it," Snipes says. See DRAFTED, Page 4

Di Senate Vetoes Anti-Poll Tax Bill By Close Margin

In a hotly contested debate last night the Di senate defeated by one vote a bill for abolition of the present poll tax.

Argument against this bill showed that the people who enforced the poll tax were the ones at fault, and a change in their policy would mean a better carrying out of the tax. It was also pointed out that the educational problems throughout the country were a big reason for the small percentage of voters.

Discussion favoring abolition of the tax brought out how the South had been using the negro to gain congressional representation but had denied them the right to vote freely.

State Symphony Orchestra, a professional organization, which is also conducted by Dr. Swalin. The group has been rehearsing for several weeks in preparation for tonight's concert, which is one of a series to be presented during the school year. The program, according to Dr. Swalin, is one of the "most ambitious" yet to be attempted by the orchestra. Besides the Wieniawski concerto, it will consist of Schubert's popular Overture to Rosamunde, Beethoven's Symphony No. 1 in the classical style, and the often-played Marche Slave by Tschaiikowsky. No admission is to be charged to the concert.
