Graham Presents Atomic Question To Campus

Alice Summers as Germaine and Andrew Griffith as Gaspard in "The Chimes of Normandy," produced jointly by the Carolina Playmakers and the department of music in Memorial Hall Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are on sale at Ledbetter-Pickard's and the Playmakers business office in Swain Hall.

Versatile Star Of "Chimes" Prefers Radio To Stage

Alice Summers, whose lyrical soprano voice has won her the prominent part of Germaine in the "Chimes of Normandy," to be presented in Memorial Hall Friday and Saturday, is a transfer student from Mary Baldwin College at Staunton, Virginia, where she majored in voice and was outstanding for the solo work she did, not only for the glee club there, but for the Lions Club and Rotary Club as well.

Greeks Pledge 168 New Members In Recent Drive

E. L. Mackie, dean of men, released the list last Friday, of 188 men who have pledged fraternities. The largest number of pledges was taken in by Sigma Nu, who had 24, Kappa Sigma with 18 was second, and Phi Delta Theta with 17 was third.

The pledges are:

Alpha Tau Omega—Carroll Davis Adams, Fayetteville; Brode Thomas Duke, Jr., Jackson; Charlie Burrell Durham, Birmingham, Ala.; Harris Allen Gant, Charlotte; Frank Horne, Charlotte; Talmadge Jordan, Wilmington; George Lynwood Joyner, Rocky Mount; Scott Milholland Julian, Memphis, Tenn.; James Marshall Lilly, Birmingham, Ala.; William Crawford Moore, Asheville; Moffatt Grier Sherard, Asheville, S. C.; and Robert C. Warren, Goldsboro.

Beta Theta Pi—Bosworth Clifton Beckwith, Raleigh; Melvin Rawlings Hargrave, Kingsport, Tenn.; James Henry Spears, Fayetteville; William Mitchell, Leaksville; James Hadley, Winston-Salem; and Roland Bowles, Greensboro.

Chi Phi—Nathaniel Graham Clark, Jr., Clarkton; Frank Gustav Kuehn, Baltimore, Md.; John William Pope, Fuquay Springs; Raymond Douglas Shiplett, Piney River, Va.; Blount Stew-

Chi Psi—Kenneth R. Bland, Wilmington; Hamp Coleman, Jr., Red Springs; Jack Kenneth Hayes, Charlotte; Horace Benton Kelly, Pinehurst; Charles Lowdermilk, Greensboro; Jack Allen, High Point; and Ed Edwards, Snow Hill.

Although her more avid interests seem to center about the fields of radio, music, and journalism, Alice, better known by her Carolina friends as "Tip," has a love for recreational activities, particularly swimming, horseback riding, and dancing to the music of Charlie Spivak.

Her vocal talent, her dramatic ability, and her amiable personality point to a very successful portrayal of the role of Germaine, who is a founding girl who has been reared by an old miser in the Playmakers Production of the "Chimes of Normandy."

Delta Kappa Epsilon—James Arthur Griffin, Baltimore; William Harold Smith, Florence, S. C.; and Donald Sanders, Lum-

Graham Gives Vets Outline Of UNC Plans

President Urges Concerted Action

By Julia Clark

With assurance of immediate action on five new dormitories, additional class rooms, a raised scale for faculty salaries, and an enlarged library, Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the University, appeared before a large assemblage of members of the University Veterans Association Monday night in Gerrard Hall.

Dr. Graham stated that the veterans on this campus can make a great contribution to the University and that the UVA was the organization to initiate such action. He commended the men on having passed through the greatest task and the deepest experience for which youth has ever been called upon.

Reminding the veterans of the institutions for which they had fought, Dr. Graham urged that they develop a keen interest in these institutions: the church, political freedom, corporations (freedom of enterprise), labor unions, universities, and the press. Nazism could not exist in the face of these and Hitler attempted to abolish them; thus, it is imperative that a free world make every effort to re-establish these fundamental institutions.

People's Movement

Dr. Graham recognized the fact that a people's movement is on the march once again, and that it should bring peace and freedom to all men. To assure this, we must struggle to keep the war won. We must never again believe that isolation can save us from war. We must get into things and participate. Dr. Graham said that there were two ways to do this—maximum production and learning to live together.

"This generation has the responsibility of determining these

Today's Convocation Poses Vital Question

Charlie Vance, president of student body, made the following statement last night concerning the convocation to be held today at 11:00 o'clock in Memorial Hall.

"For the first time in four years, we shall assemble in a meeting of the student body. This morning we are to think together about one of the most disturbing problems of our age, and we are to be guided in our thinking by one of the nation's outstanding leaders.

"We are very glad that so many of you, both students and faculty, realize the value of having these student body meetings. We hope that a great interest will be shown in the meeting this morning so that we may feel confident to arrange more convocations in the future.

"I wish to sincerely thank the students of Carolina for your fine co-operation during the past few months. I rejoice with you that the war is over, and that the men and women of our University are returning. However, there are great tasks ahead which will call for the very best that is in us, but with God's guidance we can meet every experience with confidence."

Mag Deadline Set

Deadline for all copy for the February issue of the Carolina Mag will be next Sunday, Feb. 10, acting editor Stan Colbert announced yesterday.

Noted Woman Editor Strives To Keep Community Informed

By Sarah Spratt

A group of North Carolina weekly editors attending the North Carolina Press Institute here were greeting each other. "Hello, Mrs. Boyd," said one. "You're the editor of the 'Southern Pilot,' aren't you? You publish your weekly with regard to news—to inform your community."

Southern Pines Editor

Such was the greeting to Mrs. James Boyd, editor of the Southern Pines newspaper, which has won acclaim among the weeklies of North Carolina. In 1944 it was judged the best weekly and 1943 second best.

"I'm new in the newspaper business," Mrs. Boyd said. "I've only been editor since April, 1945. It's such a fascinating work."

Noted Author

Mrs. Boyd is the wife of the late James Boyd, Southern Pines writer. He is the author of "Drums," "Marching On," "Long Hunt," "Roll River," a collection of poems, and others.

Editorial Writer

Previous to her position as editor of "The Southern Pilot," Mrs. Boyd was an editorial writer. Recently she had an article published in The Atlantic Monthly, "Heard About Jackson Hole." The article discussed a dispute in Wyoming, concerning a national park near Yellowstone.

"My advice to a student journalist is to start as young as you can to get all the experience you can," Mrs. Boyd said. "I suggest that he or she start on a weekly. Do anything, begin in the office or in the backshop, but learn all about the newspaper and its make-up. Summer jobs during your schooling would be helpful, I think."

11 O'Clock Classes Are Called Off

Chancellor House Gives Introduction

President Frank P. Graham will speak at 11 o'clock this morning in Memorial Hall on "Universities and Scientific Mechanisms in the Great Transitions of History, from the Compass to the Atomic Bomb."

Last week the Di accepted four new members: Tom Eller, Salisbury; Eddie Black, Chapel Hill; Clifford Horton, Wendell; and Frank Meadows, Rocky Mount. Anyone interested in joining may obtain membership applications from David Pittman or at the Y information desk.

Unpublished DTH Ad Returns Lost Wallet

Daily Tar Heel advertisements bring quick results! The manager of the University Cafe notified the Daily Tar Heel that a wallet had been left in his establishment and he was unable to find the owner; he requested that a "found" classified advertisement be run. However, before the ad ever saw print, Billy Selig, assistant business manager, had scoured the student directory and found the rightful owner, Miss Lucy Ellen Denny, a graduate student.
